Recruiting officers for the army and navy do not find all the young men that make application for enlistment well qualified for the service. Seventeen applications were rejected in one day at a recruiting station in Muncie. More applicants are rejected than are received. As an excuse for not furnishing congressmen with the usual quantity of seed for distribution among their constituents, the secretary of agriculture says prices of seeds are too high and expense too great. This will be a hard blow to members who managed to keep in touch with their constituents by a liberal distribution of garden seed.

ORGANIZE A MENS CLUB

MALE MEMBERS OF EPISCOPAL CHURCH FORM ORGANIZATION.

Herbert Hess Elected President, De-livers Interesting Talk—Banquet was Served.

The Men's Club of the Episcopal church, held their second banquet Thursday night at the Plymouth Inn at 7:30 o'clock with a large number present. After a fine supper, the rector, Rev. W. S. Howard, who acted as toast master, gave a talk on the benefits of such a club, and then introduced Mr. S. E. Boys, whose toast was A Man's Ideals. G. H. Thayer also spoke to the toast, How Can We Help Our Rector in His Work? Both addresses were most interesting and entertaining. The election of officers then followed. Herbert Hess as president, Dr. C. F. Holtzendorf as vice president, Guy Baker for secretary, and John Collins as treasurer. The new president made a very telling address upon the purposes and work of the club, after which the permanent constitution and bylaws were adopted. The club will hold nine meetings during the year. Committees on membership, church progress, civic improvement, and entertainment were also appointed. The objects of the club will be to stimulate sociability among men and to aid morally and financially, the attainment of a clean, upright boyhood and educated, and respectable christian manhood, and a highly developed citizenship.

Upon taking the chair, the newly elected president Mr. Herbert Hess, said in part: "Organization is one of the preliminaries of achievement. The perpetuity, success and usefulness of this organization will depend upon the high purposes and ideals that are common to all of us and will impel us to labor zealously, actively and aggressively for their successful consummation." That "this organization ought to be the result of a healthy discontent, a discontent that will actuate us to seek and work for those things that will make for a 'hinder world, a more generous world, a more tolerant world and a more Godly world. There are two kinds of discontented men, the discontented man who is ever living over the trials, tribulations and misfortunes of yesterday, and the discontented man who is ever working to clear up the atmosphere so that not only himself but every other fellow may occasionally get a glimpse of the silver lining that bounds all of life's dark clouds. Then there is the contented man and he is the fellow we will likely have the most to do with. He is the man whose motto is: 'Let good enough alone. He's a tanspater. He is contented to merely know that his neighbor lives, not knowing if there is any cheer in his heart, or any happiness at his fire-side; he is contented to go down the street and take notice of the man whom he considers a little lower down in the social scale, working at a dollar a day job, not knowing whether his children are tending a day school or Sunday school, or whether they are working far beyond their years and strength to keep body and soul together, he is contented that unsanitary conditions exist in one part of the city providing the smells do not invade his domicile, he is contented to let graft run riot in civil affairs provided his purse is not touched, he is contented to pass a little girl whose tender feet know the sting of the cold and cruel pavement providing his are clad in warm, strong shoe leather, that her soul shivering under a patched, threadbare, undersized garment, while his is tucked away under a big warm overcoat, not knowing but that some day her soul may be basking in the sunshine of God's paradise, while his may be roasting in the fires of hell. He is contented to know that other men's boys are gambling, frequenting saloons and forming associations that inevitably lead to destruction of character and life, not knowing but that some day one of these boys may take it into his head to make his girl a life companion. He is contented with anything and everything providing he is left alone and not bothered and permitted to go the even tenor of his way, living within the narrow limits circumscribed by his selfishness and self interests." Mr. Hess closed by saying "we cannot all of us live in the time light, nor do things, nor say things that will be flashed around the world, or commented upon in the newspapers, but we all can be potential integral parts of a society at large contributing our share of strength and aid and bearing our proportionate share of life's burdens to the end that society may reflect our higher ideals, our noblest endeavors and a christian spirit that will make for 'peace on earth and

EDITOR'S NAME ON FRONT.

Texas Man Thinks the Public Should Know Who is Responsible for Newspaper Articles.

With a view of letting the public know what influence operates upon it through the press, Representative Cooper, of Texas, Wednesday introduced a bill to exclude newspapers and magazines from the mails unless the names of the owner and editor or officers, directors and stockholders be printed on its front pages.

