

A Most Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts from native medicinal roots and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and anodyne. It adds greatly to the efficacy of the Black Cherry-bark, Bloodroot, Golden Seal, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" in subduing chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchitis, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.

In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal, root, Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherry-bark in promoting digestion and building up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough, and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to cure chronic, or lingering coughs, or other ailments, unless it is used in conjunction with a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to cure chronic, or lingering coughs, or other ailments, unless it is used in conjunction with a healthy condition of the whole system.

Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago, says of glycerine:

"It dispels all the mucus, and holds a fixed quantity of the peroxide of hydrogen in solution, which is ready to light up—in two days' time, without injury to ceilings, floors or walls. And when once installed it will give you the same amount of light as you now use for one-half the cost, and regular lamps will burn with kerosene at 12 cents per gallon."

No more lamp-cleaning, filling, chimney-wiping, wick-trimming, breakages, soot, smell of kerosene.

Instead, brilliant Acetylene Light from permanent, handsome polished brass brackets on the walls and nest brass chandeliers from the ceilings, city-like, elegant, up-to-date and out of the way.

Can't tip over (like Kerosene Lamps) where there are children— and does not need mantles, wicks nor chimneys.

Acetylene Light is so pure, so free from soot and color-log that you can distinguish pale blue, pale pink or pale yellow under its rays as clearly at night, as you could in broad daylight.

Once a month the hired man must clean out and refill the generator in the basement. Takes him about 30 minutes per month to do this.

"The cost of all this" you ask. So small comparatively, that the plant soon pays for itself through the savings on labor, chimneys and the difference between the cost of Carbide and the Kerosene you are now using.

Shall I give you more precise figures about the "Rural Gaslight"—called Acetylene?

Then write me to-day how many rooms you've got in house, hotel, or how large a store to light so I can answer intelligently and to the point.

Address me as follows: Acetylene Jones, 10 Adams St., Chicago, Ill.

BRING THAW TRIAL TO A QUICK CLOSE

BOTH THE DEFENSE AND PEOPLE REST IN THE WHITE MURDER CASE.

LAWYER'S SPEECHES COME ON WEDNESDAY

Concluding Testimony Takes Up Most of Tuesday's Session—Hummel's Testimony Is Read in Court—State's Part Is Short.

New York, Jan. 23.—The Thaw case progressed Tuesday to within a few hours of its close. The state concluded its case in rebuttal and the defense had only a few witnesses in rebuttal. The summing up of the attorneys begins Wednesday. District Attorney Jerome caused distinct surprise by announcing that he would call no expert witnesses to rebut the testimony of the alienists introduced by the defense. He relied upon arguing that a competent case of legal insanity had not been made out. His move also prevents the defense from calling the state's experts of last year in rebuttal to question them as to their declarations before the lunacy commission that Thaw was an incurable paranoiac, and likely to do violence if allowed to go free.

Both Sides Rest.

Both prosecution and defense finally rested at a late hour. Justice Dowling announced that the defense would use all of Wednesday in summing up the Thaw case and the prosecution would be allowed all of Thursday. The court may charge the jury Thursday evening, but probably not until Friday morning, when the case will pass into the hands of the jury. Mr. Littleton and District Attorney Jerome will make the jury speeches.

Read Hummel Testimony.

The proceedings were materially speeded by an agreement of counsel to read to the jury the testimony of Abraham H. Hummel concerning the affidavit Evelyn Nesbit is said to have signed in 1903, charging cruelties against Harry Thaw, as given at the last trial. This arrangement obviated the necessity of holding court on Blackwell's Island, where Hummel is serving a sentence. In return for the concession by the defense, Mr. Jerome allowed the will of the defendant to go in evidence. The testament had been held up for want of proof as to its custody. The will sets apart a sum of $50,000 for purposes of investigation in case the maker should die a violent or suspicious death. The prosecution brought several witnesses forward to say Thaw seemed rational the night of the tragedy.

Thought It Was In Show.

