A movement has been started in Kendallville for the organization of a lodge of the Benevolent & Protective Order of Elks and from present indications it appears that the project will be a success.

James Owen O'Connor, of South Bend, was in town Tuesday paying his respects to parents and other friends about town. As yet "Jim" is not in politics, but has his ideas of who will be the next president.

Remarkably mild and beautiful weather has been dispensed herabouts for the past several days. Prophecies suggestive of more disagreeable conditions in the near future are common and, according to the law of compensation are to be expected.

The court house at Albion is now under the care of Oscar Pippinger he having succeeded George Gatewood at the end of the year. It is to be hoped that the temple of justice will be kept in most presentable condition. Under the new management public buildings should always be clean and attractive.

Miss Grace Graham, to whom the band fair management awarded the prize as being the most popular young lady in town, gave an appreciation feast to her intimate friends the other evening—the chaffing dish figuring conspicuously in the menu preparation. It is safe to say that this charming young lady's popularity did not wane on account of the enjoyable function.

Mrs. Clawson (nee Della Akers), whose home since her matrimonial venture has been in Marion, Ind., is once again among her hosts of Ligonier friends for a post-holiday season of social visitations. Notwithstanding an absence of nearly two years, there seems to be no difficulty in retracing the byways so familiar during those happy, bygone days of youth and young womanhood while renewing old friendships. She is receiving a royal welcome.

In the distribution of public funds among the banks the commission has designated the Noble County Bank, the Campbell and Fetter Bank and the Kendallville Trust and Savings Co., all of Kendallville, Straus Bros. of this city and the Farmers State Bank, of Albion, as the county depositories. Straus Bros. & Co. will get the larger share of deposits or, forty-nine per cent, while thirty-five per cent will go to Kendallville and the balance to the Farmer's State Bank of Albion.

Frank Crothers attended the Eagle lodge at Kendallville, Monday night.

The earth was covered with a slight coat of "the beautiful" yesterday morning.

Mr. Joe Hinman, of Elkhart, visited his sister, Mrs. Frank Crothers, Thursday of last week.

You have a chance to buy a first-class and strictly up-to-date cloak for less than one-half price at E. Jacobs & Co.

Sig W. Kahn and J. E. McDonald were at Fort Wayne Thursday to attend the big Democratic convention.

Henry C. Zollinger, a former member of the 11th Indiana battery, died at his home in Fort Wayne Monday, aged 66.

Was it blackmail? Such is the thought of many concerning an incipient rumor about town of seclusion nature.

Miss Louise Paffman returned home today after an extended visit with Ligonier friends.—Kendallville News-Messenger.

Miss Edith Parshall, after a pleasant stay in Albion, has returned to her pedagogic duties at Piqua, Ohio, whither she migrated Saturday last.

An authority claims that an excess of $70,000 is tied up in Noble county unions, that cannot be removed without loss owing to limited demand in various markets.

Dr. Nicholas Senn, the famous Chicago surgeon whose reputation is world-wide, was buried in Graceland cemetery, Chicago, Sunday, with military honors.

It is said that we have a candidate for the chairmanship of the republican county central committee in Ligonier. He is making a fight for the place but it is safe to predict that he will not get this unless he comes out in the open.

J. E. McDonald left Monday for Indianapolis where he attended the annual meeting of the State Board of Agriculture of which he is a member. Mr. McDonald was unanimously re-elected Tuesday and in the reorganization of the board yesterday was assigned to his old position as superintendent of the Fine Arts building.

In the recent organization of the Art Portland Cement Co. at Kimmell the following officers were elected: Hon. Orlando Kimmell, who is now in Chicago, President; Col. A. W. Lyon, vice president; and O. W. Christie, secretary and treasurer. The position of manager was held open until a suitable man can be selected. It is hoped that the new management will be able to open during the early spring.

An oyster supper will be given at Cosperville next Saturday evening, Jan. 11, under the auspices of the choir of the Baptist church from six until nine o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all and a social good time is in store for those who may attend. The choir consists of thirty young ladies and gentlemen of the community who are all enthusiastic workers in the church. Prof. B. F. Peters is the director.