"There is no agency in the government so powerful as newspapers to affect the politics and policies of the Government and the morals of the people," explained Representative Cooper in discussing the bill. "This being true, the people have a right to know who their teachers are and what influences may operate upon them. If the people know the owners of the paper and the influences and motives that may prompt the editorials and writings therein, they would be better able to give proper value and weight to the published article."

Different Conclusion.

Some of the counties that intended to hold local option elections at an early date have come to a different conclusion. The anti-saloon forces realized that it would be a difficult matter to get the farmer votes out to an election in midwinter when the weather is cold, the snow deep and the roads in bad condition. Without the rural vote it is contended that they could not win against the city and town forces.

PARTY IS SOLID AGAINST REPEAL

REPUBLICANS HOPE TO GET FOURTEEN VOTES FROM THE DEMOCRATS.

Views of Luman K. Babcock, of Logansport, a Staunch Friend of County Option Law.

Democratic members of the lower branch of the next legislature who are opposed to the repeal of the county option law have been told, it is said, that the Republicans of the house will present practically a solid front against the repeal of the law. It was this word from the Republicans, it is understood, which led eight of the repeal-trans to get together at the Denison hotel early this week to plan a campaign to keep the law on the books.

The word which comes from the Republican camp is that not more than three or four of the Republican representatives will vote to repeal the law. In fact, it is said, the Republicans are almost willing to pledge that if the Democrats can muster fourteen votes in the house the county option law will remain intact, so far as that branch of the legislature is concerned.

Thus far the Republican representatives have not counted noses on the county option proposition, but according to Representative L. K. Babcock, secretary to Gov. Hanly, this is one of the questions which will come up at the meeting of Republicans of the House, which will be held at the state house next Wednesday, December 23.

Basin of Estimate.

Mr. Babcock already has discussed county option with a number of the representatives, and he declares that he has not found one who will vote for the repeal of the law. In addition to Mr. Babcock's personal investigation of other Republican friends of the measure have made diligent inquiry, and the belief is expressed that there will not be more than four, if that many, who will vote to kill the law. In arriving at conclusions in regard to those who have not been approached personally on the subject the Republicans have taken into consideration the communities in which the various Republican legislators live, the general disposition of the men themselves and the attitude held by their predecessors in the legislature toward the county option bill.

During the special session of the legislature four Republicans of the house—Schreder, Geiss, Condo and Keller—voted against the bill. Of these four, only Schreder, will be a member of the next house. It is taken for granted that Schreder will vote for the repeal of the law.

Thirty-six Favorable Votes.

It is not believed that more than three others will favor the repeal. Republican friends of the law estimate that they will have thirty-six votes that will remain firm for the option law. Therefore, if they can get four Democratic votes, county option is safe unless it shall be molested by the senate.

There is only one thing it is believed, which would cause many of the Republicans to leave the county option banner, and that would be the conclusion that the vote in Indiana in the last election should be taken as a repudiation of the statute. All of those who have been approached personally on the subject have not expressed the belief that the liquor question had much, if anything to do with the defeat of the Republicans in the last election, and it is taken for granted that other legislators will look at it in the same way.

Saved $3,000.

Retail merchants of Toledo, O., estimate that they saved not less than $3,000 in the last six months by their refusal to advertise in programs and other doubtful schemes presented to them by various churches and other organizations. A resolution against such advertising was adopted by the Retail Merchants of the Chamber of Commerce—From Merchants' Manufacturing Journal.

THREE AGREE ON SEA BATTLES

UNITED STATES, GREAT BRITAIN AND JAPAN SUBMIT SAME PROPOSITIONS.

Code of Laws for International Prize Courts Under Consideration in London.

The views of the ten powers the delegates from which are assembled at London to decide upon a code of laws for the international prize court provided for at the last Hague conference make a bulky volume. Some of the powers like Japan, have submitted their proposals in the briefest forms while others notably Great Britain support their views with arguments and references to decisions in historical naval cases. The United States too has gone into detail on the subjects which she thinks should receive consideration while Germany has submitted a draft code of laws.

The United States Great Britain and Japan are agreed on the majority of points. The American views include the following suggestions:

A neutral ship found within the limits of a belligerent power may be seized destroyed or used for warlike purposes but the proprietors must be indemnified.

In cases where the enemy has not observed the usages of war and the delinquent can not be captured there may be recourse to reprisals but always in accordance with the dictates of humanity.

Reprisals Should Not Be Severe.

The reprisals should not exceed in severity the offense committed and should not be repeated after reparation has been made for the injury complained of.

