You can't afford to borrow the PILOT each week when you can get it eight weeks for the small sum of ten cents. This offer expires next week.

The citizens of Kentland are said to have raised $1,200 to pay a rain maker to bring rain. It took place Wednesday and is said to have been successful.

Don't you want the PILOT eight weeks for ten cents. If you do you should send in your money at once, as the offer will be withdrawn next week.

The commissioners will meet in special session Monday to take action on the Wakarusa ditch and proposed gravel road. A vigorous kick will be made on the ditch.

J. L. Brady, a graduate of the Butler University, at Irvington, Ind., will succeed Bro. Utz as pastor of the Christian church. He is a single man and is highly recommended. He begins his pastoral labor here Oct. 1st.

Earnest W. Rettger, of Huntington, Ind., a graduate of the State Normal School and State University, has been employed as principal of the Rensselaer high schools, to succeed Harry O. Wise.

Patronize those who want your trade badly enough to ask for it through your paper. When the others want your dollars they'll let you know. Keep an eye on our advertising columns.

Do you intend to buy your hard coal early? If so see C. W. Coen before you place your order. He will give you the best grade at the price you pay for lower grade coal.

Subjects at the Tabernacle next Sunday: Morning, "Training Children." Evening, "Preparation for Life." The evening sermon will be addressed mainly to the young people. All are cordially invited.

Frank O'Mera is home on a two months vacation at full pay. He is assistant engineer in the criminal court building at Chicago. The engineer, George Dolan, accompanied him home, but left Tuesday for Peru.

It is said that if you cut a bunch of dog fennel and place on each head of your cabbage in your garden you will have no further trouble from the destructive cabbage-worm. The experiment is easily tried.

W. A. McCurry and wife, of Goodland, were in town Tuesday. This was Mr. McCurry's first visit to Rensselaer for sixteen years, and he expressed considerable surprise at the change which has taken place in the town.

The latest improved threshing machines cut their own bands, do their own feeding, stack their own straw, and load their own wheat. Under these new arrangements threshing becomes a pleasure and is not the dreaded job of old.

If you enjoy startling climaxes, thrilling situations, clever specialties, good acting and grand scenic effects, don't fail to see the greatest of all railroad plays, "The Lightning Express," at the Opera House, Friday evening, August 11th.

A young lady who had been married a little over a year wrote to her mother of fact father, saying: "We have the dearest little cottage in the world, ornamented with the most charming little creepers you ever saw." The old man read the letter and exclaimed, "Twins, by thunder!"

Wile Duvall is no longer landlord of the Nowels House, the business not proving a paying one. He has moved with his family into the house just south of Dr. Alter's residence. It is not known who will be the next landlord. Mr. Duvall will follow his old business of draying.

A man named McDonnell is getting a new flying machine ready to launch in September. His workshop is just outside the World's Fair grounds, and he is working at the concern just as if he had built air ships all his life and had no doubt of the thing navigating the air when he gets it done.

Our offer of the PILOT eight weeks for ten cents will be continued next week only the offer expiring Saturday, August 8th. Many have taken advantage of this offer, but there are still some who do not receive the paper. If you wish to take advantage of this offer you should do so at once.

The tramp was released from the work house Tuesday and Jerry Karsner completed his term Wednesday. The tramp lost no time in getting out of town. He said he thought there were but six work houses in the state, but has now added another to his list. He is an experienced stone breaker.

Mrs. Gerardy, who was sent from Starke county to the woman's reformatory last March to serve a two years' term for the killing of her husband, was transferred to the insane department of that institution a few days ago. She has been showing signs of mental derangement for some time, and recently has been quite violent and difficult to manage at intervals.

I. F. Alter and wife attended the funeral of Mrs. Alter's father, C. Wilhelm in Clinton county Monday. Mr. Wilhelm met his death last Saturday from a tree falling on him. The tree was burning and unexpectedly fell to the ground, and catching Mr. Wilhelm, crushed the life out of him.

Williams has a full line of goods at his store and can please you all in prices and styles.

An old tramp preacher was delivering sermons on the streets this week. This is his third or fourth trip to this vicinity. He preaches without price, pays his own expenses, and tramps all over the country. It is understood his home is in Illinois. He claims the present hard times and poor crops are owing to the wickedness of the people.

