The Grip.

Out last night,
Lots of fun;
Bed all right,
Half past one;
Nine o'clock,
Feel so sick;
Fetch the doc,
Hurry quick!
Aching bones,
Head'll split,
Horrid groans,
Never quit;
Hardly speak,
Try again,
Feel so weak,
Darting pain,
Spinal cord
Gives a twitch,
Oh, good Lord,
What a stitch!
Flat in bed,
Gone this trip.
Soon be dead,
Got the grip.

Business among traveling theater companies has been remarkably dull. Among the hundreds of companies that went forth early in the season with glaring bills and extravagant press notices, but few are left to tell the tale.

The fire bell awakened our sleeping people last Wednesday morning about half past four o'clock. The cause of the alarm was the burning of Mrs. Warten's dwelling house, which was occupied by Sam Potts and family. The cause of the fire was a defective flue. The dwelling was a complete loss, but everything belonging to Mr. Potts, except his cook stove and a barrel of potatoes were saved.

Mrs. F. J. Sears gave a very enjoyable party, Saturday evening, complimentary to the "Happy-Go-Luckies." Their fun commenced with the story of Philander's courtship. Next came a thimble hunt, and they sought high and low for the hiding places. Various amusements filled the evening and a lovely collation was served. The "Happy-Go-Lucky Club" is one of this season's, institutions and notes among its members the following young ladies of the town: Grace Vanatta, Mary Yates, Florence Neal, Nellie Moss, Sarah Chilcote, Helen Kelley, Susie Parker, Eliza Teuter, Blanche Loughridge, Angela Hammond, Hattie Rhoades, Nellie Hopkins, Franc McEwen, and Maude Spiller. Meetings are held bi-weekly and the questions of the day are discussed.

But few persons are aware of the fact that although the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago is known as one of the crookedest lines in the state, it has the longest piece of track on air line to be found in this country: from Lafayette to Watah, seventy-one miles, it is a perfect air line, and on to Michigan City there is but one divergence from an air line.

In another column will be found a reading notice pertaining to the nursery firm of L. L. May & Co., St. Paul, Minn. We take great pleasure in recommending the goods handled by that house as first-class and reliable in every particular. Send to them for a catalogue of plants, seeds, etc. and you will be well paid for your trouble when you see it.

James Kays died at his home in Barkley township, on Thursday morning of last week. The cause of his death was inflammatory rheumatism. He had been sick for some time, but his death was not unexpected. The funeral service was held at the M. E. church in Rensselaer, and the remains were interred in Weston cemetery on Saturday.

A. McCoy & Co. are now prepared to make farm loans at 6 1/2 to 7 per cent, depending on the amount desired, with commissions as low as are quoted elsewhere. D. H. Yeoman, State President of the F. A. and I. U., will leave to-morrow, for Topeka, Kansas, to attend the national meeting of that organization, which is held there this year. He will be gone one week. He is the delegate from this state, and will be accompanied by N. W. Webster, of Cicero, who is a member of the State Executive Committee.

Miss Bertha Hammond gave a very successful masquerade party at her home in Rensselaer, last Friday evening. About thirty-five of her young friends were present in costume, and enjoyed the evening. Some of the costumes displayed were certainly unique. Oysters, cake and coffee were served as refreshments.

Frank Reed, general passenger agent of the Monon, states that the company's through business south and north bound, is now exceeding in volume that of last year, but between local stations the business is not what it usually is, although an improvement is noticeable the last few days.

All lovers of the poetry of Robert Browning will be interested in Rev. M. J. Savage's paper on "The Religious Thought in Browning's poetry" in the Mid-winter issue of The Arena. A very fine portrait of the poet forms the frontispiece of this number.

The ladies of Rensselaer and vicinity, would do well to call on Mesdames Wade and Grant when they desire anything in the way of dressmaking. They do first class work at lowest prices. Shop in Miss Belle Hughey's old stand.

Parties desiring farm loans will consult their own interests by calling on or writing to F. J. Sears & Co., at the Citizens' State Bank, Rensselaer, Ind. Their terms cannot be beaten and the commissions charged are low.

Dr. I. B. Washburn, the optician, handles the celebrated Trolley's Kohinoor eye glasses, the best made. Attention is called to the ad, "See Again as in Youth," in another place in this paper.

It has reached our ears that a couple of our pugilistic friends are about to arrange a mill, to occur before many days. The contract calls for one or other to be knocked out inside of three rounds.

Harry Brown has moved into the Jesse Grubb residence in the north part of town. He has also had some very convenient changes made in his dental office over Porter & Wishard's.

A very pleasant affair was the surprise party, on grandmother Reeve, on last Monday evening, at the home of her son, Webb Reeve. It was the occasion of her eighty-fifth birthday.

You can save twenty-five cents on your subscription to the PILOT by paying in advance. Don't forget this. Read our offer in another column. It means a great deal to us.

Mrs. J. E. Lamson, living in Jordan township, is seriously ill.

Peck's Bad Boy, to-night, at opera house.

FARMER'S INSTITUTE.

On Thursday and Friday of last week, was the occurrence of the farmer's institute of this county. It was not as well attended as it should have been. We have about concluded that the farmers in time will get over the idea that these institutes are only for a few persons, not directly interested in agricultural pursuits and also connect it with politics. We will venture that every man who attended the institute this year, went home benefitted. He couldn't help it. With two such able instructors as Messrs. Mounts and Voyles the success of any farmers' institute is an assured fact. They are excellent instructors and we would be pleased to have them among us again.

These institutes are growing in favor every year and the time will come when their meaning and benefit will be fully appreciated. They show the spirit of enterprise and grasping for more knowledge as to how to more successfully cultivate the crops adapted to our own country. There is where the benefit is. It brings together the educated farmers. They come here for an exchange of ideas as to the manner in which the results of a year's toil can be bettered. Owing to our columns being crowded this week, we cannot go into details as to the different subjects taken up, and what would have been far better—every one of our farmer readers to have attended, it would have been almost useless for us to have given so much of a notice as we already have. They would have received full benefit of the entire meeting.

Arrangements are now being made for an extra session of the Jasper County Farmers' Institute, of which we will give full particulars later on. Every farmer in Jasper county should make his arrangements to attend.

The officers elected for the coming year are as follows: President, D. H. Yeoman; vice-president, F. W. Bedford; secretary, C. D. Nowels; treasurer, W. H. Hoover.
