THE DEMOCRAT.

News About Home.

OUR farmers are busily engaged in sowing wheat, and our streets are unusually barren of teams and people.

THREE gentlemen, piscatorially inclined, captured nine fine pickerel from Yellow river, last Tuesday, in about a half day.

We are informed that the excursion to Peru afforded immense satisfaction to a few of the participants, and was very pleasant for all.

J. E. HOUGHTON, ESQ., has received his commission as mail agent from Chicago to Crestline, and proposes entering upon the discharge of his duties next week.

THE "Balloonist," who didn't go up here, according to advertisement, has "gone back" on our folks and left about 200 or 300 tickets in the hands of unsuspecting speculators. "Sich is life."

J. L. WESTERVELT and family started for Kansas last Monday morning. Mr. Westervelt has been a resident of our county for, lo! these many years, and our old settlers will miss him very much.

WE are pained to learn that Mr. Belangee, of the Republican, is quite sick, and that Mr. Nichols, of the same office is hardly able to leave his room. There is more sickness than usual in our town just now.

DICKSON keeps up his immense stock of hardware, and sells as cheap as ever; and he still insists on having old claims settled up, in order to keep up business on his original "quick sale and small profit" basis.

REV. WM. PORTER, formerly clergyman of the Presbyterian Church of this place, visited us last week, looking remarkbly well, and like himself. He is a most genial; unassuming, talented Christian gentleman.

H. ROSE, Esq., who is running the ferryboat business, by proxy, out at Omaha, was in town the other day, "just as usual," only twenty pounds light, and says if it wasn't for Plymouth he would move to Omaha.

A little scandal has been in circulation for a few days past, touching some of the good people at Argos. As we are not much given to gossip, we shall be compelled to wait for further testimony before we make further revelations.

WE call attention to the new timetable of the Fort Wayne Road. As will be observed, the time of some of the trains is very fast, and the trip from Chicago to New York can be made over this road in 29 hours, one hour less than by any other road.

THAT side-walk on Michigan street north of the railroad bridge is quite an ornament to the town,—a monument in fact, to the energy and care of our Corporate officers. So thought the members of the press who visited our place last Friday. So think the citizens of South Plymouth.

LAST Sunday the Rev. Mr. Gregg, of LaPorte, dedicated the new Episcopal church at South Bend, within three months from the time the first subscription was made for the building of said church; and the church is a model of beauty and taste. Good enough for South Bend, we say.

HORSE-THIEVING is growing to be quite a fashion in Northern Indiana. A number of fine horses have been "confiscated" recently, and we have heard talk of a vigilance committee, and have also heard that if the committee commences its labors that horse-thieves had better "sell out" or "look out for splinters."

PREPARATIONS are being made for the State Fair which will open on the 20th. The grounds are to be fitted up in a style far superior to any previous exhibition. The abolition of the exhibitors' fee is said to be a good feature, and many entries of stock, machinery, and manufactured articles will soon be made.

Has any one seen the "improvement" in the Republican which the junior says he has been trying to make, and which has delayed the paper for the last eight or ten weeks? A part of the "improvement" may be found in the first line of the first local column, and more of it is scattered through its columns in the shape of filched articles.

BOY-THIEVES are becoming one of the greatest nuisances of our town. Pilfering from groceries and wagons, robbing fruit orchards and gardens, some of our boys around town are rapidly educating themselves for professional thieves, and for a term of imprisonment. Parents who would save their gray hairs from sorrow and shame would do well to look after their boys.

THE balloon ascension, which was advertised to take place at the fair ground last Saturday afternoon, was postponed on account of the weather and an accident which befell the balloon just at the critical moment when accidents should not occur. We are told the tickets still remain good, and will admit the holders when the balloon does go up

THE commissioners met, as a court, last Monday, and adjourned Wednesday evening, after transacting all business before them. They visited the poor house, and report it all right; and all their business was satisfactory to all reasonable parties concerned, and every one is satisfied that we have commissioners of whom our county may justly feel proud.

A Chicago detective visited our town last Friday in search of a criminal whom he described as a man about five feet eleven inches high, weight about 190 pounds, sandy hair and side-whiskers, brown eyes, and with a stiffened fore-finger on his left hand.

A reward is offered for his capture, and information leading said official to effect said capture would be paid for liberally, if correct, left at our office during the ensuing week.

THE weather for the past few days has been very favorable to the corn crop, and has improved the prospect very much. South, along the Michigan road, the corn looks well, and in many localities of the county we are assured the crop bids fair to exceed half an average. In other sections the crop will prove almost a total failure. At the very best, we should judge we can not reasonably expect a half crop throughout the county.

WE would say to those who desire to patronize the DEMOCRAT office that we have a large and finely seelcted assortment of job type, not equaled in quality by any office in the northern part of the State and sufficient in quantity for our wants. We have good printers and all facilities for executing neat job work, and we are prepared to do work at as low rates as any other establishment. We should be pleased to have our friends, at least, give us a call.

WE are under obligations to H. B. Pershing, Esqr., for a copy of a book containing the combined histories of U. S. Grant and S. Colfax. The chief objection to the book is that it contains a large amount of Grant and very little Colfax; and more history of Vicksburg, the Wilderness and a few other battles, of which we have already read some few accounts, than of both these notable gentlemen. We suppose Pershing is "drawing it mild" on us to commence with, and will give us a strong one next time.

THE officials of St. Thomas' (Episcopal) Church, of this place, have secured the title of the two lots now occupied by them, and propose to take immediate steps toward the construction of a new church thereon. The first act was to notify those who subscribed of the fact that payments will become due, periodically, on their notes, commencing on the 12th inst. We understand an effort will be made to build a church costing $15,000, and certainly that sum should be raised in our community, and thus add another ornament to our prospering town.

