Lake Shore shops at Elkhart have resumed the eight-hour day schedule.

"The Widow McCarty" is sure to please all, a genuine Irish comedy, Fraternity hall Jan. 8.

Attend Thomas H. Kuhn's popular lecture, "Forces of Destiny," at the Christian church next Monday evening.

Geo. D. Gaby was in the city Monday evening having driven over from Cromwell where he had spent a good part of the day.

The Rebekah lodge will install their officers on Thursday night, Jan. 9, 1908. All members are requested to attend.

Chas. Miller, of near New Durham in LaPorte county, a wealthy farmer, aged eighty, committed suicide by hanging, in a hen house, last week. The cause is a mystery.

Mr. William Radford and family leave today for their home in Eureka, Ill. The pleasures of their stay here have been materially interfered with on account of la grippe and other climatic influences.

Among the Democrats who attended the meeting here last Monday night were: John W. Morr, Samuel Kreighbaum, L. H. Wrigley, Perry J. Stanley and Will H. Baker all of Albion. The boys drove over in the face of the storm but they got a warm welcome.

The Investigating Club ladies and their husbands indulged in a "picnic" supper Monday evening at the home of Mrs. J. Sheets that was bounteous in proportions and bewitching to the taste. Besides, music and merriment aided in furnishing a most pleasing evening program.

Miss Cora Morgan, of Falconer, New York, is here for a short visit with her sister, Mrs. Frank Zack. Her route homeward will be via Peru where a brother in the employ of the Lake Erie railroad resides. Miss Morgan is a charming young lady and during her short sojourn is making many friends.

Nathan Roberts, an old citizen and farmer, who resides near Kendallville came near dying last Monday from taking the wrong medicine. He is 73 years old and his eye sight faulty. He thought to take a small tablet and accidentally got hold of a strychnine powder which he took. Prompt medical assistance was all that saved him.

Miss Madeline Sack came home for a holiday vacation and to assist in the care of her sister, Miss Anna, whose prolonged illness is a source of worry and anxiety to that family's many friends. "Mae," as she is familiarly known, does not thoroughly appreciate her professional experience, particularly because of enforced absence from home ties, and may be seen from her contract in the near future.

The elimination of capital punishment both in Indiana and throughout the nation is the aim of "The Indiana Society for the Abolition of Capital Punishment," organized Friday at the state house in Indianapolis. It is the purpose of the society to affiliate with other societies in a national movement, and to organize county societies within this state to educate the people to the elimination of the death penalty. A strong lobby will be organized to secure the passage of a bill at the next session of the legislature, abolishing the death penalty in Indiana.

One of the "hard-to-get-a-start" life insurance companies of Chicago has recently been offering the citizens of Fort Wayne so-called life insurance at the price of $5 per thousand, any plan, any age. Because of the fact that hundreds of thousands of dollars of the stuff had been previously sold in Indianapolis at $2 per thousand, a wall of complaint emanates from Fort Wayne, claiming unfair discrimination. It is more than likely that the price paid in either city will prove to be quite too much for value received. But people like the bunco game—particularly the insurance bunco game.

This is 1908.

We are still in the dark.

Allen Palmer is off to school again. Three dollars in cash for some one. Given by Caldwell Grocery Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Haddenbach returned from their Toledo visit on Saturday.

Miss Jane Draper took a social view of Goshen during the last of the week.

Carl Decker went to Chicago last Saturday returning to Ligonier Monday evening.

Lewis Levy is suffering from slight injuries inflicted by one of Charley Jackson's mules.

Miss Louise Zink, of Elkhart, has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Draper for several days.

The Kendallville Steam Laundry Company has incorporated for $5,000. Charles H. Henry S. and Louis E. Kimmell are the incorporators.

Mrs. and Mr. J. L. Jones returned to Ligonier this morning after visiting J. R. Taylor and family of Wood street—Kendallville Sun, Saturday.

Miss Audrey Krueger went to Kendallville and to Milford last week for a visit among friends and relatives. She returned home Tuesday.

