Plymouth Ind., August 1, 1901.

The Plymouth Republican, said to be the oldest paper in Marshall county, celebrated its golden anniversary a few days ago. Several improvements were noticed as a reminder of the event.—Warsaw Union.

Trade at home and always speak well of your town. That is the way to boom.

Hon. Samuel Parker, of Plymouth, is to succeed the late Judge N. O. Ross as solicitor for the Panhandle railroad in Indiana. It has been the understanding for some time that Senator Parker was to succeed Judge Ross in this capacity. When the appointment is formally made it will probably become necessary for Senator Parker to move to Logansport. He is admirably fitted for this important and very desirable position.—South Bend Times.

PLYMOUTH'S BOULEVARD.

In an article reproduced in this paper from the Warsaw Union the writer thereof gave his impression of South Michigan street as it is viewed by passing travelers on the railroad and suggested the debt of gratitude owing to the person who inspired the planting of those rows of noble maples that are now so attractive. A similar thought was expressed by General Harrison a few years ago.

It was when the ex-president was on one of his campaign speaking tours. His special train passed slowly across Michigan street and Col. R. B. F. Peirce called the attention of the party to the broad avenue stretching away to the south between the lines of arching trees, then ablaze with the glowing colors of autumn.

A Plymouth man in the coach was asked how it happened that the trees were planted so regularly and were of such uniform size and kind, apparently indicating the design of one mind, and he replied that A. L. Wheeler, the father of Colonel Peirce's wife, had inspired the work. General Harrison said that it was one of the finest streets in Indiana and that it had great possibilities of beautification, adding that the magnificent vista made by the parallel rows of full-grown maples was in itself a nobler monument to Mr. Wheeler than could be raised in marble or granite.

But few residents of Plymouth, perhaps, appreciate what a magnificent avenue they possess in South Michigan street, with its great width, its smooth surface, its handsome lawns and residences and, above all, its double rows of shade trees that are excelled nowhere and seldom equalled. Still less, probably, do the people realize that with a very little cost, in addition to that of paving, the street can be made into a boulevard of striking beauty, one that no city in the state outside of the few larger ones could equal in years of effort.

The new brick pavement is to be laid forty feet wide between curbs, thus leaving a very wide space between the curb and the present sidewalk line, which, as it now exists, is not leveled or terraced with any approach to uniformity, and the walks are of diverse material in various conditions as to repair. This space, increased on each side of the street by the narrowing of the roadway in paving, presents a most valuable opportunity for beautifying the avenue cheaply and permanently.

By removing the walks to or near the curb and putting them on a new grade conforming to that of the pavement, the walks to be of stone or cement and the space thus gained to be graded, leveled or terraced with the dirt that can be had free of cost from the street excavation, a beautiful esplanade on each side would be formed, containing a double row of trees and amounting in effect to that much of an addition to each owner's front lawn. Besides the added beauty of such a plan and the increased lawn space there would be the further advantage of greater privacy in the houses resulting from the removal of the stream of travel to a greater distance from the front door.

We Did Not Bite.

The story going the rounds of the local press to the effect that Fred Novakowski, a 16-year-old Polish lad living two miles south of Bourbon, was dragged to his death by a coil he had lassoed while playing Buffalo Bill, is another whole cloth special furnished by a penny-a-liner, who, by his work, is giving Bourbon a very undesirable reputation. If the newspapers of this section wish to publish nothing but the news they will reprint no special emanating from Bourbon.—Bourbon News Mirror.

WANTED A BOY

Advertised and One Fell Into His Lap
Before the Paper Came Out.

A gentleman desiring to employ a boy stopped at a newspaper office on his way to the theatre and left an advertisement for the morning issue stating his want. During the performance a boy fell into his lap from the gallery above.

The story is far surpassed by one that our frantic daily cotemporary relates. Last Thursday it advertised for some public-spirited citizen to install a town clock, wholly oblivious to the opportunity presented by the new Pythian building in which it asserts some sort of an interest, and it suggested such ridiculous locations as the river bridge and others. The next day it learned that its ad had been "answered in a practice (sic) manner" and gravely proceeded to tell how, to-wit, by the adoption months before of a design for the Masonic Temple in which a clock was included, as every citizen of Plymouth who had any interest in the matter knew long ago! In other words the ad was answered long before it was published, an example of "influence" that will be hard to match.

