THE UNION AND POPULAR SOVEREIGNTY

For Congress—9th District

NORIAN EDDY of St. Jo. County.

The Editor is barely able to be about at this issue. Our readers can't fall out with unavoidable ill health.

We regret to learn that A. L. Wheeler, our candidate for the Legislature, is confined to a sick room.

The next Legislature.—So far as the dominant party is concerned, they have invariably put in the field the most unexceptionable material out of which to constitute one of the ablest and most effective sessions of the Legislature, that has met at the capital of our State for many years. It is true.

When we get such men as Judge Blackford of Marion County, Amzi L. Wheeler of Marshall County, John C. Walker of LaPorte County, and many others that we could name, we may look for a term that will reflect credit upon our state and to those composing it, and enable us to do away with the oft repeated stigma, that Indiana is invariably represented by her most ignorant dolts. We saw the thing heralded in our newspapers last fall to our great shame, and the most of it was, it was true.

If our citizens wish their interests faithfully represented, and wish anything done for them, they should send a man to Indianapolis who has the courage and the political reputation to give him the influence to do it, and not send such an one as might accidentally ride up on horseback to the State House gate, hitch his horse, and with saddle bags on arm, walk up to the Speaker in the Hall of the House, and request to be shown which is his room, and order his horse put up.

Not Sold Out!—The Indiana State Journal, the former Whig State paper of Indiana, has sold out to that abolition True Democrat, at Indianapolis. Not sold out! Oh, how readily the Whigs repudiated this when it was hinted to them after their convention at Indianapolis.—Nor sold out! Where is the party? Where is its organ? Where are its conventions, its nominees?

Brother National Whigs—go where you can find something reliable to stand upon, and although you may not like all the features of the Nebraska measure, cast your suffrages in favor of the GREAT PRINCIPLES of popular Sovereignty and self government.

We wish we were able to follow this subject further this week.

The rumor that the Hartford Protection insurance company had failed for a very large amount proves true. It was doubtless the oldest, and did the heaviest business of any other company in the United States. Many of our citizens were insured in it.

It is said the Ryma company of the same place remains good and reliable.—Look out for your property the coming winter.

Dissolve the Union.—M. K. Hull, an anti-Nebraska abolitionist of Union Co. in this State stated in a speech at Newburgh, Decatur county, "that if they, the mongrel party, did not succeed at the ballot box, they would at the point of the bayonet."

If true christian philanthropy is the object of this sect, will any one of them point to the result of a dissolution of Union? It would place the slave beyond the reach of mercy; so far as those efforts are concerned, Look at it, and its attendant evils.

The New Albany Ledger has been enlarged and otherwise materially improved. It is one of the best papers in the State.

A Democrat.—Just the half of our remarks in reply to the communication of a Democrat in our last paper, was omitted, by the wretched manner in which a botch printer did up our work for us whilst we were flat on our back in bed. We are again well suited with help in our office, and our readers shall be faithfully served.

Public Speaking.

Dr. N. Eddy and Schuyler Colfax, candidates for Congress in this district, will address their fellow Citizens at the following times and places:

Medarysville, Pulaski county, Friday, September 29, 1 P. M.

Salt Lake, Jasper county, Friday, September 29, 2 P. M.

Rensselaer, Jasper county, Saturday, September 30, 2 P. M.

Oxford, Benton county, Monday, Oct. 2, 1 P. M.

Monticello, White county, Wednesday, October 4, 2 P. M.

Norwalk, White county, Wednesday, October 4, 7 P. M.

Bradford, White county, Thursday, October 5, 9 A. M.

Blvin's Mills, Marshall county, Friday, October 6, 3 P. M.

The True Issue.—The difference between the supporters of the Nebraska-Kansas act and those who seek its repeal is narrowed down to this single point—shall the people of the Territories, as well as of the States, manage their own domestic affairs, under the constitution, or shall congress manage them? There is no question of slavery involved, for no sensible man has ever supposed that slavery would or could go to the newly organized Territories. It is the old issue, which has always divided the Democratic party from its opponents—the right and ability of the people everywhere to self-government.

