

CANADIAN CARS, ONCE "PRISONERS OF WAR" IN AUSTRIA, NOW RUNNING ON THE ITALIAN STATE RAILWAY SYSTEM

Recently an American traveller in Rome, Italy, rubbed his eyes in amazement as he saw before him a train of palatial observation cars of the type not usually seen in Europe though familiar to transcontinental travellers in the United States and Canada. It was not an optical illusion, for the cars are actually running on the Italian railways. Before the war these cars were operated by the Canadian Pacific Railway on the express trains of the Austrian State Railways from Arlberg to Vienna and from Innsbruck to Trieste, where they were not only a decided novelty, but were extremely popular as well, particularly with American tourists visiting the Tyrol. Promptly upon the outbreak of hostilities, the cars were seized by the Austrian War Office which used them as Red Cross cars. When peace was restored they were returned to the Canadian railway. Naturally tourist travel in Austria has disappeared for the time being, but Italy, which has a very interesting railway system, has been in better shape for the reception of visitors, and the Italian government made an offer for the cars which was accepted. They were operated for the first time on the Italian State Railways for the transportation through Italy of delegates of the National Council of Women of the United States who were proceeding from Naples via Rome, Florence, Venice, Milan and Geneva to the International Feminist Meeting in Christiania, Norway. As a result, the delegates had the same comfort and luxurious equipment they were accustomed to on the best railways in Canada and the United States, travelling conditions unequalled in any other country in Europe. These observation cars are now used for touring travel between Venice, Genoa, Florence, Rome and Naples.

Miss Anna Block of South 70th avenue has returned from an extended trip to San Antonio, Texas, and accompanied her little niece back with her. Prior to her return she visited her brother's home in Missouri, John who recently made a trip to this city.

The Mark city was quite snug with pleasant excitement when J. R. Hamilton, the commercial proprietor of the Mark Hotel returned to this city with a lovely bride, to assist him in his work in the future. The young couple were quickly settled in wedding in Cars at the pastoral residence of Rev. Fr. Jamany pastor of Holy Angels church a week ago and returned taking a suite of rooms in the hotel fitted up for them. Mrs. Hamilton was Miss Alice Block and formerly of Laporte, Ind. where Mr. Hamilton was a resident before he settled in business in this city. Both will contribute to the social work as well as the more profitable routine of business ventures. Recently the Mark city entertained at a "town card party" which was specially attended and much enjoyment derived. The hotel is the centre of attraction of all the larger social affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Kipp of Beacon Street entertained guests at dinner last evening.
