

A Battery Without Jars

The new Gummite case, an exclusive feature with Exide Batteries, is moulded all in one piece, including compartments for the cells. Thus, individual jars are done away with.

Gummite is practically indestructible, will not warp, and is not affected by temperature, acid, or water. Let us show you this ideal battery case.

Good Printing

THE kind of printing that pays dividends is the kind you should have. Pale, muddy, poorly arranged printed matter is worse than none. The quality of your business is often judged by the quality of your stationery—superior printing gives an impression of cheapness that is hard to overcome, while good printing carries with it a desirable suggestion of quality.

We produce only Quality Printing. Whether you want an inexpensive handbill or a letterhead in colors, if you order it from us you will be sure of getting good work. We have the equipment and the "know how" that enables us to get out really good printing—printing that impresses people with the good taste of its work. That is the only kind of printing that Liquor all Over Farm.

A small distillery with its important parts scattered over a farm was found Thursday afternoon by dry agents headed by Prohibition Officer H. H. Mathers. The equipment was found on the farm of Frank Swengel just east of the Elkhart county line.

Mathers said that they found a 20-gallon still in the basement of the house 200 gallons mash in the chicken coop and two gallons of alleged booze in the oats bin.

With Mathers were Deputy Sheriff Blaine Cripe of St. Joseph county and Deputies Banks and Nisely of Elkhart county.

To Be Arraigned Soon.

Harold Mull and Paul Growden 17 year old Toledo Ohio auto bandits who made an unsuccessful attempt to hold up Charles J. Clery Goshen gasoline filling station owner and who were captured in Mishawaka will be arraigned soon. They admit guilt.

The Ford coupe they stole at Bowling Green, Ohio has been returned to the owner. Mull is under $1,500 cash bond in a court at Covington Ky., on a charge of stealing an automobile.

Prices in Florida.

A Goshen man recently returned from West Palm Beach Florida says he was charged $8 per week for sleeping on an army cot on the porch of a residence and that his meal ticket involved expense of $15 per week. On one small porch of a residence at West Palm Beach ten army cots were arranged in a row. They brought in weekly rental of $80. That charge did not include bath room privilege toilet facilities having been overlooked.

Cider at 25 Cents.

Sweet cider is today being retailed in Goshen at 25 cents per gallon.

The supply is usually marketed the same day it is made the plan being direct from the mill to the consumer as few peddlers want to run the risk of selling anything that contains more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol. Disposing of cider with much of a bead on it is courting prosecution.

Whetzel Out of Jail.

LeRoy Whetzel of Goshen failed a few days ago when he could not make up his mind whether to pay an allowance of $50 for attorney fee and $5 per week for support in connection with the divorce action filed by his wife, Doris P. Whetzel after he had started proceedings to annul their marriage decided after a stay in a cell that he would make an effort to pay.

Minor Hurts in Mishap.

Mr. and Mrs. George Young of Elkhart miraculously escaped with only minor bruises and injuries in a peculiar accident in Elkhart. They were struck squarely by an E. and W. switch car and turned completely over, resting on the top and shoving the gondola up so that it rested on their car. The Youngs' Buick was damaged beyond repair.

Odd Tale That Added Word to Dictionary

The word "canard" comes from the French, and means really a "duck"; having originated from a famous newspaper hoax in the shape of a joke that purported to relate a remarkable case of voracity on the part of some ducks.
According to the story, as printed in a French paper, a certain farmer gathered together 20 ducks. One of these he killed, and cutting it up into fine pieces, feathers, bill and all, he fed it to the remaining 19. The second duck was killed, treated in the same way, and fed to the remaining 18; and this process was continued until the remaining duck was placed in the position of having eaten 19 companions, thus proving that by its method one duck could devour nineteen other ducks. This story was written in so plausible a style and was so curious and interesting a character that it attracted worldwide attention and was copied by one newspaper after another.
As this was one of the cleverest hoaxes of the kind that had ever been perpetrated, it was adopted as the standard of that class of literature, and thereafter hoaxes of this sort were known as "duck stories" or "canards."

