He delivered two very impressive sermons last Sunday at the Christian church, and both morning and evening the house was filled to its utmost capacity. It is not probable that a regular pastor will be engaged in Rev. Findley's place here for the present, as there is a strong desire to have him return if his health will permit. He had greatly endeared himself to his congregation and they feel his loss severely.

Rensselaer people should show their appreciation of Fountain Park assembly meetings. The grounds are much improved this year. Those furnishing their own tents have ground privileges free. A good sized tent can be rented for entire time of meeting for $2 by applying for some early to Robt. Parker Supt. Remington Ind.

It seems quite probable that an incendiary is chargeable with the burning last Thursday night of the barn on the premises occupied by C. C. Sigler as it is known that the barn has been unoccupied for some time. The fact that burglaries were attempted in other parts of the town while the fire was in progress is strong evidence that the thieves did it.

Our national capital will be thronged this week by thousands of young people. Miss Lizzie French and Miss Maggie Lang will be in attendance from this place. They will be absent about two weeks visiting places of interest in the east.

Gus Phillips is at home for a short vacation from his theatrical work. He has just concluded an engagement that took him through the Black Hills and the wild northwest, Gus will join the Edna May and Cecil Spooner Dramatic Company, managed by B. S. Spooner, father of the two stars named above. It is the finest repertoire company in America, playing only in the large cities and carrying fifteen people. They will begin rehearsals in New York August 10th. Mr. Phillips has risen by hard work and natural ability to an independent station in his field of labor, where his services are sought after on remunerative terms. The theatre going public is destined to hear many and favorable things of Rensselaer's talented histrion. It might be within the realm of possibilities that he retires from the stage and organizes a first class theatre here, which through his knowledge of the business and executive ability could be made so reputable that Rensselaer would gain an enviable name for having good performances. His present engagement is quite remarkable as the Misses Edna May and Cecil Spooner have attained a wide reputation the past two years as the foremost of their class, having this season refused an urgent call to accept an engagement in Europe, and his connection with so popular a company will give him rare advantages for advancement and success.

The July number of the ARENA is fully up to the usual excellent standard of that untrammelled and outspoken Review. The ARENA is unique among magazines in its wide range of subjects, its catholicism and breadth of thought and its fearlessness in dealing with all questions affecting the moral and social well-being of the people. It is essentially a free lance, recognizing allegiance only to the broad principles of truth, justice, and liberty. The opening article of this number entitled "A Just Judge," by J. B. Follet, is of exceeding interest, being an admirably clear and concise sketch of Judge Henry Clay Caldwell, of the United States Circuit Court, one of the most remarkable figures in current American history. His sound views on the money question are especially interesting at the present time. This is a very pronounced number on the money question, the Editor contributing two strong papers, and some ringing editorials on the subject, while H. F. Bartine in an article on "American Financial Policy," refutes in a masterly way the arguments of a recent contributor to The "Forum." Prof. Frank Parsons continues his powerful and convincing series of papers on "The Telegraph Monopoly," and John O. Yeiser furnishes a striking and suggestive paper entitled "Are we becoming a Homeless Nation?" Other articles of general interest are "The Imperial Power in the Realm of Truth," "Thosophy and H. P. Blavatsky," "Woman in Society To-day," "Shall We have a National Sanitarium for Consumptives?" "The Key Cure for Inebriety," "Two Golden Volumes," and "An Interesting Representative of a Vanishing Race," by the Editor. A full page portrait of Judge Henry C. Caldwell forms the frontpiece of this number, which also contains full page portraits of Jay Cooke, Wm. P. St. John, A. M., and Judge Walter Clarke, LL. D., with numerous other illustrations. The serials — "The Valley Path" and "Between Two Worlds" continue to grow in strength, and on the whole the July number shows the ARENA at its best, having a table of contents in which all classes of readers will find something of interest.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out, and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

The Other Fellow's Dollars.

EDITOR OF PILOT: I have received a number of letters from friends and relatives accusing me of infidelity to the "G. O. P.," others saying I was a crazy "Pop" (thank you gentlemen) and will say in return, if your finances are such that you consider one dollar as good as two and the dollar in the other fellows pocket, vote for McKinley and gold.

Of course the Republican congress next winter will pass a bill (if they get "thar") authorizing the fellow who got the dollar to put his picture on the market as money and you can buy one of them for four bushels of wheat, eight bushels of corn or perhaps 100 lbs. of pork. The engraving and printing will be done by the government and they will be very fine pictures. That is all you will ever see of those "sound dollars" you are voting into the other fellow's pocket. B. F. ALTER.

Something to Know.

It may be worth something to know that the very best medicine for restoring the tired out nervous system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bitters. This medicine is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centres in the stomach, gently stimulates the liver and kidneys, and aids these organs in throwing off impurities in the blood. Electric Bitters improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it. Sold for 50c or $1 per bottle at F. B. Meyer's drug store.

Fire.

Last Thursday night about eleven o'clock the fire department was called out to extinguish the flames that had got under headway in the barn on Walter Porter's property, the residence of Tom Sigler, on Main street. By the time the fire company arrived on the scene the fire was beyond control and nothing could be done. Nothing was stalled or stored in the barn and the loss centers in the building alone which was probably worth $300, with no insurance. The fire is supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr. G. Caillouette, druggist, Beaverville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life.
