A. LEOPOLD, proprietor. Office at the "Model" store.

D. H. Turner, of Kankakee township, is cutting fourteen hundred acres of meadow this year. This gentleman surely has a severe attack of hay fever. Excepting L. C. Rockwell, Mr. Turner is the oldest settler in his township. He has fought the snakes and frogs, ditched and mowed for 35 years in that wet, wild country and at last has lived to see the sloughs turned into beautiful meadows and the quagmires into waving corn-fields.

W. H. Nelson, who is in the drug business at Kingville, Mo., has so much confidence in Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and diarrhoea Remedy that he warrants every bottle and offers to refund the money to any customer who is not satisfied after using it. Mr. Nelson takes no risk in doing this because the remedy is a certain cure for the diseases for which it is intended and he knows it. It is for sale by F. B. Meyer, Druggist.

To THE PUBLIC: The Epworth League has engaged the Rev. J. O. Foster, D. D., of Chicago, one of the prominent members of the Rock River Conference, to deliver three illustrated lectures, beginning Tuesday evening, July 31. Dr. Foster uses the Chicago Model Stereoptican (with oxy-hydrogen light), said to be the finest instrument manufactured. He has a splendid outfit, and from what I personally know of Dr. Foster and his work, I do not hesitate to encourage the expectation of a delightful and instructive entertainment. No one can fail to enjoy the beautiful scenes he throws upon the canvas.

The "Models" went to Monticello, last Friday to play a game of ball with the local club of that place. The result was, our boys were scooped to the tune of 21 to 15. The boys say they could not have been treated better than they were during their short stay there.

In the crop report of the state of Indiana, as sent out by the Department of Agriculture, it says that the corn crop of Jasper county was never known to be better, and also shows that the average is far ahead of any other county in the state. What's the matter with Jasper?

We are pained to notice that our republican contemporaries are not of late taking that lively and vivacious interest in the wicked sugar trust, which they have been wont to take. Why did Mr. Havemeyer tell so much?

Congressman Bryan said in his speech the other day that "the Populists had taught more democratic doctrine the past two years than the democrats had taught in the past 30 years," and he was right.

The merchants and country bankers will soon find that when the common producers have all been turned into common-wealers, it will soon come their turn.

Plutocracy takes in the fish first, but they all come, sooner or later.—Chicago Express.

I have just completed my elevator and am better equipped than ever for handling grain. The driveway to dump is no steep, and no engine to scare horses. Would be pleased to see all my old customers and many new ones, and will always pay the highest market price for all grain. Thanking you for past patronage, I remain your's respectfully,

Opening a watch case with a knife or fingernail is needless in our day. The Keystone Watch Case Company, of Philadelphia, Pa., furnishes free a handsome watch case opener which makes, besides, a pretty charm for the watch chain. If you can't get one from your jeweler, send to Philadelphia. This Company is the largest of its kind in the world, and makes all kinds of cases. Its specialty is the Boss filled case. Jas. Boss invented and made the first filled case in 1859, and many of the cases then made and worn since are still intact. Later the Boss patents passed into the hands of the Keystone Company, which has the sole right to make these cases. It has also the sole right to use on its cases the patent Non-pull-out bow or ring, which prevents loss of the watch by theft or injury to it by accident. The Keystone Company does not retail, but all jewelers sell the Boss and other Keystone cases.

A boy in the Wichita school has been suspended for reading the following essay on pants: "Pants are made for men, and not men for pants. Pants are like molasses—they are thinner during hot weather and thicker in winter. The man in the moon changes his pants during the eclipse. Don't go in the pantry for pants, you might be mistaken. There has been much discussion as to whether pants is singular or plural. Seems to us when men wear pants they are plural and when they don't wear pants it is singular. Men go on a tear in pants, and it is all right; but when the pants go on a tear it is all wrong."

Don't fail to see "Robinson Crusoe," at the opera house to-night.

Obituary.

John Utter was born near Newburg, N. Y., Jan. 14, 1811, and died at the home of his son, in Rensselaer, Ind., July 20, 1894, aged 83 years, 6 months, and 6 days.

He was in early childhood when the family moved from his native place to the vicinity of Trenton, New Jersey. There he lost his father. Thence, at the age of fifteen, he conducted his widowed mother, with her family, across the mountains, to Ohio, halting first at Cincinnati, but pressing on after a year or two, into the White River country, Indiana.

He was twice married. His first wife was Rebecca Gillespie, of Owen county, Ind., to whom he was married in 1833. She was born of Methodist parents near Lexington, Ky., her ancestry hailing from the James River region, Va.

