FORMAL TRANSFER OF DANISH WEST INDIES

Islands Recently Purchased Are Turned Over to the United States.

(By The International News Service.) WASHINGTON, March 21.—The Danish West Indies, rechristened Virgin Islands, at 11 o'clock were formally turned over to the United States.

Branch Minister from received from Secretary of State Lansing, a check for $25,000-000, the purchase price of the islands, which were turned over to the United States last year and placed by President Wilson.
Secretary Lansing and Secretary of Treasury Mellon, Secretary Mc-Adoo, with Secretary of the Navy Mishkin, as well as the Secretary of Lansing, attended the ceremony.

Secretary of Navy Daniels then dispatched a message announcing formal transfer to Captain E. T. Pollock, U. S. N., at Charlotte Amalie, Island of St. Thomas, where the Danish flag was to be hoisted down and the stars and stripes to be raised for the first time above the government buildings.

Secretary Daniels' message to Captain Pollock, who is acting naval governor, follows: "You are authorized to take over the islands in the name of the United States. The message was accompanied by the following order from Minister Bran to the Danish governor: "You are authorized to deliver the islands in the name of the King."

The messages were sent by wireless to New York, thence by cable to San Francisco, thence by wire to Charlotte Amalie, being delivered within 30 minutes.

CHICAGO'S DEMONSTRATION.

Patriotic Fervor to Reach Its Climax This Evening.

(By The International News Service.)

CHICAGO, March 21.—The stage is set today for the greatest outbreak of patriotic fervor in the history of Chicago.

The climax of a day of streets filled with marching soldiers and pretty girls pleading for enlistments in the army and navy will be reached this evening when a monster rally in support of the president will take place in the Auditorium theater. Resolutions pledging the city to do its share in the event of war and advocating universal military training are expected to be adopted.

Beginning with the First Illinois infantry, which has received notice it will be again called into federal service next week, military organizations paraded the flag today. Boys from the Great Lakes naval training academy, cadets from a military academy, boy scouts, Kiwanis-American war veterans and patriotic organizations will follow with demonstrations scheduled in hour recasting.

GERMAN RAIDER HAS A GASOLINE MOTOR

made her way into the Atlantic through the British and French guard duty, according to a dispatch from the American capital today.

The German vessel—a sailing ship with a gasoline motor—left Germany a few days before Christmas, it was said, and was long when the British and French guard duty. The vessel was captured by the British navy and was taken to England.

Only the boiler and a few other parts of the sailing ship's equipment it was said.

Between 200 and 300 refugees sailing have been landed at Rio de Janeiro by the French bark, Combarieu, which was turned over to a British ship by the Germans, after her capture. Among them are some women.

It is known that at least eleven ships were sunk by the raider. According to some of the fugitive commanders the German ship was called the "Sea Wolf." By others she was called the "Sea Eagle."

The raider was armed with two four-inch guns, 15 machine guns, torpedoes and also carried great quantities of dynamite, bombs and mines.

On March 12 the sailing ship Ron-garth from Montevideo to Plymouth, with a cargo of grain, was captured.
The Rongarth tried to escape but was shot. The German crew in claw and swept the Rongarth's decks with her machine guns, wounding four or five of the crew, including the chief officer. The ship then surrendered.

Among the other ships reported sunk by the German raider are: Du-puy, French sailing ship; Gladys Royal, British steamer; Anselmo, French sailing ship; Charles Gannard, French steamer; Lady Island, British steamer; Romporth, British steamer; Roches Pouchard, French steamer; Dress, Canadian schooner; Jean, British sailing ship and an Italian steamship.

missions, if they can be observed and the efficiency of the guard maintained. These officers stated the promotions will be required to take examinations.

All officers who refused to accede to General Smith's requests to resign will be placed in the retired list.
General Smith asserted he had not consulted Governor Goodrich about the reorganization of the officers' list, although the captain of the Winchester company, Governor Goodrich's home city, was relieved of his command. General Smith also said he consulted regular army officers.

For $985.00

We will furnish enough lumber and millwork to build this beautiful home. An auto will cost the same. Which will you take? There are cheaper houses and cheaper autos, so everybody may have their choice.

A New Home or an Automobile? Which?

A great many of our friends at this time are debating the above question. If you buy an automobile you can't afford to build a new home this year? Now get your thinking cap on. Compare the two and decide for a new home, or perhaps for an old.

1. A new home is a permanent investment; an automobile is a liability. Ask your banker.
2. Invest your money in a new home and your credit goes up; spend it for an auto and your credit goes down. Ask your banker.
3. A new home is a money saver of cost; an auto is a money spender—gas, oil, tires, etc.
4. A new home is used day and night; an auto is used four hours this week and then.
5. A new home is used the year around; an auto is used only in the summer.
6. A new home is used by every member of the family—the father, the mother and the old folks at home; the auto is used by only a few of the family.
7. A new home will make better men and women out of your children, and keep them at home; an auto will help them get away and get into trouble.
8. You can sell a new home at a profit; you can't sell an auto at a loss.
9. Your new home, properly located, increases in value; your auto decreases in value.
10. A new home lasts a lifetime, a new auto is gone and out of date quickly.
11. LUMBER which is the principal part of a house is cheap. It is now selling at practically the same price as it did in 1913 before the war, because they can't use it in war. Iron, leather and all parts of an auto have gone to the sky because these materials are used most by the armies.
12. LUMBER will go up after the war because it will be the principal material used to rebuild Europe. Iron goods will drop because they will quit making guns, shells and battle ships.

USE HORSE SENSE: Buy LUMBER while it's cheap.
If you are a thinking man or woman you will make the right decision. Build or remodel your home. There is only one crop of lots and homes, but an endless crop of babies, and every baby born anywhere on the round earth increases the value of every home that's built.

If you own a lot or have money enough to buy one, come to our office and we will show you how to build this beautiful home and pay it out like rent.

Do it now while you can get plenty of good carpenters and a big stock of building materials to select from. A little later everybody will start at once. Get ahead of the rush.
Lumber prices are yet low but we can't guarantee what the price will be in the future. One bushel of corn will now buy a bale of shingles. Four years ago it would not buy a half a bale. Now is the time. This is the place.
