Charles E. Vincent, living three miles northeast of Remington, was in town Tuesday. Mr. Vincent had the sad duty of taking his wife to the Logansport insane asylum this week. The afflicted lady has been sick for about two weeks, and for the past ten days has been continually wandering in mind. It is believed the malady is but temporary, caused by some physical trouble which can be eradicated in a short time.

Cruel and relentless war was waged furiously on the lot back of the Pilot office Monday. Prying Young America had discovered, in their explorations in the rear of groceries, fine missiles in decayed vegetables and bombs in melon rinds. The partially dismantled "Shanghai" building furnished a feudal fortress, and attack and defense were executed in heroic style. Hostilities lasted for fully two hours—till Mr. Warner, with an assumed courage, in desperation declared an armistice. Should any fond mother discover that her hopeful smells sick she need not be at all frightened in regard to his health, for all of the dauntless warriors who amounted to anything in this battle royal have an aroma of mustiness clinging to them.

Lovers of music can certainly pass a pleasant evening Sat., Aug. 8, at the Ellis Opera house, Rensselaer. Bram & Smith, the American talented musical artists; playing on twelve distinct instruments; Miss Frankie Howard, buck and wing dancer; Miss Estelle Chamberlain, serpentine dancer, and the well known eccentric comedian, Mr. R. Ed Keough, who will endeavor to drive away the blues by his original imitations. Prices of admission 10c, 20c, and 30c.

Jimmie Meyer is not very large but he has a great head on him, nevertheless, H. W. Porter stood regretfully eyeing a silver quarter he had dropped through a crack in the sidewalk and scratching his puzzled head on schemes for its recovery. The omnipresent "Chimmie" inquired the cause of Mr. Porter's glumness and was offered half as salvage on the quarter. Jimmie picked up a small stick, gravely took the gum from his mouth, stuck it on the end of the stick, pushed the stick through the crack till the quarter stuck to the gum and pulled it out, put the gum back in his mouth and trotted off to get change. Returning he apologized to Mr. Porter that he could not make exact change and handed him thirteen cents. The matter was finally settled by Jimmie getting thirteen cents and Mr. Porter 12. The latter has not got his breath yet. Jimmie will make a great financier some day.
