West's Liver Pills cure Sick Headache.

CITY AND COUNTY.

Circuit Court will adjourn Saturday.

We are glad to learn that Mr. Henry Wolf is convalescing.

Our thanks are due Hon. John H. Baker for valuable public documents.

Mr. Baxter is preparing to erect a new dwelling house in the east part of town.

James Butler spent a portion of last week visiting relatives at Fort Wayne.

Joseph Decker, who has been clerking for G. Wolf, has gone to Valparaiso.

Children's meeting at the M. E. Church next Sunday morning at nine o'clock.

Mrs. Haines, of Argos, mother of Mrs. S. D. Taber, of this city, was not expected to live yesterday.

Sunday School at Reformed church at 9:30 a. m. Preaching by Rev. J. B. Henry at 10:30 a. m.

Our educational column did not go up this week, for the manuscript was burned up by accident.

It is not necessary for us to state that the weather is warm and the snow gone; our correspondents do that subject justice.

Those owning hogs in the city limits are hereby notified that they must enclose them immediately.

M. Burns, Deputy Marshal.

A drunken fight is said to have occurred at the hotel across the river Tuesday night. We have not learned the names of the parties engaged in it.

Van Valkenburg was in Ft. Wayne Tuesday. The result of his visit was a good dinner, at a hotel or restaurant, but we don't know which, how Van seems well pleased.

It is rumored that John W. Thomas will probably buy the Mueller property near Shoemaker's mill, remove the old buildings and erect on the site one of the finest brick mills in this part of the State.

Tribbey & Bennett are now furnishing their customers beef from stall-fed cattle, and we speak what we know when we say that better beef cannot be bought in this or any other city here.

We have been crowded with job work during the last ten days, but are now prepared to turn out work as rapidly as our patrons desire. The Republican office is the place to get the best work at reasonable prices.

Our column of personal mention of paying subscribers is crowded out this week. Quite a number of new subscribers have enrolled and several old ones renewed; all have our thanks and we shall find room for the names at least next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Vinson Brownlee, residing near Maxinkuckee celebrated their golden wedding yesterday. Fifty years of married life seems a long time to the young, but to Mr. and Mrs. Brownlee, looking back over the past, the time no doubt seems short. Mr. Brownlee is a brother of Hugh and Johnson Brownlee of this city.

For thirty days we will give the New York Weekly Atlas, a forty-eight column paper, and the REPUBLICAN one year for $2.40. See advertisement of Weekly Atlas in another column.

A. L. Wheeler lost his gold cased spectacles, Tuesday, which caused him considerable uneasiness, but Tom Siler found them on the street and he is all right again, able to see just as well as any other man.

Richard Humphrey, who was in jail here about six months, and was afterward sentenced to the penitentiary for horse stealing, has been granted a new trial by the Supreme Court, after serving fourteen months of his sentence.

Services at St. Thomas' church on Sunday next as follows: Morning prayer and litany at 9 a. m.; sermon and holy communion at 10:30; evening prayer at 7 p. m. A temperance sermon will be delivered in the evening.

John Henry, the man that went through J. S. Bender's house, and afterward tried to burn the jail, is confined in the jail at LaPorte, and will not be tried until next term of court. Humphreys, who was granted a new trial by the Supreme Court, is in jail here, and cannot be tried again until next term.

The PLYMOUTH REPUBLICAN gets better with every issue. There is nothing like making an editor feel happy and have the means whereby to meet every obligation, then he can devote his attention to the wants of his readers and make them a first-class paper.—Stark County Enterprise.

Senator Reeve, of Plymouth, introduced a bill which provides that no official shall be peculiarly interested in any contract or work done for the State. This is a direct stroke at Governor Williams' cattle transactions, and the bill is spoken of as "an act to prevent sales of steers by Blue Jeans."—Goshen Times.

At their regular meeting last Monday evening, the Good Templars elected the following officers for the ensuing year: W. C. T. Ed. S. Brooke; W. V. T. Miss Mattie Morrill; W. S. T. J. Whitmore; W. T. Mrs. S. C. Alteman; W. F. S. Wm. Funk; W. C. Rev. J. B. Henry; W. M. Wm. Young; W. L. G. Lizzie Flossenzier; W. O. G. Lewis Stout.