One of the witnesses was Warner Paxson, engineer of Madison Square garden. He said that just before the killing of Stanford White one of the performers on the stage made a remark about challenging somebody to a duel. "Was the performer who passed the remark Harry Hudson?" asked Assistant District Attorney Garvan. "I don't know," Harry Thaw's shots followed the remark so quickly I thought at first they were a part of the play," Dr. Francis McGuire, the Tomb's prison physician, was called by Mr. Jerome to testify as to Thaw's conduct in jail, but his testimony was barred out when Mr. Littleton raised the objection as to the professional privilege between physician and patient.

Lawyer's Clerk on Stand.

Abraham Snyderker, a former employee of Howe & Hummel, who testified last year that he witnessed Evelyn Nesbit's signature to the affidavit which charged Harry Thaw with cruelty, next was called to the stand. The affidavit was signed by Evelyn Nesbit in the Madison Square tower when she was in company with Stanford White. Snyderker's testimony was objected to by Mr. Littleton as immaterial, but was allowed to go in by Justice Dowling. When shown the photographic copy of the signature, however, the witness said he could not positively identify it, although he recognized the signature underneath that of the Nesbit girl. Snyderker swore that the girl glanced through the document and declared its contents were true.

A movement is on foot, as the result of the meetings held in the court house Thursday for unemployed men to arrange for a demonstration of their unemployment in the near future. The arrangements have not yet been completed however. "It is to be a wholly peaceable march," said the man, "but we want to show that we are in earnest and that we really need work."—Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette.

JAP SETTLEMENT IS NEAR

EMIGRATION PROBLEM TO BE SOLVED, SAYS MINISTER.

Viscount Hayashi Declares Arrangement Will Be Satisfactory to America.

Tokyo, Jan. 23.—Replying to interpellations in the lower house of the diet Tuesday evening, Foreign Minister Viscount Hayashi spoke at length on the foreign policy of the government, including the negotiations with America and Canada.

He announced that the Canadian question had been definitely settled, and read the correspondence with Rodolphe Lemieux, the Canadian minister of labor, wherein Japan has agreed to restrict emigration to Canada within reasonable limits. He said that a memorandum attached thereto defined what was considered reasonable limits, but insisted that Japan had not conceded any of her treaty rights nor had her prestige suffered. He said that the negotiations with America were continuing, and he was unable to give any details, but was able to announce that a satisfactory settlement was within sight.

Viscount Hayashi said further that certain negotiations with China were unsettled, pertaining to the Siumin-tan-Fakuin railroad, regarding which a protest had been presented to China. Regarding the Kanto boundary dispute in Korea he said that Japan occupied the position of arbitrator, and would decide according to the merits of the evidence.

Viscount Hayashi, continuing, said it was the duty of the central government to conserve the interests of Japanese subjects resident in other countries by preventing a further exodus of their countrymen which might be prejudicial to those already residing abroad, and the restrictions therefore would be extremely rigid.

One speaker in reply said if China refused to listen to reason Japan should send a military force and compel her to do so.

Viscount Hayashi laughingly turned the tables upon the speaker by asking him if he would guarantee the result of the expedition. Good humored throughout, Viscount Hayashi raised considerable laughter by his ready responses to the opposition, which did not develop any special antagonism to the government's policy concerning emigration.

Judge A. B. Anderson, who convened court Tuesday in the federal building for the purpose of hearing argument on the motion for a new trial for Mr. Walsh, was asked by counsel for the defendant to postpone the hearing because of sickness of counsel. The day when the motion will be heard will be fixed by the court Wednesday.

ILLINOISAN ATTACKS INTERNATIONAL KNOT

WEDDINGS OF AMERICAN GELD AND FOREIGN TITLES IS M'GAVIN'S THEME.

"SACRIFICE SOULS," SAYS CONGRESSMAN

Promoter of Bill to Tax Dowries and Titled Husbands Provokes Laughter on Floor of House—Belittles Dukes, Lords, Etc.

