Culver Items.

The cadets of Culver military academy will leave for Yellow Stone park about June 9th, where they will go into camp for a few days. It is understood that the famous "Black Horse" troop will accompany the cadets.

Wm. Matthews, deputy county clerk, arrived in Culver Saturday and remained until Monday morning. Wm. is a "smart feller" and the man that interviews him relative to the "perilous" situation in the county, gets left as he is as dumb as an oyster.

The Fulton county candidates for circuit judge have been visitors in this vicinity and they say that Marshall county democrats having had a judge for twelve years have no claims on the office now and a Fulton county man should and will be nominated. They do not believe that Marshall county democrats are hogs, consequently believe the delegates will vote for a Fulton county candidate.

Common school commencement exercises occurred Saturday evening at the M. E. church. The house was crowded to its utmost capacity. Bogardus, the township trustee, undoubtedly thought it would be a good time to make a political hit, consequently he procured Prof. Herring, of Notre Dame, to address the graduating class. The professor pictured in glowing terms the great future individually and collectively for the class, if it only "watched out." He certainly is a fluent speaker, but he has a hard road to travel in his race for congress, and the attempts of township trustees to help him by means of the public schools will do him harm.

Those long looked for revenue cutters for the Culver Military Academy have arrived, and are now reposing upon the crystal waters of old Lake Maxinkuckee. The boats are 28 feet long, and are fitted out with full sail outfits. These boats came from the Boston, Mass., navy yards, and were given to the academy by a special act of congress. It is now an assured fact that there will be a summer naval school conducted by said institution, and applications are rolling very rapidly. There is no doubt but what this new feature connected with this school will be another great drawing card at the lake. O. P. DILDOCK.

Senator Hanna's Address.

Senator Hanna's address at the laying of the cornerstone of the McKinley Memorial College at Washington did him much credit. The Ohio senator has given other evidences that he possesses both head and heart, but none more pronounced than this. His speech was an eloquent and fitting tribute to the memory of Mr. McKinley from one who knew and loved him. While the sentiment that pervaded the speech was its best characteristic, it was also remarkable for its style and excellent literary form. Although a college graduate Senator Hanna's life has been mainly a strenuous one, and he has never posed one of "them literary fellows." The wonder is how a hard-working business man ever found time to master the art of thinking and talking upon his feet as well as he does. His speech on Wednesday night properly finds a place among the best special occasion addresses delivered by American public men.

Duties of the 20th Century.

Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale of Boston delivered a lecture before the Twentieth Century club in Chicago Tuesday night on "The duties of the 20th century." These duties, as Dr. Hale saw them, resolved them into five.

The first was the construction of a four-track railroad from Labrador to Patagonia. This was necessary to keep the human family from being "squeezed together" too much. The next great duty of the century. Dr. Hale said, was the construction of a similar railroad line across Europe and Asia, from the Atlantic to the Pacific ocean, with a branch road to Odessa. This was necessary to open up Siberia to the much "squeezed" populations of eastern countries. The third duty was to construct another railroad, in pursuance of Cecil Rhodes's ideas, from the Mediterranean sea to the Cape of Good Hope. The fourth duty was the faithful treatment of the race question, as presented by the negro, the Indian and the Chinese. The last duty was the advocacy of the doctrine of universal peace.

Indiana Educational Medal.

The medal and diploma granted to the Indiana educational exhibit at the Paris international exposition has been received by State Superintendent of Public Instruction F. L. Jones. This was the highest award in the first class of the first group. The medal was designed by J. C. Chaplain and on one side is the Goddess of Liberty and on the opposite the words, "Etat d'Indiana." The exhibit was collected by Superintendent Jones and consisted of a book diagramming the courses in the various schools of the state and containing specimens of the students' work.

Dutch Constitutional Points.

Now that Wilhelmina seems to be on the road to recovery the Dutch are seriously reflecting on two significant clauses in the Constitution of Holland. One is, that if a queen has a son, when he reaches the age of eighteen she is compelled to abdicate in his favor. Another is that after a queen has been married five years and has no child, the Parliament may dissolve the marriage. It is the second clause that the Dutch are thinking about now, the most.—Nebraska State Journal.

