WERE MARRIED ONLY IN THOUGHT

STATE WAS REVEALED FOR FAMILY QUARREL—GIRL'S FATHER TOOK ACTION.

Couple Had Been Married, Were Divorced, Lived Together Again Unwedded.

A bench warrant was issued by Judge Bernetha Tuesday afternoon for the arrest of George Nitcher, aged 38, upon charges of fornication preferred by Daniel Cole. The affidavit alleged that "on or about November 8, 1908, George Nitcher, a single man, and Almah Nitcher, a single woman, did then and there, at divers times and days, unlawfully live and cohabit in a state of fornication, they not being legally married."

A family quarrel between Nitcher and his supposed wife was the cause which revealed the awful condition of the woman, who supposed the couple married. The case is one of the most deplorable in the history of Plymouth. According to admission of the culprits, the couple have been guilty living together for five years—a child was born three years ago to the illegal union, and the woman is now in a precarious condition which is also partly the cause of the persecution of her mate.

Daniel Cole the father of the woman, is a resident of Walnut, 13 miles south of this city. To a representative of the Tribune he recited the unhappy tale of his daughter's delinquency. "My daughter's name was Almira Cole," said he, "and she is now 35 years of age. Twelve years ago she was united in marriage to George Nitcher, in Fulton county. Three children were born to the union, two of whom died. They lived together as man and wife for five years, when the wife applied for and was granted a divorce, on the grounds of cruelty and drunkenness. They lived apart for about one year when they told relatives that they were remarried and reunited, living together until a few days ago. During the past five years they have resided in Kosciusko county, Franklin Ind., and finally moved to Plymouth where they rented a house in the northeast end of the city. A few days ago Nitcher and the woman quarreled, and he left her. Henry Hite, a brother-in-law, went to Nitcher and told him that he was not treating his family right. 'Family H—!' said Nitcher. 'I haven't got any family.' Asked for explanations he said that he had never remarried the woman with which he was living, since the wife divorced. This was the first that was known of the condition of affairs. The father of the woman, went to Nitcher and demanded that he marry the woman. The latter replied that he would if he had the money for a marriage license. Hite offered to buy a sewing machine of Nitcher to enable him to secure a license. Nitcher then declared that he wasn't married to the woman, and he'd go to the penitentiary before he would do so. Cole then swore out a warrant for his arrest on the statutory charge.

Nitcher was arrested by Deputy Fred Schroeder Tuesday evening and brought before Judge Bernetha Wednesday morning. He entered a plea of 'guilty'. He entered a plea of 'guilty' to the charge. The court fined him $10 and sentenced him to 4 months in jail, but suspended sentence on good behavior, which implies that Nitcher must either marry the woman or discontinue his relations with her.
