

Rev. T. Vanscoy, of Portland, Oregon, is visiting relatives in this county, the guest, at present, of his sister, Mrs. John Worthington. He is one of the prominent educators of the Pacific Coast, having been president of Willamette College at Salem and now connected with a college at Portland.—Monticello Herald.

Chicago policeman: "Not so fast, my man. Ye don't take this train." Ohio man: "I'm going home—why am I stopped?" "Where ye takin' all that money ye've got?" "Money! I've only got one dollar and a scalper's ticket to get home—" "Very well—that's what I'm stoppin' ye for. Hand over the dollar. If yer ever caught packin' another dollar from Chicago durin' the fair ye'll be run in. See?"—Ex.

"If you have ten dollars to spend," said Barnum, "spend one for an article and the other nine in advertising it." The old man knew a thing or two when it came to advertising. Barnum said some years ago: "I can out-talk any body on earth but a printer. The man who can stick type and talk next morning to thousands of people while I'm talking to one is the only man I'm afraid of. I want him for a friend."—Ex.

Isaac Glazebrook and wife were out in the country last Sunday. They were in a single top buggy and attempted to ford the river on Wal Robison's farm. A few steps from the shore the stallion disappeared from view, but in an instant the top of its head appeared and it began swimming for the shore. The buggy was under water and the water reached the waists of the occupants. The stallion reached shore in safety, and now a thousand dollars would not buy the animal.

The Democratic and Republican parties, of Barkley township, at their rallies four or five years ago, each secured a fine, large silk flag as a prize for the largest delegation. A few days ago the flags were wanted to decorate the church for Children's Day last Sunday. The committee went to the home of Mr. Renicher, in whose possession the flags had been since last used and were startled to find that the flags had been torn up and used for carpet rags. The flags were worth about $12 each.

It is a well established principle that the people, not facilities for business, make the place. It is true that an energetic prosperous people may be kept back by the lack of natural advantages, but this is not always the case. A thousand towns are kept in check by the greed and lack of public spirit of the people, where one is kept down by the location. Push and energy overcomes all obstacles; greed and want of energy will kill the most promising locality. So the town is just what the citizens make it.—Goodland Herald.

A little 9-year-old girl in Elkhart sent the following excuse to her teacher, for absence from school: Please excuse my absence to-day, as I am too ill for study or play. Like Johnny Jones and his sister Sue, I ate some fruit that was too new. The pain I had made me feel blue and the pill I took was big enough for two. If I don't get better I'll have to take another, because I don't like to die like Sue and her little brother. Oh dear, I am in a dreadful plight, but I hope by this afternoon I'll be all right.

Guss Phillips has come home to spend a few weeks before the opening of the dramatic season. He will start out again in August with Ed Anderson's dramatic company as manager. They will open the season in August in Rensselaer, after which date they will only play in large cities. They will carry a company of ten persons, and will play the "Lightning Express," a play written especially for Mr. Anderson and copyrighted. They will carry their own special scenery. Mr. Anderson and wife are now spending the summer vacation at Chicago.

The much talked-about cowboy race from Chaldron, Neb., to the World's Fair began Tuesday evening at 5 p. m. at the crack of a pistol shot. About forty cowboys started in the race of 700 miles. The best opinion is that the man who averages fifty miles a day will win the race. Each man leads an extra horse, must ride in a thirty pound saddle and weigh at least 120 pounds. An attempt may be made by officers of the humane society at Chaldron to interrupt the race, but the committee pronounce all fears of cruelty to horses an idle, and are determined that the great race will be run. Riders will not be allowed to ride over twelve hours at a stretch, and every precaution will be taken to prevent cruelty.

The following from the Hobart Free Press strikes a responsive chord in the breast of every newspaper publisher: A local newspaper is often accused of showing partiality in regard to personal notices, by mentioning some who go and not others. The fault lies with the people and not the editor. We are willing and even anxious to tell who come and go, if we can find out, but a country newspaper cannot afford to have a dozen salaried reporters. If you have visitors, let us know who they are and where they come from; if anything happens in your vicinity let us know about it; if you get married let us know the number and names of your guests; if you know anything let us know about it. You will always find us ready to mention one as well as the other. Our object is to give, as the name of the paper implies, all the news of the week.

John Eckert, of Starke county, recently mentioned in these columns as being suspected of murdering Ambrose Rude, was arrested at Valparaiso last Friday on the charge of murder. On the night of May 20th Rude and Eckert went fishing at the Kanakkee river. About ten o'clock that night Eckert called a neighbor living a short distance from the river and told him that the boat that Rude and himself occupied tipped over and that Rude was either drowned or swam to the farther shore. Eckert started away, as the neighbor thought, for help, but instead went home and went to bed. The neighbor waited all night for the help which he supposed would be furnished and it was not until late in the morning that he summoned help. Eckert not returning. The body was recovered in the afternoon on Sunday. Mrs. Rude and intimate friends claim that her husband was murdered, as bruises were found on the head, nose and over one eye. Eckert was with Rude when the latter drew $150 from the North Judson bank a few days before the fishing excursion and Rude had it with him.

Small copper coins are lost in such enormous numbers that the government is obliged to keep on coining cents at the rate of several millions of them every month. They change hands so often as to be subject to a multitude of accidents, and owing to their small value, they are not taken care of. This is no cause of regret to Uncle Sam, inasmuch as he buys the pennies in blank from a firm in Connecticut at the rate of 1,000 for $1. On reaching the mint in Philadelphia, whence all of them are issued, they have merely to be stamped. There are 119,000,000 old copper pennies somewhere. Nobody knows what has become of them, except that once in a while a single specimen turns up in change. A few years ago 45,000,000 bronze 2-cent pieces were set afloat. Three million of them are still outstanding. Three million 3-cent nickel pieces are scattered over the United States, but it is very rarely that one is seen. Of 800,000 half-cents, which correspond in value to English farthings not one has been returned to the government for re-coining or is held by the treasury.

