SUNDAY OBSERVANCE.

The hullabaloo that is being raised against proposed federal legislation touching observance of the Sabbath is waste of energy. Excited people profess to prevent by constitutional process any activity on Sunday save attendance at church services. This is sheer nonsense. While it is not to be denied that there are some scolds who would carry Sabbatharianism by statute to the lengths indicated if they could have their way, there is no reason for alarm on the part of the more liberal minded.

A great deal of unnecessary labor is performed in all states on Sunday, if you demand a strict definition of necessity, but the very general observance of the day of rest by commercial interests as a matter of policy precludes serious thought that there will be a great expansion of secular activities on that day. Accommodation of strict church people themselves demands a variety of services now that were wholly unnecessary a few years ago. The necessities of commerce forbid the curtailment of transportation for even a few hours. If all the wheels stopped turning on Sunday the business week would be reduced to less than six days and we question if the most earnest advocate of a puritanical Sabbath would consider that desirable.

On the other hand, there is a decided sentiment in America against what is termed the "continental Sunday." Religious people have no monopoly of this. We may be sure that it will be potent to prevent any decided change in present Sunday conditions. Liberalization of the day of rest will come only responsive to the demonstrated needs of the people.

BUYING THE TOYS.

Some little girls will have big, fair-haired dolls smiling from their stockings on Christmas morning. Some little boys will have toy airplanes, bomb-throwers and all the other paraphernalia of modern nursery warfare.

Some other little girls and boys won't.

But those whose dolls are the ordinary sawdust kind with eyes staring, it must be confessed, rather stupidity, in front of them and those whose toy soldiers are just everyday fellows, are to be congratulated.

The toys have known it all along. They have known, too, that the humbler ones of their assemblage, now so shiny with new paint in a thousand toy shops over the land, are due for a far happier life than their pretentious brothers and sisters who are destined for the homes of the rich. For a toy's happiness is measured by the love that is lavished upon it. And the child who has one simple toy thinks far more of it than he or she has a new thinker for every mood.

Psychologists are beginning to find this out. They have worked out a whole involved system of toy teachings, in which the child mind dwells principally on simple objects, plain contours and brave, not delicate colors.

So if a momentary sigh comes to you because you cannot afford to have Santa bring "the best there is" to your little lad or lassie, smile instead. They will be all the better for it.

CLOSING DOOR TO ALIEN.

Agreement by the house immigration committee upon a bill to be submitted to congress to suspend the admittance of aliens to the United States for two years makes sure that the lawmakers will have a definite program to consider at the forthcoming short session, which opened Monday. It is hoped that there will not be too many proposals, least in the conflict over what action should be taken, nothing will be done. It is well understood that the influx of foreigners is becoming alarming, accompanied as it is, by a general slowing down of industry. The thing to do, then, is to put up the bars at once, without too nice dispute as to what weight of spikes should be used.

THE EDW. C. MINAS CO.

It is already indicated that some will urge that the two year ban proposed by Representative Johnson be restricted to six months, in order that congress have time to study the situation. A six months' ban would be a mere stopgap that would expire almost as soon as its operation could be made effective, and might expire before a permanent policy has been agreed upon. Either immigration should be suspended or should not be suspended. If it should be stopped, the ban should be absolute and the period long enough to be of practical effect.

NORTH OF DAWSON.

Is the Klondike, the last brave stand of the pioneer and the adventurer, to pass into the desolation whence it was rescued some 20 years ago, by the discovery of gold in its frozen fastnesses? The stage coach route from Dawson has been abandoned, says a news dispatch, and therein goes a bit of picturesqueness lost to the world.

There have been stage routes, and stage routes, but never was one like that which trailed over the white road north from Dawson City. Swiftwater Bill Gates, Big Alick McDonald, Skookum Jim, the Indian, Jack Boyle and Thomas Lippy—what a race they were! Their day of fame has passed, and soon the drivers, too, will be but a memory.