Washington, Jan. 23.—International marriages of American heiresses to titled foreigners were denounced on the floor of the house of representatives Tuesday by Mr. McGavin of Illinois, who spoke on the bill of his colleague, Mr. Sabath, to tax all dowries and titled husbands.

Mr. McGavin's remarks were made under the license of general debate. At times they provoked laughter and applause on both sides of the chamber.

"What Are We Coming To?"

The house, he said, was in committee of the whole on the state of the union, and he wanted to know what the state of the union was and what it was coming to, "in view of these international unions between American heiresses and alleged nobilities from abroad." He wondered what the early pioneers would think and say if from their graves they could look back and see so many of the women of this country "sacrificing their souls and honor upon the altar of snobbery and vice."

He expressly stated that he had reference to no particular American girl, nor had he prejudice against all titled men, but he referred "only to those who have a monopoly on their eyes—and an idiotic look upon their faces—those who have neither the disposition to do good nor the ability to do harm."

Hard to Classify.

Mr. McGavin said his curiosity had been aroused to know the right committee to which the bill should have gone, but he had found that it properly had gone to the committee on ways and means because it sought to levy a tax. And then he said he was curious to know whether the present tariff schedule included dukes, earls, lords and counts, "and finding that these things were nowhere mentioned, I thought it might be proper for the customs officials to classify them like frogs' legs as poultry, for that is a general opinion among Americans."

RECIPROCITY PLAN SIGNED BY FRANCE

ABATEMENT OF TWENTY PER CENT. IN DUTIES OF IMPORT-ED WINES RESULTS.

EUROPEANS CONFIRM A MINIMUM TARIFF

Provision Made for a Commission of Three Members from Each Side to Weigh Conditions—Root and Jusserand Attach Signatures.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Secretary Root and Ambassador Jusserand Tuesday signed the Franco-American reciprocity arrangement drawn under section 3 of the Dingley act. The agreement concedes to France an abatement of 20 per cent. in the duties on champagne and sparkling wines imported into America. For its part, the French government confirms the minimum tariff rate now accorded to American products. Provision also is made for the appointment of a commission of three members on each side to consider and report upon possible amendments to the existing trade regulations in both France and America to facilitate exchange.

Differs from Other Contracts.

The new agreement differs substantially in form and scope from the various trade arrangements drawn under section 3 of the Dingley act which have preceded it. The important point of difference is the method employed to protect each party from that form of tariff manipulation which consists in arbitrarily increasing the duty on certain articles as a basis for securing additional concessions from the other side. Therefore it is provided in this new agreement that the abatement of duty on French champagne shall be conditional only, and that the old rates may be restored whenever the president shall become convinced that France is increasing the duties on imports from America. The French government is granted a similar privilege, namely, of applying maximum duties on American products when satisfied that America is increasing the duties on French goods.

Few Important Reductions.

It is explained at the state department that no considerable reductions of French duties on American products are recorded in this new arrangement, for the simple reason that America has already been enjoying minimum tariff rates in many cases, solely by special concession of the French government. In other words, the American exporter was not legally entitled to claim the benefits of these lower duties; they were merely extended as a favor by the French government in anticipation of the reduction on champagne duties and the amelioration of certain custom house regulations and certain provisions of the American pure food law about to be applied to French alimentary products.

Coffee Duty Was Suspended.

In the preceding Franco-American reciprocity agreement made in 1902 the duty on American coffee (nearly all from Porto Rico) was suspended for one year, at the expiration of which time heavy duties were to be applied. The French government at that time was desirous of securing a reduction of the American duty on champagne, but this was denied by the United States government on the ground that the agreement of 1902 practically contained in itself that degree of equivalency contemplated by the Dingley act; and that to make further concessions to France would be to bestow upon her a preponderance of favors exchanged. But this government promised that if in the future reduced duties on champagne were granted to any other nation the same privilege would be extended to French champagnes. So the French government for more than four years has delayed the application of duties on Porto Rican coffees, and it has done more, in the opinion of the state department officials.