Dr. Amelia Zimmerman, of the Penneyer Sanitarium, Kenosha, Wis., came Monday for a one-day visit with her cousin, Mrs. S. C. Sackett, returning Tuesday.

Mrs. Catherine Nickey, widow of the late Jacob Nickey and for many years a prominent Whitley county woman, died Wednesday at Columbia City at the age of 86 years.

Capt. and Mrs. E. P. Truesdale have disposed of nearly all of their Wawasee Lake property to Colonel Wood, of Indianapolis, the theater architect, who will improve it in the spring.

Clyde Freed, after a few days at home with parents and sisters, returned to his Chicago duties Monday. He is associated with Sam Hays in work connected with the telephone industry.

The room lately vacated by the Caldwell Grocery Co. will be completely refitted for a new tenant. It is an excellent location and will not long remain vacant. Mr. Sheets says that he has had several applications for the room.

The Elkhart democratic county central committee for the campaign of 1908 is as follows: Robert E. Proctor, chairman, Elkhart; Anthony Deal, vice-chairman, Goshen; Marshall L. Smith, secretary, Elkhart; James O. Smith, treasurer, Goshen.

The Elkhart county infirmary is in such an overcrowded condition that it is necessary for an immediate enlargement. There are now 73 inmates—45 men and 28 women—at least 30 more than sanitary conditions warrant, as many are constantly on the sick list.

Will A. Pearce, of Elkhart, was in the city yesterday greeting his many old friends and neighbors with "Happy New Year." Mr. Pearce is still employed in the railroad shops, and says that he has not been laid off as he has been told when the announcement will come.

Levi Stump, the young man who escorted the late Mrs. Albert Gale from McPherson, Kansas, here for interment, returned Monday morning to resume his studies in the college of that city. While here he was the guest of his uncle, Albert Weaver and numerous other relatives.

The village board of White Pigeon, Mich., has passed an ordinance forbidding the erection of an acetylene plant within the village limits. An explosion of the lighting plant there recently, doing great damage, is responsible for the decision. The people like the light, but do not want to be on speaking terms with a plant for its manufacture.

Thos. H. Kuhn, the minister who is to conduct the special services at the Christian church next Sunday, is one of the leading candidates for governor on the democratic ticket. He was a candidate for congress last year and came near defeating Jim Watson in an overwhelming republican district. He is an eloquent speaker.

Ex-Sheriff W. F. Metz was a caller at this office last Thursday while on his "rounds" preparatory to the relinquishment of the shrievalty to his successor. Mr. Metz has served his constituents well in the future, his plans comprehend attention to the business of hardware dealings among the citizens of Albion and vicinity, and, as his account with the BANKER is square, we wish him continued prosperity.

A novel scheme for recruiting church membership has been employed in our neighboring city of Garrett—if the truth is told in the following Saturday's news item: "Adam Stewart's clothing store was stormed yesterday by two hundred men, who claimed suits of clothes as recompense for accepting the Baptist faith. Mr. Stewart is a loyal Baptist and recently announced that he would present a suit to each man who came into the church. Rev. Dan Shannon, Baptist revivalist, has been holding meetings here during the last three weeks and quite lately has increased the number of his converts at a surprising rate. Apparently every citizen in the place who needed a suit of clothes was coming in to the front on the evangelist's call. Shannon and Stewart will decide who of the converts are actually converted. These will be given new wardrobes."

Sam Jay Williams has passed to the other side; that is, he has crossed the great divide and is to be no longer known among men as one of youthful inclinations and tendencies, for last Saturday was his fiftieth birthday anniversary and he's an old man now. The change from his former condition to that of a half-centuryarian was not characterized by as much pleasure as is usual to birthday celebrating, notwithstanding the fact that his surroundings were all that either a young or aged man could desire. He grew ill over it, and, until his new position is fully established the advice that great care be exercised and plenty of Elkhart milk used as a diet might be profitably considered. Sam Williams is a good fellow, and his friends dislike hearing reports of physical derangement, even though caused by so important a change of life. He's better, now, and the drug and express business receives his full attention.

