GEORGE PRISTER brought suit for $10,000 damages in the United States court at Indianapolis, against the Bromwell Brush and Wire Goods Co. The plaintiff alleges that in 1891 he was a convict in the Jeffersonville prison, and the defendants worked him by contract inside the prison. He was compelled to work on this contract. He was put to work at a buzz-saw, and the foreman in the employ of the defendants required him to "hurry up." Through this order and some defect in the machinery he mangled his left hand, and received such injuries that his arm had to be amputated at the elbow. He charges gross carelessness on the part of the defendants.

At Indianapolis Mrs. Lena Kiel made a desperate attempt at suicide, the other morning. Going to a neighbor's she secured a butcher-knife. She then put on a night gown and drew the knife five times across her throat, in front and at the sides. The knife was dull, and she could not touch a vital spot. Then she attempted to sever the arteries in her wrist, but failed. When discovered, Mrs. Kiel presented a ghastly spectacle, being soaked in blood from her neck to her feet. Mrs. Kiel's husband had left her, her children had been placed in a benevolent institution, and she was tired of life.

The little three-year-old girl of Edward Livengood, living seven miles east of Lebanon, was choked to death the other morning by a coffee grain lodging in her windpipe. The operation of tracheotomy was performed, but too late to save her life.

Fish Nets.

Fish nets are made from some very strange materials. The Esquimaux manufacture them from strips of seal hide, and from thin slices of whale bones. By the Fijians they are constructed of human hair. Savages in various parts of the world plait the inner fibers of tree bark for fishing lines, and the Indians on the Pacific coast of North America use for the same purpose seaweed—a sort of kelp which is strong enough to hold a finny captive of one hundred and fifty pounds weight.

FULLER INTERFERES.

The Chief Justice Grants a Supersedeas in the Sunday Closing Case Until an Appeal Can Be Heard.

CHICAGO, June 12.—Chief Justice Melville W. Fuller, of the United States supreme court, has granted the supersedeas sued out by the world's Columbian Exposition company, and the gates of the fair were open Sunday. The chief justice on Saturday indefinitely suspended the operation of the injunction granted by Judges Woods and Jenkins, of the United States circuit court. Unless there is a speedy hearing in the circuit court of appeals, something that cannot now be decided, the gates may be open for several Sundays to come. While hearing of the appeal is set for next Thursday the two judges who have been summoned by the chief justice to sit with him are both engaged in their own courts. These judges are Judge Allen, of Springfield, Ill., and Judge Bunn, of Wisconsin. They may be unable to attend at the time fixed, and as they are the only available members of the court the hearing may go over for some time yet. Pending the hearing, however, much delay may intervene before the order of supersedeas will be effective, leaving the directors at liberty to continue running wide open Sunday if they so desire.

Chief Justice Fuller granted the suspension of the order enjoining the directors from opening the gates Sundays on the representation of Edward Walker, chief counsel for the appellants, that to allow its operation would work a hardship upon the exposition company, while the government could not be injured by leaving the gates open pending the hearing of the appeal. There was little in the way of argument and the supersedeas was issued as a matter of course on the petition. Little attention appeared to be given by him to the actual arguments, he taking the ground that this case was just like any other and that the defendants were entitled to the supersedeas asked until the case could be heard in the court of appeals next Thursday and a final decision reached. All parties in interest agree that the hearing in the court of appeals shall settle the entire controversy.

The paid admissions at the world's fair grounds on Sunday numbered 71,644. All of the buildings were crowded with sightseers, the Fine Arts hall, however, proving to be the center of attraction. The promenade around the roof of Manufactures building was a favorite place. The electric launches, the gondolas and the yachts were kept busy. The same state buildings that refused to open a few Sundays ago adhered to the rule, and they were joined in the movement by the Japanese tea village, which closed its gates.

DEATH AT A BULL FIGHT.

Two Persons Killed and Several Dangerously Hurt in the Province of Madrid.

MADRID, June 12.—Particulars have been received here of a bull fight at Getafe, in the province of Madrid, in which the proceedings were of the most extraordinary kind and led to the death of two persons, while six were dangerously injured and several others more or less hurt. A large crowd was in attendance and twenty-eight bulls were brought out. The ring was invaded by numbers of the crowd, eager to take part in the sport. One bull thrust his horns through a man's cloak, and being thus blindfolded, became furious. A youth from Madrid, attempting to recover the cloak, was caught on the bull's horns, tossed and then gored to death amid the frenzied plaudits of the spectators. Shortly afterward another youth, who engaged the next bull, was pinned to the barrier by the animal's horns and killed on the spot. The fight continued, as bull after bull was sent into the ring, amid the enthusiasm of the onlookers, the authorities continuing to preside at the proceedings until the last animal had appeared. Several persons were dangerously hurt and had to be carried out of the ring.

FATAL STORM.

Several Deaths Are Reported on Lake Erie.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 12.—Buffalo had a furious gale Sunday. The wind blew sixty miles an hour for two hours. Through the city the trees, outbuildings and shrubbery were badly damaged. The streets and parks were strewn with broken limbs of trees and the roofs of small buildings. William Beardsley, one of a fishing party, was drowned in Lake Erie during the storm by the capsizing of their boat. Half a dozen fishermen's shanties are now floating in the lake near the breakwater. Late Sunday afternoon a capsized boat and the body of a woman and child were found in Scaquada creek. The bodies were taken to the morgue, but have not been identified. They had been in the water only a few hours. The rumor about the sinking of the Nyack is not credited here.

A Printer Drowned.

CHICAGO, June 12.—Harry E. Gamble, of Brooklyn, chairman of the New York delegation to the international typographical convention, which holds its first session in Chicago this morning, was drowned Sunday afternoon at Diamond Lake, Ill. A picnic was in progress and Gamble was rowing on the lake with a companion when he fell in a fit. His struggles upset the boat, and he was drowned in spite of his companion's efforts at rescue. The latter reached shore in safety.

Hood's Cures

"Fourteen years ago I had an attack of the gravel, and since have been very seriously troubled with my liver and kidneys. Three years ago I got down so low that I could scarcely walk. I looked more like a corpse than a living man. I had no appetite and for five weeks I ate nothing but gruel. Had no more color than a marble statue. After I had taken three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla I could eat anything without distress. Why, I got so hungry that I had to eat five times a day. I have now fully recovered. I feel well and am well. All who know me marvel." D. M. JORDAN, retired farmer, Edmeston, N. Y.

DR. KILMER'S

SWAMP-ROOT CURED ME.

La Grippe! Grippe! Grippe! After Effects Cured.

Mr. Bilger writes: "I had a bad attack of the Grippe; after a time caught cold and had a second attack, it settled in my kidneys and liver, and I had such pain and misery in my back and legs. The physicians' medicine and other things that I used made no impression, and I continually grew worse until I was a physical wreck, and before I had used all of the second bottle I felt better, and to-day I am just as well as ever. A year has passed and not a trace of the Grippe is left. SWAMP-ROOT saved my life." D. H. BILGER, Hulmeville, Pa. Jan. 10th, 1893.