The Indiana State Fair is to be held in Madison on the 2d, 3rd, 4th, and 5th days of October next. The grounds selected for the occasion are just below the city in a fine grove, and they are being fitted up with every convenience necessary for the accommodation of visitors. The people of Madison are awake to the importance of the occasion, and intend to acquit themselves in a manner worthy of themselves and the State.

We are fully persuaded, says the National Intelligencer, that there is more apprehension expressed about a deficiency in the grain crops of the season than is well founded. There has been more than an average crop of wheat, rye and oats throughout the country, and at least half an average crop of Indian corn.

Healthy Places.—Hinsdale, Mass., has a population of 1,200, and, since the first of January last, only one American has died; and in Pittsfield, Mass., with a population of about 4,000, only two deaths have occurred since the fourth of July, and one of these was a person 83 years of age.

The Rail Road.—Quite a large number of hands have arrived within the last few days, and been placed upon this end of the work between here and La Porte, and it seems that no fears are now entertained, as to its early completion between the two places. We also understand that arrangements have been made by which the southern end to Peru, will be pushed ahead more rapidly than was anticipated a month or two ago.

New Counterfeit.—Among other new counterfeits noticed in our late New York Detector, is noticed 3s, altered from 1s, on the Bank of Indiana at Michigan City. Vig. Man and two horses; farm house and cars in the distance; man felling a tree in lower right corner, and drover and cattle in lower left.

The Cholera.—The scourge is raging with great violence in many parts of the country. In Pittsburg, on the 14th, there were 59 deaths, on the 15th, 49 deaths. At Columbia, Penn., up to the 15th, there had been 84 deaths—the town was nearly depopulated, and railroad operations had been suspended.

The yellow fever still prevails as an epidemic in New Orleans and Savannah. In the latter place, all business has ceased on account of the disease.

Oxe Thousand Lives Lost.—The clipper barque Mermad, arrived at San Francisco from Hong Kong, brought news that two ships, bound for California with Chinese emigrants, had been lost in the China Sea, together with one thousand of their passengers.

Large shipments of vegetables are being daily made from Cincinnati, to supply the Indianapolis markets.

Now or Never.—The 20 acres and out lots which we advertise for sale on the east side of the river, has been materially reduced in price. Come on—it must be sold now.

Awful Ravages of the Cholera in Pittsburg.—Ninety-five deaths in thirty-six hours.

Pittsburg, Sept. 15.—The cholera has broken out with great violence in various parts of this city and vicinity, and frightfully fatal. It is impossible to say how many cases have occurred, but there have been ninety-five deaths reported during the last thirty-six hours. Some well known citizens have been carried off within three or four hours after being attacked. The number of deaths reported to day is forty. The weather is now cooler and more favorable, and the new cases are said to be of milder type.

Cholera at Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Sept. 18. To-day, up to this evening, there were sixty deaths from cholera, but the number of new cases has diminished. The rain which has fallen it is hoped, will prove salutary. It now appears that there were eighty deaths by cholera yesterday, instead of sixty as reported, which makes the total number of deaths for the two days at least one hundred and forty.

Pittsburg, Sept. 20. There have been fifty-six deaths by cholera since 8 o'clock last night.

CANADA.—The Montreal Herald, one of the oldest and most influential papers in the British Province scouted the idea that Canada is to be legalized in other words erected into a vice royalty, with a prince of the royal blood to fill the vice regal throne. The Herald says:—If Canada were to be a colony she will become a republic—whether as a member of the United States confederation or not, must depend upon events over which she has no control.

ARRIVAL OF THE ARABIA.

New York, Sept. 21. The Arabia arrived at 5 1/2 o'clock. Flour advanced 1s, on the week; Western 25s 6d. Wheat advanced 3d.—White Corn declined 6d.

Consols closed firm, 95 1/4. The Morning Chronicle says that by this time the allies must have landed on the Crimea, and we shall soon hear of important events. The Turks are taking the field vigorously, in Bessarabia, and Schamyl has commenced operations in earnest, having arrested the tide of Russian success before the Caucasus.

The Sebastopol expedition will consist of 25,000 each of French and English, and 20,000 Turks.

Australia does not consider the refusal of Russia a casus belli.