In contemplating this remarkable case one is led to wonder why "parties desiring dirt" required 64 ads to move 64 loads from the little hole the queer little man has been digging over on Michigan street.

AUTOMOBILE GUNS

An Experimental Expedition That Will Probably Visit This City Soon.

Maj. R. P. Davidson, of the Northwestern military academy at Highland Park, Ill., will leave Chicago within a few days with two automobile steam gun carriages, mounting Colt automatic rapid-fire guns, on a trip to Washington, carrying a message to General Miles from the army headquarters in Chicago. His companions will be students of the academy and the object is to test such vehicles as adjuncts to the military service.

These gun carriages were designed and built by the students themselves in the manual training department of the academy and the trip laid out, especially the mountain part of it, will give them a severe trial. It will be recalled that a similar attempt made last summer under the same auspices resulted in failure because of some defect in the tires.

The expedition will probably pass through Plymouth, taking the Michigan road from this point to Indianapolis, and in that case it will replenish its store of gasoline and other supplies here.

GREEN GOODS FAKE

Those Who Bite Are Swindlers at Heart and Deserve No Pity.

The green goods swindlers are again scattering their confidential "circulars" over Laporte county. They do this about once a year and from their persistency it would seem probable that they still find men dishonest enough and ignorant enough to fall into their trap. It is the same old thing of offering to sell greenbacks "printed from a genuine government plate" at very cheap rates. Some times when they think the victim is particularly ignorant or dishonest they will inclose a genuine $1 greenback as a specimen of the work they do and the "goods" they will deliver. The fool victim usually sends what money he can raise to buy this money, and that is the last he ever hears from it. People who are swindled in this way are not entitled to sympathy, because at heart they are just as dishonest as the men who play them, and they deserve to be taught a lesson.—Michigan City Despatch.

Figuring on Supplies.

The various county officers are now preparing their requisitions to be submitted to the county council which meets in annual session Tuesday, Sept. 2. Auditor Miller is now engaged in preparing the requisition for himself and for the county commissioners. All requisitions must be filed early in August.

State Forester's Work.

John P. Brown, of Connersville, Ind., secretary of the Indiana Forestry association and of the International Society of Arboriculture, is attracting attention in the east by his effort in behalf of an organization for the protection of forest trees. The Boston Transcript of Monday contains a long editorial endorsing his work and speaking of its value. Mr. Brown is urging the general planting of the catalpa because of its rapid growth and the early merchantable quality of its timber.

WASHINGTON STATE.

Its Midsummer Climate and its Gigantic Fir Trees.

Mrs. James E. Houghton has received a letter from her sister in the state of Washington, dated July 17, containing much that is of interest concerning that distant country. Speaking of weather conditions at Arlington, her home, she says: "I know that you are nearly suffocating there at Plymouth. Here everything is just lovely, so fresh and green and not a sunstroke in the whole state. The days are balmy and bright and at night we sleep under a comfort, sheet and spread and are just right. It would make you open your eyes wide to see the boom on the Pacific coast. Everything is just humming with prosperity."

Enclosed with the letter was a newspaper clipping giving an account of a gigantic fir, cut near Arlington for the forestry exhibit at Buffalo. The tree measured 15 feet 5 inches in diameter at the stump and 48 feet in circumference. The first limb sprang 150 feet from the ground and the tree sealed 75,000 feet of lumber, log measure, the largest growth of the kind known in that state. It was hollowed out and is used for the Washington headquarters at the Pan-American exposition, being capable of seating 35 people in a circle around the periphery.

DOESN'T LIKE IT.

Congressman Shively Speaks of the Ohio Convention.

B. F. Shively, ex-congressman and the leader of the northern Indiana democracy, has expressed himself with reference to the Ohio convention. "It appears to me," he says, "that a grievous mistake was made by the democratic convention of Ohio in cutting loose from William Jennings Bryan in an effort to bring the party wings together. Abuse of Colonel Bryan and his nation of friends by those professing to be democrats, but who have co-operated with republicans during the past few years, will never cement the democratic party to bolters. It may be, however, that the most deplorable acts of offense to Mr. Bryan were unintentionally made just at a time that makes them appear ugly."

Much Doing in Detroit.

