COULD NOT SLEEP

Mr. Schleusner in Misery From Kidney Complaint. Doan's Gave Complete Relief.

"Heavy work brought on my kidney complaint," says Wm. Schleusner, 6408 Suburban Ave., Wellington, Mo. "One morning when showing a horse I was taken with a sudden pain in my back and fell flat on the floor. If I had been hit with a trip hammer, I couldn't have suffered more. I stayed in the house for five weeks and the pain was wearing the life out of me. At times, I couldn't get a wink of sleep because of the misery and I had to get up every few moments to pass the secretions that were highly colored, of foul odor, filled with sandy sediment and terribly scalding. My bladder felt as though it were ailing. The pain brought stupor and a reeling sensation in my head; the torture of it cannot be described. If I got onto my feet I couldn't walk but felt dizzy and all in a flutter and everything would turn black. My head ached so it seemed as though my eyes were being dragged out. I started using Doan's Kidney Pills and I was soon rid of all the trouble."

Subscribed and sworn to before me.

Hoosier News Briefly Told

Every striking employee of the Standard Steel Car company plant in Hammond awoke on Friday to find an Indiana militiaman at his door. While the military guards held the 1,700 strikers in their homes, the gates of the shops were thrown open and imported strikebreakers walked in unopposed. The strikers were to be prevented from gathering in the streets. A double guard was placed about the homes of several particularly violent I. W. W. agitators. If the men were to meet it would be under police surveillance in a hall outside the city limits or out among the sand dunes. The car company forces, it was stated, had been fully remanned, and production, beginning Friday morning, assumed a normal basis. Officials of the company declare the strike will be broken if the guards have to be kept in Hammond till Christmas. The strikers rejected the company's offer of compromise and the determination to fill the ranks with strikebreakers resulted.

"We will have fought to little purpose to destroy the autocracy of the Kaiser if we are to submit in our own land to the autocracy of the mob," declared Gov. James P. Goodrich, addressing state troops mobilized in Indianapolis for duty at Hammond in connection with strike disorders there. The governor charged the militiamen to use "most vigorous exercise of force" should the occasion demand. "More than 140,000 of the voting men of Indiana were recently called to defend the honor and integrity of the nation in a foreign war," he said. "You are now called upon a less glorious but no less important mission. Ours is a government of laws and not of men. If men are to be permitted to substitute the inclination of their own wills and their own selfish desires for obedience to the law, then orderly government is at an end and we must soon reach the unhappy condition which now obtains in Russia. I trust that it will not be necessary to resort to extreme measures, but those who have arrayed themselves against society should be taught that they cannot do so with impunity."

A. R. Heiser, seventy, member of the Indianapolis live stock firm of Clark, Wysonog & Co., was crushed to death when his automobile, said to have been driving at terrific speed, went wild on a road near Martinsville, skidded into a bank and turned over. Two men and two women in the car were only slightly hurt and are said to have disappeared immediately after the accident. Heiser's back was broken.

Superintendent E. E. Ramsey has announced the appointment of Prof. Horace C. Wysonog, a graduate of Indiana university, to be principal of the Bloomington high school, to succeed Prof. C. R. Clayton, who has accepted a position in the Indianapolis manual training high school. Professor Wysonog's home is at Lebanon, but for two years he has been principal at Rawlins, Wyo.

The engagement of Prof. Roscoe Abbott of Frankfort to Miss Pearl Stutzman of Goshen has been announced. The wedding will take place at Goshen August 28. Professor Abbott is instructor of physical education in the Goshen high school, and Miss Stutzman has been connected with the schools of Nappanee for four years.

David Alexander, eighty-five years old, was killed at Goshen when struck by a New York Central mail train as he was enroute to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Beech Martin. After having waited for a freight to pass he stepped directly in front of the approaching mail train. Two daughters and one son survive.

Stanley Hathaway was killed recently in Denver, Colo., when an automobile struck the bicycle he was riding. He formerly lived in Muncie.

Lee C. McCauley of Tipton is the new director of music in the Crawfordsville high school, succeeding Mrs. Margaret Kennon.

