

CATHOLIC NOTES.

Rev. Andrew Gietl, superintendent of the Indian normal, is at present in Washington attending to the work of Rev. Stephan.

Mr. Frank DeCurtins, the painter, will begin frescoing the church this week.

Rev. Anselm Schmidt, formerly assistant at the normal, returned from his trip to Europe last week. He spent Sunday in the College and most delightfully entertained the students with a talk on the customs and works of art which he saw, especially in Florence and Rome. While in Rome he was admitted to the presence of Pope.

Rev. Frederic Schalk was also at the College last Sunday. He will leave for Europe next week and remain abroad for about a year.

The College students will give a dramatical concert this month at the Opera House.

Rev. Eugene will conduct service at Remington next Sunday in the absence of Rev. Hellhake, who will administer to the spiritual wants of the Catholics at Monticello.

Rev. Frederic and Teacher Sylvester are conducting affairs at the Indian Normal during the absence of Rev. Gietl.

Service in the Parish church at 8 and 10 a. m.

A Hebron Love Letter.

Hebron Leader.

The following love letter was picked up on the street Tuesday. It was written to a young lady with whom the writer had become enamored:

Dearest—if you can accompany me to the church on the 30th, please inform me at once. My dear, I am constantly thinking of you; my love is stronger than the smell of limberger cheese, store butter or the kick of an old cow. Sensations of exquisite joy go through me like the wind through my lilacs and caper over my heart like William goat on the back yard fence. I feel like I could lift myself by my boot straps to the realms of time and hold sweet confabulations with the angels; as the mean pup hankers after sweet milk, so do I hanker after your presence, and as the goslin swims in the mud puddle, so do I swim in the sea of delightfulness when you are near, my heart plays up and down like a churn dash, and my eyes stand open like cellar doors in a country town, and if my love is not reciprocated, I will pine away like a poisoned bedbug, and you can come and catch cold on my grave.

LOVINGLESS.

That Ship Canal.

The subject of a ship canal to connect Lake Michigan with the Wabash river, and through that with the Ohio and Mississippi, has received some attention in the state legislature, and is now being agitated to some extent in the Indianapolis papers. Prof. J. L. Campbell, of Crawfordsville, the well known civil engineer, who has made a thorough survey of the Kankakee river region, is an earnest advocate of the project. His plan is to have the canal leave Lake Michigan at a point about on the boundary line between Lake and Porter counties, to strike south by a little east till it reaches the Kankakee river at Baum's bridge. Then follow up the Kankakee to the Big Monon, Tippecanoe, to the south by east.

and down that to the
and down the Tippecanoe

Wabash. This route would cut across the northeast corner of Jasper county. The Kankakee river would supply the water for the canal, both north and south from it. Prof. Campbell says there are no very formidable engineering difficulties in the way of such a canal, and thinks that its benefits would be very great.—Republican.

Oh, what a project, the water of the Kankakee to run both north and south, up hill and down. We have known this stream for over thirty years, have seen it as "full as a goose" a hundred times, have seen it foaming, frothing, almost beside itself, but never so badly "off" as to run both north and south at the same time. In all its ups and downs these thirty years, its course has steadily and constantly been to the southwest. In these thirty years this river and its regions have been surveyed by the government, the state and the Kankakee Drainage Co., of 1871. Thousands and thousands of dollars have been squandered by "well known civil engineers" and never a shovel full of dirt has been dug. Ten years ago Prof. Campbell swamped several thousand dollars of state appropriation on the Kankakee and never a drop of water was disturbed. That route the Prof. speaks of from Dunn's bridge to the big Monon he has never seen. He tried to run a line from English Lake (the lowest point on the Kankakee) to the Monon, but when five miles south he found himself 20 feet above the river and the land still rising. The project was then abandoned, and we have never heard anything more of it till the above appeared in last week's Republican. What this Kankakee country wants is a few Giffords, a few home ditching companies. A ship canal is only a bid for a few more government and state surveys, only a wild scheme to work up a job for "well known civil engineers." There can be no nicer snap for "well known engineers" than this Kankakee surveying picnic. Prof. Campbell and his corps when here had a jolly good time, fishing, hunting, frolicking and surveying a little. It was so pleasant and nice that even Gov. Porter came up, camped out with the boys and went "sniping." One of the "well known" that summer, being asked by a "sandlapper" how long the surveyors were going to stay, replied: "Oh as long as the appropriation lasts." No countenance should be given this silly scheme. We have had thirty years of "well known civil engineering" now. We want a few years of actual digging.

DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.
The partnership heretofore existing between Coen & Paxton in the grain, hay and coal business is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

Charles W. Coen will continue in the business and all accounts are left with him for settlement.

CORRESPONDENCEGOODLAND.

Potatoes are rotting in the ground.

If rain makes grass there will be no question about this year's crop.

The cherries of this vicinity won't make half a crop.

The W. C. T. U.'s are now editing the Morocco Courier, if we are to be governed by the last two or three numbers.

When a woman sits on the school board in Goodland, the writer in last week's Herald can go sleigh riding in Hades.

The M. E. church, at this was struck by lightning week. But little, one. This place, one night last if any damage was

is the fifth time within one that lightning has struck within the corporation limits north of the Pan Handle railroad.

Prof. Fagin left this place Monday noon to assume his duties with Canady & Murphy at Morocco.

The C. & I. C. had another wreck at Pogue, a small station just north of Morocco, last Monday. But what amount of damage was done we are unable to say at this writing.

Miss Maud Tedford returned home Saturday from a visit with Prof. Cassel's folks at Rossville.

Mrs. Hildreth, wife of conductor Hildreth, who was killed on the C. & I. C. some time ago, is visiting friends in Goodland.

The following mixed ticket was elected here last Monday: H. T. Greggs, Rep., trustee first ward; John Carpenter, Dem., clerk; T. J. Gray, Rep., treasurer; J. Apger, Dem., marshal.

Mr. All Patton went to Danville, Ill., Tuesday, where he and his brother Bert have another large poultry establishment.

Mrs. Cronk, wife of Dr. Cronk, went to Kingman, Kans., Tuesday to visit relatives.

We will say to "Jack the Hugger" in Remington Press, that we have never made one statement through the PILOT about the W. C. T. U.'s or the principal of this school but what we could back with tons of evidence. Our motto is: "Tell the truth all the time and shame the devil most of the time."

Standing room was at a premium on the court house grounds at Fowler last Thursday while the jury in the Paine case was being pained.

One "Fad" Davis has been dropped out of the school work of this county. The school board has secured the services of Prof. Dickerson for next year's work here. He comes with the best recommendations from each locality in which he has taught and particularly from Remington, where he has been at the head of the school for about five years.

Our Jew tailors pulled stakes Saturday and left the town. Some of our citizens attached their goods to get even with them, so they paid the costs and went on their way rejoicing.

There is talk of the I. I. & I. railroad putting in about three miles more of side tracks here on account of not having enough side tracks to do their switching.

It is no uncommon thing to see four and five freight trains switching here all at once.

Our Jew tailors pulled stakes Saturday and left the town. Some of our citizens attached their goods to get even with them, so they paid the costs and went on their way rejoicing.

It looks as though about as much of the travel from this section will go over the Pan Handle to the World's Fair as there will be over the C. & I. C. and C. & E. I. There will be more ride for the money, if not for less.
