SQUATTERS IN INDIANA

Occupy State Land in Kankakee Bottoms and Must Vacate.

George D. Park, who was appointed several months ago to superintend the survey of several thousand acres of swamp land in Laporte, Starke, Jasper and St. Joseph counties, owned by the state, states that the work will cover 5,000 acres, and if redeemed the state could sell most of the land at prices from $20 to $40 an acre.

The survey was authorized by the last legislature. A report of the work when completed will be made to the governor, who will make a report to the next legislature.

Part of this land is now occupied by "squatters" and they raise some of the finest corn produced in the state. Mr. Park says these "squatters" and others who have settled on the land without any authority will put up a big fight when they are asked to vacate.

DEATH PENALTY FOR ATTEMPT

Attack on a President to be Declared Treason and Punished Accordingly.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Sept. 10.—In discussing the attempted assassination of President McKinley, Congressman George A. Pearce of Maryland, said:

"I will offer a bill in the next congress of the United States amending the constitution so as to make an unsuccessful attempt upon the life of a president of the nation treason and the penalty death. The man who strikes at the nation's head is a public enemy, and should be treated as such."

"If the hope and prayer of the nation is fulfilled and President McKinley lives, the question of adequate punishment of the villain who attempted his life arises. The would-be assassin only can be prosecuted for assault with intent to murder, with a penalty of about ten years in the penitentiary."

No Congress of Nations.

BERLIN, Sept. 11.—There is no truth in the report that Emperor William has ordered an appeal to be sent to the ambassadors of all the great powers calling for an international congress to adopt measures for the suppression of anarchy.

Red is a danger signal on the railroad on a fellow's nose and on a woman's face. Men and women use Rocky Mountain Tea and get genuine rosy cheeks. 35c. J. W. Hess.

A LITTLE NONSENSE.

Futile Advice to a Young Man About to Be Married.

"Have you carefully considered all that I have said, my boy?" asked the old gentleman the day after he had given his son a little fatherly advice.

"Yes, father," replied the young man meekly.

"You are getting near the age at which a young man naturally begins to look around for a wife, and I don't want you to make a mistake."

"I'll try not to, father."

"No butterflies of fashion, my boy, but a girl of some solid worth; one who has some practical accomplishments."

"Yes, father."

"Never mind the piano playing and Delsarte lessons; never mind the dancing and the small talk. When you find a girl who can cook, my boy, it will be time to think of marrying. When you find a girl who can make up her own bed, knows how to set the table without forgetting something, is able to put up preserves and, above all, is good at sewing, go in and win her, my boy, and you will have my blessing."

"I have resolved, father, to seek such a wife as you describe," said the young man with determination. "I see the folly of seeking a wife in society. I will go to an intelligence office this afternoon and see if I can find one that will answer. And then I'll have mother call on her, and—"

"Young man, I'll break your neck in about a minute!"

"But you said?"

"Never mind, what I said. I've changed my mind."—Leslie's Weekly.

EMMA GOLDMAN HELD

High Priestess of Anarchy Arrested in Chicago for Conspiracy to Kill the President and Held Over for Investigation.

ROOSEVELT IS CONFIDENT

BUFFALO, Sept. 11.—Vice President Roosevelt left the city last night at 9:50 for Oyster Bay perfectly confident that the president will recover. So confident was he, in fact, that when a question of doubt was put to him he answered it with a parry. He was asked: "Do you remember that President Garfield progressed for ten days and then, just when he was ready to get out, he collapsed and finally died?"

Quick as thought the vice-president answered: "Ah, but you forgot twenty years of modern surgery, of progress. From what I can learn also the Garfield wound was much more serious than the wound of President McKinley. I believe that the president will recover, and I believe it so thoroughly that I leave here tonight."

Questioned as to the mode of procedure so far as the state was concerned, he said: "I see no need for the call of an extraordinary grand jury. The grand jury now in session, composed of American citizens, will undoubtedly take care of the would-be assassin, and the authorities of Erie county will, for county, state and national pride, make a vigorous prosecution. Unless Governor Odell is asked to interfere I see no need of his calling an extra term or deputizing an assistant attorney general to prosecute."

She was strikingly bold in her language and yet ever and again at the point of a breakdown and tears. Her strength held out, though her woman's weakness asserted itself as she realized the weight already pressing on her shoulders of that very law against which her life has been a continual protest.

Asked as to the enacting of legislation against anarchists he said: "I have not thought much on the matter. What has disturbed me has been to find a reason for even anarchists to attack a man like President McKinley. Here is the one country where they are allowed perfect freedom of speech. Here as the ruler is a man descended from farmer stock, self-made. Here is a man who has no fortune or no means other than that which he may manage to save out of his salary as president. Probably many a working man in the United States today has as large an amount of real estate as Mr. McKinley. In addition he is a kindly disposed Christian gentleman, and in every great emergency in which he could act he has been a friend of the common people. Why should he be shot at, then, even by anarchists?"

It is stated on good authority from Buffalo that the only incriminating facts against Miss Goldman thus far secured are in the statements of Czolgosz that her lectures and her doctrines filled him with the spirit of murder. More tangible proof of the supposed conspiracy is yet to be secured.