We are indebted to Rev. W. W. Raymond for late Detroit papers giving illustrated accounts of the bicentenary celebration now in progress in that city. Rev. Raymond is attending a convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, consisting of 600 lay delegates.

WHO ATE THE SAUSAGES?

NEW YORK, July 26.—After forty years of married life, in which they never separated for a day, and during which time they had but one quarrel, Joseph Schwad and his wife have decided that they must separate. Both are now over sixty years of age and are wealthy. The question of who ate certain sausages has so split the family that the wife has asked the supreme court to give her a decree of separation from her husband. The husband said he was willing that she should have her decree, but objected to the amount of alimony asked.

Wilhelm a Peacemaker.

LONDON, July 26.—"The rumor as to early peace negotiations which pervaded the house of commons for some days," says the Daily Express, "has taken the more definite form that Emperor Wilhelm is soon to assume the role of peacemaker. Mr. Kruger and his advisers are reported as having empowered the Kaiser to act for the Boers, and he is considered willing to take the initiative in order to popularize his relations with the German people who disapprove his friendship for Great Britain. Something apparently is on foot, whether Emperor Wilhelm is in or not."

Suffering at Princeton.

PRINCETON, Ind., July 26.—Mrs. Emma Benwood, seventy-nine years old, is dead, heat prostration being the cause. She was found unconscious on the floor and lived but an hour. She was born in London, and was a pioneer resident. There were three other prostrations here yesterday, but no other fatalities.

INSANE AND DESPERATE

He Returns from Insane Asylum to Kill the Men on whose Testimony he was Incarcerated.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., July 25.—Michael Kelly, an insane man, yesterday at the office of the Robert Garrett Lumber company, in the business district, shot six persons, killing one, probably fatally wounding another, and more or less seriously wounding four others. He was himself finally killed by a policeman, who vainly tried to overpower him.

Kelly had lived in Leavenworth for years and at different times had engaged in small business enterprises. He was eccentric, and during the presidential campaign in 1896 lost his mind entirely. At that time he was arrested for creating a disturbance and later threatened to kill John R. Garrett. He was arrested and adjudged insane, Garrett and four others testifying against him. After a year in the Topeka asylum Kelly was released. He had been acting queerly again and he had declared he would kill the five men who sent him to the asylum. Almost daily for two weeks past he has been practicing shooting with a revolver at the Fort Leavenworth range. Tuesday night he drank heavily.

Yesterday shortly after 12 o'clock he appeared at Garrett's office, which is situated on the ground floor, at the corner of Sixth street and Cherokee avenue, and without warning shot Garrett as he sat at his desk. Garrett fell from his chair and into the doorway, when Kelly deliberately fired four shots more into the prostrate form. Garrett was shot once in the neck, in the left breast, through the liver, and twice in different portions of the body. Leaving his victim for dead, Kelly ran fifty yards to the rear of the company's lumber yard and began reloading his revolver.

Presently he returned to the office to find Dr. McGee, who had been attracted by the shooting, bending over Garrett, leveling his revolver on the window sill. Kelly took deliberate aim at the physician from the sidewalk and fired. The bullet struck McGee in the back at the spine, and he toppled over near where Garrett lay.

Then followed an exciting street fight between the madman and policemen who came to the scene. Kelly, flourishing his revolver, dashed through the lumber yard. He met Ike Healer, a laborer, and shot him in the hand. A few yards farther on he encountered Sergeant Dodge. The two exchanged shots as they ran. One bullet from Kelly's revolver struck Dodge in the neck, but not before that officer had shot him in the shoulder. Kelly kept on running and was soon confronted by Detective McDonald and Policeman Falthager. McDonald dropped Kelly with a bullet in the neck. Dodge raised his revolver, but it failed to work, and catching up with the murderer, he crushed his skull with the weapon.

Kelly sank to the ground and was carried to the station in an unconscious condition, dying soon after his arrival there.

Garrett never regained consciousness and died an hour after being taken to the hospital. Dr. McGee is suffering intensely, and it is believed he cannot recover. Dodge's wound is not considered fatal, while the wounds of the others are slight.

Earthquake in Nevada.

SALT LAKE, Utah, July 27.—A section of seventy-five miles wide through the Nevada desert from Death, as far west as Carlin, experienced a series of heavy earthquake shocks at 2:20 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The vibrations generally were from north to south, and at one or two points lasted for fully five seconds.