Hobo Bill and Big Slim were two of them. Two of the gallant company that piled back and forth in the Arctic night, perched on the speeding sleigh, guiding their horses with marvelous accuracy as they skidded over the snow, packed to the hardness of marble.

These drivers never used horses or buggies. Their only call, their warning as they flew around the corners of the sharp Yukon trail, was the long, piercing, spine-chilling cry of the malamute. They were given a fresh relay of horses every 20 miles, and they always traveled on the dead run. Right of way was always theirs.

Now they have reined in for the last time. The trail will be desolate without them this winter. The malamute will cry, but no sleigh will come singing after. And in the waste there will be none to hear the cry, for the Klondike will sink, for the winter at least, back into a wilderness where man will not set foot.

THE MEXICANS are not the only people who should be encouraged to abandon their meanness and go to work.

WILLIAMS COLLEGE is to establish an institute of politics, probably to teach democrats how to run a campaign.

NOBODY WOULD want to erect a monument to the profiteers, but there would be no objections to burying them.

THESE ARE times when a one-cent drop in the price of bread creates more interest than a stamp in government bonds.

IT IS A SAFE guess that the Russians who are getting enough to eat are the only ones who are pleased with bolshevism.

ABOUT THE only thing that seems likely to reduce the number of divorces is to reduce the number of marriages.

A SOUND argument does not require as much sound as a weak one.

EXCESSIVE USE of the jaw takes a lot of joy out of married life.

IT DOES NOT cost any more to heat a jail than is filled with bootleggers.

NEARLY EVERY man flatters himself that no woman can lead him into making himself ridiculous.

ABOUT ALL that congress may be expected to do at the short session is to arrange for its pay.

MOST OF THE nations seem to think that man-days are among the unlucky dates.

SAYING THAT a man is no worse than other folks is not paying him a very high compliment.

JOHN BULL may forget about the pound sterling when the bolsheviki knock on the doors of India.

MASSACHUSETTS, having voted for beer and wine may have to secede to get it.

THE PROPHETS of old were stoned, but it is noticed that the modern preachers get the rocks.

EVEN TAKING folks just as you find them, the world is not such a bad place after all.

HOW MUCH DO YOU KNOW?

1—What are the bronchial tubes?
2—Which cereal feeds the most human beings?
3—What is "vegetable parchment"?
4—How did Sir Arthur Wellesley come to be the Duke of Wellington?
5—When and where was Jefferson Davis captured?
6—What is Les Halles and where is it?
7—What is the home of the true negro race?
8—What is the meaning of the name Benjamin?
9—What caused Napoleon's defeat at Waterloo?
10—What is the value of a plaster?

ANSWERS TO YESTERDAY'S QUESTIONS.

1—When was the first battle fought in America between English speaking men? Answer: It was fought in 1689 between sympathizers of two English parties which were at war in England.
2—What is an abacus? Answer: It is the counting machine.
3—What was the largest odding machine ever built? Answer: It had a capacity of forty columns or within one unit of a duodecillion. The number is too prodigious for the mind of man to grasp.
4—Why was William F. Cody called "Buffalo Bill"? Answer: Because he killed 4,000 buffaloes on the plains in eighteen months to feed laborers engaged in the construction of the Kansas Pacific railroad.
5—What use is made of cotton seed and stalks? Answer: Pulp is made from the stalks from which the finest writing paper is made. Cotton seed oil and cakes are made from the seed.
6—How many square miles of coal fields has the United States? Answer: Coal fields in the United States cover about 21,345 square miles.
7—When did common matches first come into general use? Answer: Matches came into general use about 1834.
8—How often does a moose shed its horns? Answer: Moose shed their horns each year in December. They sprout out again in April and are fully formed in June. It is remarkable to think that the huge horns are shed annually and produced again in so short a time.
9—For what was India rubber first used? Answer: It was first used to rub out marks made by black lead on white paper.
10—How long has irrigation been practiced? Answer: In Egypt irrigation was practiced about 2,000 years before Christ.
