

The Republican.

J. W. SIDERS, Editor.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 14th, 1879.

Confidence is restored in Montreal and the run on the banks has subsided, but greenbacks command a premium.

There is but little news to report in regard to the yellow fever, save that it is rapidly increasing at Memphis both in and out of the city.

Hendricks is in New York, trying to organize a boom. He declares positively that he will not accept a nomination for Vice President. Hendricks will know in less than a year from now, what everybody else knows now—that he is a "dead duck."

A paragraphist in Ohio calls our Daniel W. Voorhees the "Bawl Talk-anore of the Chawbush." If Daniel ever gets into Ohio, and makes that speech against resumption which he promised us last September, that paragraphist will never try to talk any more.

English financiers predict that large amounts of gold will be sent from England to the United States within the next few weeks to pay for American produce. America's good time is coming and we shall soon get back the wealth that foreign nations received from us during the rebellion.

The great Greenback party, that we were told was going to sweep Kentucky like a prairie fire, failed to put in an appearance in many counties in that State at the election Monday of last week. The exact vote is not yet returned, but it is not probable that more than one voter in a hundred voted the Greenback ticket.

The Tammany Hall Democrats of New York have adopted a resolution declaring that they will under no circumstances support Lucius Robinson if the Democrats nominate him for Governor. This may be considered as an official notice that they will not support Tilden for President, as Robinson is Tilden's man for Governor. But Samuel can bring them to terms if his barrel holds out.

The steamship City of London, which sailed from New York Saturday, took out, among other freight, 500 head of cattle, 72,000 bushels of grain, and a large quantity of miscellaneous provisions. The golden eagles are coming home from Europe, while the glorious time is making the corn boom. That's why "Buck Pomeroy and Phil Corcoran have the colic." The good times are coming and the Greenback party is "hosed."

The States that vote this fall will show how the Greenback party is dying. Eleven States hold State elections this fall, and we expect the Greenback party to get at least 1,000,000 votes. This is less than a third of the States of the Union, and it we get 1,000,000 votes from them, we will get about a million in 1880.—Boston Herald.

One of those States Kentucky has voted and the Greenbackers did not get as many votes in the entire State as they obtained in a single county. At this rate the Greenback party will cease to exist before 1880. Truly the vote shows that the Greenback party is dying.

A disagreeable affair took place at Narragansett Pier on Friday last between Senator Conkling and Governor Sprague, of Rhode Island. Sprague ordered Conkling to leave his house and threatened to shoot him if he ever crossed his path again. It seems that Conkling on the part of Sprague was the real cause of the trouble. Sprague's wife is the daughter of the late Chief Justice Chase, and is one of the most talented and ambitious women of the nation. Conkling's friends claim that Sprague was excited in regard to a music teacher named Link, but there seems to be but little room for doubt that Sprague was angry because of the attention paid his wife by Conkling. The affair has caused intense excitement in the East, and hundreds of stories are all at war with regard to the story.

At the municipal election in Chicago last spring, the Chicago News, an independent paper which usually leans toward the Republican party, supported Carter Harrison, the Democratic candidate for Mayor. By a combination of Democrats, Greenbackers and Independents, Harrison was elected. Ever since he went into office nine out of every ten men that voted for him have been cursing him. For months the News and other independent papers that supported him have been remonstrating with him for his extreme partisan conduct. The Times has alone stood by him, but it can no longer stand the storm, and acknowledges that Harrison is a failure. Perhaps the Republicans of Chicago have learned a lesson that will do them good in the future, and teach them what has been taught dissatisfied Republicans throughout the Union, that to desert the Republican party is to ruin the country. The Daily News says: "We never doubted the honesty of Mr. Harrison, supposing that a lack of common sense was responsible for his assistance. But in the light of recent events it is hardly to be assumed, either by him or by the people of Chicago, that we can continue to look upon him as a man of truth or strict integrity. Mr. Harrison has himself to blame for the utter failure of his administration. He allowed that dreadful disease, the big-head, to gain too much headway. The result is, that if Mayor Harrison should appeal to the people to-morrow he would not receive 500 votes."