At Elko, Nev., the shock was unusually severe. The high school building, a big new brick edifice, was badly cracked by the violence of the vibrations, and other buildings were slightly damaged. The earthquake was followed by heavy rains.

NEWPORT SHELLED

City Hall Struck by a Bursting Projectile from Heavy Gun.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 25.—While heavy gun practice was going on at Fort Adams yesterday afternoon several pieces of a shell went whizzing up one of Newport's streets, bent on destruction, but luckily no serious damage was done. About 5 o'clock those in the vicinity of the city hall heard a whizzing sound in the air, which was followed by the falling of a limb of a tree in front of the public building, and then a piece of the projectile was seen to graze the side of the city hall, making a cut in the stone as clean as a chisel could have done. At the same time a tree a little farther up the street was struck by another piece of the projectile.

The piece that struck the city hall struck just beneath the window of the office of the board of health. On inquiry at the fort it was learned that firing was being done with the ten-inch disappearing guns that guard the entrance to Narragansett bay. When told that the city hall had been struck one of the officers at the fort said that it was impossible that a shell used by them could have burst, as no bursting charge was used. The whole affair, therefore, is a mystery. That the pieces of shell came from the direction of the harbor is evident to those who have seen the cut on the city hall. There had been more or less saluting from the warships in the harbor all the afternoon, but there was none being done at the time. This evening a piece of shell was found, and looked like part of a one-pounder.

Old-fashioned Training

Its Strong and Weak Points.

The strong point of the old-fashioned training was the stress laid upon morality and virtue. "Be good and you'll be happy," was the common precept set before the growing child. But as the girl grew up to maidenhood she was often sorely puzzled to reconcile those past teachings with her present condition. She was good. Her soul was pure as the lilies of her garden. Her heart was undefiled. And yet she was desperately unhappy by reason of physical ailments common to women.

This was the weak side of old-fashioned training: It ignored the 1899, through the advice of a neighbor, and followed your advice from April to July. I took five bottles of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and four of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and five vials of 'Pellets.' Have not had a single symptom of my old trouble so far. Can sleep good nights, work hard, and can eat solid and substantial food without distress. There are several of my friends taking your medicines and the best results since they have seen how they helped me.

"If any one wishes to know more of my case and will enclose a stamp I will answer any question they wish to ask."

HEALTH FOR WOMEN.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has brought health to thousands of hopeless women. If you are sick it will almost surely bring health to you. In all the hundreds of thousands who have used "Favorite Prescription" for womanly ills, only two in every hundred have failed of a perfect and permanent cure. And even these two in every hundred have been benefited, their pains eased, their humors lightened, their lives made happier.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription establishes regularity, dries enfeebling and unhealthy humors, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. From the first change of life, when the girl becomes a woman to the last change of life, it is a "Godsend to women" as a preservative of health and a cure for womanly ills.

Your letter just received," writes Miss Kate Kilfether, of 43 West Sharpshoot St., Germantown, Philadelphia, Pa. "Words fail to express how thankful I am to you for your advice. I must confess that for the length of time I have been using your medicine I have found it to be the most wonderful and best remedy for female troubles that I ever have tried. Sorry I did not know of your 'Favorite Prescription' years ago, but will gladly tell my friends who are suffering, of your wonderful medicine."

There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics. Sick and ailing women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence held as sacred and womanly confidences guarded by the same strict professional privacy which is observed in the personal consultation of Dr. Pierce and his staff (numbering nearly a score of physicians) at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

It happens that the dealer tempted by the little more profit, by less successful preparations, will try to press a substitute upon the customer, claiming that "it is just as good as Pierce's." It is well to remember at such a time that the claims of superiority made for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription do not rest on mere words, but upon cures. Thousands of weak women made strong and sick women made well testify to its superiority over other put-up medicines for women.

THE BIBLE OF THE BODY.

is a title which has been aptly applied to Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. In plain English it points the way to womanly health and happiness, and fully discusses and illuminates those great and grave questions which involve the well-being of women. This great work, containing 1008 large pages, and over seven hundred illustrations, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. For the volume bound in durable cloth send 31 one-cent stamps, or only 21 stamps for the book in paper-covers. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
