INDIANA DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Correspondence Chicago Times.

Washington, May 10.

CONTESTED ELECTIONS.

The contested election cases in the House are pretty much all decided. The important inquiry by the Committee on Elections was not who received the most legal votes but who is the best abolitionist, and, finding out that important bit of information, the gentleman seized with most violent love for the African and his elevation is at once reported as being duly elected, and awarded a seat in the synagogue.

GRITITUDINOUS.

Such a charcoal Sanhedrin as the republican side of the House of Representatives cannot be found elsewhere, except in the geographical parts, guided by the sectional platforms adopted at Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, and Chicago, and the development thereof of sectional hate and jealousy, venomous (as had long been foreseen and predicted) its course through the South of a section, and its continual resistance to the General Government, and terminating in a bloody strife between those who should have been forever bound together by fraternal bonds, thus bringing upon the whole country a calamity which we are now to meet as loyal citizens, striving for the adoption of that mode of settlement best calculated to again restore union and harmony.

3. That in rejecting all propositions likely to result in a satisfactory adjustment of the matters in dispute between the North and the South, and especially those measures which would have secured the border slave States to the Union, and a hearty co-operation on their part in all constitutional and legal measures to procure a return of the more Southern States to their allegiance, the Republican party assumed a fearful responsibility, and acted in total disregard of the best interests of the whole country.

4. That the present party in power had shown the same desire to settle, by amicable adjustment, our internal disputes before hostilities had actually commenced, that the Administration has recently commenced, that the old sectional party, which shall by a counter revolution, displace those who control and direct the present rebellion.

5. That the present party in power had shown the same desire to settle, by amicable adjustment, our internal disputes before hostilities had actually commenced, that the old sectional party, which shall by a counter revolution, displace those who control and direct the present rebellion.

6. That the maintenance of the Union upon the basis of the Federal Constitution should be the controlling object of all who profess loyalty to the Government; and in our judgment this purpose can only be accomplished, by the ascendancy of a Union party in the Southern States, which shall, by a direct revolution, displace those who control and direct the present rebellion.

7. That the Republican party has fully demonstrated its inability to conduct the Government through its present difficulties.

8. That we are utterly opposed to the twin heresies of sectionalism and Southern Secession, as intemperate to the Constitution, and that, as they value the honor of civil liberty and the peace of the country, should frown indignantly upon them.

9. That in this national emergency the Democracy of Indiana, banishing all feeling of passion and resentment, will recollect only their duty to the whole country; that this war should not be waged in the spirit of overbearing or interfering with the rights or institutions of the States, but to defend and maintain the supremacy of the Constitution, and to preserve the Union with all the dignity, equality and rights of the several States unimpaired; and that as soon as these objects are accomplished the war ought to cease.

10. That we will sustain, with all our energies, a war for the maintenance of the Constitution, and of integrity of the Union under the Constitution; that we are opposed to a war for the emancipation of the negroes, or the subjugation of the Southern States.

11. That the purposes avowed and advocated by the Northern disunionists, to liberate and arm the negro slaves, is a disgrace to the age, calculated to retard the suppression of the rebellion and meets our unmitigated disapprobation.

12. That the total disregard of the right of the authorities over us, and the Senate and imprisonment of the citizens of local States where the judiciary is in full operation, without warrant or law and without assigning any cause or giving to the party arrested any opportunity of defense, are flagrant violations of the Constitution and most alarming acts of usurpation of power, which should receive the stern rebuke of every layer of his country and of every man who prizes the security and blessings of life, liberty and property.

13. That we are avowed and advocated by the Northern disunionists, to liberate and arm the negro slaves, is a disgrace to the age, calculated to retard the suppression of the rebellion and meets our unmitigated disapprobation.

14. That the seizure of Mason and Stoddard, on board a neutral vessel, on the high seas, was either in accordance with international law, and so legal; or else in violation of such law, and illegal. If the former, we lament that our nation has been humiliated by their conduct, under a threat; and if the latter, we deplore the administration at once to have dissolved the act of their officers, and instead of incarceraing the captives in Fort Warren, to have immediately released the wrong by placing them, as far as practicable, in the same condition in which that officer found them. In either event, the action of the Administration was vacuous and cowardly and degrading to the dignity of a great nation.

15. That the discreditable conduct of the Administration in a contrivance at, if not an actual participation in, a system of corruption, and in which the proper supplies, and our Government were defrauded of, and bankrupt demands a thorough investigation into all our expenditures, both State and National, and that a speedy and marked example be made of all such "birds of prey," who, taking advantage of the necessities of our country, have defrauded us.

16. That the disclosures made by the investigating committee in Congress of the enormous frauds that have stalked into the army and navy departments, implicating the heads of those departments in a contrivance at, if not an actual participation in, a system of corruption, and in which the proper supplies, and our Government were defrauded of, and bankrupt demands a thorough investigation into all our expenditures, both State and National, and that a speedy and marked example be made of all such "birds of prey," who, taking advantage of the necessities of our country, have defrauded us.

17. That the meritorious conduct of the Indiana troops, in every battlefield, where victory has perched upon the national banner, has won the people of this State with the highest gratitude to her gallant sons, and that we send our best wishes to officers and men, dispersed throughout the country, and the heartfelt greetings of every Democrat for their further brilliant achievements in the coming contests for the maintenance of the Constitution and the Union.

18. WERE YOU AT SECRETARY WELLES' PARTY LAST NIGHT?

So asked a poor, tottering, paling, brain-bred abolitionist, the other day, of Hon. Dan. W. Vories.

"No, sir! No, sir!" was the emphatic reply.

"Oh! you ought to have been there; why A. J. UTLEY, AND HIS POLITICAL POSITION."

EDITOR DEMOCRAT: In looking over a late number of the Starke County Press I observed a very lengthy article entitled "My Political Position." When I read the caption I involuntarily wondered what great statesman had been setting himself right before the world through the columns of the Press. I supposed it must be Lewis Cass, Senator Wright, Joseph Holt, or some of that ilk, but following my eye along the column it fell upon the simple, unadorned name of "A. J. Utley," without title or prefix whereby I could discover his rank or pedigree.

Little brain bread abolitionist started off on a full trot, and, in my opinion, will never more exhort of Mr. Vories why he didn't visit old Noah Welles, of the Catawba and Morgan Department.

HONORS EAST.

To day, Captains Bailey and Boggs, of the New Orleans squadron, were very properly, by a resolution of the House, permitted the privilege of the floor. Members were introduced to them, and many congratulatory sentiments were interchanged. Altogether the affair was very creditable.