Harlan & Late, builders, of Indianapolis, brought suit against O. W. Babcock to recover an account they claimed due and to enforce a mechanics lien on the building occupied by Buck & Toan. The case elicited considerable interest, and was this week decided by the Circuit Court in favor of the plaintiffs. Judgment, $314.45 and costs.

No clue to the whereabouts of Charles Flory has yet been obtained. A story was circulated in some parts of the county that Flory was in Canada and had sent a telegram to the sheriff boasting of his escape. Every one should know that such statements are false, as only a fool would telegraph to an officer who was seeking him, the place where he could be found.

The Superintendent of the Indiana Soldiers' Orphans' Home, Knightstown, Ind., says: "If there are any children in your county whose father's were in the late war and have since died, who are destitute and need homes, we can admit three or four. We prefer orphans, the law makes no provision for those whose fathers are living."

Hon. H. G. Thayer has the nicest, best arranged and finest office in Plymouth, but Hon. A. L. Wheeler is now fitting up an office in the bank building which will, probably, in some respects, surpass Mr. Thayer's. The floor of Mr. Wheeler's office will be laid in diamonds of black walnut and ash, and altogether fitted up in a style equal to any private office in northern Indiana.

The Hon. Charles H. Reeve, the Senator from the Plymouth district, has been covered with glory by the Lieutenant-Governor of the State. He is made a member of the Committee on the Judiciary, banks, canals, internal improvements and swamp lands, fees and salaries and phraseology, arrangement, enrollment of bills and unfinished business, &c. Such honors ought to make him Governor.—Valparaiso Messenger.

"Job Flint," (C. F. Green) the humorist, did not leave Plymouth in the best humor imaginable. Only fourteen persons attended his lecture Friday night, and ten of those had complimentary tickets. From those who were there we learn that the lecture was better than many others that have been well patronized. He struck Plymouth at the wrong time. The Agnes Wallace combination and the drama presented by the Good Templars having occupied almost the week previous, and a temperance lecture free to all on the same evening, left no room for Mr. Green.

A gasoline heater in Singler & Eich's tin shop exploded Monday morning, almost causing serious results. John Wright discovered a leakage, and was trying to stop it when the flame burst out at the top. He immediately placed his hand over the cap with the hope of smothering the flame, but the heat compelled him to remove it almost instantly, badly burned. The flames then burst out, the burning oil spreading almost over the room. Prompt work on the part of the hands, however, subdued the fire and prevented any damage of consequence. Gasoline is in our opinion always dangerous, and the utmost caution is required of those who use it.

The February number of Harper's Magazine is at hand, and is, if possible, better than usual. Among the articles of interest are "Treasures of the Deep," "Rambles in the South of France," "Admiral Paulding," "Winter Sports in Canada," &c. These articles are all illustrated, and every one knows Harper's illustrations are superior to those of any other magazine. This magazine is one of the best in the world. Send for it, $4.00 per annum. Address Harper & Brothers, New York.

The comments of some newspapers in this vicinity, relative to the burning of the Tippecanoe town wool-mills, seems to be upon a money basis, having the "wrong pig by the ear." The man Bates, to whom the credit of detecting Flory is given by these papers, is not entitled to any sympathy, except it be from friends of Flory. Those who know best believe that if not as guilty as Flory in the eye of the law, he is in full accord and sympathy with him. The credit belongs to a member of the Chicago police.

"Rum; or, the First Glass," was the drama presented by members of the L. O. G. T. to large and appreciative audiences last Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Had this drama been presented by professionals claiming to be "stars," it would not, perhaps, have received many encomiums, but presented by an amateur home troupe, it surpassed expectation. There was much to commend, and in some respects it was superior to the plays usually presented by professionals. The drama was not what it ought to have been to begin with. Mr. Milroy was induced to take the first glass far too easily for a good temperance man, and there were other points of which we now have not time to speak which the actors could not remedy. But there were some things added to the original plan of the drama, which made it far more entertaining than it could have been otherwise. The songs between acts which were arranged by the committee, were, we have no doubt, appreciated by all. Among the points to commend was the perfection with which all had committed to memory the parts assigned them. The management also was perfect, and the time between scenes less than usual, even with professionals. Everything moved right along, the audience was never allowed to become impatient waiting for the curtain to rise. This of itself would cover a multitude of faults. But where were the faults? Some one asks. The faults were in the acting; while many did well, there was much that was not true to nature. As will always be the case, when a troupe is formed from persons who are inexperienced, some were assigned parts to which they were not adapted, and while they lacked distinction, it was plain to be seen they were only trying to act a part. They could not forget themselves and make the feelings and emotion of an individual, placed in the position in which the real actors of such a drama would be placed, their own. We shall not particularize now. There were many who did well, exceedingly well, considering the time that they had for preparation, and the fact that there was no trained elocutionist or actor among them to teach them. If the same persons should again present a drama, we have no doubt it would be much better, and we can say, without danger of being accused of a desire to flatter or please those who took part in the drama, that it was, taken all together, played better and gave better satisfaction than is given by one amateur combination in a dozen. The great applause and the large audience which greeted them the second evening is evidence of this fact, and if they should again attempt an entertainment of the same kind, it will be hailed with delight by the citizens of Plymouth.