Indiana's Record for Tall Men.

A record of the height of Indiana soldiers in the civil war shows that out of 118,254 there were 15,047 five feet 10 inches high, 8,706 five feet 11 inches, 1,357 six feet high, 2,614 six feet one inch, 1,357 six feet two inches, 406 six feet three inches, and 336 over six feet three inches. Commenting on these statistics, Dr. Gould, actuary of the United States Sanitary Commission, wrote: "It is evident from our statistics that the Indiana men are the tallest of all natives of the United States, and these latter the tallest of all civilized countries."

"Agin the Government."

To be "agin the government" has been the "democratic slogan" ever since Fort Sumpter was fired on. It will continue to be so among the self-seeking leaders of the party for years to come; but the voters are constantly drifting away from democracy—especially intelligent young men refuse to be bound by the old-time party shackles, and they desire to reason and see things for themselves, and the old adage that "I am a democrat because Pap was," is not heard anywhere now as often as formerly.—Warsaw Times.

The President to Speak.

President Roosevelt is to deliver an address at Pittsburg on the Fourth of July, which it is believed will be one of the most important speeches he has yet made. It is understood that Mr. Roosevelt will take the occasion to defend the administration's policy in the Philippines in a manner such as he has not heretofore attempted, and will take the ground that democrats as well as republicans should see to it that the government is upheld in the course it is pursuing in the Orient.

A Wisconsin Congressman.

In Washington they are telling of a congressman from rural Wisconsin who, until his arrival in the national capital, had never stopped at a big hotel. The other evening, just retiring he wanted a drink of water, but found that there was none in his room. Under one of two small buttons in the wall he saw the words: "Push twice for water." He pushed twice as directed, and when the bell-boy arrived with the water he found the bucolic statesman holding an empty glass under the bottom.

High Prices for Poultry.

Chicago trade journals say the price for chickens now is the highest paid since 1893 when 12¢@13¢ was bid. These prices were reached in the months of February, March, April and May. In June prices declined to 8¢@9¢ and advanced again in July to 11¢@12¢ and before close of year declined to 8¢. Sales were made at that figure during November and December.

Pope Leo a Great Writer.

Last Sunday the Pope's jubilee encyclical was read in all Catholic churches. As a piece of literary work and an able argument from the ground of opinion of its author, the Albany Times-Union says, "it is a fitting commemorative document chaste and elegant in style; philosophical in trend and strong in Catholic reasoning, it forms a happy addition to the already honored list of Pope Leo's works. As a churchman the venerable pontiff has long enjoyed the admiration of the world, but it is only of late that the realm of letters has awakened to the fact that when the great writers of this century are catalogued on the honorary list of literature, the name of Leo will have to be enrolled among those at the top of the list. The bold and able handling in this encyclical of some of the most important social problems shows a knowledge of social economics and every-day philosophy of life seldom, if ever, found in the writings of any other man." The writings of the Pope appear particularly strong by way of comparison with the writings of other eminent characters. They stand out in bold relief by reason of their material intellectual vigor and force of reasoning.—South Bend Times.

Marion to Oil the Dust.

A committee representing the oil operators of the Grant county field, met at Marion last night and decided to ask the city council to co-operate with the oil men in collecting the refuse oil now floating down the streams adjoining the city and using it in sprinkling the streets. All operators will be requested to construct oil traps at each nest of oil tanks for the purpose of catching any oil so that it can be disposed of.

Like a Drowning Man.

Five years ago dyspepsia took such a hold of me that I could scarcely go, writes Geo. S. Marsh, Nacoma, Tex. I took quantities of medicine but nothing helped me. As a drowning man grabs at a straw I grabbed at Kodol. Dosing is unnecessary. After a few bottles I am sound and well. Kodol digests any good food and cures any form of stomach trouble. J. W. HESS.
