RENSSELAER, FRIDAY, SEPT. 22, 1893.

More politicians are now digging their own graves than at any previous time in the nation's history.

If this country had more patriots and fewer blatherskites in the halls of congress the people might hope for relief.

If members of congress really represented the masses instead of the classes, free coinage would not hang fire twenty-four hours.

When silver was demonetized it became a commodity like wheat or oats and kept pace with other commodities in the general fall in prices.

Money is a measure of values. If it is limited in supply each unit must cover more ground in order to carry on the year's transactions. This is why those who control the money oppose any increase in its volume.

Any effort to get free coinage under an international agreement will be a failure. Those who advocate such a course know it will fail, and do so only to stave off free coinage till the money power can get a tighter grip on the producer.

The Republican party in Iowa has struck a hard row of stumps. At the state convention the party receded from prohibition and declared for local option, and now the temperance element of the party has nominated a candidate for governor on a prohibition platform and will control a large number of votes.

Some of the banks of the east are openly violating the law by issuing certificates and using them as money, and by charging depositors one and a half per cent. for drawing out their own money. But the powers that be at Washington, by their action, say to the bankers, "you may go on and violate the law all you please. It is the best banking system on earth and we will protect you in all your illegal proceedings.

When the government paid seven and three-tenths per cent. interest in currency on her bonds, the writer hauled wheat to market at $2.50 per bushel. Then three bushels of wheat would more than pay the interest on a hundred dollar bond. In August of this year a former neighbor sold wheat at the same market for 48 cents a bushel and it takes more than six bushels to pay the interest on $100 of three per cent. bonds. Farmers, how do you like a gold standard.

The Toledo Blade says: "Despite the stringency in the money market, the rich men of New York still vie with each other in building palatial summer homes and pleasure yachts." Why certainly. Those same rich men conspired to bring about said "stringency" in order to squeeze the where-with-all out of labor to build those palaces and pleasure yachts. Yet the Blade opposes every proposition to compel those rich men to bear a just proportion of the burdens of government, or to take away from them the power to oppress labor.

Marion township paid a higher tax in '01 than in '90, a higher tax in '92 than in '91, and will pay a higher tax in '93 than in '92. Taxes make some people rich.

Our county levies were raised at the September term of the commissioners' court from 40 cents on the $100 to 45 cents. High taxes make fat, sleek rats around the county crib.

Last year the Republican, in trying to show that the Democrat trustees collected a higher tax than the Republican, used the towns of Rensselaer and Remington in its table of comparisons. Would it like to include them this year? Really, would it like to make any comparisons at all this year? High tax makes somebody rich.

All the party platforms for twelve years have declared in favor of bi-metalism. Those who accepted nominations on those platforms are pledged by them and are in duty bound to use all honorable means to bring about bi-metalism. If they fail to do so they should be branded as common liars and unworthy the confidence of the people. There were 240 such liars in the lower house of congress.

Our commissioners are determined that Jasper county shall take no steps backwards in the matter of high taxes. We have been within fifteen of the highest taxed county in the state, and now that we have raised the county levy 5 cents on the $100, we, perhaps, stand first. Everybody have their ideas of excellence, have specialties in which they wish to excel. High tax is the sine qua non of the Jasper county commissioners.

One cent on the $100 for gravel road repairs. The 3 cent levy last year was said to be sufficient for three years and we did not expect and levy for that purpose this year. One year's installment will be used on the road by the time this one cent is collected, so we will always be three years ahead with this fund. Collect it three years in advance and hold it as a sacred reserve fund. Bright idea! High taxes are a good thing for somebody.

The following is a comparison of the township tax levies in this county for 1892-93, showing the increase and reduction in each township:

Hanging Grove, reduced 10 cents on the $100
Gilliam, " " " "
Walker, " " " "
Barkley, " " " "
Marion, unchanged, still 80
Jordan, " " " "
Newton, " " " "
Keener, unchanged, still 85
Kunkakee, increased 5
Silroy, " " " "
Union, " " " "
Carpenter, increased 3

From the above it will be seen that seven townships have reduced their township taxes, two remain unchanged and four have made increases. The greatest reductions are in Walker and Barkley and the greatest increases are in Wheatfield and Jordan. Milroy pays the highest tax in the county and Walker pays the lowest. Marion and Carpenter, the two big townships of the county, failed to make any reductions. The former is going on at last year's high rate and the latter have raised "em" three cents. The county having raised its tax five cents higher on the $100, six townships will pay a heavier local tax next year than they are paying this; two townships will pay the same local rate next year as this, and five will pay a lower rate. Five townships out of the thirteen will fare better by this year's levies than by last year's, two are no better off than before, and six, it were better for them that their levies had remained unchanged.

All that honesty, experience and skill can do to produce a perfect pill, has been employed in making DeWitt's Little Early Risers. The result is a specific for sick headache, biliousness and constipation.

Washington Letter.

From our regular correspondent.

Washington, Sept. 13, 1893.
Both senate and house are in a state of suppressed excitement. In the senate the fight over the Voorhees repeal bill has reached the nervous stage. The attendance is unusually large on both sides and it is evident to even the most careless observer that the senators are in a state of expectation. The crisis may be on at any moment and they all know it. President Cleveland is taking a personal hand in the fight, and the silver men claim that it is helping, instead of hurting them. Mr. Cleveland has been so accustomed to having his own way that he is in a state of mind because a majority of the Democratic senators refuse to see the silver question as he sees it, and it is said that some warm words were spoken on both sides this week when several of those senators attempted to get his consent to some compromise, in the shape of an amendment recognizing silver. The nature of Mr. Cleveland's answer may be judged from the laughing remarks of one of the senators who called on him—"I'll bet that Cleveland railed at Providence for having sent him a girl baby when he wanted a boy."