A happy new year!

When will we have light?

Miss Ruby Solomon is entertaining a Mr. Nathan Simon, of Mobile, Ala. A few Elkhartians have smallpox. Quarantine regulations are restrictive, however.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Warren were among the tardy ones arriving home for holiday enjoyments.

The band fair has been in progress for several days and the attendance has been very gratifying.

Charlie Drain and wife, South Bend, called upon their many Ligonier friends during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Inks returned yesterday from a visit of several days with their daughter at Edgerton, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Yoder, Chicago, are among those who find enjoyment in holiday visitation with Ligonier friends and relatives.

Dr. Garrett Van Swearingen has returned to his home in Fort Wayne, after a few days visit with Miss Crete Zine—Elkhart Truth, Saturday.

Mr. Simon Schloss, Albion, was a Tuesday arrival in town, here to participate in the engagement function of Miss Ruby Solomon, celebrated on New Year's day.

J. E. McDonald, Jr. left Tuesday morning in company with Walter Stansbury for Logansport where he will spend the week, visiting his uncle, H. J. Stansbury and family.

Mrs. Rizzio Powers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., was among the later holiday arrivals in Ligonier. She is a welcome guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. H. Stansbury.

The minimum wage law relating to teacher's wages which takes effect next August, provides for the payment of $3.50 per day to teachers in rural schools, who have a standing of 100 per cent.

Clare and Harry Stone, of Albion, were in the city for several days last Saturday on their way home from Kendallville, where they had attended a big Masonic meeting in company with G. M. Zimmerman, of this city.

The people of Ligonier should patronize the entertainment given at Fraternity Hall better than they have in the past. The managers have secured a number of good companies but so far the attendance has been very discouraging.

Mrs. Russle Collins, who for some time past had been a guest of her daughter, Mrs. Jay Williams, returned to her farmland home Monday morning, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Fahnestock and sons, all having had a real "Merry Christmas."

Dan Link, the well-known attorney of Auburn was in the city last Monday night looking after his political interests. He is a candidate before the Fort Wayne convention today for district chairman. Mr. Link is a good democrat and whether it is victory or defeat he will doubtless accept the decision gracefully.

The promoters of the band fair and other evening entertainments realize what no street lights can do for an enterprise of that kind. Hundreds of people who would attend these entertainments will not for the danger and inconvenience of travel. Business men complain that their night trade has fallen off so completely that they will have to close their places if service is not assured.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Royer, of Indianapolis, arrived in Ligonier Saturday morning for a short visit with relatives and are guests at the home of Mrs. Royer's mother, Mrs. Margaret Guffey. Mr. Royer is the senior member of the family of Royer and Conlee, leading merchant tailors in the capital city, who maintain luxurious apartments in the traction building, undoubtedly the busiest spot in the state.

The Apollo Commandery No. 19, Knights Templar, held an interesting convocation in Kendallville last Friday afternoon and evening and the Order of Knighthood was conferred upon a class of five. Sir Knights John L. Henry, Eli B. Gerber and Greeley M. Zimmerman constituted the Ligonier delegation who joined in the sacred ceremonial and participated in the sumptuous feast prepared by ladies of Order of Eastern Star.

Otto Wolfe, of the Blade Printing and Paper Co., Toledo, found his way homeward for a Saturday-Sunday sojourn among comrades and friends. The late sergeant of old Co. L has "tingered up" considerably since receipt of his new commission and tells of his pleasurable enjoyment in recruiting patrons for his new paymaster in competition with other knights of the grip throughout the territory in which he operates successfully.

The annual reunion of the Funnell club occurred in the Elks' quarters last Thursday night, during which a delectable four-course repast was indulged, enlivened with music and sociability. Pert Thomas, of Warsaw, and Homer Kelsey, of Fort Wayne, were out-of-town guests. Other members present were: Carl Strait, Jay Maxwell, Allen Palmer, Arthur Sedgwick, Will Kelly, Hugh Hutchison, Harley Head and Dale Woodruff.

