Sheriff Hanley is short one prisoner since last Thursday, when Sherman Richards, who was awaiting trial for criminal assault, made his escape. It appears that he was doing some work about the jail in charge of another prisoner, George Ketch mark, and being given a life his superior sprinting ability carried him into oblivion in a short time.

That Dread Disease.

The young man who is reported to have been affected with "Hay fever of the Heart," wishes to announce that since his visit to Mackinac Island and Sault St. Marie, he has not had a symptom of that disease, and he is further convinced that, had his most esteemed friend, S. R. M. Revooc, but taken a single dose (or two at most) of the remedy he prescribed for himself, she would to-day be well, and would not be compelled to take things in the reverse, in her declining years.

Wilkes arrived home Sunday morning and Tuesday afternoon he headed a procession that marched triumphant through the streets.

He has been entered in the 2:15 race at Lexington, Ky., for the Transylvania $5000 stakes also in the 2:11 class for purse of $1000. It is confidently expected that he will touch 2:10 this fall. Great credit is due his driver, Alt Padgit.

WILL VIRTUE BE REWARDED?

A West Point Cadet Who Compelled His Colonel to Obey the Regulations.

The establishment of the color line in the West Point summer encampment recently gave rise to a good story on the commandant of cadets, Colonel Samuel Mills. The regulations prescribe that everyone crossing the color line or passing the colors should salute by lifting his cap with the right hand and placing it upon his left shoulder. Colonel Mills neglected this important ceremony not long ago and the sentry on duty promptly stopped him and compelled him to obey the regulation. The commandant next day sent for this cadet, a third class man, who, by the way, comes from Indiana, and talked to him long and earnestly. The young man refused to divulge the substance of the interview, but the general opinion is that the cadet will be given corporal's chevrons in the fall, when changes are made in the officers of the battalion.

She Was Equal to Him.

Of all the expedients devised by debtors, whether by Micawber or Murger, few have been more simple and effectual than that of a Mrs. Martin in San Francisco recently. She had ordered a ton of coal delivered at her residence. The coal dealers had not yet received their pay for previous tons, so they instructed their driver to take the coal to her house, go to the door, present the previous bill, and refuse to deliver the coal until the bill was paid. He did so. The lady looked a little surprised, but an ominous glitter came into her eye when she heard her ultimatum. But she repressed her feelings, and suavely invited the coal man to "step into the parlor" while she went to "get the money." The coal-heaver was rather grimy, and did not seem exactly to fit the furniture, but he accepted her invitation, stepped into the parlor, and Mrs. Martin disappeared. Many minutes passed. The coal-heaver became impatient, but the lady did not return. Finally he heard the crash of coal. He looked out of the window. To his horror, he saw his coal being unloaded by another man. He tried the door, but it was locked, and the grimy coal-heaver grimly sat down and waited. After the coal was unloaded the lady appeared and let him out.

There was a triumphant twinkle in Mrs. Martin's eyes as she told him to "call again with the bill." —San Francisco Argonaut.
