Mrs. Cora Iliff claims to have seen a white wolf near her home in the east part of Jordan township not long since. It has created some excitement and efforts are being made to capture it.

The red boys from the Indian school are having their share of fun during the passing season of sleighing. A load of jolly fellows is frequently seen passing down Washington street.

Mrs. P. W. Clark and children returned Wednesday from Lowell where she has been in attendance upon her mother, Mrs. Wm. Pulver, who has been sick for a number of weeks, but is now convalescent.

Mrs. Michael Eger is entertaining two sisters, Mrs. John Ries of Kendallville and Mrs. Martin Lehman of DeCaleb county. The ladies are accompanied by their husbands and will remain until Sunday.

Mrs. D. H. Yeoman, Miss Etta Yeoman and Mrs. James Welsh returned from Chicago Tuesday night, where they have been for a few days receiving treatment from Dr. Dowie, the famed prayer healer. They all acknowledge, it is claimed, that they received substantial benefit.

People who had the courage to attend church last Sunday morning were forcefully reminded that many of their neighbors were over-sleeping themselves, and neglecting a little healthful exercise with the snow shovel; and some seem to have remained in a hibernated condition for several days.

The Pilot reporter is under many obligations to the Rev. Rector of St. Joseph's College, Augustine Seifert, C. P. S., for personally showing him through that excellent and modern institution of learning a few days since, of which this paper will have something discriptive to say in the near future. At present there are one hundred and seven students, though the accommodations when complete will care for about double that number.

The grand jury was discharged Thursday after about ten days session. Several bills were returned.

Wedded 20 Years.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Grant entertained a company of their friends Thursday evening, at their home two miles west of town, in commemoration of their twentieth wedding anniversary. Mrs. Grant's maiden name was Dillon. The life of this estimable couple has been of the pleasantest in their married relation, and has been blessed with three promising children, one daughter and two sons.

The guests were royally entertained and will long and pleasantly remember the occasion.

Faith Healing.

There seems to be nothing inconsistent with Christian teaching in the claim that the sick may be relieved by prayer. A fundamental command of the great Nazarine to his disciples was that they should heal the sick. There are those who maintain that the great secret which he taught was nothing less than the conquering of death itself. During all ages there have been individuals who claimed to relieve the sick without the use of drugs or the knife, and during the last fifty years the number of such "healers" has reached hundreds, and the testimony of those believing themselves benefited is voluminous. True it has not all been attributed to prayer, some profess to know nothing of the source of their gift, others call it Mental Science, Christian Science, Magnetism, Spiritualism, Occultism, etc., and among all are conscientious and honorable people.

This session of congress will weld the final link in the chain that unites the two grand old parties and binds their political machines to the undisguisable service of the money power. The union of the Democratic and Republican parties is the positive policy of the high managers who believe it is the only way that the new party of the people can be held in check.

RAILROADS POOLING.

Leaving it to the Discretion of the Commission.

The interstate commerce act prohibits pooling (a division of earnings) by railroad companies. The bill passed by the house last week authorizes pooling, provided the contract is reduced to writing, filed with the interstate commerce commission and the commission does not disapprove it. The pool goes into effect twenty days after filing contract. The commission may, after a pool goes into effect, modify the pooling arrangement or cancel it. The bill allows any company to apply to a United States Circuit court to test the reasonableness of the commission's rulings and the court may approve the pool notwithstanding the commission disapproves it. The patrons of the road and communities affected by the pool are not given a like right to have the commission's rulings passed upon by a court. Pending litigation on the subject and appeals to the United States Supreme court, the commission's orders are in force.

When a railroad goes into a pooling contract it can't get out of it except upon an order from the commission or the court.

Pooling means no competition. Where there are several companies pulling for the same trade there is competition, rate cutting, etc. The present law prohibiting pooling is no doubt directly violated, but the companies will not be honest with each other and will violate their agreements, and by all manner of scheming each road will get as much traffic for itself as possible.

The pending bill compels the companies, when they agree to skin the public and divide the spoils, to stick to the agreement. While the rates fixed in the pooling contracts must be reasonable in the eyes of the commission, that body is considerable of a railroad auxiliary and will not likely consider any rates unreasonable that failed to yield interest on watered bonds and dividends on stock that is all water.—Missouri World.

FROM A REPUBLICAN PAPER.

"There is no Lack of Faith in the People as a Redeemer."

The history of the past year has demonstrated that the currency of the country is based more on the faith and credit and confidence and wealth of the people than anything else. Gold has nearly failed twice, and it has been necessary to fall back on the people's credit each time. That there is no lack of faith in the people as a redeemer is evinced by the scramble to get their securities. If the credit of the government must stand behind the gold, and the silver, and the coin certificates, and the national bank notes, and every other form of currency, it does seem like folly to call in a lot of fellows between the servants of the people and the people themselves. If the government must stand good for everything, and it is conceded that it must or the money can not be relied upon, why shouldn't the government take the whole matter of banking and the issuing of currency into its own hands. It surely could be managed much more cheaply and safely than at present. If there were gold enough to go around there would be no need of banks of issue, either government or otherwise, but there isn't.—Topeka, Kan., Daily Journal.