The Miami county commissioners have made an order requiring all owners of traction engines previous to moving their machinery across a bridge to lay down a two-inch plank, upon which the wheels should run. Many bridges are badly damaged by the careless engineers who drive the ponderous machines over the naked floors.

For disregarding the injunction of Judge Stein ordering the Fair kept open on Sunday the World's Fair directors were fined for contempt. Lyman J. Gage, Charles Henrotin, Andrew McNally, Charles Hutchinson and W. D. Kerfoot were fined $1,000 each; Director General Davis $250 and Victor F. Lawson $100. The Fair will remain open until the injunction is dissolved.

Charlie P. Hopkins, writing from Dickson, Tenn., and sending us three new subscribers, says: "The People's Party is growing here rapidly." How are you? Does money cramp you up there? Here business is almost at a stand still. The same condition of affairs is existing in Rensselaer, owing to the tightness of the money market and busy times among the farmers.

LaPorte Star: The glory of the Walkerton huckleberry marsh has departed. Fire did its perfect work among the bushes and it is not among the fringes of the great stamping ground that any berries are found. In the days before the fire 3,000 boxes were picked and shipped in a day. The owners of the marsh have been looking over it with a view to draining it and converting it into a celery farm.

Chas. G. Yelm, the well known and popular traveling salesman, is home nursing two mashed feet and a severely bruised leg. He fell under a freight train at Rensselaer and narrowly escaped a silent interview with the coroner of Jasper county.—Lafayette Courier.

If Yelm "fell under a train" at Rensselaer no one about the depot heard of it. A poor excuse is said to be better than none.

"A great play and a great company," is what every one says after seeing that greatest of all railroad plays, "The Lightning Express." A genuine novelty is introduced in the railroad scene, and one that always holds the audience spellbound. The highest grade of specialties are introduced by clever singers, dancers and musical artists. Don't fail to see the great play at the Opera House, Friday evening, August 11th.

A tramp was begging at a residence in town Friday morning, and the grub not suiting his taste he "sassed" the lady of the house. Deputy Sheriff McColly lives right across the street and the lady told the tramp that by applying there he would be fed. He did so and was "run in" and furnished his breakfast at the jail. Afterward he was sentenced to the work house for five days and put to work alongside Jerry Karsner breaking nigger heads. He seemed to be familiar with the work and could break two stones to Jerry's one.

During this exceedingly dry weather too much precaution cannot be taken to prevent fires which might prove very disastrous while the grass and nearly all vegetation is almost as dry as tinder. Parents and others having charge of children should be very careful about allowing them to play with fire or matches. One little match carelessly used might be the means of a very destructive conflagration. Old paper should also not be allowed to lay in heaps.

Lookout for the windmill sharpers, who are finding many victims in neighboring counties. They sell a windmill agency territory for what appears in the agreement signed by the victim to be a small price conditioned upon the sale of $125 worth of windmills, the same to be paid one year from date. By tearing off one end of the agreement it turns out to be an ironclad promissory note, such as has been used with such telling effect in the past.

Should a fire break out in Rensselaer at the present time, it would be a difficult matter to check its progress, owing to the scarcity of water. The three fire cisterns built by the town board are nearly empty and the river and many wells are dry. An effort has been made to raise money to fill the cisterns but so far the attempt has been unsuccessful. To fill the three cisterns will only cost about $30 and property owners on Washington street should see that the amount is raised.

Hon. Thomas Updegraff, of McGregor, Iowa, Republican congressman from his district, stopped off in Rensselaer Wednesday, on his way to Washington, where he expects to be at the opening of congress next Monday. He lived in Rensselaer in the 50's and has distant relatives here. He says he is in favor of the repeal of the Sherman bill, but when asked what he would have for a substitute said that was a Democratic affair and he was not in it. He seemed to think that partyism should be greater than patriotism.

The Tolleston Club case which has just ended after a long and severely fought legal battle will again drag its weary length through the Circuit Court. Assistant Attorney General Leon O. Bailey of Indianapolis, is in the city to-day, and has filed motion and bond for a new trial under the statutory right. Judge Gillett accordingly vacated the verdict in favor of the defendant, and the case will be tried at the October term. Attorney Kopelke and Youche, of Crown Point, are here to represent the club.—Valparaiso Daily Star.