The Frienden Blatt has advices from Galatz of the 1st, according to which a considerable number of French and English gun boats entered the Sulinia mouth of the Danube on the 31st August. Another flotilla of gun boats will try another mouth of the Danube.

Danzig, Thursday.—The Fulton, with Gens. Baragay, d'Hilliers and Neil on board, arrived here last night. The Bomarsund forts had been destroyed, and the troops embarked. Some troops remained upon the islands.

According to the Press, the Russian forces in Asia had fallen back as far as Erivan, after seeking Bayazid.

Russian agents, disguised as Bedouins have been arrested at Damascus.

From Athens we learn that the King positively refuses any indemnity to Turkey.

There is nothing of moment from the Baltic.

The fire engines at Odessa have been ordered to be destroyed by the Russians.

Gen. Bebutoff, has evacuated Bayazid, and moved up the fortress.

A Constantinople dispatch says Schamyl has surprised the Russian army in Georgia, near Gori, and destroyed 200 villages.

The Duke of Cambridge, Prince Napoleon, and the title and other regiments have left Constantinople for Varna.

Lord Raglan would embark at Varna in the Caradoc, on the 21st, and the expedition was to rendezvous at Batschuk.

The troops are represented as full of enthusiasm.

The French troops in the Baltic are to return immediately to France.

Spain.—Mr. Soule is charged by French and Spanish papers with conniving against the tranquility of Spain. It is said he is identified in a cabal against Gen. Espartero, and is connected with seditious recent attempts at insurrection.

The London Times correspondent thinks that the proof against him is so strong that he will not venture back to Madrid.

Maxwell's circular reports that the weather has been very favorable for agricultural purposes. Flour advanced 1s, on the week; western canal 25s 6d, Philadelphia and Baltimore, 25s 6d; Ohio 32s; wheat 3d higher; white 8s. Corn declined 6d.

B. of firm. Pork dull. Bacon and lard firm. Tallow declined.

Particulars of the New Orleans Riots.

New Orleans, Sept. 13. Our city has been the scene of some terrible riots between the Americans and Irish in which several lives were lost and many badly injured.

There are many rumors and exaggerated reports in circulation in regard to the cause of it. From the best information I can obtain I learn that the first outbreak occurred on Sunday evening, growing out of a political discussion between a party of Americans and Irish. A savage fight ensued in which firearms and clubs were freely used. A number of the participants in the riot were badly wounded before it could be quelled by the police. On the following day one of the wounded died, and much excitement followed in consequence.

The excitement continued on the increase throughout Monday, and as soon as night set in the riot was renewed with greater violence—each party apparently being prepared for it. The news spread rapidly through the city, and it was reported that several had been killed, but this proved to be premature. Pistols and guns were fired into the crowds, and many of the rioters received serious injuries. The police again succeeded in making several arrests and restoring order.

The rioters again assembled on Tuesday evening, when the struggle was renewed with redoubled ferocity. Two of the rioters were killed on the ground, and quite a number were carried off—some of them shockingly wounded.

The riotous fever continued to increase during Monday.

The Mayor ordered out the National Guard and the entire police force.

This had the effect of intimidating the rioters, and up to the time of sending this dispatch no further outbreak had taken place.

The military, however, are still held under arms, to be ready in the event of a renewal of the disgraceful riots.

New York Market.

New York, Sept. 20. Flour was further declined, sales of 3,500 bbls at $5.37 1/2 for State and Ohio, and $5.62 1/2 for Southern. Corn advanced one cent, with a fair demand; sales of 60,000 bushels at $2 1/2. Pork is unsettled; 450 bbls sold at $14.27 for Mess, and $12 for Prime. Beef is firm; Cut meats are stiffer. Lard is firm at 10 1/2 cts.

Money is easy—stocks are dull and lower.—New York Central, 91 1/4; Reading, 7 1/4; and Erie 45c.

UNANIMITY.—A Scotch parson in his prayer said, "Laird bless the parliament and grand counsel, and grant that they may all hang together." A country fellow standing by replied:—"Yes, sir, with all my heart, and the sooner the better, and I am sure it is the prayer of all good people." "But friends," said the parson, "I don't mean as that fellow does, but pray that they may hang together in accord and concord." "No matter what cord," replied the other, "so 'tis but a strong one."