A Democratic member of the City Council of Quincy, Ill., has introduced a resolution to abolish the high school of that city, and not allow much learning in the other schools. The preamble to the resolution declares among other things that "Our best public writers begin to admit that a nation highly educated is not strong politically, or prosperous and happy socially, on account of their heads being full to overflowing with all sorts of impracticable theories." That fellow is a genuine Democrat who understands that education and intelligence will eventually wipe the Democratic party out of existence.

One hundred and seventy-two children under one year old died in Detroit during the month of July. This alarming mortality led to an investigation which showed that a large majority of those that had died were not nursed but were fed on dairy milk which had been adulterated by the use of fine white clay. The object of the adulteration was to give the milk a rich, creamy appearance, but it was death to the unfortunate little ones who were compelled to drink. Some of the dairymen have been arrested, and it is said that others will be. There is no punishment too severe for such persons. It is said that every quart of the adulterated milk would, in five or six hours, deposit half a teaspoonful of sediment. It seems that parents who would allow the use of such milk were almost criminally negligent to not know that it was adulterated.

For nearly three years the Democratic papers and speakers have lost no opportunity to denounce John Sherman, for contracting the currency. But Sherman has gone along quietly attending to his own business, paying no attention to their denunciations. All the time the currency has been increasing gold has been accumulating and times have been getting better. These men see now that it is useless to longer call John Sherman a contractionist, and a new programme has been agreed upon. The New York World leads off in accusing Sherman of infatuation. It is not probable that next year every Democrat will swear that Sherman is the boss inflationist and that the Democratic party has always been in favor of nothing but hard money.

Indiana's darling, Daniel W. Voorhees, will stamp the State in favor of hard money only, and "Buck Pomeroy, Sam Cary and all the Greenback leaders will assist him. If Samuel J. Tilden will just open his barrel and pay them what they think their services are worth. It is a privilege freely exercised by both the Democratic and Greenback parties, to change principles whenever they think that they have anything to gain by so doing.

Nasty is in Ohio waiting and praying for an early frost to destroy the corn in that State. He thinks this is the only chance for Democratic success in October. His report is to this effect: "It is a corn country, and the farmers depend upon that crop for the chief of their profits. If the Lord would only take pity on the Democrats and send a heavy frost, a regular black frost, this month, I should be some show. It would derange things and tear up matters to such an extent that it would give us a chance. But then the wheat crop was so heavy that I am not so sure that even the little destruction by the corn crop would save us. The hog cholera can't come off soon enough, and a z burlesque and horses, I never saw so disgustingly healthy." Weaver, the Greenback Congressman of Iowa, months ago exhorted his brethren to pray for a drought in Iowa that would cut short the crops. For awhile it seemed that the corn crop would be injured coast-wind by the dry weather, but the recent rains have blasted the hopes of Weaver, Carey, Pomeroy, and the lesser lights who have grown rich off the laboring men who have paid them fifty dollars a day for lying. They gnash their teeth because their occupation is gone, and their deluded victims feel like a man who has lost half that he was worth betting against a third card monte man.

Washington Letter.
Washington, Aug. 8, 1879.
The amount of principle to be found in the average Maine Democrat is surprisingly small. At present the papers of the party, with one honorable exception, are pretending to support the candidate of the party, while doing all they can for the election of another. The people of Maine are too intelligent, and have too much respect for common honesty, to countenance a fraud like this. The flury of last year is a great mass over, and the rule of reason and common sense is returning. It is believed that not only will the Legislature be Republican in both branches, but the Republican candidate for Governor will be elected by the people. To do this latter will require a majority, but it is believed that a majority will be forthcoming.
That was an amusing mistake made by General Ewing, who, when he went to Ohio to meet defeat at the hands of Foster, made arrangements to have the State flooded with printed speeches from this city. He left "trunks" for the purpose. But by some mistake his subordinates filled up the trunks with sound Republican documents, and sent them broadcast among the men Ewing was depending upon for votes. But Ewing was bound to be beaten, any way, and cannot by defeat, when it comes, to a little mistake like this.
The revenue from customs for 1879 was greater than for 1870, and that for 1878 greater than that for 1877. But though the receipts increased every year the cost of collection decreased. These are facts which it is well to remember. In the Internal Revenue branch of the Treasury, an examination has been made of the returns of 121 of the 126 collectors, and besides the great and increasing efficiency of administration shown, it has been found that not one of the officials have stolen, misappropriated or withheld a penny. This is another fact Republicans and Democrats, as well, should bear in mind.