In the house the excitement is caused by the Tucker bill for the repeal of all laws providing for Federal supervision of presidential and congressional elections, which has been reported to the house, and which, according to the present program, is to be pushed to a vote, although there are a number of Democrats who openly question the wisdom of bringing it to the front at this time. That it will provoke a long and bitter partisan debate is certain, and it may play an important part in the silver contest, as drawing the party lines rigidly in one thing and stirring up sleeping party prejudices may result in drawing the party lines in everything. Already there are rumors of a combine for the defeat of this and the Voorhees repeal bill.

If the object of assembling the representatives of numerous boards of trade in the larger cities in the convention at Washington this week was to influence the senators on the silver question, and of that there is little doubt, a mistake was made. If the convention has had any influence at all it has been directly opposite to what its projectors intended. Your correspondent heard a senator who favors the Voorhees repeal bill say that the coming of these boards of trade men and their action in favor of the Voorhees bill confirmed in the minds of the people the statement so often made by the silver men, that it is only the moneyed men of the country who are demanding the passage of the Voorhees bill. The convention certainly had no effect upon the silver senators because they knew long ago that as a rule the board of trade of the country were strongly anti-silver, so that the expense—somebody had to put up the cash for railroad fare and hotel bills—of bringing these men to Washington was worse than wasted, so far as the senate is concerned.

There are men in the senate who make use of all the tricks of oratory to add effect to the points made in their speeches, but Senator Teller, of Colorado, is not one of them. On the contrary, he is a man whose speeches, as a rule, are made in plain, conversational style, just as though he were talking to an individual. It may be surmised then that when Mr. Teller became the chief actor, in fact the only actor, in the most dramatic scene of the session it had great effect upon his colleagues, who, whether they agree with him or not, recognize the honesty of his convictions. Mr. Teller had just had a little controversy with Senator Hawley, of Connecticut, over silver and was portraying in plain language the suffering which he believed would be entailed upon the people he represents if the Voorhees bill became a law when suddenly his voice became pathetic and tears began to stream down his face; then he broke down completely and, falling into his chair, dropped his head between his hands and for a few moments his frame was shaken by such emotion as man feels but few times in his life. Although only lasting a few seconds it was a scene that will never be forgotten by anyone who was present, and more than one senator bowed his head and surreptitiously wiped his moistened eyes.

Mrs. Casey, the woman who has been lodged in the county jail for some time, was, by order of the county commissioners, thrown out from under the hospitable hand of Sheriff Hanley. She has pretended to be insane, but upon examination by the physicians, they do not think she is. Hence her removal from the jail. She presented quite a pitiful sight last Saturday morning lying in the gutter near the jail, and was finally taken in charge by some kind women, who removed her to their home.

The usual number of fakirs and confidence men were with the circus last Friday and gullied the poor, ignorant countrymen into leaving their wealth with them for safe keeping. Reports are abroad that quite a number of persons lost money in trying to pick out the little ball and staking money on the game and losing it. It is a question in our mind whether a person who bets on other person's games are entitled to any sympathy or not. Ignorance is no excuse. It's another case of not reading his home paper. Now is the time to subscribe.

We wish to return our thanks to Joseph Sparling and family for a nice basket of fruit, cake and other edibles on the occasion of Mr. Sparling's father's birthday. Such things as make a poor printer think life is worth living for.

HEART DISEASE 20 YEARS.

Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

Dear Sirs: For 20 years I was troubled with heart disease. Would frequently have falling spells and swooning at night. Had to sit up and get out of bed to breathe. Had pain in my left side and back most of the time; at last I became dropped. I was very nervous and nearly worn out. The last excitement would cause me to faint. I was also much troubled with fluttering. For the last fifteen years I could not sleep on my left side or back until I began taking your Best Heart Cure. I had not taken it very long until I felt much better, and I can now sleep on either side or back without the least discomfort. Have no pain, am sleeping deeply, no wind on stomach or other disagreeable symptoms. I am able to do all my own housework without any trouble and consider myself cured.

A practical revivalist in a neighboring town requested all in the congregation who had paid their debts to rise. The rising was general. After taking their seats a call was made for those who did not pay their debts and one solitary individual arose, who explained that he was an editor and could not because all the rest of the congregation owed him for subscription.—Ex.

WHY "ARE" WHEELER & WILSON'S No. 9 SEWING MACHINES POPULAR? BECAUSE LADIES BUY THEM LIKE THEM AND TELL THEIR FRIENDS.

Many ladies have used our machines twenty to thirty years in their family work, and are still using the original machines we furnished them a generation ago. Many of our machines have run more than twenty years without repairs, other than needles. With proper care they never wear out, and seldom need repair. We have built sewing machines for more than forty years and have constantly improved them. We build our machines on honor, and they are recognized everywhere as the most accurately fitted and finely finished sewing machines in the world. Our latest, the "No. 9," is the result of our long experience. In competition with the leading machines of the world, it received the Grand Prize at the Paris Exposition of 1889, as the best, other machines receiving only complimentary medals of gold, silver and bronze. The Grand Prize was what all sought for, and our machine was awarded it.

Send for our illustrated catalogue. We want dealers in all unoccupied territory.
