NEW SHRUB THAT IS A REMEDY.

A Sure Cure for Kidney Diseases and Rheumatism.

It is no doubt true that next to consumption, more people die yearly from diseases of the kidneys than from any other cause. In some respects Kidney disease is the most dangerous of all maladies, because it usually has made much progress before the victim is aware of its existence. It is, therefore, with great pleasure we commend to our readers the recent discovery in East India of the Kava-Kava shrub, which has proved a most powerful remedy for diseases of the kidneys, rheumatism, or other ailments caused by uric acid in the blood. The cures wrought by this new remedy are indeed most remarkable. Many who have suffered from the most severe forms of the disease, have been completely cured in from twenty to forty days by the Kava-Kava shrub. In the New York Weekly World of Sept. 10th, the testimony of Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., of Washington, D. C., was given, describing his years of suffering from Kidney disease and Rheumatism, and his rapid cure by Alkavis. Rev. John H. Watson of Sunset, Texas, a minister of the gospel of thirty years' service, was struck down at his post of duty by Kidney disease. After hovering between life and death for two months, and all his doctors having failed, he took Alkavis, and was completely restored to health and strength and is fulfilling his duties as minister of the gospel. Mr. R. C. Wood, a prominent attorney of Lowell, Indiana, was cured of Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder disease of ten years' standing by Alkavis. Mr. Wood describes himself as being in constant misery, often compelled to rise ten times during the night on account of weakness of the bladder. He was treated by all his home physicians without the least benefit and finally completely cured in a few weeks by Alkavis. The testimony is undoubted and really wonderful. Any of our readers who are so unfortunate as to suffer from Kidney disorders or Rheumatism should write to the Church Kidney Cure Co., of 422 Fourth avenue, New York, who will gladly send them free by mail prepaid a Large Case of the Kava-Kava Compound, so that they can test its value for themselves. This generous free offer is made to prove the wonderful curative powers of this new botanic discovery.

The children were mustered by fire drill and safely marched out, but many lost their books and wraps. The loss falls heavily upon the school district, the building being complete in all its equipments.

The litigation over the right of Hammond to tax the Forsyth tracts of land in the fourth ward began during the world's fair and the city won both in the Circuit and Supreme Courts. While seeking subscriptions Dr. Payne ordered the doors of the church locked, to the indignation of quite a number who were ready to go out.

The Rev. R. G. Rosecamp, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Kokomo, has resigned. He was a great admirer of athletics and a very active republican, which caused dissatisfaction; besides which a part of the congregation wanted to employ a cheaper man.

AWAY TWENTY-SIX YEARS.

Left Wife and Daughter and Went West to Seek a Fortune.

This might have been an Enoch Arden tale, but it isn't. Indeed, it would have been if the Mary of this incident had married a second time. But Mary didn't, says the New York World. Thirty years ago they came to Vineland, N. J., and set up their household goods in the midst of the pine forests. There were Captain Moses B. Lucas, an old-time ship captain, retired, his good wife, Mary B. Lucas, M. D., graduate of the Boston schools, and their daughter Lucy. They bought a farm tract, built a little house and set to work to clear away the woodland. Two years of this satisfied the old sea captain, in whose veins flowed the roving blood of a seafaring man. One day he faced the good wife, satchel in hand.

"I'm goin' out west, Mary," said he, "to seek my fortune. It's too dead rusty here to suit me."

They sent him away with tears and blessings. After he had gone Dr. Lucas braced herself for a bout with fate. She decided to clear the land herself, and as her skirts discommoded her she put on bloomers, the first in all likelihood in south Jersey, and her daughter, when she reached womanhood, followed suit. Ignorant people gazed the two lone women. Boys threw stones at them. But the Lucases kept on, and in the course of years they carved a fine little farm out of their woodland tract.

Once in a great while there was an opportunity for Mrs. Lucas to practice her profession, and when the village of Pleasanton arose on the site of what was a single store she secured quite a neat little practice. Years passed. No word from the captain. The woman mourned him as dead. Recently there stepped from a train at Vineland a gray-haired, well-to-do looking man of 76.

"Know a party by the name of Lucas—Mary B.?" he asked of a hackman.

"To be sure," said the latter. "Git right in." And the nag was soon hobbling over the roads toward Pleasantville. Enoch Arden—for it was he—stuck his head out of the window and gaped. What had been rough pine woods was now well-cleared farms.