The Bankers' Convention at Saratoga seems to be a great success, over a thousand delegates, coming from all parts of the country, being in attendance, and the proceedings are of greater interest than those of any previous year.

News of the Week Condensed.
Rev. Newman Hall has obtained a divorce from his wife in London.

Gr shoppers are making their appearance in alarming numbers in Wisconsin.

Alexander Hesse, the eminent French painter, died in Paris, Monday, aged 73 years.

Frederick P. King died of yellow fever in Brooklyn, N. Y. He contracted the disease at Havana.

Twenty-five thousand United States gold eagles, worth $250,000, are now on their way to New York from England.

The London Standard's Paris correspondent states that a St. Petersburg letter shows an enormous increase of the number of Stillists in Russia.

The silver market is improving in London under the statement that Germany is willing to negotiate with the United States concerning the bimetallic standard.

The London Times says it is understood that large amounts of United States funded bonds are freely taken up there on American account and shipped to New York.

A call has been issued for a Prohibition State Convention at Altoona, Pa., the 9th of September, and it is expected that a State ticket will be nominated and an address issued.

During the last week the deposit of bonds to increase bank circulation has exceeded the withdrawal of circulation by nearly 200,000. The increase is almost equal to the entire increase for the previous month.

A dispatch to the London Standard from Rome says that in the recent correspondence between the Vatican and Prince Bismarck it has been agreed to observe reciprocal secrecy until the conclusion of the present treaties.

Paul Boyton has accepted the challenge of Capt. Webb, of England, to a swimming match, twenty miles, or more, for $50 a side, or upward. Boyton is to use his suit and paddle, while Webb is to swim naked in water devoid of current.

A man giving the name of Robert E. Stewart was arrested at Newark, O., Friday night for attempting to obtain money from Masons. He had letters from prominent Masons in the East, supposed to be forgeries, by which he victimized Masons in several towns in the vicinity.

A new disease has broken out among the horses in Shelby county, Ind., and several have died. When they are attacked the body becomes stiff, the joints are rigid and the muscles relax, the animals fall, and in most cases die. So far it has baffled all treatment. One man has had five sick at one time.

Reports from Titus county, Texas, are to the effect that Jeff Hopkins outraged a white woman, and then murdered her and her infant daughter, and set fire to their house to conceal the crime. The charred skeletons of the woman and child were found in the ruins, with four buckshot in the woman's back.

Benny W. Hawkins, aged 9 years, died in Chicago, on Sunday of hydrophobia. About a week ago while playing with his brother a young New Foundland dog joined them in a romp and Benny got some of the dog's saliva on his hands. Three of his fingers had some small cuts in them, made with a knife, and the saliva got in them. On Saturday he was seized with every symptom of hydrophobia, and after hours of the most agonizing suffering he was relieved by death. The dog had no appearance of madness.

By direction of the President, Secretary Everts has sent a letter to our Ministers to Great Britain, Germany and several lesser powers, protesting against their allowing subjects who are Mormons to leave for the United States. It seems that under the laws of this country "bigamy is a crime, and that persons leaving foreign countries for the purpose of settling in Utah go there for the purpose of violating the laws of this country. Reference is made in the letter to the fact that under our treaties with these countries they are under obligations not to allow parties to depart from their jurisdiction who are known to have criminal intentions. The President holds that after having given these nations notice, that Mormons coming here as such render themselves liable to prosecution under our criminal laws, we will then be justified, in case these subjects are not prevented from leaving, in refusing them admission to our ports.

A Singular Ceremony.
At the burial of the late Barn Ruthchild, a curious ceremony was observed by his kinsmen who were present.
Each three three spade-fuls of earth into the grave, the oldest son leading in the ceremony. While the body was being lowered into the grave they united in repeating the words: "May he come to his appointed place in peace," and as they were leaving, each plucked a few blades of grass, saying: "And they will blossom forth from the ruins like the stars of the earth." The places of business of the Jews were generally closed during the day.

