SHE GAINS A CROWN.

Princess Alix Becomes the Czarina of Russia.

Her Marriage to Czar Nicholas II. Celebrated at St. Petersburg with Much Pomp—Clemency of the New Ruler.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 27.—The wedding of Nicholas II., czar of Russia, to Princess Alix of Hesse-Darmstadt took place here Monday afternoon. Before 7 o'clock in the morning large crowds of people were assembling on the Newsky prospect in order to secure places along the route of the royal wedding procession. From the Anitchkoff palace to the winter palace the whole avenue was lined with troops.

At 11:15 o'clock a. m. in the distance was suddenly heard the grand swelling strains of the national anthem and all along the route the multitudes uncovered in anticipation of the approach of the bridal party. Soon afterward an open state carriage drawn by four white horses appeared. In this vehicle were the czar and his brother, Grand Duke Michael. They wore the uniform of hussars of the guard and were greeted with a vociferous burst of cheering, which was renewed again and again. The czar's equipage was preceded and also followed by detachments of chevaliers des gardes and hussars and lancers of the guard, all in brilliant gala uniforms. Then came a superb landau, also drawn by four white horses, in which were Princess Alix and the czarina. They received if possible even a more hearty popular greeting than the czar himself. Handkerchiefs and hats were waved in the air and the most intense enthusiasm prevailed. After the carriage of the princess and the czarina followed a long train of carriages with the royal guests, including the prince and princess of Wales, Princess Irene of Prussia, Grand Duchess Sergius and other prominent members of the imperial family, as well as all the wedding guests.

The wedding procession entered the winter palace at 1:15 o'clock p. m., where as soon as possible afterwards were assembled all those who had been invited to be present at the wedding.

As the emperor took his place at the right of the czar, the czarina led Princess Alix to him and placed her at his left. The czarina then took her place in the chancel at the right of the dais. The crosses, holy water and sacred books were then placed before the gate of Ikonostas and the marriage service in use in the orthodox church was begun by the singing of Psalm 127. The ceremony, which was conducted by Archpriest Jamskycheff, chaplain to the late czar, was of the most impressive character and lasted two hours.

On its return from the winter palace the imperial party alighted and entered the Cathedral of Kazan, where the protection of the Almighty was invoked upon the new czar and czarina. The ordinary theaters have received permission to recommence their performances.

The czar has signed a manifesto remitting certain debts due from peasants for crown loans made during the last famine, the arrears of taxes and many fines, and that he will commute the sentences of certain prisoners. He also will cancel the liability to punishment in cases of criminals not detected within fifteen years. All convicts from the Polish rebellion of 1863 will be allowed to reside anywhere in the empire. Their birthrights, but no property, will be restored. As regards the political prisoners, the czar is awaiting the report of the minister of the interior.

SWEET RUSK.—One pint of warm milk, one half cup of butter, one cup of sugar, two eggs, one teaspoonful of salt, two-thirds of a cake of compressed yeast. Make a sponge with the milk, yeast and flour enough for a batter. Let this rise over night; in the morning add the butter, eggs, sugar (well beaten together), the salt, and flour enough to make a soft dough; mold with the hands into balls and let them rise very light, then bake.—N. Baby's Moods.
Everything seems dull and drear
When the baby cries;
Sorrow grows with every tear
From her weeping eyes.
Everybody's heart is sore,
Things get worse with every roar,
Life seems just a horrid bore,
When the baby cries.

But it's vastly otherwise
When the baby crows,
Grabbing of the gold-rimmed eyes
From her grandpa's nose.
Everybody's cheerful then,
The air is full of oxygen,
And the whole world smiles again,
When the baby crows.

TO AID EMPLOYES.

A New Scheme of the W. L. Douglas Shoe Co.—Will Furnish Their Help with Medical Attendance.

William L. Douglas, the president of the world famed W. L. Douglas Shoe Co., has always had a great personal interest in the army of men and women who inhabit the great factory at Monticello during the working hours of the day, and who make the greatly advertised $3 shoe.

He is a great believer in the idea that manufacturers should have this personal interest in the condition of their employees, and feel that if the idea is carried out to the extent that is possible, that it will result ultimately in the breaking down of the barriers which have been built up between employers and those whom they employ. He believes that the breaking down of these invisible but strong barriers would be a great thing for everybody concerned, as it would convince the workingmen that their employers were not their enemies, as some of them seem to think now, but their friends, with a desire to do all for them that was in their power.

Having strong feelings upon this point, it is only natural that Mr. Douglas should give the matter some study and acquaint himself with the results of the trials of such plans in other places. He is satisfied that the scheme he has originated is a good one, and he has now put it to practical test.

To-day he handed to every person in his employ—and they form a small army—a card, a fac-simile of which is here given:

This ticket entitles Residence— to full and free medical attendance while employed by the W. L. Douglas Shoe Company. A competent and skillful physician will be at the private office of the company at 12 M. daily, except on Sundays and public holidays. If said employee should be detained at home by sickness, the physician will give full and free medical attendance there.

W. L. DOUGLAS SHOE CO.,
By W. L. Douglas,
President.

Room.
CONDITIONS.

The physician will not make visits outside the city limits. This ticket is not transferable, and does not apply to the family of the employee, and must be returned as soon as the employee ceases to be employed. This privilege is a free gift of the company, and is no part of the contract for wages, and may be made void by the company, at its own option, without notice.

This is a practical illustration of Mr. Douglas' idea, and will surely be appreciated by the hundreds who receive the cards.

He says that he believes there are hundreds of workmen and workwomen who find a doctor's bill a great burden after a period of enforced idleness, and that if this is lifted from them they must feel that their employer is interested in them in some other way than simply to get all the work he can for just as little money as he can. He says also that there are men and women who keep right at work when they would be better for their health if they would lay off a day or two and have medical attendance. Then again they will feel free to consult the doctor when they have slight troubles, which heretofore they would not do because of the cost.

The plan goes into effect to-day. Dr. S. J. Gruver has been engaged as the physician and enters upon his duties to-morrow.

The plan is a good one. Speaking of the W. L. Douglas Shoe Co. it may be said that this factory is the only one in the city where the principle of arbitration is recognized and has full sway.

Mr. Douglas is a firm believer in the principle and has been since the establishment of the state board of arbitration. He claims that labor troubles would not be as frequent as they are if manufacturers and help would recognize this great principle, and adopt it.

The firm obliges every man who is hired to sign an agreement to submit any disagreement that may arise, and which cannot be settled by the interested parties, to the state board of arbitration, the decision of that board to be final and to be binding on both sides. Pending a settlement of any disagreement the men agree to continue at work. This agreement went into force December 10, 1888, and has worked well. It is signed by the L. P. U. on behalf of the masters.—Brockton (Mass.) Daily Enterprise.
