Now as our gravel roads are nearing completion it will be a great help and saving of money if the whole traveling public will immediately turn to be, "right in the middle of the road Populists."

The cutting along the sides of these roads is spreading the gravel and prolonging the packing and hardening of the road bed. It, of course, is a little heavy wheeling to get right up into the middle of the road, but it must be done, sooner or later, and the quicker the better.