Mrs. Baxter & Co. have removed their Millinery, Dress making & Hair-dressing establishment to Krou's old stand, four doors north of Wheeler's Bank. They have now the finest establishment of the kind in the city and will be pleased to meet all of their old customers and a host of new ones, knowing that they can please all who call on them.

INWOOD.

BY EQUINOX.

Died, Jan. 19, 1879, of consumption, Mrs. Mary Ellis.

Last Thursday, Mr. George Barlow, in company with one of his boys, went into the woods just back of his house for the purpose of getting a load of wood. Mr. Barlow picked up a limb, and making the remark, "I am on the wrong side," he fell to the ground dead. He leaves a wife and three children to mourn his untimely death. The physician pronounced it heart disease.

ARGOS.

There is some talk of another bakery in Argos.

John Lowery, of Green township, is on the sick list.

Prof. Lawrence's course of lectures in Argos was a success. He goes to Rochester this week.

Died, Jacob Shero, Saturday, Jan. 25th, 1879. Funeral at Argos, conducted by Rev. S. McNeely.

WOLF CREEK.

BY L. T. W.

Rain fell Monday, the snow has left, and the waters of Wolf creek and Yellow river are slashing along at a lively rate.

Anna Hand, a young lady about twenty years old, died last Friday night of typhoid and lung fever.

On Sunday night, while at Church, Mr. J. J. Thompson had one of his horses' harness cut and the other one unhitched by some heartless wretches. Fortunately no accident happened to the team.

The District Reporter, edited by Rev. R. D. Utter, comes to a goodly number at Wolf Creek. It is a good paper. The next quarterly meeting will be held at Wolf Creek about the middle of February.

The projected meeting is still in progress at Wolf Creek Church, conducted by Revs. Jones, Bussert and Atkinson. The church is packed to its utmost capacity night after night, and many have taken passage on board the old ship Zion.

NORTH TOWNSHIP.

SCAPE GOAT.

All of our mills are well supplied with logs.

Morgan Johnson, of LaPaz, has bought and shipped a large amount of wheat during the last month.

At this writing our beautiful snow is gone. Mud and water, bad colds and coughs have taken its place.

Mr. Gregg, of Plymouth, is buying bolts, and preparing to manufacture a large quantity of staves at LaPaz.

Mrs. "Scape Goat" is rejoicing because the snow is gone. She says her hens lay now. She always was a philosopher.

The West township correspondent is seeking a cure for cars. We give a prescription that will never fail: Quit wearing tight boots, live religiously, read the county papers, and pay for them promptly.

Everybody has been on their good behavior in this township for a month past and we could not get an item unless we tell the people that we have had very cold weather, and we think they have realized that.

Little Arthur White, three years old, got out of bed the oldest night this winter except one, having on only a thin muslin gown, and walked one hundred yards to the barn, then the same distance to the public road, thence about fifty yards across to a neighbors house, and felt as well as ever when he got warm.

WEST TOWNSHIP.

I Bear is the happy father of a little Bear.

E. Ames and wife were visiting at Linkville, Saturday.

Ben Frank and May Kaufman were married last week.

The Wesleyans held a protracted meeting at Silgo with fair results.

There will be a geographical match at the West school house next Friday evening.

If all reports are true, we have moonshiners in this township. They are distilling apple-jack out of hard cider.

Died—Last Sunday, of brain fever, Mrs. Yerrick, the wife of Joseph Yerrick. The deceased leaves a large family of small children.

