

Beware of Ointments for Cataract That Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is often ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c per bottle. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

A BRAVE COLONEL

Recommends Pe-ru-na as a Family Medicine.

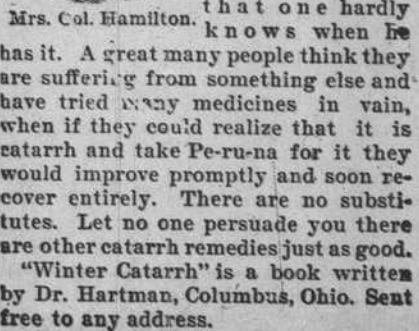

A Scientific Spring Medicine.

Colonel Arthur L. Hamilton, of the Seventh Ohio Volunteers, 259 Goodale street, Columbus, Ohio, writes: "Besides having the merits of Pe-ru-na so fully Colonel Hamilton, of Columbus, O., demonstrated in my family, I have a number of friends who have taken it for catarrh and stomach trouble, and all unite in praising it. As a remedy for catarrh I can fully recommend it." Mrs. Hamilton, wife of the gallant Colonel, is an ardent friend of Pe-ru-na also. In a letter on the subject she writes: "I have been taking Pe-ru-na for some time, and I am enjoying better health now than I have for years. I attribute the change in my health to Pe-ru-na, and recommend this excellent catarrh remedy to every woman, believing it to be especially beneficial to them."

The spring-time is the most favorable time of the year to treat catarrh. There is so much less liability to take fresh cold that the treatment is unimpeded. All old cases of chronic catarrh should begin immediately a course of Pe-ru-na as directed in Dr. Hartman's books on this disease. There are so many different phases and stages of catarrh that one hardly knows when he has it. A great many people think they are suffering from something else and have tried many medicines in vain, when if they could realize that it is catarrh and take Pe-ru-na for it they would improve promptly and soon recover entirely. There are no substitutes. Let no one persuade you there are other catarrh remedies just as good. "Winter Catarrh" is a book written by Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio. Sent free at any address.

ELLIPTICAL FLOWER BED.

It Forms Quite an Attractive Feature for the Farmhouse or City Ornamental Garden.

A bed in the shape of this figure would be called by some an oval, but it is not. It is the figure known in mathematics as an ellipse. To describe it on the surface of the ground plant two stakes firmly as at A and B. Stretch a double cord as tightly as possible by a pointed stick or any convenient marker, and, keeping it at its utmost tension, move it around the line AB, and it will describe the curve of the ellipse. If the length of the doubled cord be only slightly greater than the distance from A to B, the ellipse will be long and narrow. If the cord be considerably longer than the line AB, the figure will be hardly distinguishable from a circle.

As the outlines of the bed may become obliterated in course of time by wearing away from storms, or by the encroachment of grass and weeds, it would be well to have the stakes at A and B in position permanently. Keeping a memorandum of the length of the doubled cord, the curve can be retraced at any time, and its symmetry of shape restored. Very good stakes for the purpose can be made from an old broom handle. Painted and projecting but a few inches above the surface of the ground, they will not disfigure the bed.

As it may sometimes be desirable to make a bed of known dimensions we have added to the sketch the dotted lines shown. The bed described is in the proportion of 12 by 12 feet. Lay out an oblong of the desired size, divide the length and breadth into halves and measure from center C to point D, and with this distance describe from E the arc of a circle to intersect the line F D at the points A and B. Place the stakes at intersections A and B and take a string around A and B, then using E as a marker, describe the desired figure.—American Gardener.

EARLY GARDEN WORK.

Plow the Soil Deep and Thoroughly and Apply Manure That is Evenly Rotted.

It is essential that the soil of the garden be rich to have early crops and tender vegetables. It should be a loam and be well drained so that it will dry out readily, warm up early and be easily prepared in good time for the reception of the seed.

If a quick germination of the seed is secured the soil must be in a good tilth so that the seed will come in close contact, as with all seeds a certain amount of heat and moisture are essential to germination and contact with the soil is necessary if a good growth is to be maintained.