The Democrats of Whitley county at their mass convention to select delegates to the district convention at Fort Wayne, passed resolutions endorsing S. W. Kain, of Ligonier, for delegate to the Democratic national convention. It looks as though Mr. Kain would be selected as one of the delegates from this district, and there is no reason why he should not be. He is all wool and a yard wide and has always been a loyal and hard working democrat at all times and under all circumstances.—Albion Democrat.

A terrible labor condition exists in the city of Muncie at present, the situation being so serious as to cause the governor to order 600 state troops to the scene for the purpose of preserving order. Striking street car employees and their sympathizers furnish the cause for employment of such extreme measures. Thus far the militia have not taken a hand in peace preservation other than the influence of their presence under arms. Martial law obtains, with scores of deputy sheriffs and extra policemen doing double duty. Business of nearly every nature has been suspended and Muncie's flourishing prosperity very materially interfered with, while the end is not yet in sight.

There was much alarm about the streets on Friday last when the report became current that city Marshall Billy Vandersmith had suffered a fatal apoplectic stroke. Fortunately the rumor proved untrue; but that there was just cause for uneasiness on the part of his many friends there is no doubt, as his condition was precarious until arrival of Dr. C. A. Woodruff, who, by the application of heroic remedies succeeded in maintaining life. Mr. Vandersmith is rapidly convalescing and doubtless will soon again be one of the familiar personages about town. He resumed his duties Tuesday although not fully restored.

The Odd Fellows, of Ligonier, were hosts to large delegations of visiting brethren from all surrounding towns last Saturday night, upwards of 400 of that membership having congregated here for the purpose of a labor and refreshment. Work in the Initiation and Second degrees was accomplished by Topeka and Kimmell lodges, respectively, to the delight of all beholders, each of the visiting teams showing good study and broad comprehension of lessons portrayed. When work had ended, a feast followed to which ample justice was done by all participants. The spirit of Odd Fellowship runs high in Northern Indiana, as indicated by the enthusiastic outpouring on that date.

Peter Kline, deputy state inspector of factories, work shops, mercantile establishments, hotels, bakeries and public buildings was an official visitor to Ligonier Tuesday and had a look through the BANNER office. The information that some of our business places do not meet legal requirements regarding construction qualifications and sanitary conditions was disclosed; also, that probable prosecution would follow failure to comply with the law within a reasonable time. Mr. Kline reports that in many places he finds startling conditions of neglect and indifference among mill and factory owners as to safety appliances and decent sanitary regulations, largely because of ignorance, and expressed the opinion that a change would come generally for the better when the importance thereof was more fully realized.

Still no electric lights. Why not?

All goods greatly reduced in price at E. Jacobs & Co.

Rev. Miller returned from Kendallville for a few hours of calls among friends Saturday.

O. F. Gerber went to Fort Wayne Thursday to attend the big Democratic district convention.

Mrs. J. L. Henry and daughter Marjorie spent several days visiting Avilla friends since the holidays.

Miss Clara Rush, of Elkhart, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. D. S. Taylor, last week.—Albion New Era.

Miss Florence Knox was a fair Goshen visitor to Tuesday evening's leap year ball. Miss Knox is a social favorite in Ligonier.

Miss Ethel Crothers entertained a few of her friends last Wednesday evening, in honor of her friend Miss Lenora Hodge, of Auburn.

Will Blech, a young lad of Jefferson township was severely wounded last Wednesday while playing with a gun he did not know was loaded.

"Ollie" Kinnison, business manager of the Goshen News-Times, was noticed joyously tripping his light fantastic at the leap year ball Tuesday evening.

I. W. Pence, of Angola, was in the city over Sunday, the guest of relatives. Mr. Pence is still with the Steuben Republican, one of the best papers in the state.

Warsaw Union: For the first time in the memory of the present generation, at least, the court house is filled with democratic officials, the only exceptions being Janitor Hatfield and Circuit Judge pro tem Roysce.

