

GOSSIP OF THE FAIR.

Some Scattering Notes from the Columbian Exposition.

Amusing Things Seen and Heard in the Crowds—An Irishman's Cordial Reception on the Warship—Dumb Show on the Plaisance.

[Special Chicago Correspondence.]

O one who has his eyes and ears about him there is more than a little amusement to be derived from a study of the throngs of sight-seers about the highways and byways of the world's fair. Pause but a moment where you will, and if something doesn't turn up to afford you at least a smile something is wrong. It is either a muggy day or you are out of sorts, it is the weather or yourself that is to blame, for the fun goes on unceasingly for those who are in the mood to enjoy it.

There are numerous stories and jokes in circulation about the queer actions of out-of-town visitors at the fair, some of which are very laughable. For instance, the one about the man who "took in" the "exit." It is said that the individual referred to caught sight of the sign above one of the exits from the fair grounds, and, not being up on the definition of the word, supposed it to indicate some sort of a side show. He accordingly entered the "exit," and it cost him fifty cents to get back into the grounds. This story smacks just a little of the improbable, but others equally as amusing are told which are vouched for by reliable people.

A certain hardware merchant from a country town was doing the fair and was looking for a mammoth stove in the Manufactures building about which he had heard a great deal. He tramped about until he was too tired to stand alone, so he leaned up against what he thought was a post, for a moment's rest. Just then a guard came by and the merchant inquired the whereabouts

The recommenders or bawlers of the various theaters, bazars, etc., now beat upon drums, ring bells, make signs shake rattles or rap on their stands to attract notice, which once gained they hold by all sorts of nonsensical gestures, grimaces and antics, all calculated to lure the sight-seers into their shows. Judging from the crowds which pour into these places the order of the management has not caused any abatement of business.

The chilly weather of the past few days has had a bad effect on the children of the orient, who are accustomed only to warm weather and sunshine. It can be seen that many of them are suffering, for they look blue and glum.

The other evening in the Cairo street a huge ball of blankets and rugs was observed perched upon a chair at the entrance of one of the bazars. Upon being poked the ball moved sufficiently to reveal the shriveled features of a swarthy son of the Sahara who was trying to keep himself warm with a cigarette which he was smoking under his wrappings. When asked what ailed him he pointed outdoors and in a piteous voice shivered out: "Oh, c-o-o-l-l-d!"

Many of the Turks, Arabians and other natives of the far east are packing up and departing for their distant homes, as they are afraid they will die if they remain longer. Some of the camels have died from the effects of the climate, and those that are left look as if they were willing to go to the camel heaven at any moment. Judging from the amount of annoyance they have suffered at the hands of merciless riders, they could not well feel otherwise. It is enough to make any sensitive camel want to die to have to carry about such specimens of wrong foot humanity as have daily hounded these patient animals along the Cairo street.

Real and Dummy Policemen Confused in the Mind of a Stranger.

The dummy figure that sits in the doorway of the Moorish palace, in the Midway, was recently the cause of some excitement and the arrest of a stranger within the gates.

INDIANA STATE NEWS.

SEVEN county jail prisoners escaped at South Bend, the other morning. They tore a hole with their hands in the iron floor of the first tier of cells and climbed into the basement, escaping through the cellar door. They were aided by outside persons. A murderer was among the escapes.

JOHN BACHER, a farmer, living near Greene, died in terrible agony, the other night, from blood-poisoning. He was kicked by a horse a week ago, and three ribs were broken. The injury developed into blood-poisoning.

FOURTH-CLASS postmasters were commissioned a few days ago as follows: W. A. Gardner, Fairfield Center, De Kalb county, vice G. A. Lippsett, resigned; R. C. Murphy, Mecca Mills, Parke county, vice W. A. Tewbrook, resigned; S. W. Gwaltney, Midway, Spencer county, vice J. C. Meyer, removed.

REV. M. E. KELLY, a Catholic priest of note, died at Lafayette, aged fifty years. He had filled stations at Marion, Wabash, Lebanon and Remington.

THOMAS BOYER, the town desperado of Vincennes, was killed by the cars the other day while drunk.

THE twenty-fourth annual state convention of the Young Men's Christian association, of Indiana, will be held at Marion November 2 to 5.

B. PRINS, a Marion clothier, made an assignment a few days ago, the first failure in that town since the beginning of the business depression.

THE Carroll county fair, at Camden, is declared off. There were not enough entries to justify opening the gates.