Plow deep and thorough and then work into a good tilth. When manure is applied, have it thoroughly rotted and fine and then incorporate well with the soil.

Applying fresh coarse manure is inadvisable, because it increases the labor of preparing the soil in a good tilth, it contains more or less weed and grass seed that make the work of cultivation more difficult, and the plant food not being in an available condition, cannot be used by the growing plants. Rather than use coarse, fresh manure, it will be better to purchase and use commercial fertilizers.

Wood ashes and poultry manure can nearly always be used to a good advantage in the garden, especially as a top dressing, and with some crops, like radishes and lettuce, rotten chip manure from the wood pile can be used to an advantage. When either of these is used a good plan is to prepare the soil in a good condition for the reception of the seed and then apply these as a top dressing, working well into the surface with a good garden rake. Poultry manure being a concentrated fertilizer, should be applied carefully, as too much will burn the plants and prove detrimental.

Some crops like onions, lettuce, radishes, beets and the early varieties of peas, may be sown as soon as the soil in the garden will work readily into a good tilth, then later plantings can be made in through the season.—National Rural.

Money Value of Cleanliness.

Prof. W. J. Fraser, of the Illinois station, says: "Milk, as ordinarily produced, sells at six cents a quart, while milk so carefully handled that it is known to be free from dirt and disease germs sells at from eight to twelve cents per quart. To produce really clean milk requires great care. Some experiments were made at the Illinois station with sterile plates exposed for half a minute in various places. The following collections resulted: Dust from fodder, 143; dust from corn meal, 5; dust from brushed cows, 869; under unwashed udder, 2,023; under washed udder, 90. Often the milk goes to his work in the same suit in which he brushed horses and did other like work.

SOME SEASONABLE POEMS.

A True April Fool.
The nicest man in all the town
Was old, good-natured Deacon Brown.
In making others happy he
Devoted lots of energy.
And so when April first begun
He said: "I'll give the boys some fun."

With childlike innocence displayed
Along the street he sweetly strayed.
Each sidewalk hat that covered bricks
Received from him some festive kicks.
And though it hurt his corns, he smiled
As gaily as the boys beguiled.

At every wallet on a string
He fiercely grabbed, and when the thing
Flashed out of sight, with joy intense
He joined the roar at his expense.
Each bogus bundle in his way
He carried off till his array
Of bundles fooled the women who
Thought he had been a shopping, too.

In sweet simplicity he stood
Before store windows so the good
Small boys might pin his coat with tails
And chalk his spacious back, "For Sale,"
"This Flat to Let," and "April Fool,"
In letters they had learned at school.

He burned his fingers with hot cents
And, spite of all his corpulence,
He stooped to pick up coins nailed down.
In fact such fun he gave the town
That Mrs. Brown and baby sweet
Followed to see him taken in.

When he went home and turned about
He made the little Brownies shout
With merry laughter at the show
Which he pretended not to know.
And though his wife thought him insane
He let the tails and signs remain.

At supper time he bravely signed
On soap and cotton pins designed
By loving tots to fool their dad.
Who never in his life was mad.
And his wry faces at each bite
Made so much mirth and wild delight
That Mrs. Brown and baby sweet
Got laughing so they couldn't eat.

"Hoo-ray!" thought Deacon Brown, alone.
"Such fun before I've never known.
I've made it pleasant at the show,
I've filled my home with mirthful joys.
And when the children fix a kite
The tails I got will do it right."

I've fooled the fools so, they thought
That I and not themselves were caught,
And, ha, ha, ha! they laughed at me,
But I laughed more at them you see,
And then the good man closed his eyes
To dream of angels in the skies.
—H. C. Dodge, in Chicago Daily Sun.

An Easter Patriot.

Never ketch me growlin' 'bout millinery bills,
I likes ter see, at Easter, the dear wife put on frills;
Like ter see her fixin' of her dear ol' self in style,
Fer she's sweeter in a minute than the others in a mile!

Nuthin' in the country's too good fer her, an' I
Have got ter be the best.
Ef I half suspect she wants 'em; ef she only hints that she Wants somethin' in the winders, they ain't big enough fer me!

