

THE MODEL,

WILL A. MOSSLER, Manager.

Nothing to compare with this vast stock of fresh fabrics has ever been shown in Rensselaer. Always first with the newest fancies and most stylish conceits, the Model buyers have this season surpassed all previous attempts to surprise and delight the critical taste of fashionable ladies.

Spring dress goods, trimmings to match. Perfection in the weaver's art seems to have been attained in the surpassing beauty of the many entirely new ideas so marvelously wrought in these new patterns, and at prices positively unmatchable.

Silks, satins, a full line of duck, morie, crepon, satteen, Vienne cloth, pique, zephyr gingham, French gingham.

Ready made dresses and wrappers, ladies' shirt waists, ready made skirts.

Carpets, chenille curtains, lace curtains, embroideries and laces.

Capes, newest styles from the great fashion marts of Europe and America, offered at The Model simultaneously with the great bazaars of N. Y. and Chicago.

Mrs. Emory's "Seven Financial Conspiracies" should be read by every person in the United States. It gives a history of the legislation that has built the money power of America. Sent post paid to any address for 10 cents or three copies for 25 cents. Address this office.

Claybrook & Kressler is the firm name under which a new barber shop is to be started in the rooms over Porter's Grocery by James Claybrook and Harry Kressler. The boys are good workmen and deserving of a fair share of public favor. Both have been employed in the shops here for some time and have made many warm friends who will emphasize their well wishing with their custom. Both were in Chicago Thursday purchasing chairs and fixtures, preparatory to opening up to-day, Saturday.

The Pilot editor received a delightful call last Saturday from that fire-tested veteran of political reform, than whom there is no truer friend of human liberty, A. Stimson of Stoughton. The weather has been so severe for him to venture out so far before this winter, though he carried well the three score years and more that are recorded on his furrowed brow. He manifested his faith in the Pilot under the new management by placing several new names on the rapidly swelling list of subscribers. With every other true populist he is more than satisfied with the immense gains of 600,000 votes made by the populist last year, and looks forward to the steady growth and fast approaching triumph of the principle promulgated in the Omaha platform.

In another place in these columns is an advertisement for agents to sell rubber scrubbers and window washers. The editor of the Pilot is well acquainted with the manufacturer, F. W. Nevis, of Ft. Madison, Iowa, who is a man of strict business integrity, and in stating that the truth is only partly told. Wherever these scrubbers are shown and given a trial they become as staple and necessary an article as the broom. Agents readily work up a steady paying trade. They are sold at reasonable prices, and there is not an article that agents can sell so rapidly and profitably. Any one who will call at this office will be given fuller particulars and in a few days some samples will be received for the inspection of any interested parties.

PAIN AND MISERY AYER'S SARSAPARILLA Cures Rheumatism.

"About 8 years ago, I suffered from what the doctors called rheumatism. Nobody knows the pain and misery which I had to endure and which clung to me in spite of the medicines prescribed. At last, I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After a short time, the pains ceased. I continued the use of the Sarsaparilla for a whole year, until the rheumatism entirely disappeared." — JAMES WATSON, proprietor of livery stable, Roseville, Cal.

University Summer Terms.

The Indiana University has issued an announcement for the spring and summer terms of 1895. It is a pamphlet of 31 pages and gives a list of the faculty as at present constituted, a brief synopsis of the courses offered for the spring term, and a somewhat fuller statement of the summer session. In these terms a considerable number of courses are offered especially for teachers, as there are many who are engaged in teaching during the rest of the year who find it possible to attend the University during one or both of these terms.

This University has seventeen departments and forty-five active members in its faculty. The brief educational history of each member of the faculty which follows his name shows that a large number of colleges and universities, both American and European, have contributed to the training of the faculty of our State University.

The summer school this year offers attractive courses in each of the ten following departments: English, Mathematics, Chemistry, Physics, Zoology, Psychology and Pedagogy, History, Botany, Latin, and German.

All university publications will be sent to any one upon application to President Joseph Swain, Bloomington, Ind.

Dangerous Gun Plays.

It is current report that a modified form of wild west life was enacted in R. P. Phillip's popular barber shop last Friday evening about the hour of half past eight, in which the amiable proprietor is represented as displaying a six shooter in typical cowboy style. The story goes that one of his barbers, James Claybrook, signified his intention of quitting and asked for a settlement of wages; this seemed to displease the employer and to prevent Mr. Claybrook from taking his tinsorial instruments from the shop he uncovered the above quoted piece of artillery from a convenient overcoat pocket. There is no evidence at hand to show that Mr. Claybrook packed off any of his property that night, though Irving Bush, Claude Sigler and Harry Kressler are said to have been witnesses to what might have proven a bloodletting had the engine of death been accidentally discharged while thus carelessly flopped about. The sequel to this interesting romance may possibly be written by the next grand jury, and in the mean time Rensselaer will have another shaving shop. It is reported that this is not the first time that a gun play has been made by Mr. Phillips, Conrad Kellner, having taken one rather rapidly from his hands, it is said, in the presence of Frank Liff and other witnesses, in the livery barn, about three weeks ago. Whatever may be the truth or exaggeration of these reports, it is unfortunate that any sane man should so far forget himself as to place in jeopardy the lives of other people by toting a gun that may go off when least intended.

The baby girl, two years old, of Mr. and Mrs. James Flynn, that has been sick several weeks with brain fever, died at 2 p. m. Tuesday last. The funeral occurred at 10 o'clock Thursday morning from the M. E. church, the Rev. Dr. Utter conducting the services.

D. V. McGlynn who sold his farm five miles north of Remington last fall was in Rensselaer Thursday having sale bills printed at the Pilot office, and incidentally dropped a pair of dollars in the till for a friend's subscription. Mr. McGlynn will move to Brook and has not yet decided what business he will follow in the future. His sale occurs next Tuesday, the 5th.

The ladies second annual ball was given at the opera house last Tuesday evening, with about 30 couples present. When Sig. Moratto's orchestra of Chicago started up the grand march at 9:15 everybody was in line, and there were some very charming figures made, which showed the skill of the leader. After the program was rendered, all the participants adjourned to Mr. Haus' restaurant, where a splendid supper was served, the dance was a complete success.

Those Opera House Lights.

At the ladies' dance at the opera house last Tuesday evening, everybody was complaining the poor lights, and it is true that a person could not distinguish another the length of the arm. Now of course this might for some places, but when it attempted upon the class of people who attend dances in this city, it is an outrage.