At his own door the vehicle drew up. Two elderly women in bloomers, partly covered by their short gingham aprons, came out.

"Must be a mistake. Drive on," said Captain Lucas.

"No, this is the place," said the driver.

The old man looked again. "What! Mar, is that you?" he asked.

"For the love of heaven, it's Moses!" she cried. "Welcome home, my dear. But weren't you a long time coming?"

Hand and hand they went into the house. No chance for an Enoch Arden situation. Lucas told them that he was a lumberman of Eureka, Cal., and had plenty of money to make them comfortable the rest of their lives.

WEBSTER STATUE DEFACED.
Visitors to the Capitol Use It to Strike Matches On.

Daniel Webster's statue at the capitol is having a hard time of it, and the police are scurrying about in frantic endeavor to suppress a new form of desecrating the marble representation of the great orator, says the Pittsburg Dispatch.

When it was put in position the representatives of his native state were delighted over the fact that although the statue is a small one, because Daniel himself was undersized, it was advantageously located at the very entrance to statutory hall, the large room which was once the house of representatives, which echoed to his eloquence prior to his senatorial days.

Unfortunately for the friends of Daniel, the statue was altogether too conspicuous, and it became a favorite point of attack for struggling visitors with unlighted cigars. Not long ago some vandal scratched a match on the tail of Daniel's coat, and later another mark of sulphur was discovered across his foot. Both of the offenders were arrested and released on payment of a small deposit, which they promptly forfeited, but the attention of the police has at last been diverted from the Pere Marquette statue, which now rests in all its marble loveliness free from attack by religious fanatics, and they give all their time to watching people with unlighted cigars as they pass Webster's statue, and the man who incautiously draws a match from his pocket at the critical moment is pretty certain to be pounced upon by one of the blue-coated guardians of the capitol and warned that it is forbidden to scratch a match on even the innermost recesses of the clothing or limbs of the great expounder of the constitution.

Bear Trapped Himself.
While William Delong of Cammal, Pa., was driving along the road with his butcher wagon, a bear smelt him and began to follow him. The rear door was open and coming up behind, Bruin calmly climbed in and commenced chewing on a leg of mutton. His paw struck the lever which closes the door. It shut with a bang, and Delong, to his intense surprise, found that he had live as well as dead meat aboard. The bear tried his best to escape, but couldn't, and Delong drove four miles to Cammal, where the animal was shot, and converted into steaks.

A Very Sad Case.
"Please to give me something to eat, sir," says an old woman. "I had a blind child—he was my only means of subsistence—and the poor boy has recovered his sight."

One Family's Fattities.
Six children of John McGrath of Seneca, Kan., were drowned recently. Eleven of the McGrath family have met death by drowning within two years.

A WOMAN'S BODY.

What Its Neglect Leads to. Mrs. Chas. King's Experience.

A woman's body is the repository of the most delicate mechanism in the whole realm of creation, and yet most women will let it get out of order and keep out of order, just as if it were of no consequence. Their backs ache and heads throb and burn; they have wandering pains, now here and now there. They experience extreme lassitude, that don't-care and want-to-be-left-alone feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness and the blues, yet they will go about their work until they can scarcely stand on their swollen feet, and do nothing to help themselves.

These are the positive fore-runners of serious worst complications, and unless given immediate attention will result in untold misery, if not death.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will, beyond the question of a doubt, relieve all this trouble before it becomes serious, and it has cured many after their troubles had become chronic.

The Compound should be taken immediately upon the appearance of any of these symptoms above enumerated. It is a vegetable tonic which invigorates and stimulates the entire female organism, and will produce the same beneficial results in the case of any sick woman as it did with Mrs. CHAS. KING, 1815 Rosewood St., Philadelphia, Pa., whose letter we attach:

"I write these few lines, thanking you for restoring my health. For twelve years I suffered with pains impossible to describe. I had bearing-down feelings, backache, burning sensation in my stomach, chills, headache, and always had black specks before my eyes. I was afraid to stay alone, for I sometimes had four and five fainting spells a day. I had several doctors and tried many patent medicines. Two years ago I was so bad that I had to go to bed and have a trained nurse. Through her, I commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I never had anything give me the relief that it has. I have taken eight bottles, and am now enjoying the best of health again. I can truthfully say it has cured me."