Judge Warren N. Hauck died at Lawrenceburg following a stroke of apoplexy. He was serving his sixth year as judge of the circuit court, composed of Dearborn and Ohio counties. Judge Hauck was fifty-nine years old and unmarried.

The annual reunion of the Vandiver family was held at the Johnson county fair grounds. The Vandiver family is by far the largest in the county, the average attendance at the annual reunions being more than 500.

James R. Riggs of Sullivan wired Vice President Thomas R. Marshall his acceptance of the appointment as assistant secretary of the department of agriculture of the United States.

Three persons were seriously injured in a mysterious explosion at the Victor Photo company at Griffith. The injured are Henry Plogh, superintendent; Alvin Lightfoot, workman, and Miss Vera Wray, stenographer.

A municipal market will be opened in Evansville by Mayor Bosse in an effort to reduce the high cost of living. This announcement was made by the mayor following word from Chicago stating that the government foodstuffs for which he has been negotiating would be sent immediately. The food will be sold from the new municipal market place.

A. Mitchell Palmer, attorney general of the United States, has recommended that congress extend federal control to clothing and other necessities through a new law, similar to the act which gave the government supervision over the production and distribution of food during the war. Dr. Harry E. Barnard, federal food administrator for Indiana, announced on his return to Indianapolis from New York, where he was in conference with the attorney general and food administrators of several states. That profiteering in sugar, which was widespread and flagrant, according to reports, is abating in Indiana and that the movement for making public other cases where unfair prices are charged for commodities has already had an influence in the state, was the opinion of Doctor Barnard on the Indiana situation.

Mrs. Julia B. Tutewiler was elected second vice president and a constitution and by-laws were adopted at a meeting of the Housewives' league held at the public library in Indianapolis. A large number attended the meeting, the second of housewives of Indianapolis to perfect an organization to combat the high cost of living. In stating the policy of the organization, Mrs. W. H. Hart, president, said: "I feel at this time it would be well for the chair to state the policy of our organization. It will be used for constructive work, not destructive. We wish to live and let live. Every producer and dealer should be allowed to make a fair living profit and the consumer must also be able to buy at a reasonable price. We have no desire to do to the unrest already existing. In emergencies women can always be depended upon, and I am sure we will not fail now."

Twenty business and professional men were made defendants in a suit of $25,000 damages filed in the circuit court at Washington by Walter C. Forester, proprietor of the Atlas hotel. The litigation is the outgrowth of a sensational incident in the Liberty loan campaign in September, 1918, when Rev. J. W. Darby, pastor of the First Christian church, and another canvasser called at the hotel to solicit Forester to purchase bonds. An argument ensued. It is said, and ended, Reverend Darby says, by Forester threatening him with a butcher knife.

Decatur county turned out in force for a big Welcome Home day celebration in honor of her service men. Ideal weather marked the occasion. The crowd was estimated at 15,000. A free barbecue staged by N. D. Lawrence of Lexington, Ky., the original "Burgoo" man, was one of the features. The barbecue was held in the VonPuhl grove, north of town. It is estimated that 10,000 persons were fed. The celebration came to a close with a street dance, two bands providing music, and dances in the Eagles and Moose halls.

Thousands of American citizens fighting the high cost of living by the purchase of army foods distributed through post offices are told by Prof. Robert Lee Green, dean of the college of pharmacy at the University of Notre Dame, that this method of marketing may be adopted on a wider scale. Professor Green claims that the government is acting upon his suggestion of postal markets in this present distribution, and is confident that the rest of his plan finally will be adopted.

Rev. E. T. Howe of Frankfort was elected president of the Indiana Methodist Protestant conference, which held its session at Greensburg. Rev. C. J. Kerlin of Indianapolis was elected secretary and J. W. Albright of Jonesboro, conference steward. The state conference of Indiana Wesleyan Methodists, at the annual session at Fairmount, elected Rev. Walter L. Thompson of Muncie, president; Rev. Francis R. Eddy of Plymouth, vice president, and Rev. E. J. Little of Larwill, secretary.