When it is remembered that Ewing has been a Republican until within a few years, that he killed Democrats during the war, that he banished Democratic papers from the army as unfit for loyal men to read, and that he is a cousin to James G. Blaine and a brother-in-law to John Sherman, it is no wonder that the Democracy of Ohio do not feel very enthusiastic over his nomination for Governor.

WALKERTON.

BY ST. JOSEPH.

Walkerton is to have a new paper which will be neutral in politics and independent in religion. Its first issue will appear this week.

Corn in this locality suffered somewhat from the drought but the recent rains have improved it considerably and the prospect is fair for an average crop.

One firm from this place that had no license to sell at the market took in $170 for liquor sold there on a single Sabbath. Perhaps Uncle Sam might obtain some revenue if his agents would look after the matter.

The Mill Creek base ball club came down Saturday and defeated the Walkerton club by a score of 20 to 12. Our boys showed that they were not jealous of their successful rivals by giving them three cheers when they departed.

Sharps from Chicago came down last week and by the use of "Ab-Sin" "ricks" which in their case were not "ricks," cleaned out nearly all of the local gamblers who flourished at the marsh during the whortleberry season.

It seems from the appeal recently published in all the papers in this part of the State that steps will be taken to prevent lawlessness at the marsh next year, better late than never. The attention of the officers of the law was called to the subject by the correspondent of THE REPUBLICAN this year but it was not heeded.

Mr. Bailey, who buys and ships wheat from this place, also ships about two car loads daily from Tergond and ships from Crum's Point a still larger quantity. Prices ranged last week from 91 to 92 cents per bushel; to-day (Monday) it is 90 cents. Stevens, of this place, is also buying. He sometimes has more wheat than his warehouse will hold.

The Yellow Fever in Memphis.

The proprietors of the Chicago Daily News having written to the President of the Howard Association at Memphis for information in regard to the real condition in Memphis, received the following dispatch Saturday:

Memphis, Tenn., August 9-10 a. m.—To the Editor of the News. In accordance with your telegram I herewith furnish you with the following information:

The total number of cases of yellow fever to this hour, within the city limits, officially recorded, is 2,200.

Of this number 90 have died.

In addition to those reported above there have been about 25 cases and 5 deaths of Memphis residents located within the limits of the city.

The disease has not communicated to any of the surrounding towns from Memphis, which has probably been prevented by the quarantine that (for the past ten days) has been maintained by positive military force.

The fever has increased in Memphis very perceptibly in the past ten days, and is spreading from the original centers.

We cannot hope for a discontinuance until about the 15th.

At least 30,000 persons have left Memphis, which has been shown at the local health officer's report, and Mark's report from Memphis.

There have been three cases in camp near, and one death.

There are now twelve thousand negroes in the city, only one hundred having gone to camp.

They have declined to leave the city, hoping to receive further help, which is in opposition to the views of all parties who are looking here to attend to such cases as may be taken sick.

Our only safety is depopulation.

Consequences of the fever spreading among the negroes in the past five days, there is a growing disposition to go to the camps. Should their appeal to the people of the United States for aid and relief, we have no doubt, be successful.

No one but a Howard visitor or a physician knows of the fifty hotels that these people live in, and in which they are taking sick and dying frequently.

We have six physicians on duty, and have had under our charge four hundred and fifty patients sick with various diseases.

To these sick people we furnish nurses, medicines, stimulants, and food.

About two hundred have been discharged. Our expenses are now five hundred dollars per day, and will probably increase.

We have on hand eighteen thousand dollars. This amount would have been sufficient if the negroes would have followed the example of the white people and left the city.

We hope not to be forced to ask for assistance, but we fear this on account of the negroes will compel us to do so.

The sanitary condition of our city is excellent.

The home is not the elysium the lover had so fondly pictured. Its atmosphere is gloomy with invalid complaints. Sweet-winged hope that at first brooded on his hearthstone, soon fled, and an ominous bird is there instead, croaking of disapproval.

The invalid little household offices that should be the delight of the wife to perform are confided to strangers. The home soon becomes one only in name, and the disappointed husband seeks pleasure and recreation elsewhere, and goes downward step by step, from view to view, until the ruin is complete, and all because a wife has lost her health, and with it her temper and all those sweet womanly graces that can alone retain the love the maiden had won.