A barn belonging to Monroe Barcus, Noble township, was burned last week, from which the live stock and machinery were saved. Loss on the barn was $400 which was partially covered by $200 insurance.

The Misses Anna, Minnie and Blanche Krueger, charming and popular young ladies of Kendallville, came down Saturday to attend the band fair. While here they were guests at the home of Mr. L. E. Kreuger, thier brother.

The Butler saloons are now having their closing. An organized effort was made week to get enough signatures to a remonstrance but failed. It is proposed to keep up the fight and the chances are that the saloons will be ousted.

Two Polanders, Antin Cencelowski and Nicodan Witacki, at South Bend fought a duel last Friday and both were fatally injured. They were young men and fell to quarrelling over their prowess in athletics. They came to blows when both pulled revolvers and began shooting.

Ex-Sheriff Harvey Liggett, a prominent citizen of Columbia City, died on Monday. He had been a resident of the Wabash valley since 1864 and since attainment of manhood had been conspicuously in the fore for all that was for the best interests of the people. He was nearing the end of his seventieth year.

Ex Sheriff Will Metz and Jas. T. Latta ex-county treasurer who closed their official life last week were kindly remembered by the court house contingent as they closed their duties endorsing with a silk umbrella as a slight token of the esteem and friendship of their other public servants. It was a surprise to the recipient, but most highly appreciated.

On Monday last Mrs. McKenzie, so well and favorably known to nearly everybody herabouts, celebrated her eighty-sixth birthday anniversary. As hostess to twenty-five assembled guests—co-members of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society,—she proved an admirable and vivacious entertainer, fully appreciative of the compliment bestowed. Many presents, tokens of love, were left her as souvenirs of the occasion for enjoyment during the many years of life that are yet to follow—if the desires of her friends are realized.

Nelson Bobeck, a farmer residing about eight miles southwest of Ligonier was an early Monday morning business visitor to town. When approaching the hitch-rack on Cavin park his young horse became frightened at a passing bunch of hogs and in a runaway effort overturned the carriage, throwing Mr. Bobeck to the ground with such force as to cause a badly sprained back and a severe scalp wound. These were dressed by Drs. Black and Clapp, several stitches being necessary to close the opening in the cranial covering. It was thought by attending surgeons that the wounds would not prove serious and that the injured man would soon regain his normal condition. He carried no accident insurance.

The announcement of Mrs. Patrick Campbell's engagement at the Garrick theatre, Chicago, on Jan. 6, has created more interest than any other dramatic announcement in the past two seasons. This famous international star has given the necessary impetus to an otherwise colorless theatrical year. The announcement of her coming has once more served to bring out the crowds as in the days gone by. The mail orders from out of town theatergoers for the limited engagement have been pouring in at good rate, and the box office sale has been steady and persistent. Merchant and banker, rich and poor, high and low, rubbed elbows, and employer and employe have stood in line with a common purpose the past few days of securing seats to witness this most remarkable woman. The repertoire for the engagement which is limited to two weeks is announced as follows: Jan. 6, 7, and 8, "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray;" Jan. 9, 10, and 11, matinee and night, "The Notorious Mrs. Ebbsmith;" on Jan. 12, and 13, "Hedra Gabal;" will be the bill; on Jan. 15, "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray;" Jan. 16 and 17, Sudermann's powerful drama "Magda;" Jan. 19, matinee, "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray;" and at night, "The Notorious Mrs. Ebbsmith." There will be no Sunday night or Wednesday matinee performances. Mrs. Campbell's art has been pronounced by eminent critics as perfect. Her acting is so natural, and so carefully graded that one does not think it is acting. Her voice is silver and golden, tones that once heard are never forgotten. Mrs. Patrick Campbell finds in the four different roles in which she appears during this engagement, opportunity to declare the absolute originality of her art and to differentiate her acting from that of other great emotional actresses. The prices range from 50 cents to $2.
