

What S. S. S. Does for Children

Children are constantly exposed to all sorts of diseases. The air they breathe is filled with germs, sewer gas and dust from the filthy streets are inhaled into the lungs and taken into the blood. At the crowded school rooms and other public places they come in contact almost daily with others recovering from or in the first stages of contagious diseases. You can't quarantine against the balance of the world, and the best you can do is to keep their blood in good condition, and thus prevent or at least mitigate the disease. You have perhaps learned from observation or experience that healthy, robust children (and this means, of course, children whose blood is pure) are not nearly so liable to contract diseases peculiar to them, and when they do it is generally in a mild form. On the other hand, weak, emaciated and sickly ones seem to catch every disease that comes along. This is because their blood is lacking in all the elements necessary to sustain and build up the body. Poisons of every description accumulate in the system, because the polluted and sluggish blood is unable to perform its proper functions.

Such children need a blood purifier and tonic to give strength and vitality to their blood, and S. S. S. being a purely vegetable remedy, makes it the safest and best for the delicate constitutions of children. S. S. S. is not only a perfect blood medicine, but is pre-eminently the tonic for children; it increases their appetites and strengthens the digestion and assimilation of food. If your children have any hereditary or acquired taint in their blood, give them S. S. S. and write to our physicians for any information or advice wanted; this will cost you nothing, and will start the little weaklings on the road to recovery. Book on Blood and Skin Diseases free.

'INFURIATED' CITIZENS

Anxious to Disgrace Indiana Once More with the Mob Law Infamy.

SHERIFF SAYS HE WILL SHOOT

And Has Thirty Men to Help Him—Diabolical Attempt to Wreck a Foundry—State News.

Princeton, Ind., June 10.—Henry Reynolds, white, 30 years of age, was arrested in Mount Carmel, Ills., Friday night, charged with assaulting Lida Case, the 13-year-old daughter of a prominent farmer near here. He was lodged in jail here Saturday after narrowly escaping being lynched. Learning of his capture, fifty infuriated men crossed the river, intending to lynch him. News of their coming caused the authorities at Mount Carmel to abruptly stop his preliminary hearing, and he was hurriedly sent to Princeton under guard of the sheriff and a posse. Extra precautions have been made to protect the prisoner from further attempts at lynching. Reynolds has confessed. The girl is in a serious condition.

Mob Was Hot for a Victim.

Reynolds at first declared that he would not return to Indiana from Mount Carmel, Ills., except upon requisition. The purpose of the prisoner to secure delay was so apparent that the posse with the sheriff determined to take vengeance upon them and there, and pistols and knives were drawn and the prisoner surrounded. The sheriff and his deputies threatened to kill any one who laid hands on Reynolds, and for a time it looked as if there would be a fight.

Sheriff Persuades the Prisoner.

Sheriff Beloit then appealed to the crowd and was allowed to have a short talk with Reynolds out of hearing of any other person. He induced the prisoner to go with him, pointing out that he could not protect him if he refused. In the meantime Reynolds had confessed, but this information was withheld from the crowd for fear of the consequences. It became generally known, however, soon after the sheriff and his prisoner, with thirty of his deputies threatened to kill any one who laid hands on Reynolds, and for a time it looked as if there would be a fight.

WAS SO HEBOBY'S DIABOLISM.

Attempt Made to Blow Up a Foundry and Machine Shop.

Marion, Ind., June 10.—In the hope of obtaining some clew as to the guilty parties, the fact that an effort was made to blow up the foundry and machine shop of Alexander Fink, at East Converse, this county, last Friday night has just become public. Saturday morning, when Mr. Fink went to the plant he found the gas lighted under the boiler, and turned on full force.

The boiler was red-hot, having boiled dry, and gas was escaping throughout the plant. Thirty molds had been destroyed, and other damage had been done to the machinery. The lantern which the guilty ones carried in performing their work was forgotten, and this lantern may lead to the detection and arrest of the principals. Mr. Fink can not estimate his loss, but it will be several hundred dollars. It was not known that he had any enemies.

SAYS IT IS A BIG DELUSION

Man Who Runs United States Weather Writes of a French Idea.

Washington, June 10.—The extensive reports of United States Consul Covert, at Lyons, France, relative to the success of cannon firing in France as a means of protecting orchards and vineyards from hail storms, and also for the purpose of mitigating or nullifying the effects of frosts upon vegetation, have prompted numerous inquiries by horticulturists in this country as to when, if at all, our government would adopt similar methods of protection.

Professor Willis L. Moore, the chief of the weather bureau, acting under the direction of Secretary Wilson, therefore has issued to the press a statement of which the following is the sub: "After an examination of all that been published during the past two years my conviction is that we have here to do with a popular delusion as remarkable as is the belief in the effect of the moon on the weather."