The following is Hicks' forecast for this month: A temporary abatement in heat after last storms in July will be renewed on and about the 2nd and 3rd, with many threatening clouds. As we enter period 8th to 12th look for about the hottest spell of the summer. The same condition will exist for the reactionary days, 14th and 15th. Stubborn heat, with much tendency to hard electric storms and heavy local rains, 19th to 23rd. Cooler from 23rd to 27th, at which time warmer with storms. Month ends warm, with storms starting in the west. Many earthquake indications in August.

Another divorce case has been filed with the clerk of Jasper circuit court this week. Elhanen Hilton sues for a divorce from his wife Harriet J. and charges inhuman treatment. The plaintiff lives in Gillam township, but the whereabouts of his wife is not known. They were married on the 30th day of June, 1885, and separated in December of the same year. One child was born in April of the following year. Harriet was a woman of violent temper and made things fly when she got mad. She cursed and swore at her husband, called him obscene names and threatened to kill him by cutting his throat from ear to ear. She also locked him out of the house, so the complaint alleges. He will doubtless get his divorce.

Send in ten cents and get the PILOT eight weeks.

Miss Lulu Bunnell, of Wolcott, visited Miss Ora Duvall during the past week.

Will one of the three editors at Rensselaer please tell us what dog-fennel will be worth after the crop of their city is harvested this fall.—Jack the Ripper.

The Sentinel would refer Jack to the editors of the Republican and PILOT, who advocated its cultivation, and to the City Dads, who engaged in its culture and are the rightful owners of the crop.—Sentinel.

As Brother McEwen seems to think dog-fennel makes good cow feed, we understand the town board is considering the feasibility of selling the crop to Uncle Jimmy to feed to his Jerseys next winter. They seem to be partial to this kind of feed. The Sentinel editor will be allowed to fix his own price.

Unless you write or have printed upon your envelopes the number of days you wish them held, the postmaster will hereafter by a new ruling hold them thirty days instead of ten. As soon as the contract for envelope printing runs out, you can only have printing done at your home office, as the government will stop printing addresses thereon, and this is right. The government has no moral right to compel the struggling county printer to compete with it in this manner. For this reform our Republican friends will please give credit to the Hon. Owen Scott, of Bloomington, who introduced the bill, and pushed it through congress, correcting this wrong.—Paxton (Ill.) Register.

F. B. Lyon, of the California Herald, wrote up a local train robbery which never took place, in a highly sensational manner recently, as a joke, and mentioned several popular business men of his town as the perpetrators. It was meant as a joke and was taken as such by the citizens of the town. In answer to a protest of the gentlemen whose names appeared in the article the Herald says: "We cannot or do not see the influence of the good words or reports as published by the daily or weekly press, but if anything out of the ordinary or anything adverse to the public good we see its effect advertised far and wide, as in the case in question. If the press is capable of damaging, it is just as strong in doing good. Its influence is unbounded. It permeates all of the classes of society from the highest to the lowest. If its words do not reach the eyes of everyone in the land it does reach their ears, evidence of which we find every day."

Of the many attractions on the Midway at the World's Fair none are more worthy of mention than the Moorish Palace. It is located just east of the Ferris wheel and will be known by the great blue dome outlined against the sky. Among the many features in the Moorish Palace are the Moorish castle, the Moorish palm garden, the Moorish and magic maze, the Moorish harem, the Moorish execution, the devil's cave (of course you will not be there in 1893), the room of 1,000 reflections (stop a moment and imagine 1,000 people like yourself standing around you), the bottomless well, the original guillotine on which Marie Antoinette was beheaded. The execution is represented just as it occurred. Visitors should not overlook the optical illusion theatre. It consists of three acts and is certainly wonderful. The laws of nature seem to be defied. In the second act you see the red blood rush into the features of a marble statue and a beautiful woman greets your eye. In the Panopticon is a treat for all. Caston Bros., of Berlin, the greatest artists in wax in the world, are the authors of a collection costing $250,000. The uniforms of some of the great generals and rulers of the world cost over $2,500 each. Music is furnished by the Royal Roumanian Band and singing can be heard in ten different languages, which alone is worth the admission price of 25 cents, which will take you through all of the Moorish Palace. None of our citizens visiting the Fair should miss this attraction.

Smoke the Mendoza cigar.

Hemphill & Honan are selling out to quit business. Now is the time to get bargains for cash.