ED BRUMFIELD, aged 94, was found dead by the roadside near Markleville. He had started from his son's to go to a neighbor's, and probably died from old age.

PETER OLDHAMMER, aged 70, fatally shot his neighbor, J. G. Winslow, near Madison. Quarreled about a fence.

THOS. BOYER was run over and instantly killed by an O. & M. switch engine at Vincennes, the other evening. Boyer was sitting on the end of a tie, probably asleep. He had been drinking. The deceased was a desperate character and about 15 years ago killed a stranger in this city. He was sent to the penitentiary for life for the crime, but two years ago was paroled.

TOWNSHIP TRUSTEE WOLAND, at Elwood, paid out $600 to the poor of that city during September.

THE Muncie Wheel Co. has been notified that it had been awarded first prize at the World's fair.

JOHN BARTON, a farmer near Rigdon, Madison county, believes he has struck silver in a gravel pit on his place.

FRANK SHOECRAFT, who was wanted at Newcastle for robbery and assault with intent to kill, was arrested in Winchester, taken to Newcastle and lodged in jail.

THE annual convocation of the Central Deacons of the Indiana diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church has been concluded. Twenty-five parishes were represented. It was decided to hold the next convention at Richmond, in January, 1894.

THE wagon bridge across the Muscatuck river, five miles southeast of Seymour, was destroyed by fire. The bridge was built by Jackson county at a cost of $10,000. The destruction will cause the farmers much inconvenience. It is supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

A GRAND jury indictment against Dudley Hedge, a gypsy, for manslaughter, was returned at Lebanon. In a quarrel recently Hedge struck Daniel Gaddis, of Whitesboro, a blow on the head with a neck-yoke, from the effects of which he died.

CAROLINE GERARDY, an inmate of the female reformatory at Indianapolis, was declared insane the other day. Two years ago she was sent to prison for life for the murder of her husband. The latter, from whom she had separated, followed her to her daughter's house, where he broke in the door. He was set upon by the infuriated wife, who killed him with a hatchet and literally hacked him to pieces. Sarah Jane Williams, another inmate of the same institution, was declared insane. She is serving a twenty-year term for choking her sister-in-law to death.

EDWARD & ADAMS' grain elevator, on the Wabash railroad, in Wabash, burned. The building was a large structure and held nearly 30,000 bushels of wheat, which is almost entirely destroyed. One thousand bushels of clover-seed were carried out. The wheat was owned by the farmers and but little of it was insured. The elevator was the property of the Wabash railroad company, and is said to have been fully covered by insurance. The losses on grain and buildings will approximate $25,000. The fire originated from the engine-room and spread with great rapidity.

LATE the other night Kuntler & Gaylord brought a $19,000 damage suit at Lafayette against the Monon road in behalf of Frederick Gillespie, a boy aged 8 years. In August, 1892, the lad climbed upon a caboose platform of the Monon road and was ordered off by the conductor. The train was running at the time, and the stern command of the conductor, and the lifting of his foot (as is claimed he did), as if to kick him off, frightened the little fellow and he attempted to get off of the step. He swung around under the wheel and his foot was so crushed as to require amputation.

Death of Ex-Senator Groome.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 5.—James B. Groome died suddenly at his home in this city Wednesday. Mr. Groome was elected governor of the state by the democrats in 1873 and stepped from the gubernatorial chair in 1879 to a seat in the United States senate, where he served one term.

Shot His Sweetheart and Himself.

LEBANON, Ind., Oct. 5.—Oscar Darnell, of Jamestown, Boone county, shot his sweetheart, Miss Tillie Magers, and then blew his own brains out. Miss Magers is now lying at the point of death.

HISTORIC AMERICAN TRIUMPH.

Notable Visit of the Foreign World's Fair Commissioners to the North Dakota to View Harvesting Machinery at Work.

