Attempted Child Murder.

Our neighboring village of Brook, had a sensation last Thursday. One resident of the place, named Sim Tollis, became enraged at his seven-month-old babe, because it was fretful and made too much noise, and almost smothered it to death by holding his hand over its mouth. The frightened mother gave the alarm and when the neighbors arrived the poor infant was more dead than alive, and was revived only after strenuous effort. The brutal father was immediately arrested and bound over to the next term of court by the Justice of Iroquois township.

He was brought here Thursday night and on Friday Deputy sheriff White took him to the Fowler jail, where he will be confined until the February term of court, when he will be tried on the grave charge of attempted murder. It is said that this is the second exploit of Tollis in this direction—he being charged with the death of one of his infant children sometime ago. In view of the brutality of the act, it would seem that the unnatural father should be made to feel the severest penalty of the law.—Kentland Democrat.

Tollis, at one time, was a resident of Rensselaer, and while here an infant child of his was smothered to death in bed.

Tollis was not prosecuted for the deed then, because it was thought to have been done through ignorance.

Farmers Institute.

The annual meeting of the Jasper county Farmers Institute will be held in the court house, February 5 and 6. Every farmer that can possibly attend should do so. Able instructors will be present from abroad, those who are successful, practical and educated farmers.

The subjects to be presented have been selected with reference to our own surroundings.

Farming is fast becoming one of the learned professions, so that there is no room for, unscientific and haphazard farming.

The man that would succeed on the farm must not only know the nature and capabilities of the soil he tills, the character and worth of the stock he raises and the grain he plants, but he must know how, when and where to buy and to sell. To acquaint himself with these fundamental principles of successful farming, the farmer must step out from under his own vine and fig tree, must occasionally come from out his own dung-hill and exchange ideas with his fellows; he must, too, occasionally stand the plow in the furrow, hang the hoe on the fence and turn to agricultural books, market reports and Farmers Institutes. The average farmer that governs himself in his work by his own knowledge and experience, is no match at all for his neighbor, who, through agricultural reading and associations, learns of the ways of the successful and makes proper effort to practice them.

The world is growing old, our soil is wearing, new and noxious weeds are yearly invading our fields, our stock sicken and die, blight and pestilence attack our crops; on every hand the farmer and his farm are violently assailed, so to succeed he must practice the greatest intelligence, vigilance and care. The idea that any man can farm, any one can follow the plow and feed the pigs, has about had its day. Of all the callings in life the farmer should be the most variously accomplished person. His work and his dealings bring him in contact with most every branch of science. It is to be hoped that the farmers of Jasper county will avail themselves of all the benefits that the coming institute can bring.

A Call to Populists.

In obedience to the order of the State central committee of the Peoples party of Indiana, the voters of said party of Newton county are requested to meet at Brook, Indiana, on Saturday, Jan. 25th, 1896, at 1 o'clock p. m., to elect delegates to the congressional meeting to be held at Goodland, Jan. 28th, 1896, and transact such other business as may come before the meeting.

J. U. WILDASIN, Chairman.

FARMERS INSTITUTE

Will be held at the court house, Feb. 5, 1896. A program has been made out and will be supplied freely. In order to make this institute a success it will be necessary for a united effort on the part of country and town people. We will have need of all the help we can get. This will include all occupations, the invitation being not to farmers alone; ministers, lawyers, doctors, merchants, tradesmen, laboring people of all kinds, are invited to attend and take part. Other counties are making this institute work profitable, why can't we? The speakers engaged to lead, on the subjects named in the program, are highly recommended as thoroughly practical men. Our genial postmaster has moved the postoffice into its new quarters on Grove street. It is an improvement in the way of being more commodious. There should be a new walk built to it, however.

It is rumored here that the grand jury proposes to enforce "Sunday closing" in this village on all stores, barber shops, butcher shops, etc. Very well gentlemen, but be sure you are as zealous in this direction at home. "What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander." If you begin, be consistent and "tighten up" all over the county.

MEMORIAL RESOLUTIONS.

Whereas: It has pleased God in his infinite wisdom to remove from our midst our beloved sister, Nora Augusta King, after a lingering illness, patiently borne, thus reminding us that in the midst of life, we are in death. 'Tis but a step from the social circle to the bedside of sorrow and anguish. Death has again entered our circle, broken the chain and removed from our midst one whose membership though brief was beneficial.

Therefore be it Resolved, That though we know words will not heal the bleeding hearts that mourn her loss, yet we would tender our heartfelt sympathy to these stricken ones and bid them to look to a merciful Father who alone can sustain them in this their sad hour of bereavement.

Therefore, Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the record of the lodge, a copy sent to each of the town papers and to the sister and two brothers.

HERE is but one valid reason for expecting liberal patronage from the public, which is that we give as great, or greater, value for the money as can be had elsewhere, either in Rensselaer, competing towns or in Chicago. Failing to do this we do not deserve the trade.