Splendid Gems Adorn

Tiara Worn by Pope

The wonderful papal tiara, or crown, which the pope wears, is a magnificent ornament.

It is formed on a basis of very fine felt covered with silver mesh, on which there are three crowns. Each of these consists of a gold band, set with jewels and edged with two rows of pearls.
There are ninety pearls in each row.

In addition, the first crown is decorated with sixteen rubies, three emeralds, a sapphire and eight gold points.
The second crown has ten emeralds, eight balas rubies, one chrysolite, two aquamarines, six small rubies and three sapphires.

Nineteen balas rubies, four sapphires, three hyacinths, three aquamarines, one garnet, eight gold floral ornaments—each set with two emeralds, one balas ruby, and a chrysolite—and eight gold points each trimmed with a garnet, adorn the third crown.

The top of the crown is covered with a thin layer of gold in which eight rubies and eight emeralds are set. This covering is surmounted by a golden globe, on top of which is a cross composed of eleven brilliants.

Famous Anniversary

The name "Guy Fawkes' Day" is given in England to the fifth of November, famous as the anniversary of the attempted destruction of the British houses of parliament in 1605. The day originally was celebrated with religious services, in memory of the providential deliverance of the king and parliament; but at the present time is limited to the peculiar custom of parading straw-stuffed effigies of Guy Fawkes through the streets of London and other English cities. Robert Catesby, the principal conspirator in the plot, escaped, but was shot at Worcester three days later while attempting to raise an insurrection. Guy Fawkes and several others were put to death January 31, 1606.—Exchange.

Onion Given Its Due

It was an onion and not Sutter's mill that started the gold rush in California. California historians say that it was Francisco Lopez who discovered the "gold-bearing onion" in March, 1841. He had stopped to eat lunch under a tree, when, spotting a wild onion, he pulled it up, only to find several pieces of gold clinging to the roots. The find was made in the Feliciano canyon and the San Fernando placers in that vicinity are said to have produced $5,000,000 in placer gold for Los Angeles county alone.
The El Dorado rush did not come about until 1849.

Spoiled Mayor's Triumph

The newly elected mayor of a certain town was about to make his first official journey through the place. The townspeople had arranged that from an arch of flowers under which he was to pass a floral crown should hang, surmounted by the words: "He well deserves it." But the wind blew away the crown, and when the pompous mayor passed under the arch, to the great joy of those who had voted against him, only a rope with a noose at the end of it dangled there with "He well deserves it" standing out in bold relief above it.

Drucilla Livia

Drucilla Livia was the daughter of Germanicus and Agrippina, notorious for her licentiousness. She openly married her brother Caligula, who was so tenderly attached to her that in a dangerous illness he made a will making her heiress of all his possessions and commanded that she should succeed him in the Roman empire. She died in the year 38, in the twenty-third year of her life, and was deified by her brother, Caligula, who built temples in her honor. She was very beautiful.—Chicago Journal.

Early Monetary Panics

The first small panic of the United States occurred in 1791 following the boom in business after the close of the Revolutionary war, and due to overspeculation in the securities of the new government and in the stock of the newly organized banks.
The first great commercial crisis was precipitated by the War of 1812, followed by the capture of the city of Washington by the British on August 24, 1814.

Red Crown—A Premium Gasoline at a standard price—glides up the grade of popular favor with great ease.

Thousands of motorists have recognized the force of the "price per mile" argument and switched over to Red crown.

The price per gallon contention is weak-kneed—has no bearing.

The story is told better by what is built in the gasoline.

Of what significance is the question of a saving of a few cents on an investment of hundreds of dollars?

If you pay less for your gasoline than the price of Red Crown, you are getting less—and that is false economy raised to the nth power, no matter how it is disguised.