Mr. Flynn (our miller) is a first class miller and an honest man. Bring us your wheat, corn, rye and buckwheat and see if we can't turn you out good and honest work.

That Religious War.

Since facts are beginning to come out in regard to the Catholic scare in Newton and parts of Jasper county, those active in circulating the reports are beginning to feel very foolish. The foundation of the whole matter lies in a campaign document which had its first circulation last fall and seems to have been quite recently started on its rounds again. The A. P. A. Society is supposed to be at the bottom of the agitation. The Kentland Democrat republishes our article of two weeks ago and adds the following:

"It appears that Mr. Harris went to Brook and started the same alarm there, and stated that one of our leading business men was in jail here for bringing fire arms to this place, to be used by the Catholics in murdering Protestants. About that time one of our citizens had occasion to go to Brook on business, when he was confronted with the report, but he knowing the peaceable feeling existing between the different denominations at this place, soon convinced them that it was a false report. At the same time, however, there arrived at this place a couple of boxes that were taken to the St. Joseph church. This aroused the suspicion of some, and similar remarks, about it being ammunition, were made. Investigation proved that all was as false and groundless here as it was in Rensselaer. The contents of these boxes were the new statues and brackets, that were erected in the sanctuary of the church last week. The foregoing is certainly the silliest alarm ever put into circulation in this country. The idea of a religious war being started by the Catholics in this community, where they have ever enjoyed the privilege of free and public services; where the best of friendship reigns between the members of all denominations, where people of one creed work with or for people of another. It is a happy thought to know that no such reports can molest the present good feelings; between the different creeds, and that everything is going on, at the places concerned, as before the incident occurred."

The Morocco Courier also published in Newton county, in its last issue has the following in regard to the matter:

"The story circulated about town last week to the effect that ammunitions of war were being shipped to Rensselaer had for its foundation the fact that some old brass muskets had been shipped into the Indian school to be used in drilling the young Indians. The sixty jugs of powder were sixty cans of powder shipped on an order made for six cans by one of the Rensselaer merchants. It is a disgrace to an intelligent community to allow such flimsy foolishness to gain a moment's credence, yet there are men in this community who set themselves up as leaders who are passing inflammatory circulars round among the people. These very men who to-day are trying to influence the minds of the ignorant against the Catholics, if cholera would break out to-morrow in Morocco would fly for safety and leave the care of the sick and dying to the Sisters of Charity and the Priests."

The Town Board.

The town board met in regular monthly session Monday evening. The session lasted until a late hour, the time being mostly devoted to hearing a remonstrance in the Hardman sewer case.

The town marshal was ordered to grade Webster street and to notify the railroad company to put in a crossing.

New walks were ordered constructed in front of M. H. Hemphill's, D. B. Nowels', and Thos. Grant's property on Main street.

The treasurer was ordered to loan the sinking fund at 8 per cent.

M. F. Chilcote was re-elected a member of the school board. He and S. P. Thompson were the only candidates.

C. B. Steward was appointed fire marshal at a salary of $1 per month.

A large number of walks were condemned and new ones ordered constructed.

A remonstrance was filed against the Hardman sewer. The matter was referred to the street committee.

LOOK OUT FOR THE OPENING CHAPTERS.

Commissioners' Court.

Commissioners' court adjourned Wednesday.

Fifty freeholders petitioned the commissioners to order an election for the construction of three gravel or macadamized roads in Marion township. One is to extend from the Jordan township line along the Range line road to the iron bridge on Washington street, an estimated distance of three and one-half miles, and is to be called College road. Another one is to join Main street at the railroad and to run north a distance of five miles and be known as Long Ridge road. The third road is to begin east of Pleasant Ridge and to run past the poor farm, a total distance of about seven and one-half miles and to be known as the Poor Farm and Pleasant Ridge road. John Q. A. Lamborn and Dexter R. Jones were appointed viewers and John Q. Alter engineer. They are to report at the regular August term as to the advisability of calling an election and to present plans for the same. If the roads are built all taxable property in the township will be assessed for the purpose.

DESERVING PRAISE.

We desire to say to our citizens that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklin's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits.

CORRESPONDENCE.

WHEATFIELD.

The largest rain of the season fell here last Saturday.

The sheriff was seen on our streets last Monday.

Saturday was Children's Day here and there was a nice crowd and everything went well until the storm drove them all to shelter and they had to finish the program in the school house. The ladies went to a great deal of trouble to fix their little ones for the occasion. Everything would have been enjoyed but for a drunken fellow who went to the stand and demanded to be treated, and they told him to go away and attend to his business and he knocked one of them down. He was arrested and fined $25 and costs and he found one man fool enough to go his bail and he then pulled stakes and left town. There are three more indictments against him waiting his return. His name is Jake Melser and the quicker the country is rid of such men the better.

Albert Keen and wife visited in this country last Sabbath.

Mr. P. E. Davis was circulating a petition to change the present postmaster, W. H. Smiley, and put himself in his place, but we think all are suited with the present postmaster.

Owing to trouble with the church, Rev. Shaft will discontinue his services at the Chapel. It seems that some of us, instead of having a friendly feeling for all and hatred toward none, have got a little cranky and have got the cart before the quadruped. Perhaps we need a "Jack the Ripper."