WE hear of a movement on foot, or rather of an effort to organize a movement, looking to the material improvement of the road from Plymouth to Bremen. We most heartily wish the enterprise may succeed, and it certainly should. If our town people are not totally blind to their interests, it certainly will. A subscription of ten thousand dollars should be raised, if so much is needed, at this place, Bremen and the country adjacent to the road. We think if the enterprise is energetically pushed forward the money needed can be procured.

THE Sunflower is said to be a good cure for fever and ague, or rather a preventive of that dreaded disease. It is said to possess the faculty of freeing the atmosphere from the animal and vegetable germs supposed to constitute the miasms productive of ague. The sunflower has long been known as good food for poultry and bees, but now that it is known to be a preventive of fever and ague we shall expect to see great patches of it in every dooryard, the crowning boquet be that with the largest sunflower, and every victim of fever and ague with a sunflower at his nose.

No greater or more offensive nuisance was ever suffered to infect any place than the old Tannery in the north part of town; yet our very efficient and tidy city fathers, after having their attention called to it repeatedly, and even some of the braver ones paying a personal visit to the grounds and inhaling to their entire satisfaction the pleasant odor eliminated from the aforesaid nuisance. "Only this and nothing more." still the Tannery survives and so do the Fathers, and though they sleep, yet do we trust their's is not "the sleep that knows no waking," however, it looks like it.

LAST Saturday was a very busy and a very dusty day in our town. The dust was the worst of the season, and all, with one accord, wished for the street sprinkler. The town was full of people, and trade was good. Wheat came in freely, and sold for $1 15 for No. 1. The balloon ascension called quite a crowd of spectators, and the lack of farm work just at this time permitted a large number to come to town "just for the fun of the thing." Altogether, Plymouth looked like herself again, and the dead and dying old fogy dealers of our town felt quite young again. We venture the surmise that the feeling was new to them, and will be until they are galvanized into a little life, and put a little more energy into their business.

WE advise our townpeople and country friends to keep a close lookout for horse-thieves and burglars. A half-dozen thieves have been in our town within the past week, and horse-stealing has been carried on liberally for two or three weeks in our county. Watch these fellows and if one is caught give him a lesson that will be instructive to his confederates. Of course we do not advise violence for these gentry; but then, we do think a lesson of the right charater would be beneficial to the fraternity of thieves that are robbing our farmers and townspeople of their hard-earnings. Sometimes a man cannot prove all he knows, and if he really does know it and can't prove it, why, it is all the same in equality.

OF course, since the Republican objects, we suppose we have hardly the right to inquire about anything relating to the Corporation, but if we had we should certainly like to be informed by some person who is posted relative to the mysterious movements of the city fathers, if the delinquent tax list in the hands of the corporation treasurer is to be collected, or did the tender conscience of the Corporation compel it to admit so many questionable facts at the last term of court that the collection is rendered impossible? If so, will it not be rather difficult to enforce collections hereafter? These are questions we should like to ask, if we could without giving offense.

MARRIED.

By Rev. J. Schlosser on the 2d inst., at the Reformed Parsonage, MR. JOHN COOK and MRS. ELIZABETH CIDER, both of Marshall County.

At the St. Thomas (Episcopal) church, by Rev. Wm. Lusk, jr. On the morning of the 2d inst., MR. LOTT DICKSON to MISS NETTIE COFFY.

The Church was crowded with curious and interested spectators. The service was solemn, appropriate and impressive. The music sweet and timely, the bride's attendants were beautiful and most tastefully dressed; the gentlemen attending were somewhat nervous at thus being compelled to look matrimony in the face, but behaved themselves very well. To say that the bride was beautiful would but faintly convey the impression her charming appearance made upon all present. The groom looked happy, as he felt; and, all in all, the ceremony was a most pleasant affair, and we wish joy to the principal participants.

DIED.

At the residence of his father in Plymouth, Ind., on Thursday morning, Sept. 2d, JOHN C. BRIGGS, aged 27 years.

The subject of the above notice was a number of years ago a resident of this place, and left here to enter the service of the Ft. Wayne road, where he has been engaged, almost incessantly, for the past eleven years; and at the time of his death, although so young a man, was one of the most competent, skilled and trusted engineers and machinists on the line of this road. The high esteem in which he was held by his fellow engineers was manifested by their presence here, to the number of about a hundred, from Fort Wayne, with a special train, including a number of members of the Brotherhood of the Footboard, a society of engineers. The deceased leaves a wife, father, mother, brother and large list of warm and loving friends to mourn his untimely death.

A FREE FIGHT.

A free fight between the Railroad Companies and a certain business man of our town come off one day last week. It appears that under a special contract that he, the said man, is shipping goods from New York to Plymouth only forty cents for one hundred pounds! Old rates were one dollar and sixty-seven cents per hundred. This immense decrease in the cost of transportation and the very low prices at which goods can be bought in New York have induced Abe Becker & Co to purchase largely, and to throw upon the Plymouth Market, at retail only, one of the largest and best selected stock of Groceries, Provisions, Queensware, Glassware, etc., ever brought to this market. They respectfully invite those desiring goods in their line to call at No. 8, Corbin's Block, and examine. We intend to retail at wholesale prices, therefore we shall decline wholesaling many of our goods as cheap as we retail them.

THE undersigned would most respectfully inform the public that the agency for the above, under letters patent celebrated manufactured Paper Goods, is established, and for the first time introduced in the United States.