Jest buy the store out fer her! fer it 'lives up yer life
To know this thing called "money" is a blessin' ter yer wife;
An' when Easter bells air ringin' an' the work on dress parade,
Ter know that ain't a woman that kin throw her in the shade!

It don't take much ter dress her, but it's got ter be the best.
That's in the fashion papers—whar the purty ones air dressed;
Love ter see her fixin' of her dear ol' self in style,
Fer she's sweeter in a minute than the rest air in a mile!

—F. L. Stanton, in Atlanta Constitution.

An Easter Garland.

Unto the altars bring
The firstling flowers of spring—
The violet with evening's purple eyes;
The valiant crocus-spear
The hush of frost no fear;
The daffodil in morning's golden guise;
The hyacinth, whose bells
Breathe fragrant spells;
Hepatica sprays entwined,
And the shy wind-flower amorous of the wind!

One true fair bloom bear ye,
And let it be
As softly white as plumage of the dove,
The lily that's for love!
O ye that fare with faint and failing breath
Toward the dim gates of death,
Be these the heartening sign—
Quickened by God
Within the dormant sod—
Of resurrection and the life divine!
—Clinton Scollard, in Woman's Home Companion.

Days of the Horse Numbered.

The greatest electrician in the world declares that the days of the horse are numbered, and that in a short time electricity will completely supplant man's most useful animal. In 20 years, he asserts, the horse will be a curiosity. Diseases of the stomach, liver, kidneys and blood would also be a curiosity if all sufferers would take Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. There would then be practically no dyspepsia, nervousness, sleeplessness, indigestion, constipation, malarial fever or ague.

THE BEST SPRING TONIC.

As winter passes away it leaves many people feeling weak, depressed and easily tired. This means that the blood needs attention and sensible people always take a tonic at this time of year. Purgatives are not the right medicine—they weaken instead of strengthening.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are the best tonic medicine in the world and do not act on the bowels. They stimulate the appetite, enrich the blood, strengthen the nerves and make people feel bright, active and strong.

No one is better able to speak of this fact than Miss Hazel Snider, a charming young woman of Arlington, Ind. To-day she has rosy cheeks, sparkling eyes and a plump form, which prove that she is in good health. A year ago Miss Snider was very thin, her cheeks pale, eyes sunken and dull. She was troubled with nervousness and general debility. She says: "After several months' treatment from the family physician we saw he could do no good. I was discouraged and did not know what to do. One day I read an item in a paper of the wonderful curative qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I tried the medicine, and when nearly through with the second box noticed a change for the better. After I had taken eight boxes I was cured, and have had no occasion to take any kind of medicine since. I owe much to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, probably my life, and I advise any one suffering with troubles similar to mine, to take these pills."

MOTHERHOOD is woman's natural destiny. Many women are denied the happiness of children through some derangement of the generative organs. Actual barrenness is rare. Among the many triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the overcoming of cases of supposed barrenness. This great medicine is so well calculated to regulate every function of the generative organs that its efficiency is vouched for by multitudes of women.

Mrs. Ed. Wolford, of Lone Tree, Iowa, writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I had one child which lived only six hours. The doctor said it did not have the proper nourishment while I was carrying it. I did not feel at all well during pregnancy. In time I conceived again, and thought I would write to you for advice. Words cannot express the gratitude I feel towards you for the help that your medicine was to me during this time. I felt like a new person; did my work up to the last, and was sick only a short time. My baby weighed ten pounds. He is a fine boy, the joy of our home. He is now six weeks old and weighs sixteen pounds. Your medicine is certainly a boon in pregnancy."

Mrs. FLORA COOPER, of Doyle, S. Dak., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—Ever since my last child I suffered with inflammation of the womb, pains in back, left side, abdomen and groins. My head ached all the time. I could not walk across the floor without suffering intense pain. I kept getting worse, until two years ago I wrote to you for advice, and began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had not finished the first bottle before I felt better. I took four bottles, and have been strong and perfectly healthy ever since, and now have two of the nicest little girls."
