TO IMPEACH JENKINS.

The Judge Under Fire for the Northern Pacific Injunction.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Congressman McGann, of Chicago, has introduced a resolution directing the judiciary committee of the house to investigate the charges made against Judge James G. Jenkins, of the Seventh circuit, and to report whether they warrant the presentation of articles of impeachment and also report what action is necessary to prevent a recurrence of the conditions now laid by the injunction upon the Northern Pacific and other railroad employees and labor organizations. The resolution has a long preamble reciting the right of employees to organize and strike and Judge Jenkins' order restraining the employees of the Northern Pacific from exercising this right. Mr. McGann made a fruitless attempt to secure immediate consideration for his resolutions.

When unanimous consent was refused for the consideration of the resolution it was referred to the judiciary committee. Mr. McGann says he will endeavor to have that committee report back the resolution at once. He would have secured immediate consideration of the resolution had it not been for the objection of Mr. Outhwaite (dem., O.). The latter explained later to Mr. McGann that the attendance in the house was too small for the consideration of such an important subject.

John Hart to Die for the Murder of His Two Sisters.

ROCKFORD, Ill., Feb. 7.—The jury in the Hart murder trial after being out one hour and twenty minutes brought in a verdict finding the defendant guilty and fixing his punishment at death.

JOHN HART.

ment at death. One ballot was all that was taken. Hart received the verdict coolly and made no demonstration. Public sentiment approves the verdict. The crime for which Hart was tried was the murder of his two sisters, Mary and Nellie, on the afternoon of September 5 last. His act was undoubtedly the result of trouble in the family over the division of the estate left by John Hart, the father of the defendant, who committed suicide two years ago, leaving much valuable property.

HALF A MILLION IN ASHES.

Disastrous Fire at Savannah—Three Business Houses Burned.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 7.—A disastrous fire started at 10 a. m. Monday in the guano warehouse of Wilcox, Gibbs & Co., and from there spread to the Savannah Grocery company's six-story brick building, which was totally consumed. The store of the Savannah Grocery company was worth $180,000. It was insured for $180,000. The fire next extended to M. First's wholesale grocery, three stories high. The stock is worth $150,000; insurance, $125,000. The building belongs to Wilcox, Gibbs & Co., and is valued at $100,000; insurance, $85,000. The guano warehouse is valued at $10,000.

The fire proves to be the largest since the great conflagration of April, 1889. The loss is estimated at nearly $500,000. The buildings destroyed front on Bay street and were built in 1889. The Savannah Grocery company's building was three stories high on Bay street, six stories on River street and ran back to the water front. First's building was two stories on Bay street and three on the river front. The weather being very cold the fire was hard to get at. William Tilton was run over by the hook and ladder truck at the fire and dangerously hurt.

A Family Laxative.

Physicians are not inclined to recommend self-medication to the laity. Yet there is one need which they are almost unable to supply. We refer to the "family laxative." The family physician is able to prescribe for the most complicated and obscure of maladies and yet is often puzzled to know just what to give when asked for a remedy which can be kept in the house for family use as a laxative, that shall be effective, free from danger, and not unpleasant to take. When absent on our summer vacation we were asked by four different parties, representing as many families, what we thought of the "Syrup of Figs." Not one word did we volunteer on the subject, and we were somewhat surprised to find that there was such small token of the very general and serviceable cathartic that it is "highly prized as a remedy for constipation." He also makes the important observation that its use "is not followed by intestinal torpor and constipation."

The singular truth of the matter is, we have altogether too few preparations which we can recommend to our families as effective laxatives. But the California Fig Syrup company has one of the most desirable combinations for this purpose with which we are familiar. The Fig Syrup company gives to the profession the composition of this preparation, therefore there is no secret about it; the persons who use this laxative speak in the highest terms about it; and we are pleased to notice that a large number of physicians are prescribing it.

Viewed from the narrowest and most selfish standpoint the physician will lose nothing by recommending such a preparation as Syrup of Figs to his patients; while viewed from the highest standpoint of doing the best possible by those who place themselves in our care, we would say the profession cannot do better than give their endorsement to such a preparation.—American Analyst.
