

POETRY.

THE BACHELOR'S REQUIEM.

GOING to the grave, with no one to cheer him, No children to kiss him, no friends round to sigh,
Alone with his head on an empty chair,
His face on the floor—he lay down to die.

Dying alone—with no friends to surround him,
The wife and the mother that gave him birth,
Who left their dear ones to his fate,
To die their dear ones to his fate.

There were bright, gleaming maidens, and beauteous and young,
And with red cheeks and half-trimmed young maiden,
Who came to see the old bachelor die.

He gave them one glance and his eyes flashed
fury,
He turned to the mother and said, "You are gone!"
The wife and the mother that gave him birth,
Who left their dear ones to his fate,

He gave them one glance and his eyes flashed
fury,
He turned to the mother and said, "You are gone!"
The wife and the mother that gave him birth,
Who left their dear ones to his fate,

THE FATAL BOUQUET.

WHAT may be the ordinary price of such a bouquet as a bridegroom generally carries to assist her in her wedding, I cannot say; but the only one I ever had different to do with cost me dear, as will be seen.

Never, oh, my friends, make rash promises; or, if you do, do not fail to keep them.
In fact, they will be a comfort to you in your old age.

It was many years ago that I was obliged to be present at a wedding, and I saw a cloud over all my subsequent life.

It was a lovely afternoon in summer; the sun shone brightly, and the birds were singing in the trees. I was sitting under a large tree, and I was looking at the flowers.

There were many flowers, and I was looking at them. I was looking at the flowers, and I was looking at the flowers.

I was looking at the flowers, and I was looking at the flowers. I was looking at the
flowers, and I was looking at the flowers.

I was looking at the flowers, and I was
looking at the flowers. I was looking at the
flowers, and I was looking at the flowers.

I was looking at the flowers, and I was
looking at the flowers. I was looking at the
flowers, and I was looking at the flowers.

I was looking at the flowers, and I was
looking at the flowers. I was looking at the
flowers, and I was looking at the flowers.

I was looking at the flowers, and I was
looking at the flowers. I was looking at the
flowers, and I was looking at the flowers.

I was looking at the flowers, and I was
looking at the flowers. I was looking at the
flowers, and I was looking at the flowers.

I was looking at the flowers, and I was
looking at the flowers. I was looking at the
flowers, and I was looking at the flowers.

I was looking at the flowers, and I was
looking at the flowers. I was looking at the
flowers, and I was looking at the flowers.

I was looking at the flowers, and I was
looking at the flowers. I was looking at the
flowers, and I was looking at the flowers.

I was looking at the flowers, and I was
looking at the flowers. I was looking at the
flowers, and I was looking at the flowers.

I was looking at the flowers, and I was
looking at the flowers. I was looking at the
flowers, and I was looking at the flowers.

I was looking at the flowers, and I was
looking at the flowers. I was looking at the
flowers, and I was looking at the flowers.

I was looking at the flowers, and I was
looking at the flowers. I was looking at the
flowers, and I was looking at the flowers.

I was looking at the flowers, and I was
looking at the flowers. I was looking at the
flowers, and I was looking at the flowers.

I was looking at the flowers, and I was
looking at the flowers. I was looking at the
flowers, and I was looking at the flowers.

I was looking at the flowers, and I was
looking at the flowers. I was looking at the
flowers, and I was looking at the flowers.

I was looking at the flowers, and I was
looking at the flowers. I was looking at the
flowers, and I was looking at the flowers.

I was looking at the flowers, and I was
looking at the flowers. I was looking at the
flowers, and I was looking at the flowers.

I was looking at the flowers, and I was
looking at the flowers. I was looking at the flowers, and I was looking at the flowers.