Forty-five Deering Twine Binders, forming a procession half a mile in length, and steadily moving through a waving sea of wheat—such was the sight that greeted the Foreign Commissioners to the World's Fair during their recent famous visit to the bonanza farms of North Dakota. This imposing spectacle was witnessed on the great Elk Valley farm at Larimore, North Dakota, a farm comprising 13,000 acres or nearly 10 square miles, 10,000 acres of which formed one unbroken fenceless field of wheat. To witness this sight the distinguished spectators, comprising fifty foreign diplomats, World's Fair Commissioners and representatives of the foreign press, together with an equal number of Americans, eminent in World's Fair, Railroad and Commercial circles, had undertaken the discomfort of a thousand mile journey from Chicago and the exclamations of delight and surprise, and the cries of "bravo" that rang out on the air showed that their expectations were fully realized. The commissioners had to study all things American, these gentlemen had been especially desirous of witnessing the methods in vogue on the much talked-of "bonanza" wheat farms. Four days before they had left Chicago for the city of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad, along whose route from Chicago to St. Paul they had received one continuous ovation. From St. Paul through Minnesota and North Dakota they traveled as guests of the Great Northern Railroad, and the farther north they traveled the warmer and more cordial was their reception. Here at Larimore they found the climax of interest and the height of hospitality. They were met at their train and escorted to carriages by what seemed to be the whole population of the little city of Larimore, headed by O. H. Phillips, the Mayor, Gov. Shattuck, and the N. G. Larimores, the proprietor of the great farm which they were to see. Silently and almost breathlessly at first they viewed the mighty phalanx of machinery, the quick realization of their own preconceptions they followed the machines on foot, eagerly peering into their mechanism as if bent on finding the secret of their perfect, automatic, almost noiseless action.

For hours they followed the machines, asking innumerable questions of Mr. Larimore and his sons, when they were called to one side of the field where scientific tests of draft were being made under the supervision of Mayor O. H. Phillips and Mr. C. H. Olmstead. The machines tested—The Deering Pony binder and the Deering Ideal mower—were remarkable because embodying the ball and roller bearings, such as are found in bicycles and roller skates. Twelve tests were made on each machine with a registered Osterheld & Eickmeyer dynamometer, each representing the draft involved in cutting a six-foot swath 120 feet in length. In twenty to twenty-five seconds of time. The six cutting tests of the binder showed an average of only 298 pounds of draft. The six tests in which the machine was run in gear over the top of the stubble just cut, knaps and the "rolling draft" test, showed an average draft of only 207 pounds. The Deering Ideal mower, a new machine also fitted with the bicycle bearings, in heavy grass showed an average draft averaging 124 pounds, and the rolling draft, ninety-two pounds. The remarkably low draft—about half the draft of ordinary machines—shown by these figures for both machines was carefully noted by the astonished visitors as demonstrating the practicability of the bicycle bearings. The same Pony binder, drawn by two light mules, cut an acre of wheat in twenty-two and a half minutes.

A notable feature of the binder test was the use on the Pony binder of the Deering "paper" twine, made from a wood fibre. This twine, patented by William Deering & Co., bids fair to prove a Waterloo to the old twine trust, for it can be made and sold at prices considerably below those now paid for the hemp and sisal fibres.

At the close of these tests the commissioners, together with a party of on-lookers, were tendered a good substantial prairie chicken dinner by Mrs. Larimore and her neighbors. Toasts followed. Gov. Shattuck, Mayor Phillips and Rev. J. H. Keely delivered eloquent addresses of welcome, which were responded to by D. M. Deering, Alta, of Costa Rica; Mr. A. Grinevsky, the assistant Russian commissioner; Don Albert, Gomez Ruano, of Uruguay; Mr. Harcourt, of Costa Rica; and Mr. J. A. Water, of Minneapolis. Mr. Larimore also spoke. He said that by using the best methods and machinery he had reduced the cost of raising and marketing wheat to between $4.50 and $5.00 per acre.

MR. APPELBY SURPRISES THE COMMISSIONERS. Mr. John F. Appelby, the inventor of the Appelby twine binder, whose presence was a surprise to the commissioners, told of the history of his early struggles and the final adoption of his invention. He told a glowing tribute to Mr. William Deering, to whose enterprise he said the world was indebted for the introduction and general adoption of the machine. Said he:

"In 1879, when the Deering Company made seventy-five of these binders, people smiled knowingly and predicted failure. The next year, however, Deering made 3,000 of the machines, the manufacturers of the old reaper and the wire binder said he was crazy. If he was crazy all the manufacturers of harvesting machinery who have been forced to follow his example have also become violently insane [laughter] and the millions of farmers who now use his invention are fit candidates for a lunatic asylum." [Laughter and applause.]

The excursionists left for Alton and the great Dalrymple farms at 4 p. m., where they were royally received and shown the marvelous work of the Deering binder in a season of hard times had built a solid city of brick and mortar on the bed of ashes that had lain smoldering there only ninety days before. From Fargo, the guests returned to Chicago brimful of enthusiasm over the wonders they had seen.
