DIRECTIONS FOR THE PREPARATION OF THESE LESSONS

FIRST, the signs in shorthand stand for sounds, not for letters. If you are in doubt regarding the sounds in any word, pronounce it slowly and distinctly, and then write the signs which represent the sounds you hear.

SECOND, the best way to learn the shorthand signs is to write them repeatedly—slowly and carefully—using a sharp pencil of medium hardness.

THIRD, make haste slowly. Master each part of the lesson before proceeding to the next.

FOURTH, after you have thoroughly mastered the lesson, translate the shorthand at the end thereof into longhand, and send your translation with a two-cent stamp to D. D. MUELLER, President, Mueller School of Business, 528 Walnut St., Cincinnati, Ohio, with whom we have arranged to examine your transcripts and return them to you with appropriate explanations and corrections, free of charge to you.

Gregg Shorthand Lessons

No. 3

(Copyright, 1915, by John R. Gregg)
All Rights Reserved

VOWELS—The "OO" hook: The sounds of U as heard in hut, U as in rule, and U as in rude are expressed by a small upward hook, called the "OO-hook."

hut    i    hoof    j    puff    k    food

Turn the OO-hook on its side after N or M; also after K or G when followed by R or L:

mug    cool    gulley

In all other instances the OO-hook retains its usual form.

The vowel sound in rude, mood, do, group and rue must not be confused with the long sound of U as in mute, due, few, etc. It is well to remember that sounds are expressed in various ways in ordinary spelling, but that in shorthand one character represents a sound no matter what the spelling may be.

The joining of the vowels in the word forms adds to the speed of writing, giving, as they do, a means of "getting around the corners." Learn to make the joinings with a free movement.

Practice Exercise

gush	tug	nut	foot
up	nook	moon	shoot
doom	room	took	cool
hug	duck	tomb	gulf
oven	rut	luck	gulp
rough	mood	loot	hood
whom	to	bushy	coop
shut	who	dug	roughen
honey	shove	hoop	buffet
cuff	hush	muddy	chuckle
hull	hook	upper	mull
hoof	push	rug	pool

W is expressed by the OO-hook:

we    wedge    wall    wool

W is always followed by a vowel, hence when the OO-hook is followed by a vowel it can read as W.

In words beginning with WH, the H is sounded first, and it is so written in shorthand:

whiff    wheel    whim    whack

W within a word is expressed by a short, horizontal dash placed under the vowel:

twig    dwell    roadway    twin

When A occurs before W or H at the beginning of a word it is expressed by a dot: away, ahead.

Before the "O" or the "OO-hook" Y is expressed by a small circle:

yawn    yoke    yule    yore

YE is expressed by a small loop; and YA by a large loop:

year    yet    Yale    yam

Practice Exercise

wheat	quill	walk	watch
whale	witch	queen	weigh yacht	quick	ware	we
yellow	whip	waif	weight
quaff	wed	woof	yell

After practicing all the illustrated words, get some one to dictate them to you slowly, then compare carefully with the original forms and write repeatedly. Repeated dictation and repeated reading are essential to familiarity with the principles and word-forms.

Wordsigns

become, book	any	when	real, regard
believe	public	with	new
week	full	without	reply
far, favor	look	where	very
were	care	much	work
you-r	state	what	word

Business Phrases: The wordsign for "you" may be turned on its side after N or M, as you, on your. Practice the following phrases: We are, you will, you cannot, we will be, you have, we shall, in reply, your favor, when the, very much, when you, will state, your question, we believe, you have not, you will be, from which, to you, we have, we have not.

Translate: Business letter:

Dear Sir: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th inst. and in reply to inform you that the same has been forwarded to the proper authorities for their consideration. I am, Sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant.

Sentences:

I am writing to you to inform you that the same has been forwarded to the proper authorities for their consideration. I am, Sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant.

Don't Paint With Mud!

What is in paint is as important as how paint is put on. The best painter in the land cannot make worthless mixtures of crushed rock and ground earths stay put. Imitation paint lacks the clinching qualities and elasticity that paint made of