After suspension of traffic on the eastern division at 11 o'clock Saturday morning, when 14 men employed at the Terre Haute, Indianapolis & Eastern Traction company's power house, at Philadelphia, threw on the brakes and left the power house, cars were again started at 8 o'clock Saturday night. The places of the strikers were filled by 24 men brought here from Mooresville, Crawfordsville and Indianapolis.

Rev. J. W. Settle of Washington was re-elected superintendent of the Indiana conference at the annual session at Plainville, near here. He was unopposed. Reports of the financial committee showed that the conference experienced a prosperous year. Collections for benevolences during the year reached $10,000.

Indications were that although the sale is scheduled to last two days, the supply of many of the commodities allotted to Indianapolis would in a few hours be exhausted."

MANY MARMALADES.

Marmalades may be prepared from various kinds of fruit. The apple is perhaps the best known. A conserve which is a marmalade of mixtures of fruit is always an addition to any menu. Here are a few worth keeping and handling down:

Orange Marmalade.—Take one dozen oranges, half a dozen lemons, peel very thin and remove the white inner rind. Chop the rind very fine, or put through the meat grinder; also grind the pulp. To a pint of pulp and rind add one and one-quarter pints of water; boil twenty minutes. Remove from the heat and let stand twenty-four hours, then measure and add one and one-quarter quarts of sugar to one quart of pulp. Boil an hour and a half, or until the fruit is thick.

Amber Marmalade.—Take one each of large grapefruit, orange and lemon, wash and wipe and cut fine, shred the peeling in thin strips, discarding the seeds. Add three and a half quarts of cold water and let stand over night. The next day cook until the peel is very tender and again set aside over night. The next day add five pounds of sugar and cook until the sirup is thick. Store as jelly.

Golden Marmalade.—This is a marmalade which takes the place of the more expensive orange marmalade and is very tasty and wholesome. Scrape and put through a meat chopper one and one-half pounds of carrots, two lemons and the same measure of sugar. Cook the carrots in as little water as possible, add the lemons, also ground (removing the seeds). When well cooked, add the sugar and cook until thick, stirring carefully to keep the mixture from burning. Put in glasses as any other marmalade.

Tomato Conserve.—Take four quarts of ripe, fine tomatoes; add four pounds of sugar, six large lemons and one cupful of raisins. Prepare as usual and cook until thick. Seal in glasses.

Four seeds I drop in every hill:
 One for the worm to harm,
 One for the frost to kill,
 And two for the barn.

REASONABLE GOOD THINGS.

A delicious way of serving beets, the tender young ones, is to cook them until tender; then chop and return to the fire, pour over a well-seasoned French dressing and serve as a vegetable.

Creamed Eggs With Sardines.—Melt four tablespoonsful of butter, add one-fourth of a cupful of bread crumbs and a cupful of thin cream, bring to the boiling point, then add two hard-cooked eggs finely chopped, a half a box of sardines freed from the skin and bones, and salt, pepper and paprika to taste. Bring again to the boiling point and serve at once.

Drop Cookies.—Cream one-fourth of a cupful of shortening, add one-third of a cupful of ginger sirup and half a cupful of strained honey with one egg slightly beaten. Mix and sift two and three-fourths cupfuls of flour with two teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar, one teaspoonful of soda and half a teaspoonful of salt. Add to the first mixture, beat well, drop from the tip of a teaspoon onto a buttered sheet and bake in a moderate oven.

Spanish Ragout.—In a deep casserole put some fat or oil, slice a few onions and add a clove or two of garlic, a little mace, salt and pepper, brown well then lay on top of these vegetables a pig's liver with very little water, just enough to keep from burning. Cover and cook two hours. The liver will shrink and absorb most of the contents of the pan. When cold it slices nicely.

Newport Pound Cake.—Cream seven-eighths of a cupful of butter, add one and a half cupfuls of flour gradually, and a teaspoonful of vanilla. Beat the yolks of five eggs until thick and lemon-colored and add one and a half cupfuls of powdered sugar gradually. Combine the mixtures, add the whites of the eggs beaten stiff and sift over one teaspoonful of baking powder. Beat thoroughly, turn into a deep buttered cake pan and bake one hour in a moderate oven.

