SETTLERS PERISH.

Death and Suffering Result from the Blizzard in Oklahoma.

At Least Thirty Lives Lost in the New Territory — People Found Frozen to Death on Kansas Prairies—Work of the Storm Elsewhere.

BROUGHT DEATH TO MANY.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 15.—Reports received here from Oklahoma and the Indian territory make it almost certain that at least thirty lives were lost during the great storm of Sunday. Many isolated homesteads where the families were poorly prepared for the winter cannot be heard from for days and possibly weeks, and there is reason to believe that thirty will not represent the total number of the dead. In western and southwestern Kansas there was great suffering and it is probable that more than in one sod house dead bodies will some day be found.

WICHITA, Kan., Feb. 15.—Snow commenced falling Tuesday afternoon throughout Kansas and the efforts to restore railroad communication with the western part of the state will be further impeded. Telegraphic facilities are greatly impaired and distances to railroad points are so great in many of the western counties that it will probably be some days before the complete story of the suffering endured by settlers can be told. Succoring parties were formed in some of the western towns to scour the surrounding country, but little except rumors of their discoveries have so far been received.

In the northeastern part of Clark county a rescuing party came across a wagon on the prairie with the dead body of a man named Lane in it. The horses had dropped in their tracks and were dead. Lane had been in Ashland early the previous morning after coal and food and had succumbed on his way home. Hurrying on to Lane's farm the searchers discovered the family consisting of the wife and six children, in a deplorable condition. Two of the babies were dead and the others were all senseless with cold. In Mead, the adjoining county, the sick wife of a man named Wells, who was taking her to Mead Center for medical aid, died from exposure.

DENVER, Col., Feb. 15.—Railway traffic, which has been greatly delayed, has resumed its normal condition. Railway men report that in Kansas there are snowdrifts fifteen to twenty feet high. One Rio Grande conductor reports that his entire train was blown from the track near Palmer lake by a gale blowing 80 miles an hour. Another train was blown from the Rio Grande & Western track near Farmington, Utah, and a number of people injured.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 15.—A short time ago forty-nine convicts escaped from the prison stockade at Coal Creek. All had been overtaken but two Tuesday morning both of these were found in the mountains. One of them had been frozen to death in Monday night's blizzard and the other had his feet so badly frozen that amputation is necessary.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—Chicago's big retail stores never before experienced such a lack of customers as befell them on Monday. Many of the merchants have been in business for a quarter of a century, but they could not recall the time when their stores were so deserted. Conservative estimates of the loss to the retail dry goods business alone, including the goods sold by the department stores, fixed it at $250,000. The thrifty seekers after bargains, who were wont to throng the stores every Monday morning to the number of 300,000, were absent. The snow actually piled up in front of the doorways and the shoppers were so few that there was not even a well-trodden entrance to the doors. By noon the managers of the larger stores began sending home their girls and women help.

BOSTON, Feb. 15.—Boston has not seen such a severe storm for years. Seven inches of snow have fallen on the level. The streets are in a terrible condition. On every line the cars are blocked, and many telephone and telegraph wires are down. Many of the schools are closed. General traffic is simply impossible. The railroads from the south and east are terribly blocked. All business along the water-front is at a standstill. Many schooners are out and reports of them are anxiously looked for.

The observations of the weather bureau show that the storm is severest along the coast and in southern New England. In northern Vermont only 3 inches of snow have fallen, while at Eastport, Me., only a high wind has touched. Reports are beginning to come in of the severity of the storm in other places.

A Number of Deaths Reported in Switzerland.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—The exceptional mildness of the weather in Switzerland has caused several avalanches. A search party was organized to rescue them, but they found their progress barred by an enormous avalanche. It is supposed that the missing men are buried beneath it.

A SIGNIFICANT SPEECH.

Senator Gray Announces the Administration's Policy Toward Hawaii.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The Hawaiian resolution was again the subject of discussion in the senate on Tuesday. Senator Gray (dem., Del.) resumed his argument in support of the president's policy and reiterated his charges that the revolutionists were dependent on the United States minister and the United States forces for support of their movement, and that thereafter the provisional government depended absolutely upon the United States forces and the flag for protection and for the maintenance of the government they had established.

Continuing, Senator Gray said: "If the conditions at Hawaii now are such as to make that government a de facto government, which I do not think it was in the months preceding, I think the best interests of those people and of the United States will be subserved by allowing them to pursue their own policy."

The full significance of the present Hawaiian situation came out at the close of the senator's speech, when in a colloquy with Senator Teller he admitted that as a member of the foreign relations committee he understood the efforts of the president, moral or diplomatic, to restore the queen, were at an end, and that the present minister to Hawaii had no directions to pursue further diplomatic negotiations to that end. He said:

"I say, as an American citizen, that I very much regret that the president of the United States was not able to undo the outrage and make reparation for the wrong which was committed there on January 17, 1893. I think that the good name and fame of this country of ours was so involved that it would have been a gratification to every patriotic citizen had the president been able to restore the status quo of January 16, 1893. Why he failed is well known now. That opportunity is now gone and I suppose it will never return. "It seems to me more than wicked and cruel that we do not declare in an emphatic manner that we do not propose to interfere with the government. And if our minister in any way leads the people of that country to believe that we are still disposed to carry out the suggestions of the president to restore the status quo he ought to be withdrawn summarily. He ought to know enough of public opinion in this country to know that the moment the president submitted this question to congress there was no possibility that the provisional government would be destroyed and the queen restored to power."

MANY KILLED BY THE STORM.

The Gale Plays Havoc Throughout Germany—Ships Wrecked.

BERLIN, Feb. 15.—At Ludjenwalde, in Brandenburg, a factory chimney was blown down by the gale and crushed through a portion of the buildings, killing ten persons and injuring many others. A factory chimney was also blown down in Bentein, in Cassel, and caused the death of two persons and the injury of several. Much damage was done by the storm in Hesse and Waldeck. The storm at Cuxhaven was the most violent experienced in years. The Danish schooner Ellide was driven ashore at that place and a boy was drowned. The remainder of the crew were rescued. The English bark Lake Simcoe is also ashore. Her crew was saved.

FOUGHT A FIERCE BATTLE.

Many Killed and Wounded in an Engagement in Honduras.

Ortiz succeeded in opening a breach in the defenses of the city. The number of wounded on both sides is large, although the number is not yet definitely known. There were over ten killed. During the battle there was a hand-to-hand fight between the regiments of infantry. Gen. Ortiz claims the victory and says the road to Tegucigalpa is now open. The telegrams to Anapla, however, say the city is still in possession of Vasquez.

The Arapahoe and Shoshone Indians are very anxious to get a permit from the Indian agent, Capt. Ray, to slaughter these animals, but so far they have been unsuccessful.

Symptoms of Cancer

Appeared on my tip. Disagreeable eruptions came on my neck. After taking four bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, all the traces of disease have disappeared and the medicine has given me renewed vigor and strength. I am now almost 73 years of age and I work like a tiger. And I know that Hood's Sarsaparilla has had much to do with my vigor and strength. I recommended it to my wife, who had suffered so much with