As to the nature of the charges on which she may be tried, there is considerable doubt also. The federal laws seem, however, to give a better chance to convict her for conspiring to injure and deprive of his rights a citizen of the country.

Who is this Emma Goldman, upon whom the interest of a nation has suddenly turned?

A high priestess of unrestricted liberty, without regard for law or government or moral obligation or established custom, when it hinders her in living as she wants.

Come from a Russian Jewish family, upon which the weight of thousand-fold regulations and customs presses every minute of every day, demanding the strictest observance in every detail, she is the very antithesis of all that heredity would naturally bring about.

Parker Fund Started.

OMAHA, Sept. 11.—The World-Herald has called on the people of Omaha to be first to contribute to a fund for James Benjamin Parker, the negro whose prompt action is credited with having saved the President's life.

It is suggested that if every town in the United States contributes a small amount a handsome sum will be realized.

Ambitious Electric Plan.

SACRAMENTO, CAL., Sept. 11.—Senator Clark may have a railroad line into Sacramento in the near future. He already has surveyors in the field. It is his plan to run an electric railroad from Salt Lake City to San Francisco. The road is to be devoted exclusively to passenger traffic, and as it will aim to make great speed, it will set the older companies which use steam for power, to hustling.

VETERANS REUNION

GRAND ARMY IN ANNUAL CONVENTION AT CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 10.—The thirty-fifth annual encampment of the G. A. R. began here yesterday and last night the city was a blaze of glory, a crystallization of all the living memories of the stirring days of 1861-65, memories to which only a fraction of the present population is personally familiar. The aged feet which once trod the bloody fields of Shiloh, of Gettysburg and of a hundred other hard-fought battles surged around Monumental square, located in the business heart of the city, with slow but steady tread. The center of the scene was the Soldiers and Sailors' monument, which stands in the center of the park in mute and silent sympathy with the living veterans, to the great majority of whom it must soon speak as to those who have passed away.

Every radiating street was congested with a stream of humanity, and far out Euclid avenue to where the sparkling electric fountain in Wade park shed its radiant glories upon the night the crowds coursed incessantly to and fro. Away beyond on Euclid heights the Garfield monument stood as a grim and silent outpost to which thousands of veterans today paid their respects.

There is now no longer any doubt as to the effect of the attempted assassination of the president upon the present gathering. It has stirred the patriotism of the people to the inmost recesses of the heart's emotion and the veterans and their friends are coming to rejoice or to sorrow as the will of Providence may dictate.

General Daniel E. Sickles gave expression to a sentiment which is reflected in the hearts of every patriot present. Tall and sturdy as though the snows of more than seventy winters had not sifted their powder into the scanty locks, and erect upon his crutches, General Sickles strode into National G. A. R. headquarters. Lifting his cap to General Leo Rassieur and the other dignitaries, he bowed and then exclaimed:

"Comrades, let us thank God for the news from Buffalo. The Lord has heard the uplifted prayers of the civilized world. Christian, Mohammedan, Chinese and all people have united with us in prayer that McKinley might be spared to us. That prayer is answered. Blessed be the name of the Lord, who preserved this great personality to us!"

Then, dropping his impressive manner, the General added:

"I'll back McKinley's luck every time. The God of fortune has remained with him ever since. He cannot die at this time and under such circumstances."

Senator Manderson of Nebraska also sounded the keynote of the encampment at the reunion of the First Ohio volunteer light artillery.

"Tempering every breath of happiness at this reunion is the fearful tragedy of last Friday," said General Manderson. "I do not exaggerate when I say that the example set by you for forty years has been one of patriotism. You have trained your sons to be sons of America, to know what it is to uphold the flag of our free institutions."

"There remains to be trampled under foot an element of our population, countenanced and sustained by an unbridled press and an unprincipled rostrum, preaching the gospel of discontent. I do not say too much when I assert this element delights in condemnation—aye, contempt for the powers that be.

"I can find no words in which to fittingly refer to the wretched who has done this thing, but I hold him harmless compared with those who prompted such sentiments. It is for us and for our sons to stamp out anarchy and socialism as we stamped out secession."

At the close of a meeting of the citizens' Grand Army committee on President's day, held yesterday afternoon, the following statement was issued:

"While our beloved President is enduring, with sublime fortitude the suffering caused by the unspeakable crime of Friday last, it is appropriate that all functions connected with the reunion of the Grand Army, in which he was to have participated, shall be either omitted or modified.

"As a substitute for the public reception which was to have been extended to the president on Thursday evening, a mass meeting of citizens and visitors will be held in the Central armory on Thursday, Sept. 12, at 3 o'clock p.m.

"In view of the improvement in the president's condition, for which we are all so devoutly grateful, the meeting will be one of praise and thanksgiving. It is expected that citizens of national prominence will attend.

A program of the exercises, to consist of prayer, music, and brief addresses, will be announced later."

The seven corps of the Women's Relief corps of Cleveland gave a reception in the Rose building in honor of the national officers and delegates to the convention of that order. The president local corps presided at the reception.