Her father was a minister of some note in the local ranks. She died in Montgomery county, Indiana, in 1847.

He married his second wife, Maria Bailey, of Hamilton county, Ohio, in 1849.

One child, a son, was born to him of his first wife. His second marriage was without issue. His last wife died at Thorntown, Ind., Dec. 13, 1892, after which he made his home with his son, Rev. R. D. Utter, of the Northwest Indiana Conference.

Not long after the date of his first marriage he was converted and received into the fellowship of the Methodist Episcopal Church. On declaring himself a follower of Christ he erected the family alter, and ever after morning and evening, as regularly as the day came round, the voice of prayer and praise was heard in his home. A more honest, upright man never lived.

He was thoroughly conscientious, acting from principle rather than impulse, never swerving from the right as God gave him to see the right. The end has come at last. Having finished his course, he has gone to receive his reward, a crown of life.

The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Bach, of the Presbyterian Church at 9:30 a. m., July 21, after which, by the 10:30 a. m. train, the body was taken to Thorntown, Ind., for interment.

The Kentland Fair.

The Board of Directors of the Kentland Fair Association are making active preparations for the sixth annual meeting to be held September 11th to 14th inclusive. Secretary Drake informs us that applications for entry blanks are more numerous than in previous years, and the outlook for excellent racing is very promising. One of the new features will be the "Old Settlers Day" on Wednesday, September 12th. A number of old settlers have signified their intention to be present and make speeches. The programme now in preparation is being arrayed with the special purpose to please the pioneer. All old settlers should make an extra effort to attend. Catalogues may be had by making application to W. T. Drake, Secretary, Kentland, Indiana.

Notice.

Notice is hereby given to the members of the M. P. church, Rensselaer charge, that the fourth and last quarterly meeting will be held at Rose Bud church, August 4 and 5 at which meeting there will be trustees elected for said church.

NATHANIEL VICE, Pastor.

What is Beauty? "Question of a Blind Man!"

Replied Aristotle. But Mrs. Sherwood says that it is "dynamite" in her article which opens the interesting pages of the July Cosmopolitan. Beauty is always a fascinating subject, and Mrs. Sherwood's discussion is an especially interesting one. That the July Cosmopolitan is a midsummer number is shown in many directions. Three short stories, including one of sport and adventure, two travel articles, and other light matter, make up 128 pages of charming summer reading.

The July Cosmopolitan marks the close of the first year since the revolutionary announcement was made that the price of that magazine, already low, had been cut to one-half of three dollars a year. All sorts of predictions have come to be unfulfilled during the year—it would be impossible to maintain the rate—the quality would be lowered—the size would be decreased. But even severe critics admit that with each succeeding number there has been a betterment in the quality of articles and illustrations, and the size has remained unchanged, except the always growing advertising pages. The magazine printed, for the six months embraced in Volume XVI, one million four hundred and nineteen thousand copies, an entirely unapproached record, and has doubled its already large plant of presses and binding machinery. The walls of the magazine's new home are rapidly rising at Irvington-on-the-Hudson. Artistically designed by McKim, Mead & White, the new building, with its eight great porticos, will be 279 feet long by 76 feet wide, and one of the most perfectly lighted buildings in the world, having 160 large windows, each nearly double the size of the ordinary window opening.

Social.

Ice-cream! Ice-cream! Come one! Come all! Come great and small! At Bowling Green school house, Aug. 4th, for the benefit of the Sunday-school.

A newly-elected justice of the peace in Kentucky thus charged the jury in the first case: "If you believe what the counsel for the plaintiff has told you, your verdict will be for the plaintiff, but, if, on the other hand, you believe what the defendant's counsel has told you, you will return a verdict for the defendant. But if you are like me and don't believe what either of them said, I don't know what you will do." The jury disagreed.

It is called a body blow for woman's suffrage because the new ballot law in Kansas provides that "the lower limbs of the voter, as high up as the knees, shall be visible from the outside while the voter is in the booth preparing his ticket, the lower part of the booth having been left open for that purpose."

We see the name of our fellow townsman Captain M. F. Chilcott, among the list of possible candidates for the republican nomination for congress in this district. M. F. Chilcott is a deserving republican and his nomination would be satisfactory to a great many republicans in this neck of the woods.

The republicans of this congressional district will hold a convention at Logansport, Aug. 20, to nominate a candidate to take the place of Charles B. Landis, resigned.

Thomas Sayers has been appointed post master at Knianan.
