Letters addressed as below remained uncalled for in the postoffice at Rensselaer on the 30th day of Sept., 1895. Those not claimed within two weeks from the date above given will be sent to the Dead Letter Office, Washington, D. C. Persons calling for any of the letters in this list will please say they are advertised.

Meredith Goodspeed, Lee Fitzpatrick, Charles Markelain, Mrs. Mary C. Yeoman, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, Mrs. Ed. Hays, Mrs. May Richards, Mrs. W. W. Hilton, John A. Moore, Harry Wright, Frank Andrews, Charles Bally, E. P. Hoxan, P. M.

THE WEEK AT HOME.

Old settlers' day.

Miss Thena Little of Chicago has been a guest of Mrs. B. F. Meyer for a week.

W. H. Burgess has returned to the city. There must be some strong attraction for Mr. Burgess here. What is it?

Mrs. J. J. Montgomery who has been with her husband while he was putting in the telephone system here, accompanied him Monday to Wolcott to be near his present field of operations.

Rev. Moot, Christian pastor at Francisville and Medaryville, occupied the pulpit in the Wolcott church last Sunday on account of the absence of the regular pastor, caused by death in the family circle.

There will be a box social at Jackson Center school (No. 5), Newton county, 1½ miles west of Mt. Ayr, given by the school, assisted by school No. 2, under the supervision of the teachers, Misses Lillie Seward and Lora Roberts. Proceeds to go to the reading circle.

Albert Fendig and his aunt, Mrs. Borchardt, who have been visiting relatives in Rensselaer for a month past, returned to Brunswick, Georgia, Monday afternoon. Mr. Fendig is a prominent real estate dealer and very much in love with his state.

Mrs. George Meyer of Chicago is spending the week with the family of C. C. Starr. She was with the party that camped at Idlewild Park, Wisconsin last August and this is her first visit to renew the many acquaintances made there. She is now a model cyclist.

The following party* of Rensselaer young people were at Monticello Sunday: Messrs A. R. Hopkins, A. W. Hopkins, H. E. Wemple, Louie Wilcox and Misses Martha Robinson and Lynne Kelly. They paid Miss Edith Bushnell a visit returning on the morning train Monday.

Mrs. Mary N. Martin, of Medaryville, once a resident of Rensselaer, was in town to-day looking after some property interests, and kindly left her subscription for the PILOT.

A fine, new house for sale on corner of Cedar and Scott streets—44x26—5 rooms and closets, 3 porches, summer kitchen, wash house, well and cistern. This property will be sold at a bargain as the owner leaves city. Call at this office for further information.

R. E. Perkins of Mishawaka, Ind., visited in Rensselaer over Sunday with his brother, Judson H. Perkins. R. E. Perkins is connected with the Perkins Wind Mill company at Mishawaka and has a fine farm four miles southwest of Goodland, which he will visit before returning home.

J. C. Schenk of Chicago passed through here enroute to Indianapolis, Philadelphia, Boston, Washington and Atlanta, where he will take a short rest and return via Nashville and Louisville. He had some trouble reaching this place, as he rode through the most sandy regions. The entire journey will be made on a bicycle.

John Garling, living on the old David Gray farm in Hanging Grove township, was killed by lightning Wednesday night last at eleven o'clock. He got up and was in the act of lighting a lamp when the bolt struck him, killing him instantly. There were two families in the house, seven in all, but no one else was injured. He was a man 30 years old.

The following is the official and estimated increase in weight of the hay fever convicts who have been exiled in the wilds of Michigan for a few weeks: Mrs. W. H. Cooper 5 lbs., Clide Cooper 8½ lbs., Gertrude Robinson 12½ lbs., Harve Robinson 7 lbs., Albert Overton (estimated entirely) 50 lbs. They have brought their appetites with them on their return and it would be eminently proper for their friends to ask them out to dine.

The farmers institute, held at Union school house, Jordan township, and Center school house, Gillam township were well attended. The discussion of the subjects was lively and quite a number took part. At Center Prof. Huston of Purdue gave the relative feeding value of corn fodder and all compared with timothy hay. After that a general discussion of the practical side of the question, which was interesting. These meetings were not a failure by a long ways and the more we have the better they will become.

Opening of Indiana University.

The seventy-second year of Indiana University at Bloomington, Ind., began under most favorable circumstances. The enrollment to date is near seven hundred and President Swan estimates that this number will be increased by two hundred during year. The six buildings, including the magnificent Kirkwood hall recently erected, and dedicated with appropriate ceremonies, in which Governor Matthews took a prominent part, are crowded with eager and industrious students. The faculty is larger and stronger than ever before, and the number of departments has been increased.

One among the several additions in the way of work offered, is that of a course in journalism. The mistakes made in the past by those who have attempted to teach boys "how to run a newspaper" by simply drilling them in rhetoric have, in this case, been avoided. Mr. N. W. Stephenson, in charge of the work, is a practical newspaper man of wide experience and recognized ability. Before his appointment to Indiana University he was on the editorial staff of the Cincinnati Tribune, where he steadily won promotion. While he believes that an editor must master his profession largely in the real work of an office, yet he thinks that many valuable hints and helps can be given in the classroom. Further the full course purposes mainly to be only a broad and liberal preparation for practical work, by no means a substitute for it. The proposed course includes study in English, history, political theory, constitutional history and economics.