General Cass will address his fellow-citizens at Laporte on to-morrow, the 29th. Who'll go?

The old line whigs of Tippecanoe county have nominated a full county ticket.

Col. William H. Bissell, of Illinois, now at B-riley Springs, is regarded by his friends as past recovery.

Col. Benton—His Wife.—The following, we have no doubt is strictly true in relation to this old and respected Statesman.

The wife of Col. Benton, of Missouri, died in this city on the 11th inst. For many years she has been an invalid from paralysis, which quite destroyed her mental faculties, and left her a child, and a most helpless one at that. With all his exterior coldness, his relentless hate and persevering warfare against his enemies, personal or political, Col. Benton, in his family, was always one of the kindest, most affectionate and indulgent of men. It would seem as though the fiercer emotions of the heart have been sealed against the world, only that their treasures might be poured out the more lavishly in the bosom of his home. Here he laid aside the rancor of the politician and the ill-humor of his appointed ambition, sank the asperities of his public odious character, and became the kindest of husbands and the gentlest and most affectionate of fathers. I have seldom witnessed a more enchanting spectacle than this veteran statesman surrounded by the charmed circle of his family.

Since the occurrence of the attack of paralysis which destroyed in so great a degree the physical and mental capacities of the mother of his children, she has seemed to know, or care to know little else of life than that he—the partner of her earlier years—was well at her side. She ever moved noiselessly about the house, taking her seat by his side when engaged in reading or writing, satisfied if she could but rest her hand upon his knee, or look up in his face and receive an occasional glance of the eye, to her so dear. That he was kind to her is saying but little; no invalid infant, whose helpless condition had excited the depths of a mother's exhaustless sympathy and love, ever was treated with a tenderness surpassing that the strong man bestowed upon the stricken wife. He seemed ever to see her with the eyes of his youth, while all the strength of mature years was concentrated in the affection he bestowed upon this relic of brighter days. Is there not something beautiful in such devotion as this?

BATTISM CORPS CORPS.—Col. Webb writing from London to the Courier and Enquirer, under date of August 21st, says the British Wheat Crop is bountiful beyond all precedent and predicts that Wheat, now worth sixty-five shillings per quarter in London, equal to $1.67 per bushel, will be selling before Christmas for less than forty-five shillings or hardly $1.15 per bushel. The advices received by the Niagara yesterday look very much as if this prediction would be fulfilled. Col. Webb continues:

I have never before visited the rural districts of England during the harvest-time, and I have arrived at the conclusion, from all I can learn from the "oldest inhabitant," that the wheat crop now being rapidly secured without the slightest injury from the occasional showers which have fallen in certain districts and slightly retarded the work, is not only the greatest in extent but the most productive per acre that has ever been produced in the United Kingdom. February, March and April were the driest months remembered to have occurred in this country, and during this period more acres were sown with wheat, and it was altogether better sown and got in, than on any previous occasion. A good growing season followed, and now there are thousands of acres lying contiguous to each other which will yield upward of sixty bushel to the acre! This greatly astonished me, but in certain districts this is not an unusual yield here, it is unusual, however, that this great yield should cover so great an extent of country as it does this year. The average yield per acre this year is estimated at thirty-three bushels and upward for England.—Let the poor of the world, and all who desire to see money cheap in and about Wall street, rejoice that a gracious and kind Providence has given to the husbandman throughout the world such an abundant return for his labor. The money market here cannot fail to be favorably affected by the abundant harvest, and this must have a good effect on our money market.

We learn that Dennis Pennington, one of the oldest and most esteemed citizens of Indiana, died in his residence in Harrison county, on Saturday last, at the age of 79 years. He was a member of the first Constitutional Convention in 1816 and a member of the legislature for many years since. He served his last session in the Senate, we believe, where, notwithstanding his age, his strong common sense, and unobscured energy made him one of the most effective of that body.

He was a man of great strength of constitution, and looked as hale and hearty at 75 as most men do at 40. We shall not soon "look upon his like again."

A little boy had a cold and dog, and his generosity was often tried by visitors asking him—just to see what he would say—to give them one or both of his pets. One day he told a gentleman present he might have his cold—reserving the dog, much to the surprise of his mother who asked:

"Why, Jacky, why didn't you give him the dog?"