Hon. Fred L. Bodenhafer, of Kendallville, ex-representative, was elected last Thursday night as president of the so-called Good Citizen League at Kendallville. Mr. Bodenhafer was not at the meeting and promptly refused the honor when he was informed of the action. In the meantime the league is trying to get somebody else to accept the place and is perfecting arrangements to circulate a blanket remonstrance. It will take a lot of hard work, but account of the small vote cast at the last municipal election the anti saloon forces have a big advantage.

The attendance at the vaudeville Friday and Saturday evening was the largest ever enjoyed by the show notwithstanding the bad weather Friday evening. The Passion Play was put on and the people were greatly interested in the splendid pictures. There was a strong demand for a repetition of the scenes and Sunday afternoon the doors were open, no fee was charged and the house was soon crowded to its full capacity. The managers of the vaudeville, Messrs. Elks and Carr have arranged for a number of good subjects for the winter and they propose to keep up the popularity of the playhouse.

Write it correctly: 1908.

Harry Green was a visitor to Goshen and vicinity last Monday.

Mr. J. D. Kroeger and family are guests of relatives in Delphos, Ohio.

H. Swartz and wife, Waterloo, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Batdorf over Sunday.

Miss Madge Scott, Elkhart, came over Wednesday morning to see the folks, returning at night.

T. A. Redmond, the well known Kendallville attorney, was in the city last Tuesday, looking after legal affairs.

Hon. E. B. Gerber went to Chicago early Tuesday for an extended visit with his daughter, Mrs. J. H. Howenstein and family.

J. W. H. Stansbury and family are entertaining W. H. Mineer, wife and daughter, of Battle Creek, Mich., at their north side home.

New solitaire diamond rings are said to adorn (secretly) the left hands of several of our city's charming young ladies. Announcements later.

The Democrats of Noble county will hold a love feast at Albion some time during the winter, and it is safe to say that the attendance will be large.

Elder Thos. H. Kuhn, of Richmond, Ind., will deliver his popular lecture, "Forces of Destiny," at the Christian church next Monday evening Jan. 6. Admission 25 cents.

Mrs. Max Hyman and her two daughters have been visiting in Ligonier for the past two weeks, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Frank. Their home is in Montpelier, Ohio.

The "Passion Play" proved such a popular attraction to Vaudeville patrons that the management, in response to numerous requests, gave a Sunday afternoon exhibition. Many enjoyed a second sight.

Miss Hazel Carmien participated in a well terschoreau function in Kendallville last Thursday evening, provided by eight of that city's society belles, at which there is said to have been much doing of the happy sort.

Geo. D. Hawks, a leading business man of Goshen, died suddenly at his home in that city last Sunday from an attack of neuralgia of the heart. He had been a resident of Goshen for nearly forty years, and nearly all of the time was in the milling business.

The D. A. R. will meet Tuesday, January 7 at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. Abbie Draper. Quotations will be from Poor Richard's Almanac. Papers will be read by Mrs. Lucy Gallaway on "Benjamin Franklin," and by Mrs. Lou J. Dunning on "Musical Patriots of the Revolution."

The Mier Carriage & Buggy Co. has just closed a contract with the Oswald Motor Works at Goshen for 100 two cylinder engines to be used in the equipment of the first one hundred of the new Mier automobiles. The engines are to be built according to a special pattern and are to be high grade in every detail.

Among the numerous Christmas gifts distributed between the social set last week was a handsome chafing dish, Miss Gladys Carr recipient. In commemoration of the favor and to emphasize her appreciation Miss Gladys invited a number of her intimate friends to the Carr home on South Martin street Saturday evening where they were regaled with a rarebit feast, delightful to all present. Miss Marie Scott, Elkhart, was the only out-of-town guest.

The Elks will give a social session at their parlors Wednesday, Jan. 8, 1908, that promises to attract all the members and their immediate families. The committee in charge are making elaborate arrangements and the program will doubtless be most interesting. It will be an affair exclusively for Elks and their families and all members of Ligonier lodge have been invited as well as the members of the order who may be in Ligonier at the time.