The Journal is evidently drifting into anarchy, Populism and fiat lunacy.

This Is Treason.

What strange influence, or to express it vulgarly, "pull," has Andrew Carnegie with the national administration? How the heavy fine assessed on this typical plutocratic manufacturer for having palmed off on the navy department defective and fraudulent armor plates was heavily cut down by President Cleveland is a matter of recent history. Now comes a parallel to it. Carnegie, Phipps & Co., are furnishing the armor for the new battleship Oregon. One plate, singled out at random, was subjected to ballistic test and cracked like a sheet of glass before a stone. The natural inference is that the rest of the armor furnished for the Oregon is equally faulty. But the armor is not to be rejected, nor is there to be any further test, though the members of Carnegie's firm protest that the other plates are all right. After a personal conference with Mr. Carnegie Secretary Herbert announces that "the cracking was caused by the use of a projectile much superior to the ordinary service shot," and that he will accept all the armor despite this failure under trial. What, then, is the use of having tests at all? And, above all, what is the mysterious influence which Andrew Carnegie exerts at Washington?—Chicago Times.

The game of making prize battle ships goes merrily on. England has just launched a couple of elegant killing machines, and the American builders are confident that they can make faster, finer and more destructive ones.

Who is it continues to drain the treasury of its gold? Is it not the poor man. He isn't seeing any gold at all. It is the capitalist who takes a profit on bond issue in order to get gold into the treasury, and then hurries around with his legal tenders in order to take it out. This is our wonderful national financing.—Chicago Times.

The Eastern Star.

The Monticello Democrat has the following notice of the Evening Star Chapter's visit to that city, the guests having only lavish praise for the hospitable manner in which they were entertained:

"Crystal Chapter, Order Eastern Star, was organized last Tuesday night by Chas. G. Spittler, of Rensselaer, assisted by Evening Star Chapter of that place. Crystal Chapter starts out with a good healthy membership, and flattering prospects for the future. May her luster never grow dim.

About 11 o'clock the members and guests repaired to Pettit's restaurant for refreshments, after which they returned to the lodge room and pleasantly whiled away the hours until rain time, most of the visitors returning home on the morning train.

The following members of Evening Star Chapter No. 46 were present and assisted in the work: Mrs. Lizzie Long, Mrs. Mary Spittler, Mrs. Agnes O. Kelley, Alfred W. Hopkins, Mildred B. Spittler, Mrs. Ada Joover, Maud E. Spittler, Mrs. Alice Meyer, Ray Mossler, Dora Hardeman, Miss French, Mrs. Isador Morris of Remington, Albert R. Hopkins, B. F. Fendig and Nellie Moss.

A more generous, sociable and warm-hearted crowd of people never visited our town. May the friendly and fraternal relations so pleasantly begun never be broken off."

Dire necessity forced the administration to adopt a "small tax upon incomes derived from certain corporate investments," to meet the revenue deficiency. The income tax is right. It should be graduated and extend to all classes, the larger the income the greater the per centage of taxation. However the people will be thankful for small favors, as the beginning of the practice of taxing a few incomes will be a precedent for other and more efficient acts. It remains to be seen whether the law will be nullified by failure to appropriate funds for its enforcement.

Henry Hintz, Brooklyn's great cotton merchant and reformer, voices the sentiment of his Wall Street associates in declaring for $500,000,000 of bonds, $400,000,000 to be used as a basis for national bank money that can be issued to the full face of the bonds, and in emergency to 25 per cent more. The government is to swap bonds at 3 per cent interest for greenbacks, silver certificates, treasury notes, etc., which bear no interest, and then loan back to the banks other paper money at 1 per cent a year, the loan not to exceed $1.25 for each $1.00 of bonds deposited with the government. That is an improvement on the plan of the Jew who formulated the English system in the 16th century, a system of drawing interest on what you owe.

The Nowels Milling Co. will pay highest market price for all kinds of grain and hay. Take your grain to them at the mill near depot.

Oldest Citizen of Jordan.

JORDAN, Jan. 16.—Uncle Jimmy Dutton, whose eighty-six years probably makes him the oldest man in this township, is again able to be about after being sick for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kennedy of Rensselaer are visiting their two sons of this township.

Robert Michaels has just finished shelling 3200 bushels of corn which he is hauling to the Rensselaer market, a distance of eight miles.

Mrs. Blanche Sparrow of Lee Station made the county metropolis a visit this week.

