A Letter to the Editor of the Pilot.

ER. PILOT:—In the issue of the PILOT of the 13th inst your correspondent from "across the deep," makes some criticisms on Coxey, his followers and the laboring element of this country which are quite at variance with facts. The writer says Coxey's followers "are mostly tramps, with some honest men." He, no doubt, got his information from one or the other old party papers, who call all men opposed to what they advocate, either tramps or anarchists. If he thinks those men in the over-crowded cities could get work among the farmers, let him come here and try it himself, and he will find not one farmer in fifteen or twenty has the wherewithal to pay for hired help and if they had, the cost of labor would exceed the profit. To say that Coxey's followers were "men who did not want to work," or to agree to such a statement, is a slander on the honest workmen of this country. Yes, Coxey has gained "notoriety," and also a place in the hearts of the masses of the people. A few more such statements coming from your correspondent across the deep and he will find that he too has gained notoriety, but not for veracity.

VOX POPULI.

Lecture.

Illustrated lectures by the Rev. J. O. Foster, D. D., of Chicago, at the M. E. church, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, July 31, Aug. 1 and 2. Subjects: "The Late War," "The Glory of Jesus," "Around the World in 80 Minutes." Dr. Foster uses the Chicago Model lantern, said to be the finest instrument made. No one can fail to enjoy the splendid views he throws upon the canvass. Admission 15 cents, children 10 cents. Do not imagine, because the admission is so cheap, that you are invited to a cheap entertainment. COMMITTEE.

A Combat.

"And it came to pass" on the second day of the week, commonly called Monday, that the Marshall of the host of the Republican did array himself in battle garb and sally forth to meet in deadly conflict, (his Majesty) Lord Williams, the 1st, and those two did enter into controversy resulting in the discomfiture of his holiness and transmogrifying the epidermal system of his proboscis. Vomit from a sour stomach proves a wonderful power in these times of dire distress and social difficulties. It has become apparent to the eye of the casual observer that the Republican of today is attempting to annihilate the money power, and cause freedom of claret that shakes the whole foundation of the business center of the world (Rensselaer). "Verily we know not what a day may bring forth." And all this, Brethren, occurred at the capital—the capital of the famous county of Jasper, in the state of Indiana. But, Oh dear! Jasper was always at the front.

The Cost of Alcoholic Paralysis.

It is enough to say that this fell plague of paralysis is in the market: that half a million men are engaged in its manufacture and sale; that it is sold at a profit of 400 per cent.; that the American people pay $1,200,000,000 every year in buying the palsy; and that the national government, most of the states, and a multitude of towns and cities look upon the spreading of this wasting paralysis among the people as one of the choicest sources of revenue, and that any attempt to stay the march of the disease is regarded as an infringement of personal liberty.

Across our land strides the grisly specter reaching out his deadly hands for all our noble, beautiful boys, the hope of the future of America and of the world. More than against the cholera that comes on the winds from afar, let us quarantine against the dread paralysis that is bred in the vat and the still, and sold over the bar within our own fair land. Let us make the quarantine wide as the nation sustained by the true hearts and strong hands and pure ballots of all the good. That quarantine against alcoholic paralysis we call National Prohibition.—From "Paralysis For Sale;" Demarest's Magazine for August.

List of Patents.

Granted to Indiana inventors this week. Reported by C. A. Snow & Co., Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, Opp. U. S. Patent Office, Washington, D. C.

B. Fox; Napolson, fire escape; C. D. Jenny, Indianapolis, conduit electric railway; L. E. Johnson, Greensburg, dumping wagon; E. W. McGuire, Richmond, Lawn clipper; W. L. Wormald, Letts Corner, nut lock; W. C. Young, Ft. Wayne, cutting tool for granite, etc.

Last June, Dick Crawford brought his twelve months old child, suffering from infantile diarrhoea, to me. It had been weaned at four months old and being sickly everything ran through it like water through a sieve. I gave it the usual treatment in such cases but without benefit. The child kept growing thinner until it weighed but little more than when born, or perhaps ten pounds. I then started to giving Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Before one bottle of 25 cent size had been used, a marked improvement was seen and its continued use cured the child. Its weakness and puny constitution disappeared and its father and myself believe the child's life was saved by this Remedy. J. T. MARLOW, M. D., Tamaroa, Ill. For sale by F. B. Meyer Druggist.

The old party politicians demand more harmony, while the laboring people demand more hominy.—Bloomington (Ind.) Champion.

Government Ownership.

MR. EDITOR: In reading your paper, as well as other reform papers, a question has been brought to my mind, and after giving it considerable thought and study, I cannot but help believe that it is right and I here-with hand you my views on the subject. The subject that I refer to is the government ownership of railroads and telegraph lines in this country.

You can go into any of the departments of our government and such a thing as a strike is never heard of among the employees, why even take it among the soldiers of our regular army. They only receive the small sum of $18 per month for their labor. Did you ever hear of such a thing as a strike among them? No. Did you ever hear of a strike in the post office department? No. Let us look into the government printing office. Did you ever hear of a strike there? No. It would be the same condition of affairs, if the government owned the railroads and telegraph lines.

A great cry goes up by those opposed to this, that would create a hungry horde or greedy office seekers, wanting the places that are necessary to conduct the business in a successful manner. It would not take a single man more to conduct the business than is already employed. In the first place it would only create a new cabinet office, with a salary of no more than $8,000, which is on an equality with the other cabinet offices. There are numerous presidents of railroad corporations, today, that are drawing as large a salary as the President of these United States, while some are even drawing more than that. When it comes down to the employees necessary in the conducting of the business of the railroads, you will find that there are today numerous applicants for the various positions that are to be filled. This is necessary. Take for instance our local post office. When that place was to be declared vacant by the incoming of a new president, how many applications were there for the place? Less than half a dozen. This simply shows that there is no argument about the overflow of office-seekers.

Another great thing in connection with this, is that it would soon bring about a reduction in the prices for shipments in freight as well as a reduction in fare in passenger traffic. It has done it in the post office department and it stands to reason that it could be done in that as well. You can send a postal card from Boston to San Francisco for one cent. If you wanted to send a message of ten words over the telegraph lines from Boston to San Francisco, what would be the cost? The question will answer itself.

You will say, how can the government buy up these corporations? That is a very simple question. In the dark days of '61 to '65, our government saw that it would require a vast amount of finance in order to conduct the business of the nation successfully. Our soldiers must be paid, they must be clothed and fed. How was this all brought about? Very simple, indeed. The government issued redeemable bonds and currency in sufficient quantities to meet all their wants. Could not this be done in purchasing the railroads and telegraph lines in this country? We will let you answer the question. A Reader.

For instance, Mrs. Chas. Rogers, of Bay City, Mich., accidentally spilled scalding water over her little boy. She promptly applied De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve, giving instant relief. It's a wonderfully good salve for burns, bruises, sores, and a sure cure for Piles.

A horse kicked H. S. Shafer, of the Freemyer House, Middleburg, N. Y. on the knee, which laid him up in bed and caused the knee joint to become stiff. A friend recommended him to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which he did, and in two days was able to be around. Mr. Shafer has recommended it to many others and says it is excellent for any kind of a bruise or sprain. This same remedy is also famous for its cures of rheumatism. For sale by F. B. Meyer, Druggist.
