Editor and ex-District Chairman Moorman is neither generous nor just in his arraignment of party leaders and the party organization for the Indiana defeat. He is not generous to the men who worked day and night to overcome the obstacle to success interposed by Hanly nor is he just to them in recognizing the success they attained in the national ticket. There is a taste of acerbity in the criticism that is unnatural to the writer of it. Something curdled his milk of kindness.—Elkhart Review.

HANLY REAPPOINTS FIVE.

Announces Selections to Boards Previous to His Departure for Andersonville.

Governor Hanly, before leaving for Andersonville, Ga., Tuesday announced the following reappointments to various state boards; Dr. George T. MacCoy, Columbus, State Board of Health; Gen. George F. McGinnis, Indianapolis, Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument Commission; James L. Harmon, Elkhart, Metropolitan Police Commission; Edna Humphreys, Crawfordville and Isabella Gerhart, Lafayette State Board for Registration and Examination of Nurses.

The Governor and the Andersonville Commission departed over the Pennsylvania lines by special train. The official party included sixty-seven men. Besides these there was a number of G. A. R. veterans who suffered imprisonment at Andersonville and the wives of several of those making up the trip. The trip consumes about thirty-six hours. The start back will be made Thursday night after the dedication, at which Governor Hanly will speak.

A Truth Plainly Stated.

The chairman of the national prohibition party announces that the "liquor interests have secured a great triumph in the election of the Republican candidate for president." Further on in his proclamation he states that the local option vote joined in with the Republicans, virtually betraying the prohibitionists. In the statement he gives away his position entirely; that is, that he would prefer to see the cause of prohibition go backward than see it advanced by prohibitionists in the old parties instead of the prohibition party. These are plain statements to make in reference to a party that thinks it can do no wrong; but they are truths, nevertheless, as results incontestably prove.

We are glad, however, to be able to say that many prohibitionists in Marshall county, chose to vote to help the cause of temperance instead of voting to help the brewers and the liquor traffic.

RIVER AND HARBOR CONGRESS

WILL HOLD A MEETING AT WASHINGTON FIRST OF NEXT MONTH.

Four Thousand Delegates Including Governors and Statesmen Will Be Present.

Capt. J. F. Ellison, of Cincinnati, Ohio, secretary of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, has opened headquarters at the New Willard, at Washington, D. C. preparatory to the fifth annual convention of the congress, which will be held in that city December 1 to 9.

Reports received from governors of states, mayors of cities and commercial and trade bodies indicate that there will be upward of four thousand delegates present during the session of the congress.

The Southern Commercial Congress, which will be held in that city, trade relations between the north and the south and a better understanding of social conditions in the sections named, will meet in convention on December 7, to continue in session until the day following, when the delegates to the Commercial Congress will be merged into the National Rivers and Harbors Congress.

The Ohio Valley Improvement Association will have a delegation of 250 representative men at the convention during which time they will present to the President of the United States, the presiding officer of the Senate, the Speaker of the House, and to the Rivers and Harbors Congress the resolutions adopted by the association at their recent convention held in Louisville, Ky. October 22-23, looking to a comprehensive waterway policy on the part of the federal government and yearly appropriations to carry on the great work of improving the rivers, harbors and canals of the country on a scale commensurate with the growing needs of trade and commerce.

In his address before the Atlantic Deeper Waterway Association at its recent convention in Baltimore, Adlai Mervile sounded the keynote of the movement for a broad liberal treatment of the water courses of the nation, when he said:

"The many needs the inland waterways and needs the canals. Suppose we were attacked by a powerful hostile fleet. Suppose the ships of the navy were scattered at various stations along the Atlantic coast. With inland waterways an attempt to concentrate would be disastrous. With the inland waterways our battleships could easily come together at some central point and not be exposed to the enemy. There are still 'wolf' and 'sheep' nations. For our salvation we must rank in the former class. We might reduce our naval building program to push the waterways if necessary. Woe, woe to America, should the unhappy day ever come when our battleships are driven behind fortifications and there is no channel whereby they can seek the open sea."

