The Great Wallace Show is strictly up-to-date in all its details and the performance moves with a rush that unfolds new features at every turn. Every artist is a star in his or her particular line. In the five performances thus far given at Central Park, over 58,000 people have been present; last evening it was absolutely necessary to close the doors and refuse further admission, as even standing room could not be secured.—San Francisco Examiner, Sept. 9, 1895.

Obituary.

Nancy Smith, daughter of William and Rebecca Kenton, was born Jan. 1817, in Champaign county, Ohio. In 1835 she was married to John A. Smith and in 1839 the happy couple, leaving Ohio, moved to Barkley township, Jasper county, Indiana, where Mrs. Smith resided until her death, which occurred August 8, 1896. Seven daughters and five sons, four of whom survive her. Those living are William, Rebecca, Mary and Sarah, and all reside in Barkley township. Mrs. Smith was also grandmother to twenty-four children and great grandmother to twenty-two children. Mrs. Smith was a lady of noble Christian character, and was possessed of many rare qualities, especially as a mother. She was also a friend to the orphaned and needy. In 1841 she became a member of the Church of Christ, and her life since that time has been noble and Christian. She lived and died in the fear and love of her savior, and had no fear of death, knowing that she left her earthly home for one of life everlasting with the God who had guarded her life through her many years on earth.

Yes, mother is gone. To the home of the soul.

And the mansions prepared for her rest,

Where she is waiting to greet us, When we'll be called home

To that beautiful home of the blest;

Oh! the joy of that hour

In the celestial bower

When we'll meet to part no more

And our hearts shall be glad

With anthems of praise

To our God on the beautiful shore.