"Say nothing," says nothing, mother when he goes to get the cold, I'll set the dog on him."

A New Orleans editor, recording the career of a mad dog, says: "We are grieved to say that the rabid animal, before he could be killed, severely bit Dr. Hart and several other dogs."

HORRIBLE CASE OF POISONING BY A SLAVE.—The entire family of J. Kent, consisting of nine persons living near Warrenton, Mo., were poisoned on the 12th inst., by a negro woman belonging to the estate of F. Henry deceased, and hired this year to Mr. Kent. The circumstances that led her to this diabolical act, are, as we can learn, as follows:

One of the negro woman's children having been guilty of some piece of mischief, was slapped a few times for it by Mrs. Kent. The negro thereupon indulged in a good deal of impudence to Mrs. Kent, and went so far as to threaten personal violence, for which she was justly punished. Incited by a spirit of revenge she then determined to make away with the whole family, and for that purpose took a paper of arsenic containing about a pound, which had been bought about six months before for rats, and mixed it with all the food, particularly some chickens and toast, which were cooked that day for breakfast.—The family sat down as usual to breakfast.—Mr. Jamison, a young man who was staying at the house for a short time, remarked after they had been eating for some time that there was a peculiar kind of powder on the meat. Mrs. Kent, immediately suspected the arsenic had been placed, and saw that it was gone; she went to the fire, and there partly consumed lay the paper with some of the arsenic in it. Medical aid was immediately called, but before the doctor had arrived, the arsenic had acted as its own antidote, losing its death properties for those of an emetic. Thus are devilish designs frustrated by the very plans employed to carry them out. We are happy to say that all are now out of danger and fast recovering. The woman was immediately arrested and is now confined in jail at Warrenton.—Troy (Mo) Gazette.

POETRY.—What is poetry? A smile, a tear, a glory, a longing after the smiles of eternity. It lives in all created existences—in man and every object that surrounds him. There is poetry in the gentle influences of love and affection, in the quiet broodings of the soul over the memories of early years, and in the thoughts of glory that chain our spirits to the gates of paradise. There is poetry in the harmonies of Nature. It glitters in the wave and in the rainbow; in the lightning and in the star. Its residence is to be heard in the thunder and in the cataract; its softer tones gush sweetly up from the thousand voiced harps of wind and rattle and forest; the cloud and the sky, glowing over us to the music of its melodies, and it ministers to heaven from the mountains of the earth and the untrodden sands of Ocean.

There is not a moonlit ray that comes down upon a stream or hill, nor a breeze calling from its blue air throne to the calling from the summer valleys, or sounding through midnight rains its low and mournful dirge, nor the perishing flowers of Spring, nor a cloud bathing itself like an angel vision in the rosy hues of autumn twilight, nor a glowing in the early starlight as if dreaming of the Eastern land, but is full of the beautiful influences of poetry. Earth and heaven are quickened by its spirit, and the heavens of the great deep in tempest and in calm, are but its secret and mysterious breathings.

Rail Road Accident.

On Friday last, HENRY LUGG, Jr., son of the horse auctioneer, and of the same name, on Fifth street, in this city, started for Chicago, via Indianapolis, by railroad, with thirty head of horses, belonging to LAWLESS & CAVANACH.—The train stopped at a water station, twenty-five miles beyond Indianapolis, on Saturday, where Long left the cars. He endeavored to climb on board while the train was in motion, when he slipped under the wheels passing over his body below the waist, completely severing it in two. He was still alive at last accounts, with no hopes of his recovery.

"NEVER FORGET YOUR MOTHER."—The editor of the Lawrence Courier, referring to the death of the Hon. John Davis, remarks that he owed much to the personal suggestion and advice of the ex Governor, kindly and earnestly bestowed in early years, and adds: "The last counsel we received from him was characteristic of the man. It was on the deck of a vessel that lay with loosened sails and shortened cable, that we, still in boyhood, just commencing years of wandering and hardship, received a parting grasp of his pure hand with these words:—'God bless you! Remember what I've said, and whatever you get, never forget your mother!'" What better charge could be given a lad launching forth on "life's deceitful tide," where the chart and compass of his young head and heart must be his only protection from shipwreck. Many years have passed away, and that good man has finished the voyage of time; he has disappeared down the dark stream of death, and we doubt not, has reached that celestial heaven where the storms of earth are never known, and has exchanged the anchor symbol which he ever carried at the prow during life, or blissful relaxation."