Among the distinguished men who will deliver addresses before the Rivers and Harbors Congress next month in Washington are Ambassador Nabuco of Brazil; Major J. A. Ockerson, of the Mississippi River Commission; Gov. W. F. Frear of Hawaii; Secretary of the Interior Jas. R. Garfield, Horace McFarland, president of the National Civil Federation, Gov. N. B. Bradford, of Florida, president of the National Drainage Association, Admiral C. M. Chester, who was a delegate to the International Waterways Congress, recently held at St. Petersburg, and Samuel Compers, who will discuss "Labor's Interest in Waterway Development."

Many of the great captains of industry will be delegates to the congress, Mr. Andrew Carnegie being a delegate from the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, and who will address the convention in behalf of a fixed policy on the government's part toward the water highways of the nation.

Another Postoffice Robbed. Thieves forced an entrance to the postoffice at Seelyville, west of Brazil Ind., and blew open the safe. About $100 in money, a quantity of stamps and valuable papers belonging to Postmaster Samuel Shipley and other citizens were taken. It is believed that the work was done by professional safebreakers, as there is absolutely no clue.

PROHIBITIONISTS TO CALL DRY ELECTIONS

PROHIBITIONISTS AT INDIANAPOLIS MEETING, PLAN TO CALL SPECIAL ELECTION

Slump Causes Dry Party Workers To Make Use of "Only Remaining Advantage."

The prohibition state committee meeting at Indianapolis Tuesday, which was attended by National Chairman Jones of the Prohibition party and by other leaders from the middle states decided to use from now on the county local option laws passed by the various states as the main weapon against the liquor traffic.

Prohibitionists refused to uphold this legislation prior to the campaign and did not support the Republican legislative candidates which passed it. From talks from prominent prohibitionists it is apparent that the prohibitionists feel this is their only remaining weapon, as the poor showing of the alleged temperance cause in the recent election discouraged any activity along other lines.

Petitions for elections will be filed in various counties as soon as the prohibitionists can pass around papers to be signed as required by law. National Chairman Jones stated that while his party did not favor county option because it felt that county option was merely delaying state wide prohibition, yet his party sees that if it makes any headway it must use the weapons of county option which the recent legislature put into its hands.

ANSWERS CHILD—DIES.

Switchman Killed on Lake Erie & Western, at a Dangerous Point.

His stopping to answer a question asked by a little girl of ten years, who was standing near him, cost George Haiston, a Lake Erie & Western switchman of Muncie, his life at Muncie late Saturday afternoon. Haiston was preparing to cross the main track in the west Lake Erie yards to turn a switch. Just as he was about to step on the main track the child said something to him and he turned his head, not noticing the east-bound passenger train coming. He was struck and instantly killed, his head being crushed. Haiston had been in the employ of the Lake Erie as a switchman for three years. He leaves a widow and three children. Five railroaders have met death in these same yards, and almost in the same manner in recent years.

Will Pay in Cash.

Beginning next month all employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad company will be paid in cash. Circulars have been sent out to all employees explaining the new system of paying in cash and final arrangements for affecting the change were made at Philadelphia last week. It is also reported that the Baltimore & Ohio will abandon its present plan of giving checks instead of cash. The officials claim that the expenses are much heavier than under the cash system.

Wellman Sues for Libel.

Walter Wellman has filed a libel suit for $100,000 and rectification against the "Sporting Review" La Vie au Grand Air because of the publication of an article characterizing Wellman's expedition to the north pole as "an American bluff designed for personal profit and carried out under the cover of impossible scientific conditions." The article of which Mr. Wellman complains was printed last spring and he states, was inspired by one of the disgruntled members of the expedition.

NO MONEY YET IN SIGHT?

Plymouth Banks Fail to Detect Any Spurious Money in Circulation Here.

The counterfeit $5 bill, which is taking the attention of the secret service men to Chicago and St. Louis, has not come into circulation in Plymouth, according to reports from the banks of the city.

The bill, which is a clever imitation, has been widely circulated in Chicago and St. Louis, indicating that the operators have at times changed their field of circulation.

The paper on which the imitation is printed is another means of detection. It is easily torn, and the counterfeit soon wears out. It has none of the crackle or life or toughness of the government paper on which the genuine bill is printed.

In an attempt to imitate the silk threads which are imbedded in the government paper fine lines have been drawn on the surface of the counterfeit with a sharp pointed pen in red and blue ink in irregular curves in imitation of the silk threads. An attempt to pick them out with a pin immediately reveal their true nature.
