Losing Their Temper.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean of April 5th copies the following without comment from the Memphis Commercial-Appeal:

"The Chattanooga Times, like a good many other monomaniacal newspapers, has lost its temper because of the wide circulation of a little book entitled 'Coin's Financial School,' which it describes as 'sorry twaddle,' and wrathfully declares that 'if it could be safely done, such books ought to be burned by the hangman and the authors stood in the stocks.' We fear, however, that it cannot be 'safely done.' Revolutions never go backward. The people, the plain people, the ignorant plebs, the uncouth hoi polloi, have enjoyed their liberty so long that any attempt to prescribe their literature and regulate their opinions by the civilized and intellectual processes of 'standing them in the stocks' might be resented. That 'many headed beast' called the people is a dangerous animal in his moods. The learned editor of the Times doubtless knows something of his nature and habits, and wisely suggests a doubt as to whether it would be safe to cage him after he has been allowed to run wild so long. This thing of burning literature by the hangman and standing heretical authors in the stocks was a practice much in vogue some centuries ago; the learned editor of the Times knows as well as any man just how efficacious such measures proved in checking the spread of 'heresy.' There is always some Luther bold enough to nail a scripture upon the door of the church. The literature of the common people is read by the light of the flames kindled for its destruction, and liberty is never more effectively preached than from the stocks, the scaffold, or the stake. Even if the Times could bring back the good old days and the good old ways they would not avail. No 'hangman' can strangle the freedom of speech, and no fire can consume the spirit of liberty. Let the venerable editor of the Times therefore cease to sigh for what he can never get, and what would do him and his orthodox creed no good if he could get it. We assure him that the putting of financial heretics in the stocks could not be 'safely done.' The people have a prejudice against that sort of thing. The common hangman will never be a popular schoolmaster in this age and country."

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had Consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St. San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching Consumption, tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in Coughs and Colds. Free trial bottles at Meyer's Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00

With Pleasure

... born of experience we beg to inform you that we have this day received from the Continental Tailoring Co., of Chicago, their complete line of samples for the coming spring and summer seasons. It is no exaggeration to say that such an elegant display of wools has never been issued by any house in the trade. The samples represent all that is choice and fashionable in Custom Tailoring, and comprise suitings in Cheviots plain, black or blue, as well as in all the latest weaves and shades in wide and narrow wales, silk mixtures in various colors, all the novelties in dress suitings and overcoats, as well as a handsome selection of Trousers to anything ever offered.

The styles are shown in endless variety, patterns never so beautiful, and at all prices so surprisingly low. The superior character of the work turned out by the "Continental Tailoring Company" is accounted for by the fact that all their garments are made in their own work-rooms, special care and attention being given to every detail, consequently we are enabled to guarantee you absolute satisfaction on any order you may place with us. We therefore trust to have the honor of a call from you, and we shall be only too willing to show you through our line, feeling assured that a visit will repay you, and be the means of saving you quite a large amount by the early purchase of a suit, pants or overcoat. Anticipating your commands.

Yours very respectfully,
ELLIS & MURRAY.

A GREAT SUFFERER —FROM— Liver Complaint

Cured by the Use of
AYER'S PILLS

"For several years, I was a great sufferer from liver complaint, which caused severe pains under the right side, from under the right shoulder blade, sallowness of the skin, low spirits, and cramp in the stomach. I am pleased to be able to state that I have been relieved of all these complaints by the use of Ayer's Pills. I find them, also, to be an elegant after-dinner pill."—Mrs. M. A. STAD, Muncy, Pa.

Central Normal College.

This popular school is located nineteen miles west of Indianapolis at the beautiful town of Danville, a pleasant, healthy little city of 2,000 inhabitants, the capital of Hendricks county, situated on high ground, with natural drainage in all directions, noted for its beauty, as well as for the morality, temperance, hospitality and intelligence of its people. The public buildings are commodious; the streets are well graveled and lined with shade trees, and there are many elegant residences. In short, all things seem to unite in making this a desirable place to live or spend a few years. There is not a licensed drinking house in the county; there are no places of gambling, no disreputable houses no low theatres. In short no college town in the west, is so free from tendencies to draw the student away from his school work.

The C. N. C. was organized in 1876 with forty-eight students, in 1894, Eighteen years from organization, it had 1,500 students.

Over 1000 students were present April 2, 1895 at the organization of the spring term.

There are four years work in the C. N. C. First, preparatory, for those who want to review during the spring term and make higher licenses. Second, pedagogy or teachers course, for those who want to fit themselves for better teachers.

Third, scientific course, for those who wish to become principals of schools. Fourth, classical, fitting one for almost any occupation in life.

There is an excellent commercial department, which has the able instruction of Prof. Pattison. President J. A. Joseph is the able instructor in literature and history, while in charge of scientific course, is C. A. Hargrave, one of the strongest members of the faculty, being instructor in natural science, physiology, surveying and engineering, algebra, the laboratory, and museum.

Jonathan Rigdon, one of the grammarians of Indiana, stands before a class of 500 each day and instructs them how to use the English language correctly. He is the author of the book he teaches from, one of the best published.

There are students in the C. N. C. from nearly every state in the union and every county in Indiana is represented. A person can live here cheaper than at many other places, board costing only $1.50 a week. A nice room is rented for 50c or 75c a week.

Any one attending or thinking of attending some Normal school would not make a mistake in trying the C. N. C.

A. JASPER STUDENT.

Remember the "exchange," run every Saturday by the Christian church ladies in C. D. Nowels' store; they have all kinds of pastries, baking, and other edibles, also needle and fancy work.