All ships in the public service of the enemy are subject to capture except those employed in purely charitable or scientific work voyage or discovery and as hospital ships.

All private vessels belonging to the enemy except bona-fide coastal fishing boats are subject to capture unless exempt under treaty. In case of military or other necessity private ships of the enemy can be destroyed or retained for service as subject to capture and destruction.

Warships of the United States of America can seek asylum during war in a neutral port subject to the limitations prescribed by the port authorities. Such ships must conform to the regulations of the port authorities regarding length of stay and interval to be observed before going to sea in pursuit of any enemy or after departure of enemy's ships.

A neutral ship carrying an enemy's dispatches is subject to seizure when acting as courier in the service of the enemy.

Provision as to Mail Steamers.

Mail steamers under a neutral flag carrying said dispatches whether as part of general mail or separately for convenient reasons and without special convention or remuneration are not subject to seizure and should not be detained unless there is a well-grounded cause to suspect a violation of the laws of war.

In the section relating to the exemptions from capture of hospital ships it is suggested that such ships should give succor and assistance to the wounded sick and shipwrecked of the belligerents without distinction of nationality. Belligerents should have the right to control the movements and visit hospital ships. They could refuse their help order them away in any direction wished; put a commissioner on board and even detain the ships.

Merchants ships yachts or neutral vessels carrying or picking up belligerent wounded sick or shipwrecked should not be captured on account of such acts but should still be subject to capture for any violations of neutrality they may have committed.

Merchant ships under escort of war ships of their own nationality should be exempt from the right of search on proper assurances being given by the commander of the convoy.

The American views also contain proposals as to contraband and the methods of blockading which are similar to those put forward by Great Britain in a more extensive manner.

Monument for General.

G. A. R. veterans and others are preparing to ask the legislature for an appropriation amounting to something like $30,000 with which to build a monument to Gen. P. A. Hinkleman, the only general from Indiana killed in battle during the civil war. Various regiments, in reunion, have adopted resolutions urging upon the legislature the passage of an appropriation for the erection of the proposed monument. At the last session of the general assembly efforts to get an appropriation failed. State G. A. R. officials were interested in the movement at that time.

TEACHER MAY USE ROD

Kentucky Attorney General Finds There is a Legal Right for Punishment.

The controversy relating to the legal right of the school-teacher of the common schools of Kentucky to whip a disorderly pupil was ended Sunday when Attorney General James Breathiet handed down an opinion to State Superintendent of Public Instruction Crabbe in which it is held the teacher is given the authority to whip if it is necessary to maintain discipline. A recent opinion of Judge William Carroll of Newcastle, that the teacher had no right to whip, has partly disorganized the common schools and almost made it necessary to close some of them.

Powerful Locomotives to be Built.

The Pennsylvania railroad has begun the construction of fifteen locomotives of the most powerful type which has been designed for use on its lines. They are to be built at Altoona Pa. The weight of each engine will be about 241,000 pounds and the tenders will carry 7,000 gallons of water and thirteen and one-half tons of coal.

Road Enters City Politics.

The Chicago, Lake Shore & South Bend railroad, "The South Shore Line," has entered the political field in South Bend and has succeeded in having an ordinance proposing to let the city into ten wards instead of seven, thereby providing for ten councilmen and five councilmen-at-large.

AGGIE SCHOOL IN EVERY COUNTY

WOULD KEEP THE FARMERS POSTED ON CONDITIONS AND MARKET PRICES.

Speaker at Farmer's State Congress Advocates Action by the Legislature.

The Indiana farmers may ask the approaching Indiana legislature to originate the latest wrinkle in American country life.

Addressing the farmers' state congress of Indiana at its annual meeting President Joshua Strange of Marion sounded the warning. So that it might not be regarded lightly or as merely a mental flash in the pan, he had it in his carefully prepared and official annual address. In it he declared:

There should be a school for agricultural and mechanical training in every county in the state. It should be connected with a county experimental farm. On it should be building suitable for agricultural and horticultural exhibits of the experimental work. It should also include a convention hall for institutes and like public gatherings. It should be equipped with an agricultural library, and in it should be established a farmers' bureau of information.

Amplifying this, Strange recited the blessings that would flow from the establishment of such institutions. Every house in most agricultural districts now has its telephone, and all of these, he pointed out, would be connected with the bureau. If a farmer had a carload of hogs for sale he could telephone in the information and it would be posted up to the bureau blackboard something like this:

"Jim Jones has 100 hogs that will be ready for the market the 15th of next month. Call him by telephone No. 23, or address R. R. 13."