Mustard Pickles.—To a gallon of vinegar add one-half cupful of mustard, one cupful of salt and two cupfuls of brown sugar. Drop in the pickles as they are gathered; cover with horseradish leaves.

Be sure to put in store for winter a few quarts of cherries prepared as follows: Wash the cherries unstemmed and place in a fruit jar; half fill the jar with good vinegar and fill with cold water, add a teaspoonful of salt to a quart and seal as usual. They make a delicious pickle to serve in the place of olives.

DUEL INDEFINITELY PUT OFF

How Wisconsin Congressman Turned Challenge to Deadly Combat Into Matter of Ridicule.

The story of the Potter-Pryor duel, the famous challenge of Civil war times whereby a Wisconsin congressman by ridicule put dueling in disrepute, recalled by the death of one of the participants, is told in interesting style in the June number of the Wisconsin Magazine of History, quarterly publication of the State Historical society.

Roger A. Pryor, the Virginia congressman who figured in the episode, died a few months ago in New York city. It was he upon whom John Fox Potter of East Troy, Walworth county, then representative of the First congressional district of Wisconsin, during April, 1860, brought nationwide ridicule in answer to a challenge to a duel. Congressman Potter offered to fight with bowie knives at a distance of four feet, but Pryor refused because they were "so demitition vulgar."

Most of Mr. Potter's bowie knives, including the one he purchased for the duel and others sent to him after the affair, are now on exhibit in the State Historical museum, Madison.

Exit Dish towels.
 No more sticky plates and no more dishes dried on dish towels.

These are two of the things for which the Y. M. C. A. training schools for home assistants is standing. The school was started in answer to the demand for home assistants on the new domestic service plan which have come into the central branch employment bureau. Within the last six months 500 calls for home assistants have come in, and 170 have been successfully filled.

"There should never be a sticky plate after the home assistant has finished the course," Miss Grace H. White, placement secretary, says. "The girls are taught how to make their own soda preparation for cleansing the ice-box, the kitchen closets, etc., and how to clean a sink and a kitchen range so that it shines."

"Dishes are never dried with a dish towel, but always scalded and allowed to dry without a streak."

It Has Happened Before.
 As his relatives and friends are aware, George Wharton Pepper is a nonsmoker.

Not long ago Mr. Pepper was about to entertain some distinguished guests whom he delighted to honor.

His first move in the direction of their entertainment was to procure and send to the house some particularly choice Havana cigars, which "set him back" to the tune of 50 cents each. But it seems the cigars arrived before it was made known at home that the guests were expected.

That evening Mrs. Pepper said to her husband: "Some cigars came for you today—evidently a gift from some one. Knowing you didn't smoke, I gave them to men who were working in the house."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Birds Have Right of Way.
 Fowl have the right of way in air, warns the director of military aeronautics. "This is justice indeed, since birds flew first."

But this is not all. Recently many towns along the Atlantic coast have been visited with dead bird showers. Aviators flying by a town would see a flock of wild fowl coming their way. They would set their machine guns and let the bullets fly.

Presently a prominent citizen walking below would be hit with a large bloody bird. He complained to the department of agriculture. Then the federal migratory bird law between the United States and Great Britain was referred to, and it was found that shooting birds from airplanes is unlawful.

Agreed With the Doctor.
 Mr. Griffin had spent an anxious afternoon at the office and hurried home at an unusually early hour.
 "How do you feel, dear? What did the doctor say?" he asked his wife.
 "Oh, he asked me to put out my tongue," she murmured.

"Yes?"
 "And after looking at it he said: 'Overworked!'"

Mr. Griffin heaved an audible sigh of relief.

"I have perfect faith in that doctor," he said firmly. "You will have to give it a rest."

Verdict Against House Cat.
 The department of agriculture has pronounced the house cat an enemy to mankind and has recommended its extermination. It expresses the opinion that the cat destroys more wild birds and young poultry than all their natural enemies combined, that it does not even keep the rats away, that it spreads disease, that it does much harm and little good.

The worst of it for others means the best of it for the undertakers.
