The frosts during the early part of the week were quite severe in this locality for the first of the season. There is however nothing damaged by them, except tomatoes and other tender vines of like character. They will be a help to the corn, as it will have a tendency to ripen and dry it out so that it can be sooner cribbed.

Rev. Michels of the M. E. church preached to his congregation his first sermon last Sunday. He is a very pleasant gentleman and will no doubt be a great help to the cause of Christianity in his part of the vineyard.

Elder Carson is at present quite sick, being threatened with an attack of typhoid fever. He was unable to fill his appointments here and in the country last Sunday. We trust he may be able to throw off his sickness and be in the pulpit next Sunday. Many people feel lost if they cannot attend church.

Mr. Ed Bond is erecting an excellent dwelling house, fronting south on Virginia street, in Remington. It is large and commodious, being two stories in height, and will be ready for occupancy in a very short time.

Ezra Bowman shipped his goods to Anderson Tuesday last, and he followed them with his family Wednesday morning. He goes to Anderson to engage in the blacksmithing business with a Mr. Hollingsworth a former partner of his, in Remington. He sold out his blacksmithing interests in Remington a short time ago to Worden & Perkins. We are sorry to see Ezra going away, as he has always been an admirable citizen, and a useful man in the community. He has many friends here, and will be greatly missed from his usual place of business. All who know him, wish him abundant success in his new field of labor.

Charles W. Hames, one of our restauranteur men, is preparing to move his store from the McDougle building on the north side, to the new frame and brick building on the south side of Railroad street, adjoining the postoffice on the west. This new building was erected by W. J. Morris, our dentist, and is a model for neatness and convenience, and Brother Hames will be greatly benefited by this change in location.

George Ford who has been baking for George Eck, since he went into the restaurant business about July 1, moved his household goods and family to Kentland, where he has relocated.

Henry W. Wolcott of Wolcott Indiana, was in Remington on business Monday. Henry is a hustler from "Wayback."

We visited Wolcott last Monday on business matters, and while there we were surprised at the great strides in improvements having been made there within the past two or three years. The business improvements are several good substantial brick buildings, which would be a credit to a town of much larger proportions and the dwelling houses, and they are numerous which have recently been built, are many of them neat cottages and others are of still greater pretensions. Wolcott is a booming, prosperous little city and its citizens are wide awake and doing business for the money there is in it.

Commissioner Jones has been under the weather for the past week or two as well as his son Howard. They were both threatened with typhoid fever but at this writing we are informed that they will probably get along without any serious results.

The public schools of Jordan township all commenced their fall and winter terms last Monday morning. We believe there are eight schools in the township.

We are informed that C. E. Triplett M. D. of Morocco Newton county has recently been appointed as a member of the board of medical pension examiners located at Remington, Ind., to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Peter J. Pothnisi M. D. who resigned to devote his attention to the hernia cure which enterprise he has a large interest. Dr. Triplett is an old practitioner and will no doubt give satisfaction as a member of the board. He was also a surgeon in the union army during the late rebellion.

Sheriff Hanley of Rensselaer was in Remington the fore part of the week on business connected with his office. He does not like the new law governing fees of his office. He is right.
