Cheap Farm Loans.
Call on Valentine Seib, Rensselaer, for the cheapest farm loans offered in Jasper county. Large or small accounts.

Electric Bitters.
Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this has often averted long and perhaps fatal fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malaria poison. Headache, indigestion, constipation, dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle at F. B. Meyer's drug store.

The Garden South.
The South is destined to be, and is rapidly becoming, the garden of the United States. Here life is easiest to live; the rigorous winters do not eat up the fruits of the toil of summer, nor are the summers so trying as many northern people have supposed. "I used to live only half the year" said a northern farmer recently settled in the south, "and I used to work all the time then. Now I work half the time and live all the year through."

Home Cooker's excursion tickets will be sold on the Monon Route to nearly all points in the south at the rate of one first class fare (one way); tickets good returning on any Tuesday or Friday within 30 days from date of sale. Liberal stopovers are allowed. These excursion tickets (and tickets are sold) August 17, 24 and 31; September 1, 14, 15, 22, 29, 30, 19 and 20. Call on W. H. Beaman, agent of the Monon Route, for further particulars.

"The Hub's" Fall Opening.

Chicago's Great Clothing Store Makes a Handsome Display for the Annual Event.

A novel effect in exterior decoration is just now attracting a great deal of attention in Chicago. That well and favorably known clothing store, "The Hub," at State and Jackson streets, Chicago, is the originator of this unique display and the "ninth annual fall opening," the event for which it was prepared. An entire immense business block totally covered with evergreen from the sidewalk line way up to the roof, a solid mountain of deep green foliage, studded with innumerable electric lights, producing an effect that carries one back to memories of World's Fair times, when this enterprising house surprised all America with an electrical display that challenged the admiration of people from all parts of the world. The rapid growth and popularity of "The Hub" is a striking example of Chicago push and enterprise. Unknown and unimportant less than ten years ago, it now enjoys the distinction of being the largest clothing store in the country, if not in the world. The Hub of Chicago carries the largest assortment of ready-made clothing in his part of the country, and the very liberal patronage it enjoys seems to prove that the general public appreciates fully the low prices and upright business methods of this great emporium.

The Gully Exclusively Shoe Store.

Judge Haley has enlarged his shoe store by building an extension for his repair shop. This enlargement gives him a very nice sales room, and he has received this week a large stock of new goods which will give him a very complete line of all kinds of shoes for all kinds of people. The judge has no clerks or rent to pay and these are items that enable him to make lower prices than others can do.

MORE WAGES IF BRYAN WINS.

NOTICE POSTED BY THE MANAGER OF THE CENTRAL CITY STOVE WORKS.

Newark, O., Oct. 5.--Manager Cunningham of the Central City Stove Works has posted a notice at the factory announcing that in the event of Bryan's election the company will at once increase wages 10 per cent.

The Iron Chancellor For Silver.

The fact that two different translations have been made of the now celebrated letter written by the great German statesman, Bismarck, to Ex-Gov. Culberson of Texas, suggested the idea of having a special translation made for the readers of this paper. We selected the talented German scholar, our townsman, Professor C. Haas, than whom no man stands higher for integrity and ability. He is a native German, and his version is eminently correct. The following is his version:

DEAR SIR: Your valued favor of the 10th of July of this year I have received. I always have had a predilection for bi-metallism, without considering myself infallible in opposition to the experts, as I was in office. I still believe to-day that it will be recommendable for the countries principally engaged in the commerce of the world, to strive for an agreement in the direction of bi-metallism.

The United States are economically more free in their government than any single one of the European states, and if North America would find it compatible with its interests to take a self-dependent step in the direction of a double standard, I believe that such a step would be of furthering influence for the establishment of an international agreement and of the following of the European countries. With the assurance of my excellent respect, I am your most devoted servant, von Bismarck.

The above is the strict translation of the letter from Prince Bismarck to Ex-Gov. Culberson of Texas and I, as well as every other person, who speaks and reads the German language, must understand by it, that Prince Bismarck is in favor of bi-metallism both in Europe and America; and the United States being more free in political economy and more self-dependent in their government than any one of the European countries, he advises immediate independent action on the part of the United States, as he believes, that such action would precipitate international agreement.

PROF. C. HAAS.

Labor Must Beg For Work.

Gold-standard advocates admit that free coinage will raise the price of commodities. The laborer then becomes a free man. He no longer stands in fear of losing his job. Labor then becomes free to demand its price, because there is a permanent and increasing demand for it. The permanent adoption of the gold standard will sink prices lower, and there will be less demand for labor. The republican party proposes to sink the prices lower, then try to raise the price of some articles by high protection. This would allow these articles to be furnished the people of this country at a very high price, provided there was enough demand for them. But who is to buy this stuff? The masses of the people will have little money to buy with. Only a portion of the labor of the country can be employed, and the balance must go idle. How is the laborer to demand and receive good wages when not half of the labor of the country can find anything to do? The laborer will be forced to beg for employment at any price.

A Wonderful Campaigner.

Bryan is the world's most marvelous orator; unequalled in any age for physical endurance and fertile capacity, multiplying his speeches always in a fresh vein, and though treating practically the same subject, finding new illustrations and different language. He astonishes the ablest orators and greatest campaigners. No man in American politics has ever equaled the matchless campaign that he has for over 20 months prosecuted, with an energy surprising to believe possible of mortal man. He addresses large audiences from early dawn till late at night, often delivering as many as twenty eloquent, impressive, soul stirring speeches in a day. Nothing has ever so agitated the people as this silver campaign, and they come from a hundred miles to see the great champion of their cause and to hear his magic words. Every where a multitude awaits his coming, patiently standing for hours to catch but a glimpse of the man upon whom they rely so much for relief from their overpowering distress. Never was a people's leader so greatly appreciated as Bryan, though he is whirled through the land with but a stop here and there. He wins the confidence of the crowds that hear his appeals and unflinchingly stands the logician, the debater, the expedient worker, the man in unexpected situations. His speeches are stenographed by a staff of his assistants, and the masterful orator is present to publish his words.

prepared and revised speeches of other speakers.

