Hart, Schaffner & Marx have scooped the whole clothing world with the most masterly output of Fall Clothes we have ever viewed in our whole business career.

They have not followed styles---they have created them.

They have not copied patterns---they have originated them in the woolen mills which they control.

They have not confined themselves to one, two, three or four new models, but have produced dozens of different ones---each a gem in its own particular class.

They have not only thought of the business man, the professional man, etc., but the stout man, the tall man and the short man---all come in for a perfect fit, and for each one they have prepared a complete assortment of colors, patterns and fabrics.

It is the most wonderful way of handling the ready-to-wear clothes business ever devised---and it is possible only to a firm of such remarkable scope---such amazing ability to handle big things in a big way.

HORSE THIEVES IN INDIANA.

Authorities Exerting Every Effort to Capture Guilty Parties--More Stringent Laws Needed.

Horse thieves are becoming very active in northern Indiana. Many horses are reported stolen. The authorities are exerting every effort, and are co-operating with each other, striving to capture the thieves and recover the stolen property.

A bay mare, four years old, stocky build and weighing 1,100 pounds and a top buggy, rubber tires, red running gear and black body, were stolen from the main street in Cromwell, Saturday night.

A six year old brown or bay horse, with three white feet and a small white spot on back, weighing 1,000 pounds, was stolen at Rockville, Thursday. A reward of $75 is offered.

HAVE EXCELLENT RETURNS

BELL TELEPHONE SERVICE WAS THE SPEEDIEST IN THE CITY.

Western Union Lines Installed in Both Party Headquarters Was a Decided Frost.

The Western Union wires which were run to the Democratic and Republican headquarters to furnish election returns in this city, were a decided failure. Throughout the entire evening until the "Good Night" which came about 2:00 a. m. not over 12 or 15 bulletins were received over this service. A Bell telephone was installed in Democratic headquarters, which furnished returns rapidly and up to the minute. These returns as soon as received, were repeated over a short line to the Clipper Cigar store, from which place a special messenger kept the large crowd at the Orpheum theatre supplied with the latest election news. In this manner, 153 bulletins were flashed about the city from 7:00 o'clock until about 2:00 a. m. The Bell service was excellent and the fact of New York going Republican was known by 10:00 o'clock.

This failure of the Western Union service is regarded as a joke, in view of the fact that three officials from that company were in the city Tuesday trying to prevent the redistribution of election reports. The telegraph service was far more expensive to the respective parties than was the Bell service, and could not be compared in efficiency.

MONEY IN BURNED MATTRESS.

Woman Sewed $568 in Bedding and All was Destroyed With Other Household Articles.

A bed mattress containing $568 was destroyed by fire with nearly all other contents of the residence of Mrs. Elizabeth Wolary near Frankton. Mrs. Wolary and her ten-year-old son were awakened by a part of their house falling in and they barely escaped with their clothing. Most of the household goods had been packed for shipment to Terre Haute, where Mrs. Wolary's husband is employed. The family had saved $568 to apply toward purchasing a home. Fearing that she might lose the money if she carried it, Mrs. Wolary carefully sewed the money to the inside of the mattress and it was then placed with the other articles to be shipped.