Failure of an Insurance Company.

HARTFORD, Sept. 7. The Protection Insurance Company of this city failed this afternoon. It was an old company, with a capital of $300,000, but its losses have been so heavy by the recent numerous and devastating fires that it has been compelled to make an assignment.

A TREE DESCRIPTION.—Prentice of the Louisville Journal describes the Mongrel Conventions as "mischievous meetings gotten up for the purpose of fusing into one all the rag-ends and scraps of political factions, and forming a new party, whose business is to be constant agitation of the subject of slavery."

Rev Wm. H. Goode, a missionary in Kansas Territory, is now in this city in attendance on Conference. We understand that Mr. Goode has no hesitation in expressing the opinion that Kansas will be a free State.—N. A. Ledger.

To the People of Marshall County.

You are hereby notified that I will not be a candidate for the office of Coroner, to which I was nominated at the late people's convention. My business being such as to forbid a proper attention to its duties.

A DEAD SELL.—An exchange says: One day last week, one of our druggists filled an order for a dozen bottles, containing equal parts of flax seed oil and turpentine, for an itinerant merchant. When the druggist went home his "better half" was exclaiming in the superior quality of a varnish for furniture which she had purchased of a pedlar, it was above of a polish, and she wished her husband would "only keep such a nice and useful article in his store."—So cheap, too, only fifty cents a bottle! An inspection of this wonderful polish by the husband revealed the interesting fact that his wife had bought one of the identical bottles for fifty cents which he had sold for one dollar per dozen.

Good Advice.—If you want to serve humanity effectively, don't commence by sending tracts that are never read, and flannel shirts that are never worn, to Africa; but help the needy around you. If there are any old maids about, get them husbands; if poor, give them money; if widows, comfort them; if pagans, preach the word to them; stir them up, turn, twist, and coil, until you get them into something christian and good.—After that, look out for the heathen and other folks on foreign parts! That is a better sermon than you listen to, to last Sunday, read. Do as it bids you, and the harvest thus will show you the fruit you have gained.

A French author says, "When I lost my wife, every family in town gathered me another, but when I lost my horse, no one offered to make him good."

The steamer Franklin has been seized at New York, by order of the government for a violation of the neutrality laws, in fitting out for an expedition against Venezuela. The Catherine Augusta, which sailed recently, will also be seized on her arrival out.

The New York Herald states that the Board of Aldermen of Bangor, just previous to the election, struck from the voting lists of that city the names of one hundred and two voters, on testimony being exhibited that they were not native born citizens of the country.

The Ohio River is very low. At some points between Cincinnati and Pittsburgh the boys wade it without difficulty.

POTATOES IN IRELAND.—The Belfast Mercury says: "The magnitude of the crop for 1854 is certainly very much beyond that ever before known in this country. Taking a low average we should say that the gross value of Ireland's potato lands this season cannot be under £15,000,000." Ireland contains now not more than six millions and a half of inhabitants, and the potato crop for the present year is estimated to be worth seventy millions of dollars, or rather more than ten dollars, for each man, woman and child.

The fellow who tried to get up a concert with the hand of a bat, is the same genius who a few weeks since played upon the affections of an up-town lady.

"Gumbo, what do you lib now?" "I doesn't lib no whar. I gubed off 'residin' tree weeks ago, and moved on 'count of de weather."

The cholera was abating at Pittsburgh, Pa., on the 16th inst.

It won't do to conclude that a man is always happy when he is smiling; or that he is a householder because you always find him with a brick in his hat.

Obituary.

COMMUNICATED.

DIED on the 13th inst., in Whitley county, Ind., Eld. DEXTER A. BARKER, of this county, leaving a bereaved wife with seven small children to mourn their loss. Eld. Andrews left home in poor health accompanied by his wife, to attend the Baptist association, and while thus absent from his children he fell a victim to disease. He met his fate with christian resignation and died in the triumph of the christian faith he so often publicly advocated.