The West school is a head in the way of spelling and geographical matches. The last spelling match Mrs. L. C. Ames was the champion speller, and at the geographical match they think Henry Hamilton came out first best, last Friday evening.

Next Sunday will be Candlemas, or ground-hog day as it is termed. Much importance was attached to the weather of this day for ages, and still the superstition is preserved and believed to a great extent. A distich says:

"If Candlemas day be dry and fair,
The half of winter's work is o'er;
If cloudy day be wet or foul,
The half of winter's work is o'er."

MARMONT.

ORA PRO NOBIS.

The Lakeview houses are all filled, with as fine ice as was ever stored.

Hiram Saylor has gone to Arkansas.

Frank Harris has become a resident of Marmont.

Fishing tackle have been in big demand since the thaw began, however, the sportsmen usually come in with fisherman's luck.

J. W. Quick and D. W. Miller contemplate starting a saw-mill at Marmont at an early day. They purchased a new engine in Chicago last week. Quite a large number of logs are now on the site near where the mill is to stand. We wish the gentlemen abundant success. This enterprise has been a long felt want here. Who will be the person to build a first-class hotel here? Not first-class in point of management but in its appointments.

"Compulsory Education," the last question discussed by the Marmont Literary Society, received quite a prolix handling. It was discussed affirmatively by Neithorn, Dumont, Cavender and Fife. Negatively by Bernhisel, Shaw, and Dr. Dunlap; a number of the speakers occupying half an hour each. Judging from the full house every night, the spacious room of the academy being filled to repletion with eager spectators, the society is appreciated by the public. We regret to note that there are yet in this land of freedom and progress a few fogies and ecclesiastical bigots, who will violate the bird, the fish and any other laws with impunity and regard it as right and proper, but to attend a literary society, or even permit their children to go, they think would incur a condemnation that would send them to irretrievable perdition, misery and woe without judge or jury.

Died, at Argos, Jan. 26, of croup Charles Shaffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shaffer, aged four years and ten months.

A. W. Jiggs has sold his house and lot in the First ward to Mr. W. J. Beebe, of Laketon, Wabash county, Ind.

Do not forget the Sunday School Convention at the Argos M. E. Church, February 4th and 5th, 1879. An interesting meeting is expected.

Among the N. C. T. U. officers elected is R. M. Williams, President, who has served for three successive terms. It just suits my complexion, for I am a third term man all over.

The temperance union at Argos is doing a good work in our midst, and the interest is increasing. The Wednesday evening meeting of last week was the most interesting one of this winter. Our brethren of the Inwood and Walnut unions were present and helped the meeting along with speeches and remarks. Finley Edmunds, of Rochester, and Mr. Vigus, of Logansport, gave some excellent speeches, and on last Sabbath Prof. Lawrence gave the union a rousing lecture at the M. E. Church.

Greene Township Teacher's Institute.

The institute convened at Hickory Grove school house, Saturday, Jan. 25th, and was called to order by J. L. Atkinson, president. Teachers all present as usual. The programme was disposed of as follows:

First—History, by W. L. Fish. Mr. Fish teaches history and geography in connection.

Second—Geography, by M. O'Brien. He believes in object teaching, favors "topic map drawing," denounced education by "rote or word stuffing," believes that the pupil should be taught to think.

Third—Penmanship, Charles Pucsek, explained his method of teaching by principals. A splendid penman.

Afternoon Session.

How to Prevent Tardiness, J. L. Atkinson. He prevented tardiness by having an interesting lesson in the morning, and getting his pupils interested. The subject was ably discussed, and several plans presented, but Miss Martindale and Mr. O'Brien believe that unless the pupils get up before nine o'clock the pupils will not get to school at that time.

The dinner was excellent, for which the teachers united in a vote of thanks to the citizens.

Truly, the most important adulterations to avoid are those which are calculated to injure the "staff of life." The Constitutional Catarrh Remedy does something more than merely repress or suspend the symptoms of the disease—reaching its constitutional causes, and restoring the vitality, which is the natural antagonist of sickness and physical decay. Because when the animal powers and the capacity for mental exertion are weakened for the time being either by convivial indulgence or any other debilitating agency, it speedily restores the equilibrium of the system, and the ability to think and labor. Hon. S. S. Cox has introduced a bill in the national House of Representatives, which provides that the census takers shall be appointed by the Governors of States instead of the Secretary of the Interior.