Two large sleigh loads of young people from Rensselaer attended a dance at Ephraim Fleming's last Tuesday night. On the return trip they got stuck in a drift and had to get shovels of the farmers near by and shovel away the snow before they could proceed.

There will be a box supper at the Bullis school house next Friday night. It was to have been held on the 11th but the weather was so bad that it was postponed. Miss Hattie Mitchell is the teacher, and will use the proceeds to buy Reading Circle books for the school. Fred Waymire of Benton county has purchased Jud Adam's farm seven miles from Rensselaer, and is hauling tile, preparatory to giving it a good drainage system.

Catholic College Notes.

COLLEGEVILLE, Jan. 17.—Wednesday last was a gala day for the College students. The weather being fair and delightful was a good reminder that it was a most desirable time for sleighing. For this reason a delegation called upon Father Maximilian, Prefect of Discipline, for permission to take an outing. Permission being granted the Venerable Bro. William was requested to bring his teams into service which he most cheerfully did. Amidst the yells and cheers of about fifty students occupying three sleighs, they started on their journey to the poor farm of Jasper county. Mr. Hardy, the superintendent, gave them a most cordial reception. The boys speak in the highest terms of his kindness in showing them around and entertaining them so pleasantly. They hope to return favors by Mr. Hardy calling at the College when at leisure.

The priests that accompanied students were, Fathers Maximilian Walz, Raphael Schmaus and Markus Hamburger. All were highly pleased and expressed their gratitude to the Rev. Prefect and the Venerable Brother William.

The annual financial report for St. Augustine's Church will be distributed to the members next Sunday. According to report the congregation is free from indebtedness. The number of families is seventy-seven. In the past year there were three marriages, twenty-five baptisms and three deaths. The four societies—Order of Foresters, Alter Society, St. Rose Society and Aloysian Literary Society—are in a flourishing condition.

The Gospel which will be read in the church next Sunday will dwell on the circumstances of the marriage feast at Cana.

Among the visitors at the college last Wednesday were Messrs. F. D. Craig, Wm. Washburn, John Eger and parents, with friends, etc.

His Fifteenth Anniversary.

WHEATFIELD, Jan. 16.—Everybody is snowed under.

Jim Rodgers went to Michigan one day last week to secure a situation on the West Mich. R. R. as a conductor.

Uncle Seth Bentley is very poorly this winter, great fear being expressed of his living through the winter, his case being incurable.

The party at Mr. Ed. Bigg's, given by the young folks last Saturday evening in honor of Willie McNeil's fifteenth birthday anniversary, was a grand success, and everybody seemed to enjoy themselves, the young gentleman feeling himself highly honored.

Mrs. Ordell Norton, who has been visiting her parents and friends here the past three weeks, returned to her home at Streeter, Ill., last week.

Mr. John Graves and Mr. Henry Whitaker in making a trip to Hebron last week, discovered such splendid sleighing that on their return they immediately ordered the weather prophet to prepare atmospheric conditions that would develop sleighing here, and so it came Thursday evening.

The ice harvest is said to be greater and better than it has been for years.

Rev. Thompson's meetings at Dunnville have been marred somewhat owing to the bad weather and sickness in family.

Mr. Frank Austin has a very sick child; lung fever, being the complaint.

Grandpa Taylor is having a severe attack of Asthma which confines him to his room.

A brakeman on the Buffalo run, had the misfortune to get his hand mashed while coupling cars a few days since, but is better at this writing. B. B.

$100 For An Afflicted Neighbor.

BROOK, Jan. 17.—Mr. White returned from Chicago Saturday evening, and Sunday morning found him father of a big boy.

A crowd of young folks from Kentland spent Monday evening at Mr. Newell's home. They were out for a sleigh ride.

You can now see the fine horses dashing through the street in such a manner as to remind one of the ancient chariot races.

Sleighing is fine. Mr. Blankenbaker drives the finest team.

The Tilden Steel comedy company have the town billed for a week commencing Jan. 21st. They came well recommended and hope will meet with success.

Of all the men and families who need the help and sympathy of the people it is John McCabe, living one mile north of town. He has buried wife and daughter, and has four children sick in bed in one room and one of them not expected to live. Four months of continual sickness has exhausted him and his neighbors, and now the ladies have organized so two of them can be at the house all the time, and the K. of P's have a man at the house every night.

A subscription paper was started Monday morning, Ben Lyons heading it with $10, and in a few hours a hundred dollars was placed in the bank at the disposal of Mr. McCabe. The same day a score of neighbors hauled and cut about twenty cords of wood. Mr. McCabe is a worthy man and he will appreciate their kindness.

More From Jordan.

JORDAN, Jan. 17.—Health is generally good.

M. Dutton has returned from a short visit in Illinois with health some what improved.
