Base Ball.

The "Models" went to Lowell last Friday to cross bats with the crack club of that place. The game was a very interesting one and had it not been for several very rank plays, there is no doubt but what our boys would have won. It was not the superior playing of the Lowell club that won the game for them. We append the score of the game below.

A Blind Boy's Letter.

DEAR EDITOR—Will you please allow me space through the columns of your paper to publish a few extracts from some of the letters I have received? One is from Mrs. Grover Cleveland. She writes although my life seems very sad there may come into it many joys. The Editor of the childrens department in "The Home Helper" writes, her sympathies go out for me in my sad affliction. Although I am blind and crippled, what a blessing that I can hear and talk. Mamma tells me I am one of the Lord's chosen ones and often when the Lord chooses some one for a special use he must take from them some of the pleasures of this life so they can fully trust in him and then the Lord uses them to his honor and glory. You know it is said that the Lord is eyes to the blind and feet to the lame. Mamma believes the Lord has some grand purpose for which he is preparing me. I am a natural musician and can sing alto and I know how to appreciate that blessing. I also received a letter from James Banbury, of Kinkiang, China. He says his father is a missionary there and is also manager of the Central China Press. Now I am going to tell you something about the Chinese. There are about 7,000 different characters which are very difficult to understand and know their meaning. When the scholars recite lessons they stand with their backs to the teacher and move to and fro singing their lessons. The school houses are mostly little straw huts, for the people are very poor.

Olive Young and Willie Swift are two little blind children that write to me so I have these to sympathize with me in my loneliness. It makes me very happy to receive the beautiful picture cards and shells which loving friends have sent me. I receive letters from both old and young, and from a great many states. I have one correspondent who is an old soldier. He lives in Leavenworth County, Kansas, at the Soldiers Home. How I laughed when he wrote and told me it takes 30 bushels of potatoes for one meal and 300 lbs. of coffee a day to supply them, I said to Mamma, oh, what people for coffee and potatoes. I received 16 letters all at one time and I shouted, oh my, how they must love me. How happy it makes me feel to have Mamma read them to me. In the summer I creep on my hands and knees all over the neighborhood and I know just where everybody lives. Mamma tells me to trust in the Lord and my visions of the glories and beauties of heaven will far excel those who see with the natural eye. I will now close by saying:

Rensselaer is going to celebrate the glorious FOURTH OF JULY.

If I could only see once more
The stars and pretty flowers
How happy it would make me feel
Amid the lonely hours.
But no, ah, no I never will see
The things which God has given
Until I reach that home above
And dwell with him in heaven.