Likewise could other things be offered for sale and exchange and from the bureau, in close connection with the agricultural library, could be had at any time expert information as to whether beans should be planted in the pale or the full of the moon. In fine, farmers' wives might rely on this as a ready aid to tasteful styles.

Such a bureau, however, would be incidental to the greater purpose to be served—the special education of men and women who are to produce the foodstuffs of the country. It might also, he suggested, be connected with President Roosevelt's plans to extend the educational work of the department of agriculture to the farmers. It would be said, certainly aid to the effectiveness of such work as farmers' institute.

President Strange's idea is that the legislature give to the counties the right to levy an assessment for the creation of such schools experimental farms and farmers centers. The matter was referred to a special committee which is to consider the matter and probably outline a bill.

This is Going Some.

Chesterton Tribune. The development of the great Calumet region can never be confined to any particular locality in it. The foundations for a population of a two million people city in this region is now being laid, and it will require all of the territory between the Illinois state line and Michigan City to hold it. The present century will see the completion of a ten million people city at the foot of Lake Michigan, which will extend from Waukegan, Wis., to Michigan City, Ind. Say that dope's pretty strong, ain't it? But at that it is a dream no wider than to say there would be a Gary in those sand hills ten years ago.

Eighteen Counties to Vote.

Five counties in the Fort Wayne district of the Anti-Saloon league and thirteen other counties in other districts over the state, are now making preparations to hold elections under the recently passed county local option law, according to Rev. N. C. Shirey, of the Fort Wayne district.

Eat What You want of the food you need Kodol will digest it.

Your Guarantee

Go to your druggist today, and purchase a dollar bottle, and if you can honestly say, that you did not receive any benefits from it, after using the entire bottle, the druggist will refund your money to you without question or delay.

We will pay the druggist the price of the bottle purchased by you. This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family.

We could not afford to make such an offer, unless we positively knew what Kodol will do for you. It would bankrupt us. The dollar bottle contains 25 times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

Kodol is made at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than this you need to fully digest it.

Else you can't gain strength, nor can you strengthen your stomach if it is weak.

You must eat in order to live and maintain strength.

You must not diet, because the body requires that you eat a sufficient amount of food regularly.

But this food must be digested, and it must be digested thoroughly. When the stomach can't do it, you must take something that will help the stomach.

The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food.

Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help; you must help it by giving it rest, and Kodol will do that.

Taft Keeps Latin Policy.

Washington Dec. 20.—In view of the growing importance of the development of closer relations of commerce and comity between the United States and twenty Latin-American republics a letter of President-elect Taft made public tonight announcing that Mr. Taft will continue the present policy toward Latin-America is of interest.

The letter addressed to Director J. the growing importance of the development of the International Bureau of American Republics under date of Dec. 7, says: "I have always regarded the visit of Mr. Root to the Latin-American republics and the other measures taken at his instance to cultivate their good will and to increase as much as possible the extent of their commercial relations with this country as one of the most important branches of the policy of the administration of Mr. Roosevelt."

"The wonderful material growth of the republics of South and Central America and the progress they are making to a higher cultivation fully justifies, if any justification were needed, the special attention given by our State Department to the establishment of a firm bond of union with our Southern neighbors. I rejoice greatly at the cordial manner in which they receive and reciprocate our advances."

"I expect to continue the same policy toward Latin-America, thus so happily entered upon by Mr. Roosevelt and I shall count my administration fortunate if further steps can be taken and new measures adopted to secure a closer and mutually more beneficial commercial association and to awaken a greater international sympathy than even now obtains."

Weak Kidneys

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

The old fashioned way of dosing a weak stomach, or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is all wrong. Dr. Shoop, first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments—the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside nerve. When these nerves fail, then those organs must surely suffer. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days and see! Improvement will promptly and surely follow. Sold by L. Tanner.

Why pay more—when you can get, not only 90 fine large cups of Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee for 25c a package—but a coupon on a 25c package for a 50c package of Dr. Shoop's Restorative? Look for the coupon—I put them in now. The satisfaction is, besides, most perfect. Sold by C. M. Slayter.

You should always remember that "most" and "cold" cures are not the best. The most important thing to do when you have a cold is to move the bowels. You cannot promptly cure a cold until you do this. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup stops the cough by allaying inflammation of the throat and lungs, and it drives the cold from the system by gently moving the bowels. Children like it for its tastes nearly as good as maple sugar. Sold by all