This plan can not fail to attract attention and receive approval as an enterprising effort to respond to new educational demands as they arise. Its further development will be watched with much interest, especially by the newspaper men of the State.

Ruling prices at Rensselaer Oct. 3: Wheat, 45c@50c ¢ bu; corn, 26@27c ¢ bu; oats, 15@17c ¢ bu; rye, 30c per bu; hay, $7.50 @9.00.

The finest crayon portraits procurable are the ones offered by the Pilot as premiums at a cost less than the price of the bare frames. If you have a photograph of any of your departed loved ones this is your chance to get a fine, large crayon in an elegant frame. See advertisement.

Death of an Aged Citizen.

Charles Rhoades died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. N. W. Reeve, in this place last Monday morning, Sept. 30, 1895, at the ripe age of 81 years, 10 months and 3 days.

The funeral occurred Tuesday 2:30 p. m., from the house, Rev. M. R. Paradis of the Presbyterian church conducting the services. A very large procession followed the remains to Weston cemetery.

Mr. Rhoades was born in Winslow, Maine, Nov. 27, 1813, where he resided until 1857 when he located in Rensselaer. He was a harnessmaker and constantly followed his trade since 14 years of age.

He married Mary Ann Duren in 1833, who preceded him to the grave three years ago. His living children are William H., Marshall D., Edward D., Mrs. Amanda Reeve and Mrs. Caroline D. Martin.

Odd Fellows' Day.

The Odd Fellow building, which was completed October 1st, will be dedicated with imposing ceremonies on the 16th inst. It is believed now that 1000 visiting brethren will be in the line of procession, with fifteen or more bands. With a very low rate on all railroads it is certain that more strangers will be in Rensselaer than on any previous occasion.

Married. Married, October 2, 1895, at the home of the bride's parents, by Rev. R. D. Utter, of the Trinity M. E. church, Mr. Mann A. Brewer, of Mt. Ayr, to Miss Winnona E. Saylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. D. Saylor. A large number of friends were present to witness the ceremony, and bid the young couple bon voyage.

Where Honor Is Due.

"Dr. C. E. Triplett has been appointed a member of the Remington Pension Examining Board in place of Dr. Hatch, resigned, last fall. Great is the tumble from Dr. Hatch, the soldier, to Triplett, the citizen. However, the soldier boys need have no fears, for Dr. Hatch will take care of their interests in Washington while a member of Congress."

The above article from the Newton County Enterprise reflecting upon Dr. Triplett is unjust to him. Dr. Triplett was for some time Regimental Surgeon of the 87th Indiana Regiment of Volunteers and afterward promoted to Brigade Surgeon of the 3d Brigade, 3d Division, 14th Army Corps. He was a skillful surgeon, a true patriot and a brave soldier, and the interests of the boys who wore the blue are safe in his hands. We denounce the attack on Dr. Triplett. No more skillful hand ever ministered to the sick and wounded soldier. Big-hearted and sympathetic he always had a kind word for every sufferer. No man is more worthy of the confidence of the soldier than Dr. Triplett.

A Close Shave.

E. M. Parcels having vacated his old stand, is now located in his handsome new barber shop on Van Rensselaer street, rear of Ellis & Murray's, where patrons will continue to receive his services and those of his excellent assistant.

The Jennie Lynn Warblers.

The rarest musical treat that it has been the pleasure of a Rensselaer audience to receive was given at the opera house last night by the ladies comprising the Jennie Lynn Quartette, viz.: Miss Stella L. Borden, first alto; Miss Jane A. Aldy, first soprano; Miss Helen Culver, second alto; Miss Mabelle F. Walser, second soprano.

Mina Prentice Borden is a reader of charming talent and did not escape a storm of applause for each rendition.

These ladies will find a warm welcome awaiting their visit should they again come to Rensselaer. Every seat in the house had been reserved before the box office opened that night, and the audience comprised only polite society and musical devotees, and was happily devoid of the element that has so often made attendance at the opera house unbearable by their coarse demonstrations.

It would be unjust to say which of these sweet singers was most appreciated; all are exquisite, talented, refined. They were each repeatedly recalled, and given the warmest applause.

Will Lay The Corner Stone.

The cornerstone of the new Presbyterian church will be laid Tuesday, Oct. 15, the day preceding the dedication of Odd Fellows Hall. There will be special rates on all trains and an immense crowd is expected.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Rondthaler of the Tabernacle church of Indianapolis, renowned orator for such occasions, is expected to be present. Also Rev. Dickey, the synodical superintendent, of Indianapolis, who has many admirers in Rensselaer. Arrangements have been made for a grand street parade, in which all the officials of the county and the various towns and all the several lodges and fraternal societies are expected to participate in body and march in the procession. It will undoubtedly be the grandest religious event in the history of Rensselaer.

The ladies will serve dinner in the Odd Fellows banquet hall.

Fourteen recent real estate transfers made an aggregate of $65,125.