It was said that Mr. Bryan made his own nominating speech, and it can be said with equal truth that he is now making his electing speeches. May the gallant patriot have health and inspiration to continue to the end of this great struggle of the ballots.

What Free Silver Will Do.

I shall vote for William J. Bryan at the coming election, because I believe that the free coinage of silver will, in the end, stimulate production and therefore create a greater demand for labor. And as the demand increases so will wages increase. The wage-earners who are organized into unions have investigated this question for themselves and they long ago, as the records of congress will bear witness, came to the conclusion that it was to their interest to have free coinage. I agree with them. The fact that a few well-known democrats have deserted their party because of its financial policy only confirms me in my belief. Most of them are millionaires, anyway, and have no real sympathy with the toilers of the country. Mr. Bryan has the confidence of the workers; he has always spoken for them; has defended their rights and supported all legislation intended for their benefit. As between him and the bolting gold men of his party, the laboring man can easily make a choice. He will follow Bryan every time.

Finally, I shall vote the straight democrat ticket, because I believe that wage-earners have everything to gain and nothing to lose from free coinage. Can their condition be any worse than it has been for the last three or four years? The election of McKinley will mean that the present state of affairs is to continue indefinitely; that there is to be no change; that wages will remain low and that work will be as hard to get as ever. If there were no other reasons for voting for free coinage the chance—the probability—that it will result in giving work to the idle would be enough for me.

WEST SIDER.

Chicago, Sept. 25.

The Populists and democrats in Kansas estimate that they will carry that state by at least 25,000 majority.

The Rev. Park A. Bradford has been forced to resign his pulpit at Tyngsboro, Mass., because of his free silver views.

The recent declaration of Prince Bismarck, of Germany, in favor of Bi-metallism is doing much to convert the German American voters in favor of the white metal.

The Veteran Soldiers' Bryan club of Nebraska has adopted resolutions denouncing Generals Seigel, Sickel, Alger et al for their trans-continental tour in the interest of McKinley.

Foot Ball Team.

The following is the line up of the Rensselaer eleven. They put up two stiff practice games last Sunday and are anxious to meet any team from adjoining towns, believing that the honor of Rensselaer can be maintained.

GREETING TO BRYAN

From The European Workers In The Cause of Economic Emancipation.

The following cable message, signed by delegates to the International Agricultural Congress called at Budapest, Hungary, by the Hungarian Minister of Agriculture, was sent to the Democratic candidate for President of the United States last week:

To Mr. William Jennings Bryan, Headquarters Democratic Party, Chicago:

We, the undersigned members of the International Agricultural Congress convened at Budapest, wish you success in your struggle against the domination of the creditor class, which, during the past twenty-three years, has secured, both in America and in Europe, monetary legislation destructive of the prosperity of your farmers and others.

Should you be victorious in November we pledge ourselves to spare no effort to bring immediate pressure upon our respective Governments to co-operate with the Government of your great nation in restoring silver to the world's currency.

We believe that, failing such restoration, the gold premium throughout all Asia and South America will continue to rob the farmer equally of America and Europe of all rewards for his toil, and that your election may avert from Europe serious agrarian and social troubles now impending.

Count Alexander Karolyi, President Hungarian Chamber of Commerce.
D. Bauduin, President Society of Agriculture in Holland.
Alphonse Allard, Administrator Central Chamber of Agriculture in Belgium.
Von Kardorff, member German Reichstag.
George Boutmy, Imperial Society Agriculture, Russia.
William Field, member Parliament and President Irish Cattle Traders' Association.
Count Kolowrat, Austria.
Oto Arendt, member Prussian Diet.
Von Floetz-Dollingen, member German Reichstag.
Henry Segnier, France.
Van Sydon, Dobberrphall, Prussia.
Emil Aschendorff, Prussia.
Leon Raffalovitch, President Azoff Bank of Russia.
F. Raeder, Denmark.

Mr. Thompson Denies.

To the Editor of the People's Pilot:

On Oct. 1, 1896, there was published in your paper several personal allusions to myself, among them the following:

"Mr. Thompson described the silver man as having * an extreme narrowness between the eyes."

The truth is, that in a so called silver convention, which I did not attend, one William Granger, inspired by William Bryan, or some other apostle of the free and unlimited, coined the expression out of his own brain, as his contribution to fusion.

"And for this cause God shall send them strong delusion, that they shall believe a lie." 2 Thess. 2:11. No middle of the road man would believe all he hears. I do not criticize the physical appearance of my fellow citizens.

S. P. THOMPSON.

October 3, 1896.

The editor of the Pilot, equally with other people, is liable to error and impositions, and is anxious to have Mr. Thompson placed right before the public. It is possible that our informant was mistaken, as it is not likely that even Mr. Thompson would accuse a man so recently from the republican party, as Mr. Granger, with any willful misrepresentation, and that Mr. Thompson really meant exactly the reverse to what he was reported to have said. Our understanding of Mr. Thompson's views on the physical appearance of the silver man is, that he is wide between the eyes, has a well proportioned head, and a highly intellectual countenance.
